THE GREAT FAILURE will cause an advance in the price of furniture and bedding, but Wm. J. Heney & Co., 725 Market street, Bancroft's block, will continue to sell their goods at the usual low prices and cheaper than ever, for cash. They have just received a large assortment of the latest, most elegant styles of Eastern furniture, which connoisseurs prefer to California manufactured goods. O

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

Kissing.

The frolicsome waves love to kiss the white sand,
The zephyrs salute the green trees;
The golden sunbeams kiss the beautiful rose
As it blushingly nods to the breeze.

The daisy—most lowly and modest of flowers—
Receives a night-kiss from the dew,
And the winds touch the lips of the "emblem of love"—
The violet, of purple and blue.

The silvery moonbeams salute the hill-tops,
The hill-shadows kiss the blue sea;
And the bright little waves dance, caper, and sing,
For a star-kiss from over the lea.

The tear-drops of Heaven fall gently to earth
To kiss the green grass; and in May
The buds burst their tendrils in joy to receive
A kiss from the Ruler of Day.

The birds kiss each other and twitter good-night,
The clouds kiss the mist on the hill;
The grape-vine embraces the old cherry-tree,
And the pebbles are kissed by the rill.

The ivy-vine clambers the moss-covered wall
To get the first sip of the dew;
If Nature, then, seems only born to be kissed,
I don't think it wrong, love. Do you?

An Editor's Position.

If an editor omits anything he is lazy. If he speaks of things as they are people say he is a fool. If he glosses over—smooths down the rough points—he is bribed. If he calls things by their proper names, he is unfit for the position of an editor. If he does not furnish his readers with jokes, he is a mullet. If he does, he is a rattle head—lacking stability. If he condemns the wrong he is a good fellow. If he lets wrongs and injuries go unmentioned he is a coward. If he fails to uphold a public man, he does it to gratify spite—is a tool of a clique, or belongs to the "outs." If he indulges in personalities, he is a blackguard; if he does not, his papers are dull and insipid.

Wasn't Used to It.

A forgetful young woman out West, the other night aroused the inmates of a hotel to which her bridal trip had led, on account of finding a man in her room. The trifling affair of her marriage that morning had quite escaped her memory, and it was not until summary justice had been near dealt out upon the offender that she happened to recollect it.

Paying his Wages.

A printer who worked a week on an agricultural paper was considerably disgusted when on Saturday night the proprietor offered him ten dollars worth of hay seed, and told him he'd give him the balance in pumpkin seed next week.

Bridging the Bay.

It must be plain to the Bulletin that it cannot succeed in bridging the bay all by itself. Having failed in all its bridge schemes, it had better accept the situation and help to build our bridge, which is to span the Golden Gate. If it will but set its engineers to work to compute the cost of a tubular bridge from Lime Point to Fort Point, it will be doing something practicah That bridge built, the Pacific Railroad will run directly into San Francisco, sending out a short branch line to put us in communication with Petaluma. FIGARO is not a big commercial paper, and perhaps bridging the bay may seem to some to be out of its line, but nevertheless we insist on our bridge project having a fair hearing. A line of railroad skirting San Pablo Bay would open up an immense district of rich farming land, and the short line on this side of the bay would settle up the numerous homestead tracts between this and Fort Point. A tubular bridge to span the Golden Gate solves the difficulty.

Ah, Ah!

Let the Woman's Rights delegates rejoice! After beating about the bush for years, Granny Alta has come out flat-footed in favor of her own sex. Nothing can be plainer than this:

A young lady has applied in Santa Cruz county for admission to the bar, but we fear that her application is in itself proof that she does not understand the law which, before the meeting of the last Legislature, excluded, and we believe still excludes women from appearing in the Courts as attorneys-at-law. These restrictions are not based on any good reason, unless it is that the ordinary management of litigation in California is so impure that women should not be exposed to its corrupting influences, and so profitable that sliens should not be permitted to share the plunder.

This is brave. Now, Granny, stick to it; no backing down. You must go the entire animal now. If you are in favor of allowing women to practise in the Courts as attorneys, you cannot be against allowing them to go to the polls.

A Western paper suggests that a society be instituted for the protection of children with bare legs from the cruelty of mothers.

Removal.

Silberstein, the prince of caterers in gent's furnishing goods, has been forced by the pressure of his business to remove to the adjoining store, 506 Kearny street, a few doors north of California, where he has the best stock of goods and fancy articles in San Francisco. Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

The Reason Way.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. Dramatic Curiosties.

The quarrels of actors, who are as irritable as poets, would fill volumes. Happily they have generally been confined to a war of words, though some of their disputes have terminated in duels. Garrick was wounded in the arm in one of these rencontres. Fleury had more than one encounter with Dugazon. Talma went out in 1790, missed his man, Naudet, at the first fire, his antagonist discharged his weapon in the air and then they shook hands and went to breakfast. "Pistols and coffee for two."

In 1669 M'lle Beaupre, of the Palais Royal Theatre challenged M'lle Catherine des Urlis, of the same establishment, and the young ladies fought with swords on the stage. Beaupre "pinked" her woman on the neck and would have killed her but for the interference of mutual friends. Miss Theadore, a celebrated danseuse, and Miss Beaumonsell, a singer, both of the opera fought a duel with pistols, in the last century, at the Maillot Gate of Paris, where the Assemblyists and Red Republicans have just been having a duel on a grander scale. Neither of the Amazons were hurt.

In 1820 two ladies of the ballet had a desperate fight with small swords about the possession of a small dog.

Of comic incidents and accidents the story of the stage is full.

A certain Mrs. Hamilton was such a ponderous person that the supers had great difficulty in moving off the huge arm chair in which she had just died, as Aspasia, in the tragedy of "Tamerlane. Seeing their trouble, the good-natured corpse whispered to them, in the words of Richard III. "Stay, you that bear the corse, and set it down." And with a low courtesy to the audience, walked off to the grave without assistance. Otto Muller, in his "Life of Charlotte Ackerman," tells a good story about the performance of Hamlet at Altona. The stage had no trap for the ghost of Hamlet's father to vanish through, and so they took up a plank and arranged a ladder for his descent into the lower regions. The ghost was played by the manager, who must have been a perfect Crummels, with a red face and huge corporation, "all fool of lager bier." When he came to vanish, he was very careful about the ladder, and went down step by step, stopping to declaim and gesticulate. The legs disappeared, than the huge body, and finally the enormous head, which mouthed and gabbled to the last.

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller, news agent on the Southern Pacific Railroad, supplies the passengers with the latest San Francisco dailies and Eastern Illustrated papers at a dime a peice. Ask the boys for the right change. He also furnishes FIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains at San Francisco rates—free of charge. *

Sentenced to State Prison for Life.

An unusual and excited crowd filled the court-room yesterday presided over by Judge Stsgaway, to witness the trial of James Brown, charged with the crime of arson and murder upon the person of John Doe, a wealthy and retired merchant of New York, who was traveling for pleasure. It was proved that Brown kept a bar-room on the Barbary Coast, and sold the most villainous compounds under the name of whiskies, and that Doe in his perambulations went into Brown's den and drank to such an extent that he fell to the sidewalk. Brown's youngest son saw him, and in perfect innocence started a small fire which communicated with the fumes of Doe's breath, causing combustion and a fearful death. Upon this charge he was found guilty and sent to prison for life. The Judge in his charge said the verdict was a just one, and recommended that in future all persons who would drink go to the Hot Scotch Saloon, 15 Morton street, kept by Feldman & Briggs, where all liquors are pure, and retailed at 10c. per glass. x

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon. No. 37 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third, San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. x

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)."o

The Fashionable Beverage.

The fashionable ladies' drink at present, is Dr. Abernethy's Ginger Brandy, which is a mild and wholesome stimulant. Souther, Chenery & Co. are the agents for San Francisco. •

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—The public must remember that they cannot always enjoy such a grand combination of artists as that now performing under the title of the Emerson Minstrels, and should, therefore, continue to throng this house, as they have during the past four weeks. The performance at the matinee to-day and again this evening will comprise some of the best specialties of the best artists in the variety business, the world-renowned J. H. Milburn, the unapproachable Billy Emerson, Harry Stanwood the prince of dry joker-, Add Ryman the most eloquent of stump speakers, Fayette Welch the most comical of end men, Charles Heywood the sweet voiced vocalist, and George Reynolds, Harry Norman and others. G. T. Russell, the famous baritone, of whom mention is made in another column, will make his first appearance on Wednesday next.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—The wonderful Tycoon Troupe of Japs will give a grand matinee to-day. All the children should be taken to see the extraordinary performances of the juvenile prodigies Uni Noski and Teko Ketchie. Another performance will be given this evening, and to-morrow evening this remarkable troupe will give their last entertainment.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—Long before eight o'clock last night, "standing room only" was the announcement at the California Theatre. Miss May Howard is a great favorite and her benefit was a bumper. She looked very handsome as Romeo, but made love like a woman. Miss Rose Evans made the most charming of Juliets and acted beautifully. Miss May Howard received a whole garden of flowers, the stage being strewn with bouquets and baskets. On being called before the curtain she made a brief speech, in which she thanked the audience for their attendance and the public of San Francisco in general for their kind appreciation of her efforts to please. To-night those obliging gentlemen, the ushers of the California Theater, will, with the door-keepers and other attaches take their annual benefit, and hope to be kept busy until every seat is full and all the extra chairs brought into use. "Money," which proved such a success when played for the benefit of the National Guard on Thursday, will be performed. There will be a matinee to-day, when "The Marble Heart" will be presented. On Wednesday evening "The Palace of Truth" will be presented with M'lles Venturoli and Gaugain and a grand corps de ballet.

ITALIAN OPERA.—By the effort of the painters, decorators and upholsterers, Maguire's Opera House which had been allowed to fall into a sear and yellow condition, has within the past few weeks been transformed into a brilliant theatre, and is we trust to be the scene of a brilliant season of Italian opera, under the management of Signor Fred Biesta. The season will open on Monday, with the production of "Ernani," Signorina Adelina Speranza taking the role of Elvira, and Signor Bianchi that of Ernani. The programme of the operas for the remainder of the week is: Wednesday "I due Foscari" and Friday "Norma." Of late, nearly every city in the United States—of any size at all—has had a night or two of Italian or English opera. It is now to be proved whether the wealthy city of San Francisco can make a success of a season of twelve nights. An opera season should be supported; even by those who have no music in their souls, on account of the impetus it gives to trade. During an opera season much money is put in circulation.

CONCERT OF ST. ALBAN'S CHURCH.—The concert at Platt's Hall last night for the benefit of St. Alban's Church was an immense success. The hall was thronged and the audience represented the beauty and fashion of the city. The programme was well carried out. Signor Bianchi gained great applause for the splendid style in which he sang "You'll Remember Me;" Charles Vivian received a hearty greeting and sang four songs, one entitled "Be a Man," words by W. H. Ashton, music by Geo. T. Evans, made quite a hit. He afterwards sang the favorite Sunday School hymn entitled "Ten Thousand Miles Away" at which the audience went into ecstacies. Mrs. Marriner, the St. Alban's Choir and others taking part in the performance all did well and the concert which lasted till past 11 o'clock, was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

BELLA UNION.—The melodrama of "The King, the Innkeeper, and the Deserter" is quite a success, though it dragged a little in the first scenes in consequence of insufficient rehearsal. To-night it will be rattled off in lively style. Miss Carrie Chapman was very good as Adelbert, and Miss Marie Zoel played the part of Rosalie with much feeling' quite gaining the sympathies of the audience for the captain maiden. This piece will be played again to-night with a good first part and interlude,

MAC EVOY'S ORIGINAL HIBERNICON.—On Monday next, Charles Mac Evoy's Original Hibernicon, illustrating the scenery, music and antiquities of Ireland, will commence a season at Platt's Hall. The beautiful pictures of scenes in the Emerald Isle will be described by Dan Morris as Barney the Guide, and Marie Mac Evoy will personate Norah his lady-love. Miss Kate Halpine, Charles Mac Evoy, J. Dougherty, E. Babbage and others will assist in the drama to episode entitled "Irish Hearts; or, Love on the Ould Sod."

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Those who have not the means to hire a team, need not on that account deprive themselves of the pleasure of a visit to the seaside to see the seals on the rocks, and enjoy an afternoon at Capt. Foster's famous Cliff House. Omnibuses run from the street car terminus at Lone Mountain every fifteen minutes, fare 25 cents.

CONCERT TO GUSTAV A. SCOTT.—Gustav A. Scott will be the recipient of a complimentary concert on Tuesday evening at Pacific Hall. Miss Mary E. Wadsworth, Signor Mancusi, and others whose names appear on another page, have volunteered

BAS ARRIVED.—Signor Fulvio Rigo, a basso, arrived yesterday from Guatemala. He will probably be engaged by the Italian Opera management, and will supply a deficiency at present existing in the troupe.

M'LLE MARIE GAUGAIN.—This very pretty, artistic and generally popular danseuse has been engaged to appear at the California Theatre with M'lle Venturoli in the spectacular comedy of "The Palace of Truth."

BENEFIT OF J. C. WILLIAMSON.—J. C. Williamson, the clever low comedian and character actor of the California Theatre, is such a general favorite that the public will only be too glad to throng the house on Monday, when he will take a benefit. He will present a rich entertainment on this occasion. It will commence with Buckestone's comedy of "Leap Year," in which the very popular Miss Minnie Walton whom all will be glad to welcome back to the stage, will make her reappearance as Miss O'Leary and the beneficiary will play John Dimple. After this scenes from "The Love Chase." These will be followed by the recitation of "Sheridan's Ride" by John McCullough, and J. C. Williamson will give the parody entitled "Scheider's Ride." The whole performance will conclude with the farce of "Knock Me Down" for the first time, with J. C. Williamson as Knucklebone Johnny."

LOTTA.—On Monday evening the bright and sparkling Lotta, the star in the dramatic firmament whom the California public delight to honor above all others, as it was here she first entered on the path to fame, will make her appearance at the Metropolitan Theatre in conjunction with Robert Craig, the eccentric comedian; Wm. J. Coggswell, Miss Henrietta Osborne, and the full strength of the Metropolitan Theatre company. Lotta will open in one of her best pieces: "The Little Detective." Those who wish to obtain seats during the first week of this engagement must secure them in advance.

PICNIC OF THE GARIBALDI GUARD.—The Garibaldi Guard composed of the sons of Sunny Italy, will give their fifth annual picnic at Captain Badger's Grand Central Park, Oakland, on Sunday, April 14th, the opening day of these beautiful grounds which will this year be the scene of all the most fashionable picnics.

ORPHEUS SINGING CLUB.—The concert of this Singing Club, composed of Scandinavians, to come off to-night at Platt's Hall, promises to be a grand affair. The proceeds will be devoted to the Widow's and Orphans's Fund. The full programme appears on our first page.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here

Fair and Festival.

Great attractions are offered every evening at the Fair in aid of the First Congregational Church opened in the basement of the new edifice at the corner of Post and Mason streets. To-night the entertainment will consist of a variety of vocal and musical performances and two fine sewing machines will be sold by auction.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

OAKLAND.—To-night Miss Sara Alexander, who is quite a favorite with the people of Oakland and has given general satisfaction as leading lady of the dramatic troupe playing there will be the recipient of a complimentary benefit at Brayton Hall, when "The Lady of Lyons" will be performed with the beneficiary as Pauline, James M. Hardie as Claude, and a good cast generally. An olio will follow, in which Miss Lulu Wilson will appear, and the performance will conclude with the comedietta of "When Women Weep," a manuscript play belonging to Miss Alexander, and never before produced in California. Miss Alexander will probably have the best house of the season. Captain Badger's Grand Central Park is rapidly approaching completion. The Pavilion is already finished and seats, swings, etc., are being erected in the grounds. The Grand Central Park has been secured by nine societies, for their picnics on as many days and proposals from the committees having arrangement of other picnics are under consideration. On Sunday the 14th, the Grand Central Park will be formally opened to the public, and Miss Ella La Rue will make a tight rope ascension from the restaurant to the top of the Pavilion, a height of 80 feet, and distance of 400 feet. The Garibaldi Guard for four years celebrated for holding pleasant and orderly gatherings which have had the countenance of our best citizens will hold their fifth annual picnic on the opening day. Kohler's grand concert orchestra comprising the two best cornet players on the coast will be in attendance.

SAN JOSE.—The Mercury says:

Proctor, with his splendid dramatic company will give three performances at the Opera House, on the evenings of April 16th, 17th and 18th. There is only one man capable of suiting the people of San Jose to a dot, in the dramatic line, and that man is Joseph Proctor.

Very well. Proctor may have a monopoly of providing the San Jose people with amusements and we wish him joy of it.

SACRAMENTO.—Charles Wheatleigh and Miss Sallie Hinckley opened at the Metropolitan Theatre on Wednesday evening to a good house. "A Victim of Circumstances" and "The Debutante" formed the bill which was repeated last night. Miss Jennie Baffarth had a good house for her benefit on Tuesday evening.

MARYSVILLE.—The Turn Verein Germania gave their fifth dramatic entertainment last Sunday evening.

GRASS VALLEY.—The Overland Star Minstrels, Marysville amateurs, gave performances at Hamilton Hall on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

LOS ANGELES.—Professor Harmen, wizard and ventriloquist, performed at La Merced Theatre on the 1st.

ANTIOCH.—The Lancashire Bell Ringers, Johnny Collins and George Fane gave an entertainment at Antioch on Wednesday, they went thence to Colusa.

SANTA CLARA.—The Dramatic Society of Santa Clara College will give an entertainment consisting of the Merchant of Venice" and "The Mummy" on Wednesday next.

MONTANA, Col.—The Montana Theatre was opened on March 20th for a concert by the child Americus from Cincinnati. Laura Stevenson, I. Stuart, Belle Corell, Charles Corell and others. This troupe are probably on their way to California. Americus is a juvenile violinist.

CENTRAL CITY.—The Albambra Varieties is open with Miss Carrie Duval and company.

DENVER, COL.—"Under the Gaslight" was running at the Denver Theatre up to March 23d. Miss Fanny Morgan Phelps and Miss Gebrielle McKean were in the company.

ANAHEIM.—The New York Mammoth Circus performed on Tuesday. The Anaheim paper thus announced it:

We are happy to announce that the magnificent New York Circus, which gave such an excellent performance here in November last, is coming back after a long, successful trip through Mexico and the Sandwich Islands and will be with us on Tuesday evening. The company gained unbounded popularity in its former visit and will be sure to have a full house whenever it comes again. It is one of the very few companies which does all it promises to, and leaves behind it no victimized impressions among those who have patronized it.

SALEM, O.—G. B. Waldron's dramatic company from the Oro Fino Theatre, Portland, opened at Reed's Opera House March 25th, in "Hamlet." They presented "Narcisse," "Rosedale" and "The Pearl of Savoy" on the following nights, and on the 30th returned to Portland.

PORTLAND, O.—G. B. Waldron reopened the Oro Fino Theatre on the 1st, and presented "Wine Works Wonders." The Theatre Comique closed on the 26th ult., the company going to Victoria. It was to be reopened in two weeks time with a new company.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEV.—Aline Le Favre and Johnny Manning joined Miss Amelia Deane's company at Piper's Opera House this week, and caused a sensation. Maggie Knight continues a great favorite.

Hundreds of papers in the United States have published a highly sensational account of Miss Pauline Markham's present appearance, in which she is described as a perfect wreck. We published it with feelings of great regret that so beautiful a woman should have so soon faded. This has called forth the following to which we gladly give space:

TO THE EDITOR—Sir: In your edition of the 23d inst., appeared an article headed "The Sad Story of Paul ne Markham," copied from the Philadelphia Press, which, if left unnoticed, would be a wanton outrage upon a poor, defenceless girl, a "stranger in a strange land." The Press depicts Pauline Markham as a "lion or lioness of the day," when she first appeared in this country, which called forth the gushing remark of Richard Grant White, that she had a "voice of vocal velvet," etc., and then contrasts her present woe-begone, attenuated and wrecked appearance. Had the article been confined solely to the journal from which it is quoted, it might have passed annoticed, but a reproduction thereof in your journal gives to the slander a stamp of genuiness calculated to work the most injurious results. In justice to Miss Pauline Markham I trust that you will as readily publish the "other side of the story" as the ungenerous attack of the Philadelphian who went sightseeing to the metropolis, and who could find nothing better to write about.

Miss Pauline Markham, who is now and has been engaged at Wood's Museum for several months past, does not play second parts, but is the leading lady of the burlesque company. She has not lost her voice, but, on the contrary, her intonation is as sweet and silvery as ever, to which competent judges of music can readily testify. That her form is not as stout as it has been is true, but not due to any cause of dissipation, as is suggested by the Philadelphia Press, but to a severe attack of pneumonia engendered by a heavy cold.

The writer of this does not for a moment desire to be considered the champion of Miss Markham; but he appeals to your sense of justice and fairness to contradict the aspersions of the Philadelphia Press upon the name and fame of a lone woman, as well as the statement that "she is not worth to grace the evening programme of a place of amusement unrecognized as a theatre," etc.; inasmuch as she appears every evening this week in her original and spirited character of Lurline, in Byron's celebrated burlesque of that name.

WM. A. LILLIENDAHL,
General Superintendent Wood's Museum.

TO THE EDITOR—Sir: Will you allow me space enough in your valuable paper to entirely repudiate the charges of the Philadelphia Press against Miss Markham? She was never in better health in her life, as her physician can testify, and she is at present residing very quietly at the European Hotel. As for the charge of being obliged to work for her living, why her diamonds alone would support her for the next ten years. Respectfully,

E. A. ALLIN.

We have New York dates up to March 27th with the following showing: At the Academy of Music the Opera season closed on the 25th; an exchange says:

Manager Strakosch has, at the eleventh hour, fulfilled his promise of producing M. Ambrose Thomas' "Amleto," thus giving M'lle Nilsson an opportunity of gratifying her American admirers with a magnificent rendition of her celebrated role of Ophelia. The credit, however, of bringing out this deservedly fails to M'lle Nilsson, and is altogether owing to her persistent exertions. The opera itself is not up to the average standard of the Italian or French school, and will only live upon the merits of one scene—the madness and death of Ophelia in the last act. Shakespeare has been subjected to some rough usage in previous attempts to adapt his plays for the lyric stage, but the manner in which MM. Carre and Barrier have succeeded in handling him on this occasion is the worst of all. Shades of the immortal William! a ballet assisting at Ophelia's death! The music is very heavy and incohesive, and is a strange and wonderful patchwork of Weber, Meyebeer, Verdi, Auber, and Gounod, with a few Scandinavian airs, sandwiched in for the especial benefit of M'lle Nilsson. The manner in which it was placed upon the stage as regards scenery was simply execrable and would be discreditable to a fifth rate house

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff. and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

An Old Landmark.

The Verandah Cigar Store, at the N.E. corner of Kearny and Washington streets, kept by Henry Schmidt, has been famous for the last eleven years for keeping the best Havana cigars, tobacco, choice meerschaum pipes, etc. E

FOR FINELY FLAVORED SAUSAGES, HAMS, Bacon, etc., all made of the best grain fed pork, go to R. F. Bunker's Stall, 74 and 75 California Market. Mr. Bunker's club sausages, for flavor and delicacy, equal any ever made east of the Sierras, and he cuts up nothing but first-class meats.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

Baseball.

Silberstein, the prince of caterers in gent's furnishing goods, has been forced by the pressure of his business to remove to the adjoining store, 506 Kearny street, a few doors north of California, where he has the best stock of goods and fancy articles in San Francisco. The Reason Way.

Other [illegible]erchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. LETTER FROM ST. LOUIS.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

ST. LOUIS, March 28th, 1872.

DEAR FIGARO:—The first of your appreciated paper came to hand on the 23d inst. (some ten copies at one mail). Their contents were eagerly devoured, I assure you: it was like a feast to a hungry man, it being the first news I had received since I left you. Since my arrival here I have visited many of the public buildings, manufactories, business houses, theatres, etc. From what I have seen in this solid (financially) St. Louis, she is destined beyond all doubt to become the great commercial centre of the United States. Her surroundings abound in coal, iron, lead and other minerals; there are already many large factories in full operation, and preparations for building further and more extensive ones are in a forward state. There will be built this Summer a very large pottery by an English company, for the manufacture of what is known as white granite ware; they have bought a very extensive bed of clay, lately discovered, which is said to be equal to any used in England, and far superior to that found in New Jersey. We shall soon have ware equal to the imported.

DE BAR'S OPERA HOUSE.

Lotta has just finished a very successful engagement here, the houses being crowded nightly with the elite of the city. To use the language of one of the critics, "She is a bewitching embodiment of grace, a very personification of jollity, double-distilled essence of rollicking fun, black-eyed curly-haired, eccentric, sparkling, fairly brimming over with joyous life. Lotta is all this, and more." Lotta has two new pieces, "Heart's Ease" and "Rainbow." The former has considerable California about it, and was excellently done. She plays a short engagement with Manager Stevens, who has the Kansas City circuit; thence to your city to open at the Metropolitan Theatre. Success to her. At

THE OLYMPIC THEATRE,

Johnny Allen played a very good engagement of six nights. Miss Alice Harrison and Little Mac form his combination. Mac wished to be remembered to all the boys in San Francisco, and particularly to Supervisor McCarthy. Maniuig's Minstrels followed, with E. M. Hall and Gus. Bideaux in the company. They did but fair business. This week we have M'lle Aimee's opera bouffe troupe, who are doing an immense business—crowded houses every night. They play in Chicago for two weeks, and thence go, I understand, to San Francisco. Several of the troupe have been there before. The Olympic is a very fine and comfortable theatre, well lighted, and managed by Spaulding & Pope (Chas. Pope), who spare no means in keeping everything on a first-class basis. A few words in regard to one of the neatest little theatres I ever saw, managed by McKee and George Rankin, and known as

RANKIN'S THEATRE.

This company is a very fine one, and are doing comedy and burlesque. "Surf," which has been withdrawn, had a run of four weeks. "St. Louis as it Is," commences to-night, and from what I have seen of the scenery and piece, I have reason to believe that it will have a longer run than "Surf." McKee Rankin takes great care in putting pieces on, having scenery painted expressly for it, and depending on the ability of his company for success, instead of stars. Kitty Blanchard made a hit here as Mrs. Madison Noble, in "Surf," and has become an immense favorite. At

DEAGLE'S VARIETIES

Are the Freeman Sisters, who are very clever in character songs and dances. They intend visiting California soon. Fred Wilson is here, well and jolly as ever; he is having a piece written for him which he will bring out this Fall. This house has a first-class variety troupe, and is doing a good business. It is considered the largest theatre in this city.

On my way here I met Chas. Thornton and Geo. M. Ciprico at Kansas City, both looking well and doing well; they wished to be kindly remembered to all their California friends. Mr. T. G. Riggs, an Irish comedian of no mean order, was playing "Shin Fane" there. He is to play one week at De Bar's. His piece is full of sensations, yet a good play, and very well written.

Stunning Things.

Have you seen the Spring style neckties, scarfs, broche neckerchiefs, and other new goods in the gents' furnishing line, just received at Silberstein's, 506 Kearny street, one door south of California? If you haven't, go and inspect them, for Silberstein always leads the city in styles. G

To get your house well painted go to George J. Smith, 807 Market St, estimates given from plans and specifications.

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in [illegible]ity or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third, San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)."

The Great Failure.

THE GREAT FAILURE will cause an advance in the price of furniture and bedding, but Wm. J. Heney & Co., 725 Market street, Bancroft's block, will continue to sell their goods at the usual low prices and cheaper than ever, for cash. They have just received a large assortment of the latest, most elegant styles of Eastern furniture, which connoisseurs prefer to California manufactured goods. O

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night Lotta, than whom no more popular actress treads the stage, will make her re-appearance on the California stage in the very lively play of "The Little Detective," which will be presented at the Metropolitan Theatre. Lotta will be supported by Robert Craig, Wm. G. Cogswell, Miss Henrietta Osborne, James M. Hardie and the full strength of the Metropolitan Theatre. In anticipation of the rush which must inevitably be caused by the appearance of the most popular star in the profession, the management announce that reserved seats can be secured six days in advance.

Alhambra Theatre.

To-night the first part will conclude with the stirring finale of "Shoo Fly—Come and Kiss Me," after which the Reynolds Brothers will appear as "The Originals"; J. H. Milburn will present more new sketches from his portfolio; Billy Emerson and Fayette Welch will appear in "The Invaded Studio"; Heywood will sing new songs; Billy Emerson will perform some of his best character songs and dances: "Sweet Cider" will be revived, and the whole performance will conclude with the new sketch of "The Cooper," in which Add Ryman, Billy Emerson, Fayette Welch, Charles Heywood and J. Robinson will appear.

California Theatre.

To-night J. C. Williamson, the talented character actor and eccentric comedian, who has done so much to amuse the public during his engagement at the California Theatre, will take a benefit. Mr. Williamson has legions of friends and they will muster in solid phalanx to-night, and those who go late will not be able to get in. The performance will commence with "Leap Year," in which Miss Minnie Walton will make her reappearance, followed by scenes from "The Love Chase," the reading of Sheridan's Ride, by John McCullough, and Schneider's Ride, by J. C. Williamson, and will conclude with the farce entitled "Knock me Down," in which Mr. Williamson will play Knucklebone Johnny.

Maguire's Opera House.

This theatre, which has been thoroughly renovated, redecorated and refurnished, and looks very bright and handsome, will be opened for an Italian opera season of twelve nights, under the management of Signor Fred Biesta. "Ernani" will be presented with Signora Adelina Speranza as Elvira, Signor Bianchi as Ernani, Signor Mancusi as Carlo V, Signor Contini as Silva, Signor Ronconvieri as Ruiz, and Mons. Charles as Ricardo. Signor D. Speranza will be director of chorus and orchestra.

Bella Union.

The entertainment at this house is of a character to afford amusement to all who spend an evening there. To-night there will be a new first part performance, brilliant interlude and attractive melodrama, entitled "The King, the Innkeeper and the Deserter," which has proved quite a hit and affords an opportunity for some good acting by Harry Thompson, E. G. Marsh, Carrie Okapman, Marie Zoel and others. To-night Miss Susie Lee Robinson and Tommy Arnold Barton are to make their first appearance.

Fair and Festival.

The Fair and Festival of the Ladies of Dr. Stone's Church proved such a great success, and formed such a pleasant resort during its continuance last week, that by very general request it will remain open for some evenings longer. Holders of season tickets will be admitted as before. Single admission will be twenty-five cents.

Gustav Scott's Concert.

Tickets for this concert to take place to-morrow evening at Pacific Hall, are selling rapidly. The programme appears in another column.

French Performance.

There was a most brilliant assemblage at Maguire's Opera House last night on the occasion of the performance given by the French theatrical company for the benefit of the Fund for the Ransom of France. The performance was excellent. Bonnet was at his best and Mme. Reider acted and sang beautifully. After this the comedy of "Le Vicomte de Letorieres;" Bonnet sang a patriotic hymn entitled "Alsace et Loraine," words by MM. Villemer and N. Nazel, music by Ben Tajoux; both are capital and the song was a tremendous success, the walls ringing with the applause it brought forth. Hundreds of copies of "Alsace et Loraine" were sold at the box-office for the benefit of the Fund. Payot has them for sale. The performance concluded with the amusing farce of "Un Tigre de Bengale."

The Great Tycoon Troupe of Japanese

This really wonderful troupe of jongleurs, equilibrists slack and wire accommodists, fire eaters, etc., closed their engagement at the Metropolitan Theatre on Saturday night. During the week their performances were witnessed by thousands and the general verdict was that in many respects it surpassed any of the same kind ever seen in this city. The juvenile prodigies, Uki Noski and Toje Ketchie are unrivalled; mere babies as they are they perform the feats of veteran gymnasts. Ume Ketchie's thrilling basket feat, in which he makes flying leaps of the most wonderful description, has never been equalled. The juggling, top-spinning and tumpling is all excellent, and the Great Tycoon Troupe should draw crowded houses wherever they exhibit. To-night and to-morrow night they will delight the Oaklanders with an exhibition of their wonders, after this they will proceed to Victoria, V. I., Portland, Oregon, and return to California overland through Oregon.

A Pianist Coming.

Miss Anna Mehlig, the eminent German pianist, will arrive here from the East the latter part of this week. Miss Mehlig has both an European and American reputation, and her concerts will, doubtless, attract large audiences.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here

"A Singular Affair."

The Weekly Leader, published in Cheyenne, Wyoming Territory, talks thus coolly of "a singular affair" in a late issue:—

A singular affair happened last night at one of our most respectable and quiet saloons. A soldier was sitting by the fire and dropped asleep. While in this situation another soldier came in, and approached him suddenly, at the same time making a motion as though to strike. The sleeping man awoke to feel a tingling sensation in one of his ears, and discovered that a portion of the same had been cut off and was lying on the floor. In the meantime the attacking party "went off on his ear," and has not been seen since. The unfortunate victim of this outrage was so confused by the suddeness of the attack and the pain that he had no chance to recognize his adversary, and consequently will find it difficult to identify him. He suspects a party who is supposed to have "an old grudge" against him.

The moral of this is that the most respectable and quiet saloons in Cheyenne are not safe places to snooze in. It takes a stranger some time before he becomes accustomed to the playful manners of the Cheyenne people, and if he is one of those men who will get mad at losing a bit of his nose or the top of an ear, it is well for him to stay away from there.

A Flutter Among the Fashionables.

The famed "White House" had all their Summer dress goods on board the Constitution on her last trip up, and as the steamer was delayed several days there was great anxiety among the fashionables lest she might have gone to Davy Jones's locker, with all the new style morning costumes, travelling costumes and wealth of fashionable dress goods on board. But better luck was in store for Messrs. Davidson & Co. The steamer and goods came came safe to hand, and nothing now is talked of among the bon ton but the grand opening day of new, lovely and fascinating goods at the "White House" on Wednesday next.

Just So.

"Why don't you hold your head as I do?" said an aristocrat to a sterling old farmer. "Squire," was the reply, "look at that field of grain. You see that all the heads that have nothing in them stand upright."

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

PLEADING.

Give me thy faith, that looking down
The misty vale of years,
I, too, may see our dear life's crown
Repaying present tears.
Give me thy faith so firm and strong,
Thy trust so large and free,
To feel the years that roll along,
But bring me nearer thee.

Give me thy hope to charm away
My life's untold regret,
And whisper to my heart it may
Know love's own gladness yet,
Give me thy hope, so warm, so dear,
So sunny and so sweet,
To teach my heart with olden cheer
And new-born life to beat.

Give me thy patience, dear, to wait
Till from Time's hand hath flown
The crowning hour designed by fate,
To blend our lives in one.
Give me thy patience, hope and faith,
I need them, thou art strong;
But I am weary unto death—
This waiting is so long.

Grounds for Divorce.

The Western States are now deliberating whether the disfigurement of a wife's complexion by small-pox ought not to be added to list of legal grounds for divorce. The question has been brought by several estimable Chicagoans who claim to be justified in deserting their better halfs for this reason; and it is plausibly argued that since much less obnoxious conduct on a man's part is daily admitted as good cause for freeing his nuptial bonds, she ought not to be allowed to pit herself against him for life without any chance of his escaping. In the case of the husband we suppose the question has never been raised. A small-pox pitted husband is unpleasant, and a woman may get a divorce from an unpleasant husband.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 837 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where B. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Is "Played Out," is the general cry,
But we notice this, the people buy
Just as much at number THREE,
As in days gone by, for you see
They always keep their prices down
Cheaper than any other store in tow
And everybody is bound to go
To the American Star Shirt Depot.

Rare and Costly Books.

There is satisfaction in spending money on wine, on dress, on dinners, but the pleasure thus obtained is evanescent. No one perhaps gets more pleasure from the expenditure of his money than he who lays it out in the purchase of books. Surrounded by good books a man is never alone, and these companions are, as some one has said, better even than these who talk because they are easy to "shut up" when one gets tired of them. Lovers of beautiful books should visit the visit the book establishment of H. H. Moore, 609 Montgomery street. Mr. Moore was so many years Librarian of the Mercantile Library that he there learned to love and value beautiful and rare works, and now he has his store full of them. Among other works may be mentioned "Boydell's Illustrations of Shakespeare;" sets in various styles of binding of "Knight's Pictorial Shakespeare," 8 vols; "Gilray's Caricatures," 3 volums; the most important voyages to the Pacific Coast, including the Admiralty editions of Cook, Vancouver, Mackenzie and others, also the early histories of California by Father Venegas and others (very rare). "Notes and Queries," 45 volumes complete; Blackwood's Magazine, complete, Quarterly, etc., etc. Money spent on such works as these is money well spent, and we hope that Mr. Moore has not over-estimated the existing number of cultured minds in California, in catering for them so bountifully.

A Red Bluff Genius.

An incident good enough for Harper's Drawer took place in the Red Bluff Sunday School, a few Sundays since. The teacher of the infant class was lecturing them on the sin of disobeying their parents, telling them that God was displeased with all such children, and cited the case of Adam and Eve from the Garden of Eden, and asked them where they supposed Adam and Eve went after ther expulsion. She was answered by little Johnny Frank, that he "'sposed they went out on to a ranch somewhere."

Too Bad.

Some papers have no delicacy. One says: Maggie Mitchell is 40 years old, and has been on the stage ever since she could walk. She married Mr. Paddock in 1868, after fourteen years' courtship, and has two children.

No one who saw her on the stage in "Fanchon" would suspect she was married or 40.

A Wonder.

Something for Barnum has turned up in England—Rorrman Uthan, a young German, who was born without arms, plays the violin with his toes, and, it is said, with remarkable skill. Unthan is encouraged in his unthankful task of playing music, which must be all staccato-toe music, by the money he makes.

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third, San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. T

The life-long, but, for France, over-ardent Republican, Blanqui, when asked at his recent trial where his usual residence was, replied, "My usual residence! I am usually in prison."

New York Dry Goods Store.

513 Stockton street, between Clay and Sacramento, receives new goods daily from New York auctions very cheap. Remember the number.*

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Cheapness and Dispatch

Is the motto of Thomas Catterall, carpenter and builder, 807 Market street, opposite Stockton. All kinds of jobbing done. Offices and stores fitted up a specialty. G

Lamott's Spring Style Dress Hats

Are the ne plus ultra of the season, To be dressed, wear one of his hats. Go to Lamott's, 227 Montgomery street, for all the latest styles, for all classes, both young and old. When at his store, you have the best assortment in the city to choose from. V

The Reason Why.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. Z

It is Perfectly Astonishing

How beautifully and quickly they do washing at the What Cheer Laundry. Clothes received before 8 A.M. returned the same evening if desired. X

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few doors below What Cheer House.

Tenors and Basses.

The tenor I take to be the happiest man in the world. He is the individual whom all the operatic Elviras love. He loves them, also. He has all the serenades to sing. Almost invariably, he is allowed to die for the heroine, when he isn't permitted to marry her, and always has a fortissime death-song given to him, which, like the swan's, is the sweetest. What little stage business there is, in the way of kneeling at the feet of the inamoratas, kissing of hands, and embracing of languishing Leonoras, belong exclusively to him. He also can be the melancholy man, and drown susceptible damsels with tears. The women dote upon the tenor, send him little billets, look at him though the lorgnettes, and adore him in secret. He finds bouquets upon his mantel, and little perfumed notes upon his dressing-table. If he can be a tenor di grazia, lovely woman will sigh for him; if a tenor robusto, lovely woman will die for him, or wish that Heaven had made her such a man. He is usually fragile, spiritual and delicate. He sleeps on the underside of a rose-leaf, drinks Angelica, eats caramels, and catches butterflies. He carries his voice in a lace pocket-handkerchief when in the open air, and does it up in amber when he retires to sleep upon the rose-leaves. He alone is permitted to wear white kids and vest, and otherwise array himself after the manner of the festive hotel waiter. He knows the secret of immortal youth, and never grows old. He doesn't die like other singers, but gradually fades away like the rose, and disappears in a little cloud of perfume.

The basso, on the other hand, is the personification of vocal misery, and he knows it. He feels that he is not interesting at all. He knows the women don't adore him, and he takes a fiendish delight in bellowing at them. He never has the opportunity to languish on the stage, or to go round kneeling and sighing and kissing of hands. He is never a lover. If a cavalier, he is some dilapidated old duke, with a young and pretty wife, just packing up preparatory to elopement with the tenor, and requesting him not to interfere with her little arrangements. If a sailor, he is a swaggering pirate. If an uncle, he is a miser. If a mayor, he is a simpleton. If a father, he is a fool. He has no runs and trills and sky-rockets with which to dazzle the ears of the people. He knows that one of his arias is like a long sermon. He usually has so much voice in his copper-lined and brass-riveted throat, that it invariably gets the better of him, either like molasses in cold weather, or coming out by fits and starts, and leaking all around the edges. He is not at all delicate, being usually blessed in chest and stomach, and the result is, he can't get sick if he tries. The blessed indisposition which so often gets into the velvet throat of the tenor, rarely gets into his. He drinks beer, eats sausage and krout with impunity, and smokes villainous tobacco in short clay pipes. He despises the razor, and eschews the little weakness of kids and patent leathers. The tenor is the nightingale; he is the crow. The tenor is the beloved of women; but for him no serenade, no face in the lattice, shaming the moon with its brightness.

Man and wife in Russia always own their property separately, and instances of wives suing their husbands for debt are no means uncommon.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Stunning Things.

Have you seen the Spring style necktics, scarfs, broche neckerchiefs, and other new goods in the gents' furnishing line, just received at Silberstein's, 506 Kearny street, one door south of California? If you haven't, go and inspect them, for Silberstein always leads the city in styles. G

Ask the boys for the right change. He also furnishes FIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains at San Francisco rates—free of charge. •

Leap Year.

This being leap year, ladies may take liberties. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Miss Simpkins asked Charley Monthaven the other day—not to marry her, but—where he bought "that love of a necktie." He replied of course, "Of P. Beamish, late of Beamish & Gibson, corner of Market and Third sts., Nucleus Building (formerly Ward's shirt store)."6

The Fashionable Beverage.

The fashionable ladies' drink at present, is Dr. Abernethy's Ginger Brandy, which is a mild and wholesome stimulant. Souther, Chenery & Co. are the agents for San Francisco. •

A Bureau of Piety.

A ministerial intelligence office has been started in Boston. Clergymen of any evangelical denomination can, by paying one dollar each, have their names entered for places and congregations pay a like sum upon being supplied with pastors. Probably, applications from churches read something like this: "Please send us a good, sober, genteel, quiet Methodist, capable of cooking up plain sermons, and who can come well recommended by former employer;" or, "We want a strong, healthy exhorter, who has had experience in dishing up hell-horrors for frightening sinners. Must be single and of good habits."

The Lowell Courier says: "Vice President Colfax says the happiest days of his life were when he was a printer. Come to our office, Scuyler, and you shall have the old family joy at 25 cents a thousand."

The Great Failure.

THE GREAT FAILURE will cause an advance in the price of furniture and bedding, but Wm. J. Heney & Co., 725 Market street, Bancroft's block, will continue to sell their goods at the usual low prices and cheaper than ever, for cash. They have just received a large assortment of the latest, most elegant styles of Eastern furniture, which connoisseurs prefer to California manufactured goods. O

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

A very large and fashionable audience thronged the Metropolitan Theatre last night, when Lotta made her first appearance. All were agreeably surprised at the metamorphosis the theatre had undergone. New paper and fresh paint had given a bright and cheerful appearance to the entrance hall leading to the box office. The inner vestibule was perfectly gorgeous with rich crimson and gold paper in panels, surrounded by gold beadings; a beautiful Brussells carpet covered the floor, the whole lighted up by the rays shed by a costly chandelier. Inside the theatre the renovation was still more striking. The walls had been whitened and tinted, the seats all newly painted and re-upholstered with handsome rep. The side boxes, from which it was formerly difficult to obtain a view of the stage, had handsome balconies attached, the proscenicum boxes were fitted up with new upholstery and curtains, and rich crimson curtains hung over the invitation boxes in the lower portion of the proscenicum. The old green curtain was replaced by one of crimson rep, and altogether the theatre looked as good as new. There was no smell of paint, no signs of unfinished work and all had been done so suddenly that it appeared as if some fairy had with her wand transformed the vestibule and audatorium into "halls of dazzling light," to oblige the management. As there really was no fairy to do all this, these great improvements are owing to the enterprise, energy and taste of the management, the long experience of Frank B. Culley in theatres being of much use in the new arrangements. To give all due credit we may state that the upholstering, carpets and curtains were supplied by the firm of Plum and Bell, Sutter street, between Kearny and Montgomery; the painting and paper-hanging by L. Francke; decorations by Messrs. Deaves, Hinckley, Bishop, Anke. Is was fit that such brave adornments should be made to prepare the theatre for the reception of such a star as Lotta, and brightly the talented little actress shone midst the trilliant surroundings. New scenery had been painted expressly for the play of "The Little Detective," and also a new drop curtain by Rogers. This last is rather sombre, there is too much dark green in it. Having described the theatre we must say something of the performance. When Lotta bounded on the stage she was received with such shouts of welcome that her heart must have warmed toward the public who loved her so well and were so proud of her. From that time until the fall of the curtain she received continual applause for her acting in the six different characters which she personated. She delighted the audience with little kicks, and tricks of gesture, and her protean business was remarkably well carried out. Her simulation of drunkenness in the characrter of Harry Racket was wonderfully good, her Somersetshire dialect as Grizzel Gruttridge was very correct, and her Dutch impersonation was very amusing. Two songs and dances—"The Apple of her Eye," and "You Know How it is Yourself," received much applause, and others had to be given. Lotta's voice is not strong but she manages it very skilfully; her dancing was so original that it perfectly captivates all who see it. Robert Craig as Ludovic Stuyvesant rendered most efficient support and made an immense hit, keeping the audience in a roar of laughter all the time he was on the stage. W. J. Coggswell had not much of a part in Roderick Tracy, the detective; he appears to be a good stock actor; J. M. Hardie had a villainously bad villain part in Barry Morrison and did all that could be done with it. Miss Henrietaa Osborne was sufficiently interesting as the wronged Stella and looked beautiful when her cold, cold corpse floated on the steam with the moon's rays shining on the upturned face. S. W. Piercy did very well as Phœbus Rockaway. Miss Fanny Young acted the part of Una capitally; Mrs. F. Rea made a good Madame Ritzdorff; John Woodard played Stephen Hardcliffe very naturally and altogether the piece had full justice done it. The same performance will be given to-night when another immense audience will doubtless be in attendance.

Alhambra Theatre.

There is no falling off in the merit and variety of the performance presented at this theatre. All the members of the Emerson Minstrels work with a will to keep the fun alive and present unceasing novelty. The new bill performed for the first time last night, is an excellent one. J. H. Milburn Billy Emerson, Fayette Welch, Add Ryman, Heywood, and others appearing in some of their best specialties, and taking part in the comical afterpiece of "The Coopers," which caused much fun. The same mirth-provoking entertainment will be given to-night.

Maguire's Opera House.

This house on which a considerable sum has just been spent in renovations and decorations, looked very bright last night when it was filled by an opera audience assembled to enjoy the production of "Ernani." Signorina Adelina Speranza sang the role of Elvira excellently well. Signor Bianchi was very fine as Ernani; Signor G. Mancusi sang the role of Carlo V splendidly, gaining great applause for his execution of "Oh de' verdi anni Miei," which he sang with admirable expression. Signor L. Contini who is rapidly increasing in public favor, took the role of Silva; Mrs. Evans Giovanna, Signor Roncovieri Ruiz, and Mons. Charles, Ricardo. The next opera night is Wednesday when we hope the house will be thronged, to hear the Fopera of "I due Foscari," which has seldom been given in San Francisco. Signorina Luigia Bernardi, who on her debut at once established herself as a favorite, will appear as Lucrezia Contrarini.

Bella Union.

Miss Susie Lee Robinson, who made her first apperrance at this house last night is sure to be a favorite. She gained an encore for her song in the first part, another in the interlude for a pretty song and dance. Tommy Barton is a good addition to the company and his vocalisms were well received. Marie Zoel sbone in song and dance; Ella La Rue in banjo solos; Miss Clara Starr in comic songs, and other performances are given. Johnny Tuers, the favorite Ethiopian comedian, is announced for Thursday.

Pacific Hall.

To-night the complimentary concert tendered to Gustav A. Scott will take place. An excellent programme will be performed, and among others the following favorite artistes will appear: Miss Annie McKenzie, Miss Mary E. Wadsworth, who made such a brilliant debut in opera a short time ago, Miss Helen Dingeon the delightful vocalist Signor G. Mancusi, Miss Fanny Meyers and R. Wunderlich. The full programme appears in another column. Appearances promise a large and fashionable attendance.

California Theatre.

The very large and fashionable house last night was a well-deserved tribute to a talented actor who is indefatigable in his efforts to please, and who plays every part he undertakes with an intelligent understanding of its requirements. J. C. Williamson must have been gratified by this tangible proof of the estimation in which he is held by the public. The performance was a most excellent one. John McCullough, J. C. Williamson, Owen Marlowe, Miss Rose Evans, Miss Minnie Walton and others presented "Leap Year" in capital style. Everyone was glad to see the last named actress, once more on the stage and she received a hearty greeting on making her appearance. Scenes from "The Love Chase" were presented in equally excellent manner by Henry Edwards, W. A. Mestayer, Miss May Howard and Mrs. Judah; John McCullough's reading of "Sheridan's Ride" was much applauded, and J. C. Williamson's reading of the parody entitled "Schneider's Ride" sent the audience into fits of laughter. The original farce entitled "Knock Me Down," with J. C. Williamson as Knucklebone Johnny, terminated the entertainment and sent the audience home in high good humor. This excellent bill, which gave such general satisfaction last night, will be given in full again this evening. To-morrow evening "The Palace of Truth" will be presented with new scenery and effects, and M'lle Venturoli, M'lle Marie Gougain and a full corps de ballet will appear.

Mac Evoy's Original Hibernicon.

As a matter of course Platt's Hall was crowded last night, when the first exhibition of Charles Mac Evoy's Original Hibernicon was given. All present were more than satisfied with the entertainment offered. The pictures are beautiful and faithful to nature, the music is good, the singing very pleasing, and the acting of Dan Morris and Marie D. Mac Evoy very amusing. Miss Mac Evoy has a very prepossessing appearance, a good voice, and sings and acts with much spirit and feeling. Dan Morris is a splendid dancer. Where everything is excellent it is hard to particularize, but we may mention among the scenes which evoked the most enthusiastic applause, those of the Battle of Clontarf, the Rock of Cashel, the Lakes of Killarney, and the grand historical transformation picture which terminated the evening's entertainment. A tour of Ireland can be very pleasantly taken at small expense any evening at Platt's Hall, in the pleasant company of Barney the Guide and the sweet-voiced Norah.

Ladies' Fair.

The attendance at the Fair and Festival held by the ladies of Dr. Stone's church continues large and the variety of the entertainment given makes an evening spent there pass away very pleasantly. The Art Gallery is quite a feature.

Parlor Magic.

In these days, almost anyone may become a conjurer. At Hartz's Branch Conjuring Depot, 140 Montgomery street, a majority of the best mechanical tricks of modern magicians are for sal from fifty cents upwards.

An Actor in Luck.

E. J. Buckley, the popular juvenile actor at the California Theatre, is just now the subject of many congratulations from his legion of friends. On the 8th inst. Mrs. E. J. Buckley, also a popular member of the dramatic profession, presented her husband with twins, a son and daughter. Mother and children are doing well.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 203 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

Go and See Them.

Ladies in want of a new Parasol should go to Jones & Wilkinson's, 302 Third street, corner of Folsom. They have all the new styles and their prices are as usual "on the bed rock." I

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon. No. 537 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny st

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years in Sacramento, and ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the same treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and spend the remainder of his days to quiet life; but the constant applications from suffering everywhere, to come to their aid, finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Look Back, spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in this celebrated institution, and then give a few years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, 605 Jackson and Kearny streets, where for 15 previous his practice as a SPECIALIST reached in the cure of all cases brought under his care. The Doctor's motto is "Reparable and speedy treatment and moderate charges to all."

TUESDAY.....APRIL 9, 1872

Not Right, by any Means

There is a story afloat about a German gentleman in Berks county who buried his wife and married again in about ten days. The young men of the neighborhood determined to signify their disapproval of such a breach of propriety as this speedy marriage; so, while the wedding-feast was in progress at the house, they called and gave the parties a calathumpian serenade. After a while, the groom appeared at the front door, and, when silence had been obtained, he said, in a deprecatory tone:—

"I say, poys, you ought to pe ashamt of yourselfs to pe making all dis noise ven dare vos a funeral here so soon. It ain't right."

The band then adjourned.

Rough on the Doctor.

An awful warning here is for doctors. We read that the measles have of late grievously afflicted the Ute Indians. The more the Medicine Man of the tribe drummed, and danced, and went through all manner of incantations, the greater grew the mortality; until the bereaved kinsmen of the deceased led the M. M. to a convenient place and shot him. If we should adopt that system here, what a fusilade would be kept up.

Etiquette as a Study.

A proposition has been made in the Chicago Board of Education to make etiquette a branch of instruction in public schools. From the manner in which boys and girls usually behave in the streets and at public assemblages it is fair to presume that such a department is needed in the schools. A Turveydrop to teach "deportment" should be added to all our schools.

The life-long, but, for France, over-ardent Republican, Blanqui, when a ked at his recent trial where his usual residence was, replied, 'My usual residence! I am usually in prison."

Good Bread

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. For size, weight and quality, STEIN'S loaves are superior to any patent bread that ever bore a flash trade mark. He challenges imitation, and invites a trial at the hands of the public. Leave your orders at STEIN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street. D

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

The Reason Why.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few doors below What Cheer House.

Decline of the Drama.

The marked decline of the English drama is attracting much attention. It is many years since a play has been published as a literary work. The causes of such a state of things are readily discerned, but not so readily remedied. The Government supervision cramps the play-wrights more or less, often seriously. The lack of good actors has discouraged good work, for a first class play, with the present vitiated taste of audiences cannot succeed without first class interpreters. Your average theatre-goer wishes to see and not to hear. A grand transformation scene, where many colored lights flash across the stage, and a score or so of scantily dressed women writhe and gesticulate upon it, will produce far larger cash returns than a scene of Shakspeare. So the prudent playwright aims much more at effects of stage machinery than effects of thought. Moreover, good work is not in great demand from managers. It pays better to "adapt"—in other words to translate—some flimsy French drama, than to give fair prices for original English plays. The decline of the drama, then, is due to Government interference, the lack of appreciative audiences, and the lack of public spirited managers. We might, perhaps, add the lack of dramatic talent among authors. To be sure, the want of opportunity may obscure obscure talent forever; but it is the mark of genius that it creates not only its proper work, but the opportunity for its display as well. A mute, inglorious Milton makes a good lay-figure for a poet's fantasy; but a man who, like Milton,

——lisps in numbers,
For the numbers come, cannot but be heard, and is sure to be appreciated after his death, if not before. If there were any second Shakspeare in England now, we should hear from him and of him quickly despite the hindrances that seem so insurmountable to mediocrity.

The following advertisement, copied from a London paper shows that something is rotten in Denmark:—

THE STAGE.—To Ladies and Gentlemen wishing to appear at a London theatre, a favorable opportunity offers. Programme: Farce, Comedy and Burlesque. Very moderate premium required, returnable in tickets. Address, etc.

Where such a practice is possible the decadence of the drama is not suprising—it is inevitable.

Married on the Fly.

The Indianapolis News says: A runaway Evansville couple were married near Eagle Station on the full run the other day. They had stepped off to have the ceremony performed. The train had begun to move before the justice had time to conclude the ceremony, and all three started on the run, the husband and wife mounting the train, and the justice bawling after them, "I pronounce you man and wife, and may the Lord have mercy;" or words to that effect.

Self-Confidence.

Men often lose opportunities by want of self-confidence. Doubts and fears in the minds of some rise up for every event, and they fear to attempt what most probably will be successful, through mere timorousness, while a courageous, active man will, with perhaps half the ability, carry an enterprise to a prosperous termination.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens.

FOR FINELY FLAVORED SAUSAGES, HAMS, Bacon, etc., all made of the best grain fed pork, go to R. F. Bunker's Stall, 74 and 76 California Market. Mr. Bunker's club sausages, for flavor and delicacy, equal any ever made east of the Sierras, and he cuts up nothing but first-class meats.

500 Pairs of Socks,

At all prices, at the What Cheer Laundry.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

Elegant Jewelry.

Stunning Things.

Have you seen the Spring style neckties, scarfs, broche neckerchiefs, and other new goods in the gents' furnishing line, just received at Silberstein's, 506 Kearny street, one door south of California? If you haven't, go and inspect them, for Silberstein always leads the city in styles. G

To Householders.

To get your house well painted go to George J. Smith, 837 Market St, estimates given from plans and specifications.

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller, news agent on the Southern Pacific Railroad, supplies the passengers with the latest San Francisco dailies and Eastern illustrated papers at a dime a peice. Ask the boys for the right change. He also furnishes EIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains at San Francisco rates—free of charge.

The Fashionable Beverage.

The fashionable ladies' drink at present, is Dr. Abernethy's Ginger Brandy, which is a mild and wholesome stimulant. Souther, Chenery & Co. are the agents for San Francisco.

The Great Failure.

THE GREAT FAILURE will cause an advance in the price of furniture and bedding, but Wm. J. Heney & Co., 725 Market street, Bancroft's block, will continue to sell their goods at the usual low prices and cheaper than ever, for cash They have just received a large assortment of the latest, most elegant styles of Eastern furniture, which connoisseurs prefer to California manufactured goods. O

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to F. J. Reilly, Agents.

The Oyster Palace.

Henceforth a dinner, soup, roasts, entrees, etc, of the best the market affords, will be served from 4 till 8. Twelve private rooms for supper parties, etc., have been added to this famous oyster house, and Frank Dumont attends to everything personally.

ARGUMENT.

Francesco Foscari (Doge) elected Doge of Venice in 1457 is after years of struggle to maintain his power removed by the machinations of his implacable enemy, Jacopo Loredano. During the course of the opera he regains the title and banishment of Foscari's only son Jacopo. Shortly after, enemy dead of murder, by the Council of Ten who die to prove before his innocence is proven. The opera closes with the fall of Foscari, the peals of bells announcing the election of his successor, and the joy of Loredano who triumphantly exclaims "The Foscaris have paid me."

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

J. H. Milburn, Billy Emerson, Add Ryman, Heywood, Fayette Welch, the Reynolds Brothers and the other bright stars making up that grand combination entitled "The Great Emerson Minstrels" will appear to-night in an immense programme. "Sweet Cide" is a great hit and will be continued on the bills until further notice.

California Theatre.

To-night will be presented for the first time in the United States the spectacular, musical, dramatic and terpsichorean fairy comedy of "The Palace of Truth," which proved such a brilliant success when produced a few years ago in London. W. J. Forster, W. Bell, Charles Schultze, J. R. Pauldin, John Torrence, Stackhouse, W. Marshall, A. Trueworthy, Thos. Gossman, and a small army of assistants have been at work for some time past on their various specialties of scenery, music, costumes, mechanical effects, gas fixtures, calcium lights and colored fires and decorations and properties for this piece. A great feature in the piece will be the ballet, for which M'lle Erminie Venturoli, M'lle Gaugain, and a corps de ballet have been engaged. In the play Jhon McCullough, J. C. Williamson, Owen Marlowe, W. A. Mestayer, Fred Franks, Stephen Leach, Mrs Sophie Edwin, Miss May Howard, Miss Rose Evans, Miss Minnie Walton, Miss Harmes, and Miss Emma Stanley will appear.

Metropolitan Theatre.

This handsome theatre, was crowded again last night when Lotta made her second appearance. "The Little Detective" has proved such a success and so many are anxious to see Lotta in her proteau business that it will probably be played through the week and at the matinee on Saturday. Seats may be secured six days in advance.

Maguire's Opera House.

This evening the patrons of Italian Opera should turn out in full force and crowd Maguire's Opera House. "I Due Foscari," a work seldom performed here, will be presented with the following cast: Lucrezia Contarini, Signora Luigia Bernardi; Jacopo Foscari, Signora E. Bianchi; Francesco Foscari, Signor, L. Contini; Pisana, Mrs. Evans; Loredano, Signor Roncovieri; Servant of the Doge, Signor Barbagetta. On Friday evening "Norma" will be presented with Signorina Adelina Frenchel in the title role. Saturday night will be extra night, and "Crispino e la Comare" will be performed, with the bright and talented Miss Mary E. Wadsworth as Annetta.

Bella Union.

After a good first part, Barton will appear in vocalisms, Eugenia Gerretta in song and dance, Clara Starr in comic songs and Harry Thompson, Chris Mathews, Matt Kelly, Lon McCarthy, Tommy Bree, Samwells and Taylor in the act "Tricks upon the Doctor." After an overture, Miss Minnie Fillmore will sing a ballad, Miss Marie Zoel will appear in one of her popular songs and dances, Miss Ella La Rue will present her banjo eccentricities, Samwells and Montague will appear as the "Comic Brothers," Susie Lee Robinson will perform in song and dance, and the melodrama of "The King, the Innkeeper and the Deserter" will conclude the performance.

Mac Evoy's Original Hibernicon.

This entertainment suits the public taste exactly. Beautiful pictures of lovely scenes in Ireland, music, comedy and sweet songs delight the eye and the ear. To-day there will be a matinee for ladies and children, when hundreds of the rising generation in California will be taken to see the land of their fathers, while their parents will delight in revisiting the scenes of their youth. The entertainment will be the same in every particular as that given in the evening.

Gustav Scott's Concert.

Professor Scott had every reason to be gratified with the success of his complimentary concert at Pacific Hall last night. A very large and fashionable audience was in attendance and the programme was excellently performed. One of the most pleasant features was the duet from "Orispino" by Miss Mary E. Wadsworth and Signor E. Mancusi, which was applauded until the walls rang again; Miss Annie McKenzie sang both in the first and second part and was much applauded. Altogether the concert was a great success, and a well deserved compliment to a worthy member of the musical profession and a most accomplished teacher.

Pacific Hall.

This evening the California State Medical Society of Homœopathic Practitioners will celebrate the birthday of Hahnemann, to whom the science of medicine owes so much, at Pacific Hall. There will be short addresses by the President, Dr. J. S. Shepherd, of Petaluma, and Grace Greenwood. After these will follow a programme of vocal and instrumental music by Miss Fannie Marston, Mrs. Louisa Parsons, Thos. F. Barnwall and Henry Harris. The proceeds of the entertainment are to be devoted to a Hospital Fund and free dispensary.

Ladies' Fair.

This evening will be the last but one on which the fair and festival held by the ladies of Dr. Stone's church will remain open. The Art Gallery is well worth a visit, and the entertainment to be offered this evening is of a varied and amusing description.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

O. Poisoning.

The scientific, certain cure discovered and practised at Dr. Bourne's Baths, No. 10 Masonic Temple. Entrance on Post street. No cure, no pay. z

An Old Landmark.

The Verandah Cigar Store, at the N.E. corner of Kearny and Washington streets, kept by Henry Schmidt, has been famous for the last eleven years for keeping the best Havana cigars, tobacco, choice meerschaum pipes, etc. z

The Fatal Mistake.

A man may drink moderately, but steadily, all his life, with no apparent harm to himself, but his daughters become nervous wrecks, his sons epileptics, libertines, or drunkards; the hereditary tendency to crime having its pathology and unvaried laws, precisely as scrofula, consumption, or any other purely physical disease. These are stale truths to medical men, but the majority of parents, even those of more than average intelligence, are either ignorant or wickedly regardless of them. There will be a chance of ridding our jails and almshouses of half their tenants when our people are brought to treat drunkenness as a disease of the stomach and blood, as well as of the soul, to meet it with common sense and a physician, as well as with threats of eternal damnation, and to remove gin-shops and gin-sellers for the same reason that they would stagnant ponds or unclean sewers.

A Cheerful Town.

Mr. James T. Fields, in a recent lecture on "cheerfulness," remarked that it was difficult to make Americans look happy. "They might be exceedingly joyful, but no one could find it out. And especially is this the case in their public assemblies." He tells of one town in New England where they tried to get up a little liveliness by employing a retired minister to deliver a series of lectures on "mummies," the proceeds to be appropriated to buying a new town-hearse. But nothing came of it; the people were as grave and solemn as ever.

That town must be something like San Jose, where the people sat out an entertainment given by Emerson's Minstrels and never smile a smile.

The Lotos Club.

There has been a split in the Lotos Club of New York, and a number of members have seceded. A New York correspondent writing over date of March 30th, says:

The result of the break in the Lotos Club is that a stupendous reception is to be held on next Saturday evening outside of the club house in Weber's rooms. Nilsson, Kellogg, Parepa, Santley, Capoul and other leading artists in the city have been invited and will be present. The invitations are signed by Colonel Stebbins, the elected president who has declined, and other prominent members.

A Frightful Snore.

A little boy of six summers was sent, one one morning, to call his grandfather to breakfast. The old gentleman was in the habit of snoring very hard, and as the boy pushed open the door he was frightened at the unusual noise. He rushed back to his mother exclaiming, "Ma! grandpa's been barking at me!"

Good Bread.

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. For size, weight and quality, STEIN'S loaves are superior to any patent bread that ever bore a flash trade mark. He challenges imitation, and invites a trial at the hands of the public. Leave your orders at STEIN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street. D

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His ramens symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff. and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 41 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Too Bad

The Alta's notists make mistakes enough without the compositor making matters worse. The following which appears in this morning's Alta must have made the notist rage:

It is a great pity that the Democratic party cannot be permitted to inaugurate the millennium in this country, without any further obstruction. We are satisfied that if it should gain possession of the government, that blissful state Jack Cady so ably portrayed would soon be fully and perfectly realized. Three-hoofed pets suddenly displaying ten hoofs, would be only the very least of the benefits that might be expected to flow from such a consummation.

The notist wished to see in print an illusion to Cade's promise, "The three-hooped pot shall have ten hoops," and the compositor made it three-hoofed pets with ten hoofs! The notist has our sympathy.

A Vile Wretch.

We are perfectly satisfied that we express the opinion of the entire female world, old young, married and single, in applying the significant epithet that heads this paragraph in all its force. First "vile!" then "wretch!" then, with a salvo, "vile wretch!!!" at the audacious editor who, of late, perpetrated in type this attack on faithful and lovely woman. Hear him, ladies, hear the creature:

"It is said that womanly despair for the loss of a lover endures three months in the winter and two in the summer. The second month, a lady becomes interested in the new style of hair dressing; the third, she burns her love letters. Twelve months after she hears of her former lover's marriage, and wonders 'how she could have loved a man with a red moustache.'"

Another amendment to the constitution is absolutely needed to reconstruct such men!

A Barber's View of it.

Mr. G. H. Lewis tells a story of a gentleman, who, under the scissors said something about his thinning locks being caused by the development of his brains. "Excuse me, sir," remarked the barber, "but you are laboring under a mistake. The brains permeate the skull, and encourage the growth of the hair—that's what they're for, sir!"

The Great Failure.

THE GREAT FAILURE will cause an advance in the price of furniture and bedding, but Wm. J. Heney & Co., 725 Market street, Bancroft's block, will continue to sell their goods at the usual low prices and cheaper than ever, for cash. They have just received a large assortment of the latest, most elegant styles of Eastern furniture, which connoisseurs prefer to California manufactured goods. O

The Oyster Palace.

Henceforth a dinner, soup, roasts, entrees, etc, of the best the market affords, will be served from 4 till 8. Twelve private rooms for supper parties, etc., have been added to this famous oyster house, and Frank Dumont attends to everything personally. A

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. N

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. The Reason Why.

A Hint.

If a new dictionary should be compiled—and it is necessary that one should be, owing to the new meanings that are attached to words—we trust that the following suggestions will attract the attention and respect of the coming lexicographer. We would propose that office should be thus defined: "Office, n. [L opus, work, and facio, to do.] A public charge or employment, in which there is no work to do, but to receive a salary as a reward for having voted for the party in power. Among the privileges attached to office is that of appropriating the public funds entrusted to the incumbent to his own use." "Defalcation, v. a. [L. de, off, and falcis, a sickle.] To cut off with money not belonging to you. A polite term for robbing a bank, and cheating widows and orphans out of their dues." "Insanity, n. That eccentricity which induces one man to murder another for revenge or in order to rob him at leisure." "Party, n. A political term, synonymous with virtue. A party can do no wrong in its own eyes, and believes that another party can never do right." A dictionary carried out on this principle will be invaluable to those interested in the proper meaning of words, and will do away with doubt on many important points.

An Unfortunate Organ Grinder.

In crossing the plains in 1852 Tommy Dodd was gobbled up by the Gushot Indians and for some months remained a captive among them. He says among other plunder obtained by the Indians when they took the train was a hand organ which an adventurous Italian was bringing out to California. The organ was a big thing among the Indians after they had reached their village. The chief had a man to sit in front of his hut and grind it every night. It was set to play "Yankee Doodle," and "Yankee Doodle it played every night, week in and week out, without variation. One night fooling with the machine, the Indian grinder shifted the stop, and when he resumed the crank out came "Pop Goes the Weasel." The old chief listened a moment, and supposing the machine was spoiled, seized his tamahawk, leaped from the door of his hut, and with a fierce yell brained the discoverer of the new tune upon the spot.

A Gushing Notice.

Atlanta is a nice spot for young, fascinating females. Here is a parting compliment to a departed fair one from the Atlanta Constitution: "The sweet songster who has been delighting the young men of Atlanta with trillings more delicious than the mocking bird's has gone to her Alabama home; and not only McDonough street mourns, but many hearts throughout the city are sighing and will not soon forget the blue eyes, the golden hair, and merry laughter, and glorious song of the Alabama beauty." San Francisco is just full of girls like that.

FOR FINELY FLAVORED SAUSAGES, HAMS, Bacon, etc., all made of the best grain fed pork, go to R. F. Bunker's Stall, 74 and 75 California Market. Mr. Bunker's club sausages, for flavor and delicacy, equal any ever made east of the Sierras, and he cuts up nothing but first-class meats.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated. •

Elegant Jewelry.

Stunning Things.

Have you seen the Spring style neckties, scarfs, broche neckerchiefs, and other new goods in the gents' furnishing line, just received at Silberstein's, 506 Kearny street, one door south of California? If you haven't, go and inspect them, for Silberstein always leads the city in styles. G

To Householders.

To get your house well painted go to George J. Smith, 307 Market St, estimates given from plans and specifications. F

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

A large and fashionable audience was attracted last night by the first production of W. S. Gilbert's spectacular, musical, dramatic and terpsichorean fairy comedy, "The Palace of Truth." The language of this is extremely pretty and poetical, and had full justice done it by John McCullough, Miss Rose Evans, Mrs. Sophie Edwin, Miss May Howard, Miss Minnie Walton and others. John McCullough made a capital Prince Philamir and was resplendent in a suit of white and green satin; Miss Rose Evans as Princess Zeolide looked perfectly lovely and read her lines in a manner which could be equalled by few actresses on the American stage; Miss Minnie Walton looked pretty as ever and played Azema with charming archness; Mrs. Sophie Edwin was excellent as the Queen; J. C. Williamson supplied the comic element in the character of King Phanor, and Owen Marlowe and W. A. Mestayer, as the two courtiers, Chrysal and Tyorum, were very amusing and played their parts to perfection. The great feature of the first act was the fountain of colored waters, one of the most wonderful and gorgeous effects ever produced on any stage. First the fountain threw up a stream of pure water; this changed to green, yellow, purple, corn color, mauve, magenta, and many more colors than the rainbow. Sometimes several of these colors mingled when their appearance was very beautiful. This provoked thunders of applause and the curtain fell on the first act. The second act opened on a very beautiful scene representing the Palace of Truth, with golden ferns and vari-colored insects buzzing amidst the leaves. After some amusing scenes between the dramatis personæ who were bound by the spell which hung over the palace, to speak the truth against their will, the ballet commenced. First came eight ladies who did pretty well considering that a ballet troupe has not many opportunities for practice here, being but seldom required, then came four more who did better, and then M'lle Marie Gaugain bounded on the stage, looking very pretty and graceful. She received a warm greeting and frequent applause. Then came the star of the evening, M'lle Erminie Venturoli, who was met with that burst of welcome always accorded by the San Francisco public to a new comer. M'lle Venturoli is remarkable for the wonderful quickness of her movements and her style of movement is, if we may be allowed the term in speaking of a dancer, staccato rather than gliding and undulating; she received a vociferous encore for a difficult dance, full of astonishingly rapid turns and changes, and retired amidst much applause. Another ballet was given in the third act and was performed better than the first, and M'lle Venturoli again received the compliment of an encore for a dance. A transformation scene ended the play. To W. T. Porter, the scenic artist, great credit is due for the beautiful pictures he has presented in this play. To the other gentlemen engaged in its production we gave due acknowledgment in our issue of yesterday, and can only add that they have all done their work well. Charles Schultze at short notice accomplished the herculean task of composing original music for the ballet! M'lle Venturoli's music was detained at Omaha, and without music there could be no ballet. In how many theatres, we wonder, could a leader be found capable of accomplishing such a feat as he of the California Theatre so successfully accomplished? Speaking of music we must not omit to mention the delightful horn quartette, "When the Swallows Homeward Fly," so beautifully played after the first act by Messrs. Schlotte, Blythe, Stohr and Rappenberg, which brought forth a hearty encore from an audience not much in the habit of encoring instrumental performances. That ill-mannered portion of the audience who make a point of preparing to leave when they see a play about drawing to a close, received somewhat of a snub and must have felt rather cheap last night, when John McCullough was forced to address them from the stage: Ladies and gentlemen will please keep their seats as there is another beautiful ballet." It was very nicely done and had the effect desired, all staying to see the transformation scene and the last ballet, which they were about to deprive themselves of through their boorishness and stupidity. There is so much that is beautiful in "The Palace of Truth" that it will run for an indefinite period and should crowd the house for weeks.

Bella Union.

The melodrama of "The King, the Inkeeper and the Deserter" is a decided success. Harry Thompson is capital as Frederick, King of Prussia; Carrie Chapman plays the part of Adelbert well, and R. G. Marsh as Morosco, the bandit, is a high old villain; Miss Marie Zoel, who is very good in pathetic parts, plays that of Rosalie, the heroine, very well indeed, and carries the sympathies of the audience with her. The first part and interlude are both good, and the new artists are very popular. To-night that highly original ethiopian comedian, Johnny Toers, will make his first appearance at this theatre.

Mac Evoy's Original Hibernicon.

One of the most popular entertainments ever introduced in San Francisco is Mac Evoy's Original Hibernicon, which at present draws crowded houses every evening at Platt's Hall. The sweet singing of Miss Marie Mac Evoy and wonderful dancing of Dan Morris draws shouts of applause, and the beautiful pictures of scenes in Ireland are the theme of general admiration.

Ladies' Fair.

To-night is announced as positively the last of the Fair held by the ladies of Dr. Stone's church in the basement of the new edifice at the corner of Mason and Post streets. In addition to other entertainments, Prof. Hartz will give an exhibition of magical tricks, which he performs with a skill almost equal to that of his gifted brother.

Dashaway Hall.

A vocal and intrumental concert for the benefit of Mrs. Helen Marble will be given this evening at Dashaway Hall. Mrs. Marble, Mr. Havell, Miss Chevalier, Miss De Solla and others will take part in the programme. Mrs. Marble has been always ready to volunteer for the benefits of charities and individuals, and will we hope have a good benefit herself.

W. T. Porter.

The talented scenic artist leaves this morning for the East. He will return in four weeks, and hopes to accomplish a great deal in that space of time, in the way of procuring novelties in the scenic line for the California Theatre.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The crowded houses which have greeted Lotta since the night of her first appearance are a gratifying proof of the popularity of this charming young artiste with those among whom she first learned the profession of which she is so bright an ornament. Those who see Lotta in "The Little Detective" see her at her best, and witness a most pleasing exhibition of her varied talents. As seats may be secured six days in advance, all who wish to do so can see her in her protean business in this play before it is withdrawn. Saturday, first Lotta matinee, "The Little Detective."

Alhambra Theatre.

Let other attractions be as numerous as they may, nothing can prevent that portion of the public who enjoy fun and delight in good music from crowding the Alhambra. When the present grand combination of artists, Billy Emerson, J. H. Milburn, Fayette Welch, Harry Stanwood, Heywood and the Reynolds Brothers, start off on their Eastern tour, they will be long remembered, however brilliant the company which will take their place at the Alhambra may be. The programme for to-night can scarcely be improved upon, and all who go to the Alhambra this evening must enjoy themselves.

Maguire's Opera House.

"I Due Foscari" was most pleasingly performed last night, and gave general satisfaction. Signora Luigia Bernardi, who has a fine voice, good school and enough soul to serve for half a dozen average prima donnas, sang the role of Lucrezia Contarini delightfully, and was rewarded by tremendous applause; Signor Bianchi was in excellent voice and sang finely; Signora L. Contini was very good as Francesco Foscari; Signor Roncovieri was most impressive as the vindictive Loredano, and sang the role in his usual careful style, and altogether the opera was most enjoyable. To-morrow evening "Norma" will be played, and Signorina Adelina Frenchel will have an opportunity of appearing in a role adapted to her style and voice.

Opera Prices Reduced.

The management of the Italian opera at Maguire's Opera House have reduced the prices to the old rates for the balance of the season, as will be seen by referring to the announcement.

The City Gardens.

These fine grounds are soon to be opened permanently, under new and competent management. The plan is to renovate and improve the gardens, stock them with a menagerie and give pleasing and attractive entertainments there. It is rumored that several street railroad companies are in the enterprise, and are determined to make it a success. Tickets will be 25 cents, including the fare to and from the grounds, and every nerve will be strained to divide the business with Woodward's Gardens. The City Gardens will be ready for business in about ten days.

J. G. Russell.

This celebrated baritone, who is under engagement to the Alhambra Theatre, and is expected to arrive to-night, is spoken of in a highly commendatory manner in a special despatch to the Alta from Ogden. We copy it for the benefit of our readers:—

Mr. J. G. Russell, the celebrated baritone singer from New York, who is to fill an engagement with Thomas Maguire, is among the passengers by the overland train. Mr. Russell was the life of the passengers in the snow, where he sang for them as he only can do, and his endeavors met with the appreciation and approbation of all on board. Look out for him in San Francisco. He is worth hearing.

Harry Stanwood.

In answer to many enquiries as to why Harry Stanwood doesn't sing a little to the people at the Alhambra, but only appears in "Sweet Cider," we must state that the reason is simple enough. He has a horribly bad cold, but will probably be all right next week. In the mean time he is preparing some funny songs for his reappearance.

Edwin Forrest.

Dispatches received this morning, announces that "the veteran" has passed the crisis of his recent illness, and is recovering.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has them, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

A New Newspaper Item.

We are pleased to be able to state that a new newspaper item has appeared above the horizon, which has all the elements that will assure it long life and unfading popularity. It will vary the monotony of the limited circle of items that are in universal use, and will for a time spare us allusions to Washington's nurse, the oldest inhabitant, the vigorous centenarian, and winter resting in the lap of spring. This time it is a jar of jelly. A man in Decatur, Ill., claims to have a jar of jelly, given him by his grandfather many years ago, which was made by the hands of Mrs. Martha Washington. The idea is a brilliant one, and opens an immense field for inventive item makers. The Washington jelly may be supplemented by a mince pie from the kitchen of Thomas Jefferson, or a bottle of pickles prepared by the delicate hands of Deborah, wife of Dr. Benjamin Franklin. By the way, why is it that the immortal hatchet with which Geo. Washington hacked the cherry tree has never tarned up? It offers a fine opportunity to poetical imaginations.

Bad Taste.

College students have adopted the fashion of wearing their hair "banged" over their forehead which makes many of them look like escaped convicts.—Ex.

There is a fashion some ladies have of wearing their hair close-croped over their foreheads, that is suggestive of the same idea.

Can't She, Really?

Marion Harland in one of her novels says:

A woman who has been engaged, or as good as engaged, to six or eight different men, cannot retain much purity of mind or strength of affection.

Cause Enough.

The parents of little Mary Reilly petitioned the New York Legislature for leave to change their child's name because it wasn't that kind of a baby, a mistake having occurred at the christening.

Very Natural.

A conscientious glover says that dogs are the best detectives of spurious "kid" gloves. they are attracted by genuine kids, but they shrink from those made of dog skin—a natural thing enough for dogs' kin to do.

500 Pairs of Socks,

At all prices, at the What Cheer Laundry.

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. Hug & Schmidt, successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents. H

Elegant Jewelry.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

513 Stockton street, between Clay and Sacramento, receives new goods daily from New York auctions very cheap. Remember the number.

Dear Me! How She Paints!

N. B.—Use Dickey's famous Creme de Lis, and they can't see it H

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Cerville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Cheapness and Dispatch

Is the motto of Thomas Catterall, carpenter and builder, 807 Market street, opposite Stockton. All kinds of jobbing done. Offices and stores fitted up a specialty. G

The Great Failure.

The great failure will cause an advance in the price of furniture and bedding, but Wm. J. Heney & Co., 725 Market street, Bancroft's block, will continue to sell their goods at the usual low prices and cheaper than ever, for cash. They have just received a large assortment of the latest, most elegant styles of Eastern furniture, which connoisseurs prefer to California manufactured goods. O

The Reason Why.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. T

It is Perfectly Astonishing

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few doors below What Cheer House.

"Business."

Business, business, business. One hears of nothing else in San Francisco. There are men who do more business than those of San Francisco, but surely none who do more talking about it. In older communities a man leaves his business in his store or office and has done with it after six o'clock. Here a man is not ashamed to take it home to frighten a pretty little wife who wants to talk to him about the baby, about the last novel, the opera, the theatres, her new bonnet or some other unbusiness-like topic. A man invites a friend to dinner and instead of talking on some subject which will entertain without wearying him, he drones on something in this style: "I own two lots on Market street, between Second and Third, then I own some land over at the Potrero, and I have some outside lands—No, I don't own any mining stock and don't want to—and I've got a lot on Polk street and I'm thinking of buying a lot on Devisidero street," and so on ad nauseam. Then his friend tells him how his money is invested, and they bolt their food and gulp down their wine without tasting it, and die of indigestion and leave all their lands and money to some one else, who will perhaps brag of it in the same way or will, let us hope, on the other hand, get some enjoyment out of it. Dollars, dollars, dollars! we are sick of the sound. At parties, at the theatre, at the opera, and even at picnics. Do those idiots think they are going to live forever? Single men without chick or child to care for are as bad as the rest. They are anxious to make money, and do not lay plans for spending it until they have accumulated a large sum. Fools! Before you get that sum perhaps your faculty of enjoying life may be gone. Live a day at a time. Be able to say when you go to bed, "Well, I have enjoyed myself to-day, have done no one any harm, and have the prospect of a pleasant day to-morrow." Don't toil and moil until you become hard and unsympathetic and a mere money-making machine. Go to Calistoga and leave your business behind; go fishing and give all your energies for a week or two to capturing trout instead of dollars; go to picnics. Try to get ahead in the way of enjoyment as well as in the way of money, so that when you die you may be able to reflect comfortably that if you do not leave so much money behind you as you might have done had you made a slave of yourself, you have enjoyed life a day at a time, and have not let "business" rob you of a hundred pleasures.

Wholesale and Retail Liars.

It appears from McAlpine's "Life and Times of James Fisk, Jr.," that the redoubtable James had not only a strong aversion to lying, but that he had an utter contempt for a man who would be salesman in a wholesale dry-goods shop. He thought there must be fun in the life of a salesman in a retail concern where existence is made more endurable by chaffing with women and measuring tape for them; but to stand and dicker with a man who knows you are lying, and who knows that you know that he knows you are lying, was a thing from which his gigantic soul revolted. This purity and this pride and made him at last controller of Erie and the Opera House—two institutions in which pride and purity went hand in hand, and so became notorious.

The Summer Season.

Gentlemen going on fishing excursions to Calistoga, and for country trips, should go to Geo. B. Davis, Fashionable Tailor, 507 Kearny street, near California. He makes tourists suits which will wear. I

European Music.

The largest assortment in the United States outside of New York. Musical Instruments Photographs of Composers, busts, etc., etc., at Schuberth's music store, 643 Clay street. Agents for the Steck Pianos. I

Good Advice, Free of Charge.

Do you want a good and well-fitting shirt, a good flannel and merino underwear? For everything in the line of gents' furnishing goods, go to the Pioneer Shirt Manufactory, 327 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush. Shirts ready-made in every style, and made to order. H

For Finely Flavored Sausages, Hams, Bacon, etc., all made of the best grain fed pork, go to R. F. Bunker's Stall, 74 and 75 California Market. Mr. Bunker's club sausages, for flavor and delicacy, equal any ever made east of the Sierras, and he cuts up nothing but first-class meats.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

The Oyster Palace.

Henceforth a dinner, soup, roasts, entrees, etc, of the best the market affords, will be served from 4 till 8. Twelve private rooms for supper parties, etc., have been added to this famous oyster house, and Frank Dumont attends to everything personally. A

Stunning Things.

Have you seen the Spring style neckties, scarfs, broche neckerchiefs, and other new goods in the gents' furnishing line, just received at Silberstein's, 506 Kearny street, one door south of California? If you haven't, go and inspect them, for Silberstein always leads the city in styles. G

To Householders.

To get your house well painted go to George J. Smith, 807 Market St, estimates given from plans and specifications. F

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller, news agent on the Southern Pacific Railroad, supplies the passengers with the latest San Francisco dailies and Eastern Illustrated papers at a dime a piece. Ask the boys for the right change. He also furnishes Figaro to the passengers on the upward bound trains at San Francisco rates—free of charge.

Opera in New Orleans.

The New Orleans Picayune says:

It does not follow, by any means, that because the deficiency of the Opera Association season is some thirty thousand dollars, that our chances for having a permanent opera should therefore be jeopardized. The operatic season has been a bad one, it is true, but it does not follow that because a business man finds that he has lost money one season that he should get disheartened and shut up shop. The same may be said of associations and corporations. The Opera Association may possibly be embarrassed in its business, but there is enough ability and money in it to bring it through any mere temporary embarrassment.

Youthful Pride.

During our late war some children were talking of their fathers and brothers who had been captured as prisoners of war Many tales of fortresses and camps were told, the speakers evidently priding themselves on the suffering of their relatives, when a little fellow who had been silent now spoke up: "That's nuthin!" said he; "I've got an uncle in prison, too, and he ain't never been to war nuther!"

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon. No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charles Hanks, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Lamott's Spring Style Dress Hats

Are the ne plus ultra of the season, To be dressed, wear one of his hats. Go to Lamott's, 227 Montgomery street, for all the latest styles, for all classes, both young and old. When at his store, you have the best assortment in the city to choose from.

SILENT
FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.
THIS IS THE LATEST AND MOST PRACTICAL SEWING Machine before the public. Its simplicity is its great merit. Combining advantages of the intricate and complicated double-thread machines with the simplicity, ease of operation and lightness of running of the single-thread Toys, it has also the greater advantage of economy and durability, and is comprehended by the most inexperienced in a few minutes; others take weeks or months to understand.
IT IS THE ONLY SEWING MACHINE WITH STRAIGHT SELF-ADJUSTING NEEDLE MAKING THE "CHAIN STITCH" DIRECT FROM TWO SPOOLS, WITHOUT SHUTTLE OR BOBBIN.
The MANHATTAN is sold on easy monthly payments. Don't fail to examine it before you purchase any other.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

The Alhambra.

Everything in the programme presented at this house is bright and sparkling. The first part goes off well with the fun of Billy Emerson and Fayette Welch on the ends, and the sweet singing of S. Holdsworth and E. Norman. J. H. Mulburn presents some of his best sketches in the interlude. Heywood sings popular ballads; the Reynolds Brothers give their song and dance, "The Originals;" Add Hyman and the others appear in the sketch entitled "The Coopers," and other performances enumerated on our first page are given. The full programme will be performed at the matinee to-morrow, when the house will be crowded as usual with ladies and children.

Metropolitan Theatre.

It is evident that everyone in the city is determined to see Lotta in the play of "Little Detective" before it is removed to make way for something else. Everyone is right in this case, for Lotta is piquant and pretty in all the dances, and appears to good advantage in this play. It will be performed this evening, at the matinee to-morrow, and to-morrow evening for the last time. On Sunday evening "The Child of the Regiment" will be presented.

California Theatre.

A spectacular piece with an amusing plot and well-written dialogue is such a novelty that all should see it when an opportunity offers. "The Palace of Truth" is a play of this rare kind. The fountain of many colors in the first act is so unlike anything ever seen on the California stage before, that it will of itself pay for a visit. The ballet by Mlles Ventaroli and Gangain and corps de ballet, comprising the Stanley Sisters, Miss Georgie Loomis, and many others, appear in both the second and third acts. "The Palace of Truth" will be played this evening and at the matinee to-morrow.

Maguire's Opera House.

In consequence of the sudden indisposition of Signora A. Frenchel, "Norma," which was to have been given to-night, is postponed, and in its place the opera of "Crispino e la Comare," with Miss Mary E. Wadsworth and Signor E. Mancusi in the respective roles of Annetta and Crispino, will be performed. The last performance of this opera with the same cast was a magnificent success, and its repetition should crowd the house this evening. The prices have been reduced to suit the times, as will be seen by reference to our first page. To-morrow evening "Il Trovatore" will be given.

Bella Union.

Johnny Tuers, who lately returned from a most successful engagement in Portland, made his first appearance at this house last night, and received a warm welcome; the act of "Camille" by him and Matt Kelly was received with roars of laughter. He will appear again to-night with Chris Mathews, Tommy Barton, Samwells and Montague, Miss Ella La Rue, Susie Lee Robinson, and a host of others in a varied entertainment.

Mac Evoy's Original Hibernicon.

The public will not weary of the admirable entertainment offered at Platt's Hall for many nights to come, and the rush will certainly continue until everyone in the city of Irish birth or descent has seen the beautiful views of one of the most picturesque islands in the world. There will be a matinee performance to-morrow for ladies and children.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

SONG OF GOOD FELLOWS.

I sing of good fellows
Of every degree:
By land or by water;
On shore or at sea;
In dress-coats or petticoats:
Bonnets or hats,
In broadcloth or sheepskins,
In blankets or mats;
Whoever in all things
Right bravely agree;
For such are good fellows,
Wherever they be.

I sing of good fellows
And this is their sign;
They rail not at laughter,
Love, music or wine;
And fear not lest pleasure,
Should swamp them below,
Or that those who are merry
Most overboard go
Yet who moderate in all things
And temperate we see;
And such are good fellows
Wherever they may be.

Material for Dramatists.

The English courts are turning out fine material for sensational novelists now-a-days. The Tichborne trial is enough to set one writer up in business. The Twiss libel suit was a point more exciting. A "shyster" named Chaffers—what a splendid name for such a character!—swore that the wife of Sir Travers Twiss, the Queen's Advocate-General, was a courtesan before her marriage, and had been his mistress. The lady appeared in court—Chaffers having been sued for libel—and the evidence seemed to be in her favor. But the prosecution was suddenly abandoned, and Lady Twiss left London rather than appear in court again. The inference in society is that Chaffers told the truth, but he is not greatly admired for it. It is generally understood that Boucicault intends to dramatize the Tichborne story as soon as the trial of Robert Orton is over.

Rough on Cigars.

A wretch broke off an engagement for the following cogent reason: "You know a case is a fearful nuisance, and I always carry my cigars loose in my pocket. The necessary amount of affection toward Molly was awful rough on 'em. Never came from that house but every one of 'em was smashed. Couldn't expect a fellow to waste good tobacco in that way, could you?"

Nice Girl.

"Jenny," said a landlady to her help the other morning, "Jenny, was there any fire in the kitchen last night when you were sitting up?" "Only a spark, ma'am," was the reply. The landlady looked suspiciously at Jenny, but the innocent girl went on scrubbing and humming "Katy Darling."

"Aida" was so successful, that Verdi was immediately presented with a golden sceptre.

That eloquent expounder of social theories—the Chicago Times—alludes to Wachtel's "melodious gullet."

Barnum, the great showman, has been playing Cannibalism on the New Yorkers. It will pay.

R. J. Eberts.—Our Fireside Friend. Letter for you at this office.

Bogumil Dawison, the German tragedian, died lately in Dresden.

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

There is quite a rush just at present to "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, (the second hat store below Kearny), where have been received an immense number of the new Summer style of hats, which are being sold at remarkably low prices. A fashionable "tile" finishes off a well-dressed man admirably. It can be obtained at "THE" HAT STORE.

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low.

Washing Returned in One Day

And we never disappoint, at the What Cheer Laundry.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage.

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style.

Oak Poisoning.

The scientific, certain cure discovered and practised at Dr. Bourne's Baths, No. 10 Masonic Temple. Entrance on Post street. No cure, no pay.

Go and See Them.

Ladies in want of a new Parasol should go to Jones & Wilkinson's, 302 Third street, corner of Folsom. They have all the new styles and their prices are as usual "on the bed rock."

Olive Branches.

Nothing like having a child or two to lean upon in your lean old age. There is a man in Robertson County, Texas, who is the father of forty-one children, and that never has been rated much of a county for children, either. He is now living with his eight wife, but he says that his children don't annoy him half as much as his various mothers-in-law do. Poor man, he has had considerable experience with them, and ought to be bald-headed by this time, if he isn't.

Sagacious "Dorgs."

The latest developement of Connecticut ingenuity consists in training dogs to howl nocturnally under neighboring windows and to fetch home the boots and shoes thrown at them. It is said that there are several canines of such sagacity that they will not leave until they get properly assorted pairs.

SAN FRANCISCO STALL.—Nos. 60 and 61 California Market, sell fine meats at cash less than any other place in the city.

Good Bread.

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. For size, weight and quality, STEIN'S loaves are superior to any patent bread that ever bore a flash trade mark. He challenges imitation, and invites a trial at the hands of the public. Leave your orders at STEIN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street.

DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S

PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITU

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPE COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hos London, nine years in Sacramento, and the ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of life to professional practice, and the successful treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and devote the remainder of his days to quiet-life retirement; but the constant applications from suffering everywhere, to come to their relief finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Lock Hospital, spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in celebrated institution, and then give a few years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for 10 years previous his practice as a SPECIALIST rose in the cure of all cases brought under his care. The Doctor's motto is "honorable and scientific treatment and moderate charges to all."

FRIDAY.....APRIL 12, 1872

A Donkey Upsets a Castle.

At one of the New York theatres, a few nights ago, a donkey—not a human, but a quadrupedal one—took it into his head not to go on the stage at the time he was wanted. As they attempted to lead him forward he began to kick, and he kept it up until he had smashed things up pretty badly. Not content with knocking over two men, he devoted his attention and his heels to the scenery, and before they could stop him he had kicked over a castle and a range of mountains, put his foot through a lake on which the moon was beaming, overthrown a large city in the midst of a plain and ruined the plain, and demolished an entire palace belonging to a prince of fabulous wealth.

A New Haven Scare.

A New Haven doctor quieted a clamorous landlord by showing him a skeleton in a chest, and saying, "that man came here just two weeks ago with a bill." Now, that might do in a quiet town like New Haven, but it wouldn't be deuce-high here. Imagine any doctor trying to come that dodge over Sam Harding. Wouldn't that skeleton have the chance to see a lively scrimmage thereabouts, though?

New Music.

We have received from Chas. S Eaton, music dealer, 138 Montgomery street, "Seven Oud," the popular song sung with such great success by Billy Emerson at the Alhambra Theatre.

Deliberate.

A jilted Arkansas lover being much "cut up" by his rejection, literally cut out his successful lover with a broad-axe recently, and then went and axed the lady again.

Con.

Why is a drunkard, hesitating to sign the pledge, like a half converted Hindoo? Because he is doubt whether to give up the jug or not (Juggernaut.)

The Brute.

The local of the Terre Haute, Ind., Times plaintively asks: "Why do Men Marry?" And this young man has not been married over a month.

Nitro-glycerine has been in use five years, and during that time has killed or maimed some 1,700 persons.

500 Pairs of Socks,

At all prices, at the What Cheer Laundry.

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. Hug & Schmidt, Successors to F. A. Reilly, Agents. H

Elegant Jewelry.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

313 Stockton street, between Clay and Sacramento, receives new goods daily from New York auctions very cheap. Remember the number.

Dear Me! How She Paints!

N. B.—Use Dickey's famous Creme de Lis, and they can't see it H

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Cheapness and Dispatch

Is the motto of Thomas Catterall, carpenter and builder, 807 Market street, opposite Stockton. All kinds of jobbing done. Offices and stores fitted up a specialty. G

The Great Failure.

The Great Failure will cause an advance in the price of furniture and bedding, but Wm. J. Heney & Co., 725 Market street, Bancroft's block, will continue to sell their goods at the usual low prices and cheaper than ever, for cash. They have just received a large assortment of the latest, most elegant styles of Eastern furniture, which connoisseurs prefer to California manufactured goods. O

The Reason Why.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. T

Dumas and His Son.

There are few characterizations more witty and comprehensive than that which Alexander Dumas, pere, gave his son. We have never seen it translated until the other day, when it appeared in the editorial columns of The Tribune: He came into the world at that hour when it has ceased to be day and is not yet night, and the assemblage of antitheses which make up his strange individuality are, like the hour of his birth, a mingling of light and darkness. He is lazy, he is industrious; he is a gourmand, he is abstemious; he is lavish, he is economical; he is suspicious, he is credulous; he is blase, and he is innocent; he is indifferent and he is ardent; he is slow in speech and rapid in action; he ridicules me with all the brilliant wit of which he is master, and yet he loves me with all his heart. He is always ready to fleece me out of all my money like Valere, or to fight for me like the Cid. His imagination is the most vivid and the most substantial that I have ever known in a young man of twenty-one years. It bears me away like a torrent; it shines like a half-hidden flame; it reveals itself in revery as in excitement, in quiet as in danger, in smiles as in tears. From time to time we quarrel with each other, and, like the prodigal son, he takes his portion and quits the paternal mansion. On that day I buy a calf and begin to fatten to it, sure that before a month he will return to get his part of it. It is true that evil-minded people say that it is for the sake of the calf that he comes back, and not for mine but I am not more than half inclined to believe that.

A Sad Inheritance.

Under the above heading an Eastern exchange has the following:

A Portland, Me., grocery dealer was summoned to California a few days ago by a dispatch announcing the death of his brother, who had died leaving an estate valued at three quarters of a million dollars, with two or three brothers and sisters as his only heirs.

We don't see that three quarters of a million dollars is "a sad inheritance" for a grocery dealer. Sad that his brother should die and all that sort of thing, but inheritance rather comforting to brothers and sisters.

Not Bad.

Here is the bill of fare which has met with the approval of distinguished gourmets, including Thackeray. Six oysters, a water souchee of flounders with brown bread and butter, a gronse with French beans to follow, a bottle of claret and a cup of coffee. Thackeray, however, preferred to substitute herrings for flounders. A kirsch omelette would make it a little more complete and fill up crevices.

Cruel Girls.

A Japanese woman whose lover is faithless rises at two o'clock in the morning and drives nails into sacred trees, vowing that when her lover dies she will pull them out. She believes that the god, to save his tree, will strike her lover dead. This is a little worse than lying awake nights to hate people.

The latest style—six weeks of anticipation, six of the honeymoon, and an eternal and mutual separation.

Madame Parepa-Rosa, it is said, is soon to have a magnificent new opera house of her own in Chicago.

The Summer Season.

Gentlemen going on fishing excursions to Calistoga, and for country trips, should go to Geo. B. Davis, Fashionable Tailor, 507 Kearny street, near California He makes tourists suits which will wear. I

European Music.

The largest assortment in the United States outside of New York. Musical Instruments Photographs of Composers, busts, etc., etc., at Schuberth's music store, 643 Clay street. Agents for the Steck Pianos. I

Lamott's Spring Style Dress Hats

Are the ne plus ultra of the season, To be dressed, wear one of his hats. Go to Lamott's, 227 Montgomery street, for all the latest styles, for all classes, both young and old. When at his store, you have the best assortment in the city to choose from.

For Finely Flavored Sausages, Hams, Bacon, etc., all made of the best grain fed pork, go to E. F. Bunker's Stall, 74 and 75 California Market. Mr. Bunker's club sausages, for flavor and delicacy, equal any ever made east of the Sierras, and he cuts up nothing but first-class meats.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

The Oyster Palace.

Henceforth a dinner, soup, roasts, entrees, etc, of the best the market affords, will be served from 4 till 8. Twelve private rooms for supper parties, etc., have been added to this famous oyster house, and Frank Dumont attends to everything personally. A

Stunning Things.

Have you seen the Spring style neckties, scarfs, broche neckerchiefs, and other new goods in the gents' furnishing line, just received at Silberstein's, 506 Kearny street, one door south of California? If you haven't, go and inspect them, for Silberstein always leads the city in styles. G

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

TWO GRADES OF CRIME.

"Don't take me to prison, I beg you policeman
Leave me go—I'll not steal any more:
The loaf that I took to keep mother from starving,
Is back again safe in the store.

"Ma sent me to beg, but the people passed by me,
And frowned when I asked them to give:
And some went so far as to curse and revile me,
Not thinking the poor had to live.

"Don't take me jail, or indeed she will periah,
I left her so sick and so lone;
And what'll she do if they put me to prison?
She'll starve, for there's nothing at home.

"Indeed she is sick from the scrubbing and washing;
For hard must the poor people strive;
Then let me go home and try beg from the neighbors
A morsel to keep her alive.

But the laws had been broken, the crime must be punished;
And the child-thief wrs hurried away—
While millionaire robbers go free and unshackled—
Alas—money, not right, rules the day.

A Sausage Item.

The item given below may possibly have a local interest and application:

An artless newspaper man, who lately bought a few sausages, thus relates his troubles: I got them sausages home without getting bit; and I cut them apart and left them. In the morning I visited them. Three of 'em had cuddled up together, and were sleeping sweetly. Two of 'em had crawled to my milk-pail and were lapping the milk, and one, a black and white one, was on the back fence trying to catch an English sparrow. I drowned the whole lot.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon. No. 437 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Hanks, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

These Lozenges meet the wants of thousands, as there are many that cannot swallow a pill, and with the children it is utterly impossible to get them to take one, even be it "sugar-coated." The Lozenges they cry for; in deliciousness they rival the finest confectionery; they are a vegetable substitute for mercurial preparations, requiring no particular course of diet while using them. They possess a nourishing and nutritious principle, and are the only purgative medicine known that strengthens during the process of purgation. They regulate the various organs of the system, restoring functional harmony and securing the secretion of the proper constituents of each organ. By their action the liver secretes its allotted proportion of bile, the lungs carbon, the skin perspires, the kidneys are vitalized. In Female Complaints they act like a charm.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—The engagement of Lotta at the Metropolitan Theatre has, as a matter of course, proved a success of the first magnitude. Night after night the Metropolitan Theatre which looks exceedingly gay and bright from the recent improvements made in it has been crowded by the fashion of the city. Lotta is all the rage and everyone goes to see her. No one can help liking her and the severest critics are pleased. Robert Craig, Miss Henrietta Osborne W. J. Coggswell, H. Coiton, John Woodard, Miss Fanny Young, S. W. Piercy, Mrs. Frank Rea, and all engaged in the "Little Detective," play their parts well and give thorough satisfaction. "The Little Detective" will be played at the matinee to-day and this evening Sunday night "The Child of the Regiment" will be produced.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—The company at this sparkling theatre, are a coruscation of brilliants set in black enamel. All are as bright and genuine as possible. J. H. Milburn is the most popular of character vocalists; Fayette Welch the funniest of end men; Add Ryman great in negro acts; Harry Stanwood wonderfully original in "Sweet Cider;" the Reynolds Brothers are inimitable in song and dance; Heywood unequalled in soprano ballads; and Billy Emerson is—Billy Emerson, the only one on the stage. All these artistes and many more will appear at the matinee performance to-day, and again this evening in a programme of great variety and excellence.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—The spectacular comedy of "The Palace of Truth" has made a hit, and has drawn large audiences every evening since its production on Wednesday last. The ballet company have made wonderful improvement in the past few nights. Everyone admires the artistic dancing of M'lle Venturoli, and M'lle Marie Gaugain is an equal favorite; they receive a round of applause on their entrances, and frequent applause during their dancing. The colored fountain is a marvel of scenic art, and the scenery in every act is very beautiful. The piece is capitally played by John McCullough, Miss May Howard, Miss Rose Evans, Mrs. Sophie Edwin, Owen Marlowe, W. A. Mestayer, and others engaged in its representation. The wonderful Majiltons are underlined to appear shortly, and will, we prophesy, cause a tremendous sensation. "The Palace of Truth" will be played at the matinee today, this evening, and probably for two or three weeks to come. It should run that length of time at least.

BELLA UNION.—Johnny Tuers is a valuable addition to the company and is immense in the walk-around. Miss Susie Lee Robinson in song and dance; Miss Minnie Fillmore will sing "Brigham Young;" Tommy Barton in comic vocalisms; Miss Marie Zoel will execute one of her pretty clog dances; Miss Ella La Rue, Harry Thompson and R. G. Marsh will present the farcical sketch of "A Silent Woman;" Miss Fanny Garretson will sing ballads, and the performance will conclude with the play of "The Fire Eater," with Lon McCarthy, Tommy Barton, Carrie Chapman and others as cavaliers and roundheads, and Miss Marie Zoel as the heroine of the play. A good bill for Saturday night.

MAC EVOY'S ORIGINAL HIBERNICON.—Beautiful pictures, sweet singing, good music and plenty of fun make up an entertainment sure to suit the public taste. In addition to this, the Original Hibernicon appeals to a deeper sentiment than a love of amusement in the case of a large portion of our population. Every Irishman loves the ould sod and delights to see the scenes of his youth pass before him on the pictured canvas. No wonder Platt's Hall is crowded nightly and the walls ring with shouts of merry laughter the echoes of hearty applause. To-day there will be a matinee. In consequence of the hall being engaged weeks previous to the arrival of the Hibernicon, for the ball of the Hebrew Benevolent Society.

CITY GARDENS.—These naturally fine suburban grounds have been leased for a term of five years by Mr. M. V. Stevens; who will proceed at once to build a large Hall 60 by 160 feet on the grounds to be used as an exhibition hall and skating rink. Other improvements will be made The menagerie department will be done away with entirely and fresh novelties will be presented weekly in the amusement line instead. By the new arrangements with the railroad companies people living at North Beach, at South Park, or in any part of the city can jump into the cars, and can by a system of car transfers, purchase of the conductor a ticket for the gardens at 25 cents which will entitle them to a free ride to the gardens and back and admission to the gardens.

PICNIC OF THE GARIBALDI GUARDS.—Tomorrow the Garibaldi Guards, a military company of high reputation and general popularity, will hold their fifth annual picnic at Captain Badger's Grand Central Park, Oakland. There will be dancing in the pavilion, a rope ascension by M'lle Ella La Rue, boats on the lake, shooting, swings, and a variety of amusements. Thousands will visit this healthful spot to morrow, when it will be opened for the first time to the public.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—Thousands will flock to these beautiful gardens to-morrow, where they will find a thousand sights to amuse and instruct them. The seal pond, the alligators, the museum, the art gallery, the performance in the arena by Ryland's equestrian troupe all are popular and delight the visitors who go to this charming pleasure garden.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Those who have not the means to hire a team, need not on that account deprive themselves of the pleasure of a visit to the seaside to see the seals on the rocks, and enjoy an afternoon at Capt. Foster's famous Cliff House. Omnibusses run from the street car terminus at Lone Mountain every fifteen minutes, fare 25 cents.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

J. G. RUSSELL.—This eminent baritone of whose beautiful voice and admirable singing our Eastern exchanges speak in terms of the highest praise, will make his first appearance at the Alhambra Theatre on Monday evening. He arrived in town last night.

MAGUIRE'S OPERA HOUSE.—A fair and fashionable audience enjoyed the opera of "Crispino la Comare," which was excellently well performed last night. Miss Mary E. Wadsworth performed the role of Annetta so very finely at the time of her debut, that she hardly left room for improvement, having deferred her appearance until she had thoroughly mastered the music and learned the part thoroughly. She sang it equally well last night. Signor Maffousi as Crispino was excellent, as he always is in this role. Signor Bianchi sung splendidly, and the opera was altogether a great success. To-night Miss Annie McKenzie will appear again in the character of Leonora in "Il Trovatore," in which she made her debut in Italian opera. "Un Ballo en Maschera" is to be produced next week, also "Il Barbiere di Siviglia" and "Norma."

THE MARCHIONESS AND LITTLE NELL.—Next week Lotta will appear in two of Dicken' most beautiful creations—the Marchioness and Little Nell. In playing both these charaters Lotta shows the diversity of her talents, the two being as opposite as can be imagined. We are assured by those who have seen Robert Craig in Dick Swiveller, that the public, in his impersonation of that character, will have a great treat, and from what we have already seen of Robert Craig we fully anticipate that he will make another hit in this part.

MODERN MAGIC.—Since Hartz established his Branch Conjuring depot at 140 Montgomery street, there is a mania for magic among the rising generation. Modern magic is very easy. It is astonishing what a small sum spent at Hartz's repository suffices, to set up a juvenile Wizard of the North.

M. AINSLEY SCOTT.—This favorite basso "couldn't stay away," and last night returned from the snow clad plains to bask once more under the sunny skies of California.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

OAKLAND.—Marshall & Co's Great Tycoon Troupe of Japanese performed at the Academy of Music on Monday and Tuesday evenings.....To-morrow Capt. Badger's Grand Central Park will be thrown open to the public. An immense sum of money has been spent in making these beautiful grounds into a public pleasure garden. The skating pavilion and ball-room just completed is the largest on the Pacific Coast. Its dimensions are: 226 feet in length and 85 feet wide; the floor is 103x80 feet. Among the amusements offered for the delectation of the thousands who will flock to the Grand Central Park to-morrow are boats on the lake, a quoit ground, swings, archery ground and shooting gallery. At 2 o'clock M'lle Ella La Rue, the famous funambuliste, will make a grand tight-rope ascension from the restaurant to the top of the pavilion, a height of 80 feet and distance of 400 feet. On the same day the Garibaldi Guard, a popular and well-conducted military company, will hold their fifth annual picnic in these fine grounds. The Abend Post estimates the number of people who will be present to-morrow at the opening of the Grand Central Park at 8,000, and it is very probable that that Post has not over-estimated the number. The trip by boat and cars through a beautiful country to the Park and back again to San Francisco can be made for 45 cents and this includes admission to the Park and all the amusements. These tickets can be obtained at the office of the Oakland boat, and those desiring to be present at the opening of these new recreation grounds should ask for "tickets to Captain Badger's Park," which include the price of admission and cost only 45 cents.

SACRAMENTO.—Charles Wheatleigh, Miss Sallie Hinckley and company close at the Metropolitan Theatre on Tuesday night, appearing in "The Marble Heart" for the benefit of Wheatleigh.

MARYSVILLE.—Mr. Mansfeldt gave a vocal and instrumental concert at Turner Hall on Wednesday evening. An immense programme was performed, and the affair was quite a success.....The Amateur Dramatic Association are making arrangements to give an entertainment at the Marysville Theatre on the 18th inst., when they will present "London Assurance."

GRASS VALLEY.—The Lancashire Bell Ringers, George Fane, J. H. Campbell and others, performed at Hamilton Hall on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

VALLEJO.—Farragut theatre was opened on Wednesday evening for a season of four nights and a matinee. Charles Wheatleigh, Miss Sallie Hinckley and Joseph Proctor's dramatic company appeared in a "Victim of Circumstances" and the 'Debutante." A large audience was present. "Arrah na Pogue" was given on the following night. The Record speaking of the preliminary exhibition of the theatre and scenery on the 8th, says:

The building was illuminiated with great success, every burner and jet working to a charm—the large sun burner shedding a halo of light over the hall. The different scenes represented were the Landscape Scene, Forest Scene, The Cottage, The Fancy Chamber, and the Pass and Prison, all of which were excellent. To describe them as they deserve, they would each require a column.

SAN JOSE.—Proctor's Troupe, including Charles Wheatleigh and Miss Sallie Hinckley, will open in San Jose on Tuesday in "A Victim of Circumstances" and "The Debutante." If the San Jose people don't laugh at the first play we give them up: if they don't crowd the house they shan't have another show for a year.

PI-CHE.—The Ely Record of March 31st has the following concerning the new theatre:

David Work, proprietor of the new theatre, has almost completed his work. He has built a neat hall on Meadow Valley street, 21x100, which is calculated to seat about 600 persons. It is so well arranged that everybody can get a clear view of the stage from every part of the house. People can be accommodated after the style of theatres in large cities. Mr. Work wishes to inform the public that the performances will be chaste and first class; that nothing vulgar shall mar the pleasure of the most fastidious. It will open on Wednesday next.

SALT LAKE.—Watts Phillips's drama of "Not Guilty" was produced on the 30th ult.

LOS ANGELES.—The New York Mammoth Circus performed on the 5th and 6th and 8th to large assemblages.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEV.—Miss Amelia Dean's Female Minstrels, Aline Le Favre, Johnny Manning, Miss Maggie Knight, are still at Piper's Opera House.

DENVER, COL.—The spring and summer season was commenced at the Denver Theatre on the 30th ult., with the production of "Macbeth," Charles Walters as the Thane, and Fanny Morgan Phelps as Lady Macbeth. "Jessie Brown" was underlined.

PORTLAND, OR.—"The Streets of New York" was produced on the 4th, with G. B. Waldron as Badger. On the 6th "The Flying Dutchman" was revived.

At the Theatre Comique the burlesque of "Julius Seizer" was given to good acceptation. The Worrell Sisters have continued to the usual applause.

Fechter's Lyceum, hitherto known as the Fourteenth-street Theatre, will not be completed in time to open the present season.

Mr. Lawrence Barrett is acting Elliott Gray in "Rosedale" at his own theatre, the Varieties, in New Orleans.

Sothern has cancelled his engagement, which was to have commenced April 7th, at Niblo's Garden. He will not act again in New York until he appears at Wallack's Theatre, about Sept. 20th.

Dion Boucicault and wife are under contract to appear at Booth's Theatre next Fall.

The New York Tribune, speaking of the appearance of Miss Leclercq in that city, says:

For one thing, among others, Miss Leclercq is a refreshing actress to behold; she embodies health and the enjoyment of life, possessing warmth, color and natural buoyancy; and she is thus a grateful contrast to the everlasting skin-and-bones and carroty hair in which, of late years, so much of the feminine intellect of the stage has been enveloped.

At the Smith street Varieties, St. Louis, Della Smith is the latest arrival.

Ella Wesner, Cincinnati, 25th, two weeks; Cosmique, Buffalo, April 8th; while sitting in the green room of the Pittsburg Opera House recently, she was severely bitten by a monkey, which was exhibited during Kate Raymond's performance of "The Waifs of New York."

Yeddo Japs, Comique, Baltimore, April 15th. W. A. Wetton one of the proprietors, died at Lafayette, Ind. He was an Englishman, and had long resided in Australia.

The Boston Saturday Evening Gazette speaking of the performance of "King Lear" at the Globe, after praising Forrest, says of George O. Boniface who appeared here as "the young American Tragedian:"

Mr. Boniface as Edgar was quite weak in the earlier scenes, which he delivered in a sort of a sing-song style that had a very unpleasant effect but in the mad scenes he redeemed himself.

G. O. B. is good—as a maniac. Almost anyone can play a maniac part.

The Child Americus Combination, with view of the Chicago conflagration, Denver, 25th, 26th, 27th; Georgetown, 28th, 29th, 30th; Golden City, April 1st, and San Francisco, 27th, for four weeks. The company is O. B Brestle, M. Beckley, Charles Coriell, James Speight, J. H. Stout, Master J. Speight Mrs. Charles Coriell and Laura Stevenson.

At the Academy of Music, New Orleans, March 18th and 19th "Narcisse," with Mr. and Mrs. Bandmann, who also appeared 26th in "Much Ado About Nothing; 21st in "Don Cæsar De Bazan' and David Garrick." These artists were so disgusted with their reception that they did not fill out the nights set down for them; they played the poorest engagement of the season, appearing to almost empty benches.

Tony Pastor is to start from Providence May 6th.

The injunction laid upon the variety managers of New York by Harry Wall against presenting the song "When the Band begins to Play," has been dissolved on the ground that the song has been long sung in England, and is the exclusive property of no one.

A Philadelphia paper of the 27th says: "Last evening while Mr. C. R. Thorne was entertaining the audience at the Chestnut-street Theatre, his man of all work, Edgar H. Clare, sometimes called Wm. Bradshaw, left the theatre taking with him a coat and $30 belonging to the actor. In explanation he addressed a letter to Mr. Thorne, in which he said he merely borrowed the garment and the greenbacks, intending to make them good on the Fourth of July next; and that he could learn the whereabouts of the actor through the papers.

Little Nell, Academy, Chicago, April 1.

Maggie Mitchell, under B. F. Lowell, Harrington's Opera House, April 8th and 9th.

Florence and wife, under John P. Smith, Globe, Boston, April 15, three weeks. Will leave for Europe May 8, for the summer. Mrs. Florence will probably remain a year in Italy to study Italian and music.

Oliver Doud Byron, Boston April 8, two weeks; thence with Boston Theatre Company, under J. B. Booth, to Providence, 22d.

Charlotte Cushman, Chestnut, Philadelphia, April 8, for short season. Not positive, but probable.

Miss Isabelle Glyn sailed for England 23d ult. William Creswick sails 30th ult.

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

The opera bouffe is declining in France. Since the reopening of the Paris Theatres no piece of the kind has succeeded.

Mario, the famous tenor, nearly 60 years old, was lately married in London at the Catholic Church in Marlebone, to Lady Harriet Beaufort, a member of an aristocratic English family. The new Marchioness of Caudia is over forty years old. Mario will take up his residence in Paris, and his two daughters will reside with him.

The sum spent in the construction of the new opera house in Paris up to the present time including this year's grant, amounts to 35,000,000 francs, 6,500,000 francs being still required to complete it

The Italian opera season at Drury Lane will open in April. The leading female singers are Nilsson, Alboni, Titjiens, Miramon, and Bethini. Capoul, the great French tenor, will sing. Costa will wield the baton. Nilsson, Miramon and Alboni are to sing together in the opera, "Il Matrimoni Segrete!"

The new Ophelia of the Grand Opera, Paris, M'lle Sessi, is enthusiastically received in Hamlet.

Rose Massey had been engaged at Covent Garden, and opened as Mrs. Torrington in "Balance of Comfort."

Dion Boucicault will produce his translation of Sardou and Offenbach's "Roi Carotte" at Covent Garden in September.

Several novelties are to be produced in London.

The Picnic Season.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

There is quite a rush just at present to "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, (the second hat store below Kearny), where have been received an immense number of the new Summer style of hats, which are being sold at remarkably low prices. A fashionable "tile" finishes off a well-dressed man admirably. It can be obtained at "THE" HAT STORE. *

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Cheapness and Dispatch

The Great Failure.

THE GREAT FAILURE will cause an advance in the price of furniture and bedding, but Wm. J. Heney & Co., 725 Market street, Bancroft's block, will continue to sell their goods at the usual low prices and cheaper than ever, for cash. They have just received a large assortment of the latest, most elegant styles of Eastern furniture, which connoisseurs prefer to California manufactured goods. O

The Reason Why.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to ... it is not to be wondered at, for he always ke... the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. An Angry Clown.

Wallett, a circus clown, known as the Queen's jester, took offense recently at Coventry, with Mr. Norris, the chief of police of that city. Observing the daughter of Norris soon after at the circus, he called out: "Miss Norris, Miss Norris, if the performance is not good enough for your attention, walk out. I have performed before queens and princes, and they could appreciate my humble endeavours to please. Read that letter, Mr. Warrin (the ringmaster); it is not from a policeman, but from one of the finest noblemen in this land. Lord Leigh, of Stoneleigh, is coming to-morrow night to patronize me, and when he is here he will not turn his back upon me; and you need not turn your dirty back upon me, although you are a policeman's daughter. If your face does not blush, your cloak does for you." A Mr. Frederic Jefficoat, who was escorting the young lady, caused Wallett to be arrested. At the trial, it was stated that Miss Norris was entirely unacquainted with Wallet. Case not settled at last accounts.

Absurd.

A curious incident took place recently at a Paris theatre. The actor who played Albert, the blind artist, in "L'Aveugle," was taken suddenly ill, and the character was assumed by another actor, who was compelled to read the part, manuscript in hand. The absurdity of a person afflicted with loss of sight reading affecting speeches may be imagined.

The Drama in Alsace.

The attempt of the Prussian Government to make German the language of the stage in Alsace is meeting with poor success. In Metz a French company is engaged to play, and the municipal authorities of Strasbourg refuse to organize a German theatre, notwithstanding the subvention offered them.

A Tasteless Purgative.

Good Bread.

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. For size, weight and quality, STEIN'S loaves are superior to any patent bread that ever bore a flash trade mark. He challenges imitation, and invites a trial at the hands of the public. Leave your orders at STEIN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street. D

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.
THIS IS THE LATEST AND MOST PRACTICAL SEWING Machine before the public. Its simplicity is its great merit. Combining advantages of the intricate and complicated double-thread machines with the simplicity, ease of operation and lightness of running of the single-thread Tops, it has also the greater advantage of economy and durability, and is comprehended by the most inexperienced in a few minutes; others take weeks or months to understand.
IT IS THE ONLY SEWING MACHINE WITH STRAIGHT SELF-ADJUSTING NEEDLE MAKING THE "KLASTIC LOCK-STITCH" DIRECT FROM TWO SPOOLS, WITHOUT SHUTTLE OR BOBBIN.
The MANHATTAN is sold on easy monthly payments. Don't fail to examine it before you purchase any other.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Maggie Moore has been with us so long that we hardly appreciate her, though she is so full of life and her acting is so natural that all are pleased while she is on the stage. She played Josephine in "The Child of the Regiment" capitally last night, and sung the songs incidental to the part in good style. Vinson, of course, was excellent as the old Sergeant, and Willie Sims was also very good as the lover recruit. To-night Lotta, the bright particular star of the season, will enter upon the second week of her engagement and appear as Little Nell and the Marchioness in John Brougham's dramatization of the late Charles Dickens' novel of "The Old Curiosity Shop." She will be supported by Robert Craig in the character of Dick Swiveller, in which he has gained a great reputation. In the course of the piece Lotta will sing some of her most popular songs, perform banjo solos and appear in a clog dance. Lotta and Robert Craig will appear together in duets and double dances, and a very amusing performance will be given. Lotta's benefit is set for the 19th.

The Alhambra.

Great novelties are offered at this most popular of minstrel halls this evening. J. G. Russell, generally acknowledged to be the greatest baritone in the minstrel profession, will make his first appearance and sing both in the first part and interlude. J. H. Milburn, the great character vocalist, will sing new songs; the new act of "Ams-u let" will be performed by Billy Emerson, Add Ryman and J. Robinson; Harry Stanwood, who has recovered his voice, will tell some of his funniest jokes; Billy Emerson will present new pictures from his Album; Fayette Welch and Geo. Reynolds will appear in "The Goat Island Grab," and Add Ryman's new sketch entitled "In a Regular Fix," in which Charles Heywood will appear as Mollie' will terminate the entertainment. M. Ainsley Scott, the favorite basso, who has just returned from the East, will make his re-appearance to-night.

Maguire's Opera House.

The Italian Opera company gave "Il Trovatore" on Saturday evening in fine style, and the applause was warm and frequent. Miss McKenzie, the new prima donna, was honored with calls before the curtain. Sig and Signora Bianchi acquitted themselves with their usual excellence in their favorite parts of Manrico and Azucena, and Sig. Mancusi was very effective as Conte di Luna. The orchestra under the leadership of George T. Evans, was perfect. This evening "UnBallo en Maschera" will be given, with Signorina Speranza, Signora Bernardi, Signor Bianchi and Signor Mancusi in the principal parts. On Wednesday "Norma" will be presented, with the new basso, Signor Rigo, as Oroveso.

Bella Union.

There is immense variety in the entertainment presented at this theatre, and all tastes are pleased. The comic songs and grotesque dances of Johnny Toers are received nightly with great applause. The new act of "Dodger," in which Lon McCarthy, Tommy Barton and Harry Thompson appear, is quite a success, and the farce of "A Silent Woman," by Miss Ella La Rue, R. G March and Harry Thompson, has made a hit. In "The Fire-Eater," which terminates the evening's amusement, Carrie Chapman is a capital soldier in the part of Sergeant Fusee, R. G. Marsh causes much fun as Jeremiah Gosling, the ladies of the company make a fine troupe of cavaliers, and Miss Marie Zoel as the loving Grace does some very pretty acting. The bill for to-night appears on our first page.

Mac Evoy's Original Hibernicon.

This very popular and attractive entertainment consisting of beautiful pictures of scenery in Ireland, Irish songs, dances and a neat little comedy by Miss Marie Mac Evoy, Dan Morris, Charles Mac Evoy and others attracted, thousands to Platt's Hall last week, and thousands will flock thither every evening of the present week. Family matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Opening of Captain Badger's Grand Central Park.

In spite of yesterday being a cold, dark day, the sun never once vouchsafing a sight of his face, an immense crowd went over to Oakland to be present at the opening of Captain Badger's Grand Central Park. It is computed that at least 4,000 persons visited these beautiful gardens yesterday, and the expectations of all were fully realized, although not one tenth of the contemplated improvements are yet completed. Handsome trees and shrubs, beds of lovely flowers, picturesque rock eries, and, to quote from the circular, "emerald pools surrounded with verdure, and the home of myriads of gold fish," were all there: the menagerie is as yet in embryo, the restaurant department not yet arranged as it will be during the coming week. An immense number of additions will soon be made to the attractions. The magnificent pavilion was the theme of general admiration and its floor, 103 by 80 feet, was unanimously pronounced the best in the State. The Garibaldi Guards held their annual picnic here yesterday, and their red shirts had a lively and cheerful appearance as the bold soldier boys mixed with the crowd. Kohler's band discoursed excellent music and the floor was covered with dancers from 11 in the forenoon till 6 in the evening, when the merry party broke up, nothing having occurred to mar the pleasure of the day. The great event of the day took place at half past 2 o'clock. This was a perilous and sensational rope ascension by M'lle Ella La Rue, the famous female funambuliste. A stout rope was stretched from the restaurant, a distance of 400 feet, to the summit of the pavilion, a height of 80 feet, and on this narrow pathway the daring performer made her way without faltering until she reached the roof of the building when the air was rent with shouts which burst from the thousands who had watched her perilous undertaking with breathless interest. The distance traversed is about the same as that accomplished by Rosa Celeste and James Cook at the Cliff House. A new programme of amusements is in preparation for next Sunday, when the Central Park will be again crowded by the general public, no picnic having as yet been arranged to take place on that day. Had yesterday been a fine day, the estimate made that 8,000 people would be present would doubtless have proved correct.

Opening of the City Gardens.

These beautiful gardens will be thrown open to the public next Sunday, renovated and improved in many respects. The German Guard Fusiliers will hold their First Annual Picnic there on that day, and will be accompanied thither by other companies. In the evening the gardens will be illuminated and there will be a grand display of fireworks and illuminated tableaux on the lake. See announcement in another column.

California Theatre.

"The Palace of Truth" with its multifarious attractions of good acting, poetical language, beautiful scenery, illuminated fountain, and attractive ballets by M'lles Venturoli and Gaggin and corps de ballet will be again given this evening. Some time during the present week the wonderful Majilotha will make their first appearance in the same piece.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Yosemite Art Gallery.

Mr. C. E. Watkins, the photographer, who has made his name known everywhere throughout the Union by his splendid photographic views of Yosemite Valley and other scenery in California and Oregon, opened his new gallery, 22, 24, and 26 Montgomery street, and gave a press reception on Friday last. The appointments consist of a large reception room, parlor, dressing rooms, a large and splendidly furnished operating room tastefully adorned with landscape and portrait photographs. In addition to these is the Yosemite Art Gallery containing his famous series of Yosemite, Oregon and California views, innumerable stereoscopes and stereoscopic views and numerous working rooms. Mr. Watkins has almost a world wide reputation as a photographer, and his Art Gallery is supplied with every convenience and improvement necessary to render his business enterprise a complete success.

Method is the very hinge of business, and there is no method without punctuality.

THOU COMEST TO ME IN DREAMS.

Thou comest to me in dreams of light,
My beautiful, my own,
In visions of the starry night,
When day's dull care has gone;
I see a glory crown thy head,
So radiant and sweet,
While flowerets bloom beneath the tread
Of thy small, queenly feet.

Again I clasp thy lily hand,
And feel its gentle press,
Which fills me with a feeling grand
That words can ne'er express;
I gaze upon thy brow so white,
And those soul-stirring eyes,
Where mingles an angelic light
With woman's witcheries.

I clasp again thy sylph-like form,
And fold it to my breast,
A refuge from life's bitter storm,
And where I'd have you rest,
Secure from all the ruthless strife,
The turmoil and the care,
That fills the rugged path of life
With sorrow and despair.

I kiss thy lips, whose answering kiss
Makes paradise below,
And fills me with exquisite bliss—
A balm for every woe;
I hear thy gentle words of love,
In sweet, angelic tone,
That tells me that my spotless dove
Is mine, and mine alone.

They tell that in Heaven above,
Where all is light and joy,
There dwells a never-ending love
Which death can ne'er destroy;
But even those celestial bowers
Would be no Heaven to me,
Unless its bright, eternal hours
Were shared, my love, with thee.

Good Bread.

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. For size, weight and quality, STEIN'S loaves are superior to any patent bread that ever bore a flash trade mark. He challenges imitation, and invites a trial at the hands of the public. Leave your orders at STEIN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street. D

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SECRET COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years in Sacramento, and ten years in San Francisco. HAS RETIRED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of life to professional practice, and the successful treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and spend the remainder of his days to quiet-life enjoyment; but the constant applications from suffering everywhere, to come to their relief finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Lock Hospital, and spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment adopted in this celebrated institution, and then give a few years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for the previous his practice as a SPECIALIST was unequaled in the cure of all cases brought under his care. A Good Rule.

Sidney Smith cut the following from a newspaper, and preserved it for himself:

When you rise in the morning, form a resolution to make the day a happy one to a fellow creature. It is easily done; a left off garment to the man who needs it, a kind word to the sorrowful, and an encouraging expression to the striving—trifles in themselves light as air—will do it at least for twenty-four hours. And if you are young, depend upon it it will tell when you are old; and if you are old, rest assured it will send you gently and happily down the stream of time to eternity. By the most simple arithmetical sum, look at the result. If you send one person, only one, happily through each day, there are three hundred and sixty-five in the course of a year. And supposing you live forty years only after you commence that course of medicine, you have made 14,600 beings happy; at all events for a time.

Suppress It.

"Music hath charms to soothe a savage, kill a hog or bust a cabbage." Such was the beautiful poetic sentiment that presented itself to our mind on hearing the old, familiar sound of a hand organ on the street last night. Having no savages to soothe; hogs to kill or cabbages to bust, we move that the crank turner of that infernal machine be unceremoniously soused in the bay, and his music (?) be forever squelched. It is to be hoped that the motion will be put into effect by some muscular Christian who desires to serve the Lord by suppressing profanity, for we certainly must swear if the soul-harrowing noise continues,

Prompt Measures.

Immediately after the late uprooting of the Erie Railroad, the following notice was posted on the door of the Grand Opera House:

Obey no orders from Gould or any of his hirelings. JOHN A. DIX.

Carl Pretzel, observing this, wrote immediately under it the following:

Ofer some beeples attempt to shoot dis up, I haul him on der shpot so gwick you ood said Rob Jackinson.

Removal.

...ng Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been do... an immense business for the past year though... hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Cheapness and Dispatch

Is the motto of Thomas Catterall, carpenter and builder, 807 Market street, opposite Stockton. All kinds of jobbing done. Offices and stores fitted up a specialty. G

The Great Failure.

THE GREAT FAILURE will cause an advance in the price of furniture and bedding, but Wm. J. Heney & Co., 725 Market street, Bancroft's block, will continue to sell their goods at the usual low prices and cheaper than ever, for cash. They have just received a large assortment of the latest, most elegant styles of Eastern furniture, which connoisseurs prefer to California manufactured goods. O

The Reason Why.

O... merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Th... street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is

The Conceit of Ignorance.

There is no conceit so pitiable as the conceit of an ignorant man. It is remarkable fact that a great number of very ignorant men are very conceited. A man of education who knows something, is never self satisfied; he only regrets that he does not know more. He may understand French and Spanish, he regrets he does not understand German. The uneducated man who cannot speak English much better than a negro, but uses an ungrammatical jargon which he says is good enough for him, rather prides himself on "not knowing nothin' about them foreign languages," and really prides himself on his ignorance. In the same way he whose palate has never been educated up to an appreciation of delicate and artistically prepared entrees, boasts of having a scorn of all "foreign kickshaws," and says a "bit of beef" is better than all of them. This, he says because he has not yet advanced very much ahead of the beast who eats his "bit of beef" raw. Then there is the man who says with a self-sufficient sniff that "he doesn't care for Italian Opera, he likes a good comic song, or a pretty ballad." These people actually glory in their ignorance and affect to despise those who know more than themselves. The more every sensibility is developed the more there is in life. A blind man may feel contented under his affliction but he would be looked on as a fool were he to assume a superiority to other people on account of being blind. Yet this is what many ignorant people do. Instead of lamenting their deficiencies they are stupidly satisfied with themselves as they are. With a man of this kind his ear is the standard by which all music is to be judged, though, that his ear has no more education than a donkey's, his palate is to decide on the merits of a dish though he has never taken any pains to cultivate the sense of taste in that palate. With such a man those who evince taste in music, in dress, in dining or in anything else, who, in fact, are more civilized than he are putting on frills. He never envies them the possession of more faculties than he has. He is not aware that men of culture have a thousand senses to each one that he possesses that their organs of seeing, hearing, taste and smelling are, compared to his, as far in advance of them in power of affording pleasure as a microscope is beyond a piece of common window glass. If the ignorant man has money, he is insupportable, fondly imagines that all tthat here is his money can buy and that no man is as great as he. Fool! The philosopher in his study, the epicure at a good dinner, the artist in a picture gallery, the musician at an oratorio, each one of them is beyond the field of money and experiences more pleasure in an hour than the rich boor can buy with all his money.

Give Him Time.

The Danbury (Conn.) News says that a baggage-master in that town is recovering from an injury lately received, and adds:

He was so much better this morning as to be able to put his foot through several bandboxes, and the doctor thinks that in a few days he can try one or two light valises, and perhaps one or two dressing-cases that have been started a little with an axe. But it will be some time before he can hope to tackle a full-grown trunk.

Goodness in the heart makes a loving eye, and gives sweetness to the tone of voice.

Stunning Things.

Have you seen the Spring style neckties, scarfs, broche neckerchiefs, and other new goods in the gents' furnishing line, just received at Silberstein's, 506 Kearny street, one door south of California? If you haven't, go and inspect them, for Silberstein always leads the city in styles. G

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

Big Snow Drift.

This is undeniably an uncommon Winter. What do our readers think of a drift of snow in the town of Phillips, Me., (a great way down east, of course,) which is between thirty and forty feet deep? Teams every day ascend and descend this Alpine protuberance. One man, of an ingenious turn as to mensuration, reports the drift to be "as deep as the roof of a barn," and adds that it is "thirty straddles from the top down to the level." It is not impossible that summer vititors may have a peep at this niveous mass.

A Wrong Inference.

When Mrs. Isabella Beecher Hooker was pleading before the Willimantic selectmen for the admission of women as voters, she stated that she believed one of the gentlemen before her was in sympathy with the movement (referring to Mr. Lincoln, the town clerk). Mr. Lincoln asked her the reason for believing so, and she said she could see it in the twinkle of his eye. "I beg your pardon," said Mr. Lincoln, "but that eye is a glass eye."

What a vast deal of time and esse that man gains who is not troubled with an impertinent curiosity about others.

In the path of duty, God promises his special protection; he will keep us safe and bless us.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

These Lozenges meet the wants of thousands, as there are many that cannot swallow a pill, and with the children it is utterly impossible to get them to take one, even be it "sugar-coated." The Lozenges they cry for; in deliciousness they rival the finest confectionery; they are a vegetable substitute for mercurial preparations, requiring no particular course of diet while using them. They possess a nourishing and nutritious principle, and are the only purgative medicine known that strengthens during the process of purgation. They regulate the various organs of the system, restoring functional harmony and securing the secretion of the proper constituents of each organ. By their action the liver secretes its allotted proportion of bile, the lungs carbon, the skin perspires, the kidneys are vitalized. In Female Complaints they act like a charm.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The rush to the Metropolitan Theatre to see Lotta continues unabated. The new bill—"Little Nell and the Marchioness"—drew a very large and fashionable audience last night, every seat being occupied, and ladies having to occupy chairs in the aisles. The play was capitally put on the stage the scene representing the Old Curiosity Shop in particular being very realistic. The acting throughout was good and showed the strength of the company now engaged at the Metropolitan Theatre. Lotta's acting in the role of Little Nell and the Marchioness was remarkably clever; she threw off the character with the dress and the transformation of the meek, half-angelic Little Nell, into the uncouth, eccentric and slangey, but 'awfully jolly" Marchioness was complete. The variety business of songs, dances and banjo solo incidental to the part was all performed to perfection; everything being encored. Robert Craig gave a most amusing impersonation of Dick Swiveller, and supported Lotta in songs and grotesque dances most cleverly. Mr. Craig has a positive genius for eccentric comedy, and his fun is so thoroughly good that none can help laughing at it. J. H. Vinson gave a touching representation of the character of Old Grandfather Trent. The Daniel Quilp of W. J. Coggswell was as regards make-up a perfect marvel, and the character was faithfully represented. Maggie Moore's make-up for Mrs. Jarley most effectually disguised her and it was not until she spoke that the audience realized that the graceful form of the sportive Maggie was somewhere in the figure representing the 300 lb Mrs. Jarley as a nut in a shell. Harry Colton was good as Samuel Brass; Willie Simms did some good acting as Slum, Mrs. Jarley's penny-a-liner; T. E. Jackson was capital as Corkey Jack, and Samuel Piercy did all that the short part of Ned Trent required well. Miss Susie Soule looked sweetly interesting as the domestic martyr, Mrs. Quilp; Miss Fanny Young made quite a character of Sally Brass; and Mrs. Rea Miss Foster, Miss Ada Deaves, Miss Stevens, Miss Ada Shattuck, and others played their respective parts well. This play will crowd the Metropolitan Theatre every night this week.

The Alhambra.

A capital house was present last night, when M. Ainsley Scott, the favorite basso, once more took his seat as chairman of the sable congress known as the Emerson Minstrels, and J. G. Russell, the baritone, sang his first song before a California audience. M. Ainsley Scott received an encore for "Queen of the Night," which he sang admirably, and said some bright things in his character of interlocutor. Billy Emerson sang some of his best songs and cracked his newest jokes. Fayette Welch sang comic songs, played Japanese tricks with two tamborines, and told funny stories. S. Holdsworth and Harry Norman sang sweet ballads, and last of all the new baritone sang. One may be sure that a critical audience was present on this occasion; good baritones are none too plentiful, and J. G. Russell had been heard of as the best in the minstrel profession. He began "When the Moon with Glory Brightens," and as the first few notes of his beautiful voice reached the ears of the audience a murmur of pleasure arose which proved that a little more than the expectations of the most sanguine were realized. At the close of the first voice a storm of applause broke forth, and at the end of the song an encore was vociferously demanded. Mr. Russell has a voice of remarkable quality; it has timore, wonderful fullness and strength, and he uses it with artistic skill. After the first part, Harry Stanwood appeared and gave his banjo jokes and fiddle performance; J. H. Milburn, of whom the audience never weary, appeared in new character sketches; a number of acts, songs and dances followed, and the audience dispersed pronouncing the new baritone a great singer and the new bill a thorough success.

California Theatre.

To-night, in addition to all the attractions of beautiful scenery, clever acting, and graceful dancing by M'lle Venturoli and M'lle Gangain, the Majiltons—Charles, Frank and Marie, (les trois diables,) will appear for the first time this evening in their extraordinary performance, which is said to be utterly unlike anything ever presented on the stage.

Maguire's Opera House.

Those who were not present at the performance of "Un Ballo in Maschera" last night, missed a great musical treat. Signorina Speranza sang the role of Amelia splendidly; Signor Bianchi as Renato was particularly good, and Signor Mancusi sang the role of Ricardo well. Signora Bernardi, who appeared for the second time as Oscar, the page, looked charming, and sang delightfully, gaining much applause and shower of bouquets; Signora Bianchi filled the role of Ulrica to perfection, her acting being very impressive. To-morrow evening "Norma" will be presented and Sig Fulvio Rigo, the new basso, will make his first appearance.

Bella Union.

A very lively performance is given at this theatre, and there is a little of everything in it. In the first part Johnny Peers causes immense fun, Tommy Bree sings a ballad very sweetly, and the ladies of the company appear. In the interlude E. Montague appears in a wonderful performance on the slack rope; Minnie Fillmore in a comic song entitled "Brigham Young;" Marie Zoel in a nasty little clog dance; Tommy Barton in comic vocalisms; Ella La Rue in a farce, and the whole company play in the stirring drama entitled "The Fire-Eater."

Mac Evoy's Original Hibernicon.

It is worth while going to Platt's Hall, while the beautiful pictures of Ireland, songs, dances and stories constituting Mac Evoy's Original Hibernicon are being given, if only to listen to the shouts of surprise and delight which break from the audience, as each well remembered spot is represented before their eyes. The Hibernicon will continue but a short time longer, therefore those who have deferred paying it a visit should do so at once.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

Chiarini in Pernambuco.

The following extract from a letter to a gentleman in this city from a friend in Pernambuco will give an idea of the success with which Chiarini has met in his last circuit, which embraced the seashore of South America. Most of our readers will remember Chiarini's Royal Italian Circus, with its magnificent stud of horses, which left here some three years ago for Panama. From thence they went to Callao; thence to Lima, to Valparaiso, Santiago, and other towns of more or less importance on the Pacific shore; thence through the Straits of Magellan to Buenos Ayres, to Montevideo, to Rio Janeiro, to Pernambuco, from whence the letter comes. FIGARO has kept track of them during their travels, and has given the information from time to time. From Pernambuco they went to St. Thomas, thence to Havana, as reported in FIGARO two weeks since. Chiarini's company leave Havana for New York, and will probably visit California next Fall:

* * * * * * Chiarini's Circus company have been here for the past two months, and have performed fifty times; and, if one can judge by the attendance, have done well. Some of the names of his company will be familiar to you, viz: Mr. Orrin, George, Ned and Charles Orrin—old Californians; the Carlo Brothers and William Carlo's wife (Fanny Brown), Belen Cuba and Catalina Holloway. The Carlo Brothers and Mrs. W. Carlo had a benefit a few nights since, and in addition to a full house, were publicly presented with three gold medals—one for each—by a few American and English friends. They are remarkable performers, and have achieved a degree of excellence that cannot possibly be surpassed in the United States or Europe. Senor Chiarini had a benefit on the 25th ult. The canvas was inadequate to the demand for admission. The citizens of this place presented him with a medal, but what it was I did not learn; they also made him an honorary member of some local society. The circus has been the life of the town, and all regret its departure. I forgot to mention that Katie Holloway and Belen Cuba both had splendid benefits. Katie was fairly pelted with bouquets, till the ring was carpeted with them. The Orrin Family will be in your city some time in August next.

We had flaming advertisements about town that a French opera bouffe troupe would open on the 15th ult. Is proved a grand fizzle, and the company has broken up. The prima donna couldn't sing worth a rush, and the can-can as rendered by the ballet I have seen better done in San Francisco. I see that jolly little paper, FIGARO, very often, and keep myself posted as to what is on your boards. O.

DOES HE LOVE ME.

Pretty robin at my window,
Welcoming in the day
With thy loud and liquid piping,
Read my riddle, pray.
I have conned it, waking, sleeping,
Vexed the more for aye—
Then'rt a wizard, pretty robin—
Does he love me? say!

Lady, violet blooming meekly
By the brooklet free,
Bending low thy gentle forehead
All his grace to see,
Turn thee from the wooing water—
Whisper soft, I pray,
For the wind might hear my secret—
Does he love me? say!

Star, that through the silent night-tide
Watchest over him,
Write it with thy golden pencil
On my casement dim,
Thou art skilled in love's deep magic;
Tell me then, I pray,
Now, so none but I may read it—
Does he love me? say!

A kind old father-in-law wanted to know why the Feejeans were called cannibals, to which Barnum replied: "Because they live off of other people." "Then," replied he, unhappily, "my four sons-in law must be cannibals—they live off of me!"

A country paper, in speaking of the good things in the village where it is published, says: "We are proud of the impressively solemn appearance of our undertakers. A smiling undertaker is a hideous incubus on the growth of a place."

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

Advantages of Drunkenness.

If you wish to be always thirsty, be a drunkard; for the oftener and the more you drink, the oftener and the more thirsty you will be.

If you wish to prevent your friends from raising you in the world, be a drunkard; and that will defeat all their efforts

If you would effectually counteract your own attempts to do well, be a drunkard, and you will not be disappointed.

If you are determined to be poor, be a drunkard, and you will be ragged to your heart's content.

If you wish to starve your family, be a be a drunkard, and then you will consume the means of their support.

If you would be imposed upon, be a drunkard, for that will make the task easy.

If you would get rid of your money without knowing how, be a drunkard, and it will vanish insensibly.

If you wish to expel comfort from your house, be a drunkard, and you will do it effectually.

If you would be hated by your family and friends, be a drunkard, and you will soon be more disagreeable.

If you would be a pest to society, be a drunkard, and you will be avoided as an infection.

If you would smash windows, break the peace, get your bones broken, tumble under horses and carts, be a drunkard, and it will be strange if you do not succeed.

If you wish all your prospects to be clouded, be a drunkard, and they will soon be dark enough, as drunkenness is the mother of disease.

Webster Reconstructed.

It seems that the excision of the verb "to jew" from Webster's Dictionery is not the only change that has been made of late years in that valuable work. The Nation states that in the edition of ten years since is found the following definition: "Preposterous; perverted, wrong, absurd, contrary to nature, adapted to the end, as a Republican government in the hands of females is preposterous." The change seems to have been quietly made in the later editions before the advocates of woman suffrage had opportunity to remonstrate. It is fortunate that the discovery was made thus early, for the publishers of Webster's would have found, in the storm brought about their ears by the friends of reform, a state of affairs in comparison with which all previous tribulations would have been dwarfed into nothingness.

By Machinery

A woman lately looking at a printing press at work, looked up in her companion's face, and in a most earnest manner, inquired. "Arrah Tim, an' them's the things as writes the papers? Be's them what they call editors? Holy mother of Moses! Do Americans abuse each other by machinery?"

Those days are lost in which we do no goed; those worse than lost in which we do evil.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Cheapness and Dispatch

The Reason Why.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. It this place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is

"Take Care of Your Health."

It is rather amusing to see a man with the constitution of a bullock referring the good health which he enjoys to the care which he takes of himself. He will tell you that he always gets up and takes a walk to North Beach to take a salt water bath; as to food he eats only plain dishes, no highly-flavored entrees, or anything of that kind. He takes just so many drinks a day, doesn't smoke and takes as much care of himself as would be sufficient to prolong the life of a patient in the last stage of galloping consumption. Now this man, whom we have in our mind, might drink, smoke, stay up late at night, eat just what he liked, and in fact give little or no attention to taking care of himself and still he would be well and hearty. It happens in many cases that these men who take such precious care of themselves are scarcely worth the trouble they take. They have not intellect enough to think of anything but their poor perishable carcases, and they bore their friends to death with such confidential communication as "I always take a salt water bath every morning, I always have a good walk before breakfast, I never was drunk in my life, I like plain food, I never had a doctor in my lie." Their friends, half the time, care but very little about these men who love to take care of themselves. Some of them render themselves still more offensive by insisting that their plan is the only one by which any person can preserve his or health. They are always boring people to get up early in the morning, to take a cold water bath and all that sort of thing. Our friend Felix Farniente, who seldom takes any more severe muscular exercise than that of polishing his teeth every morning, who believes that the habit of early rising came into the world with all other sin, and who delights in a warm bath with a bottle of bay rum in it, and believes that a cold bath would kill him, was attacked by one of these persons whom we have described. He told Felix all about early rising, cold baths, never having had a doctor, etc., and then said: "Look at me, sir! Past fifty and hale and strong as I was when I was twenty." Felix, who doesn't mind hurting a man's feelings, asked, "What else have you done besides keeping clean and healthy and boring people about it? I've never taken any care of myself, I get up when I like, go to bed when I like, and enjoy myself without thinking about it. You sir are a healthy nuisance and the only thing that will give your brain, fancy, or even your heart a chance to develope itself, will be a serious illness to bring down your brutal muscle. I advise you to go on a howling drunk. It is necessary for your moral health, which you have sadly neglected while taking such care of your physical."

A Bed-Tick Shirt.

A good story is told of a St. Louis nobby dry goods clerk who attended a dance in the rural districts a short time ago. He wore a Cheveit shirt, and put on a great many airs. He was somewhat taken down, however, when he overheard one country lass say to another: "That St. Louis chap slings on a heap of style for a feller that wears a bed-tick shirt."

The bitter end—the last half inch of a penny cigar.

FOR FINELY FLAVORED SAUSAGES, HAMS, Bacon, etc., all made of the best grain fed pork, go to R. F. Bunker's Stall, 74 and 75 California Market. Mr. Bunker's club sausages, for flavor and delicacy, equal any ever made east of the Sierras, and he cuts up nothing but first-class meats.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated. •

The Oyster Palace.

Henceforth a dinner, soup, roasts, entrees, etc, of the best the market affords, will be served from 4 till 8. Twelve private rooms for supper parties, etc., have been added to this famous oyster house, and Frank Dumont attends to everything personally. A

Stunning Things.

Have you seen the Spring style neckties, scarfs, broche neckerchiefs, and other new goods in the gents' furnishing line, just received at Silberstein's, 506 Kearny street, one door south of California? If you haven't, go and inspect them, for Silberstein always leads the city in styles. G

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarra's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

Shakspeare in Congress.

Somebody who is good at the estimating business, estimates that over $1,500 has been paid during the past thirty years for printing the single word "laughter" in the Congressional Globe. We presume a large proportion of the laughter elicited and thus paid for by the people was called forth by the ridiculous blunders and ludicrous grammatical errors of some of our Congressional speech-makers. As for instance, that notable one perpetrated by Col. W. A. Richardson, of Quincy, a few years ago. It is stated that while "Old Dick" was a member of the lower house, and was making one of his "tearing" speaches, he undertook to quote a well known passage from Shakspeare, which runs: "Shake not thy gory locks at me, thou cans't not say I did it." Imagine the amusement of the spectators on hearing Old Dick belch forth the words: "Don't shake your bloody head at me, you can't say I done it." With such men as Richardson in Congress, no wonder that the laughter bill for the past thirty years has reached the figures given above.

Where ought we always find the milk of human kindness? In the pale of the church.

The man who lent himself to a deception, now finds that he will have to stand alone.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon. No. 37 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

These Lozenges meet the wants of thousands, as there are many that cannot swallow a pill, and with the children it is utterly impossible to get them to take one, even be it "sugar-coated." The Lozenges they cry for; in deliciousness they rival the finest confectionery; they are a vegetable substitute for mercurial preparations, requiring no particular course of diet while using them. They possess a nourishing and nutritious principle, and are the only purgative medicine known that strengthens during the process of purgation. They regulate the various organs of the system, restoring functional harmony and securing the secretion of the proper constituents of each organ. By their action the liver secretes its allotted proportion of bile, the lungs carbon, the skin perspires, the kidneys are vitalized. In Female Complaints they act like a charm.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

This theatre was crowded last night. After the ballet at the end of the second act, in which M'lle Venturoli gained an encore, and M'lle Gaugain introduced a new dance which was also encored, the stars of the evening, the wonderful Majiltons made their appearance. To give a description of their performance is utterly impossible: it is so weird, extravagant and so unlike anything ever seen before that it bewildered the audience as much as it delighted them. The effect produced is exemplified by a remark we heard one of the audience make. He said, "Say, that long fellow seems to be able to do anything he likes, doesn't he?" The Majiltons are two brothers and a sister—Charles, Francis and Marie. Charles has in the act of "Les Trois Diables," a sort of satanic beauty, Francis is a serio-comic devil, and Marie is lovely in form and feature, a delightful creature, a model of grace and symmetry, and with the brightest, prettiest, most expressive face imaginable. Everyone will go to see the Majiltons; we can never hope to look upon their like again.

The Alhambra.

Another large audience last night enjoyed the beautiful singing in the first part, the amusing jokes of Billy Emerson, the banjo solos of Harry Stanwood, the very neat and artistic character sketches of J. H. Milburn, the songs of the wonderful Heywood, and a number of amusing acts in which Add Ryman, the Reynolds Brothers, the very amusing Fayette Welch, J. Robinson and others appeared. The same bill will delight another crowded house to-night.

Metropolitan Theatre.

All were delighted with Lotta in "The Little Detective," but it is in "Little Nell and the Marchioness" that she appears in all her glory. The contrast between the delicate Little Nell and the eccentric Marchioness with her songs, dances, banjo solos and burlesque business, is wonderful. The piece is full of fun as it can be. Robert Craig as Dick Swiveller is immense, and W. J. Coggswell's impersonation of the villainous Quilp is so true to the character that he fully succeeds in gaining the hatred of the audience. As Lotta's engagement is but a short one, and it is intended that she shall appear in as many pieces as possible, those who wish to see her in "Little Nell and the Marchioness" should lose no time. On Friday evening Lotta will take a benefit and give the San Francisco public a chance to show how thoroughly they appreciate her.

Maguire's Opera House.

To-night the grand opera of "Norma" will be presented with Signorina Adelina Speranza in the title role, Signora Luiga Bernardi as Adalgisa, Signor Bianchi as Pollio, Signor Fulvio Rigo (his first appearance) as Oroveso, Mrs. Evans as Clotilde, and Mons. Charles as Flavius. It is so long since this opera was presented in San Francisco that our music-loving public should crowd the house. On Friday evening Miss Mary E. Wadsworth will appear as Rosina in "Il Barbiere di Siviglia," in which we hope she will make as great a success as she has in the role of Annetta in "Crispino e la Comare."

Bella Union.

A new bill will be presented to-night in which Ella La Rue will appear in one of her best characters, Tommy Barton in new songs, Johnny Thers in song and dance, Fanny Garretson in pleasing ballads, Minnie Fillmore in comic song, and other members of the company in various specialties. "The Fire Fater," which has proved quite a success, will conclude the evening's entertainment.

Mac Evey's Original Hibernicon.

This very attractive entertainment continues to draw crowds nightly to Platts's Hall. There will be a matinee to-day for ladies and children. Barney the Guide amuses everyone, and Norah's sweet songs are much admired. The usual evening entertainment will be given.

Coming Festivals and Picnics.

The following picnics will be held at the City Gardens within the next four weeks: Sunday, April 21, German Guard Fusiliers' festival; April 28, Jackson Dragoons' picnic and excursion; May 4th, Mayday festival, concert and ball of the Saunders Conclave, Order of Heptasophs; May 11, festival, entertainment and ball of the United Order of Red Men; May 12, picnic and festival of the Fenian Brotherhood. The German Guard Fusiliers' festival on Sunday next will inaugurate the opening of the City Gardens in splendid style. They will march from Mozart Hall through the principal streets of the city to the Gardens escorted by the San Francisco Fusiliers and San Francisco Schutzen Verein. The exercises in the Gardens will consist of a dress parade and address, instrumental concert by Schmidt & Schlotte's fine band, vocal concerts by the Mannerchor and Teutonia societies, etc. In the evening the Gardens will be illuminated, and a grand display of fireworks will come off, including a tableau on the lake representing the "Watch on the Rhine," accompanied by vocal and instrumental music.

The Berger Family.

This popular musical combination, who have been so successful in their travels in the Eastern States, are coming here next month, and have secured Platt's Hall to exhibit in. The troupe consists of Fred. G. Berger, Henry Berger, Misses Anna, Josephine, Henriette and Louise Berger, Miss Maud Stanley, and Sol. Smith Russell, humorist and character vocalist. Their entertainment is partly a variety as well as a musical performance.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 863 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. x

What the Bells Say.

Col. R., spent the Winter in Louisville, Ky. A friend of his went to visit him. "Some Sunday," says the Colonel, "I want you to listen to our church bells here. There's four of them. Each of them sounds out its own denominational call. There's the Episcopal: that's a heavy, deep-toned, sonorous bell. Now you see if that don't ring out—'Postolic succession! 'Postolic succession! 'Postolic succession! Then the old Presbyterian—that's most as deep sounding, and that says: Eternal damnation! Eternal damnation! Eternal damnation! The Baptist is quicker—a short, snappy bell—and that says rapidly—Come up and be dipped! But the Methodist—that's a crowner—it talks out—Room for all! Room for all! Room for all!

An Internationalist.

The late Sir F. Burdett occasionally chatted with a Picadilly street-crossing sweeper. "Well, Pat," he once said, "what is to be done for the poor people now?" "Oh, God bless your honor! there's nothing for it but to divide. The rich should divide with the poor—share and share alike." "But, my friend, in a year things would be as bad and unequal as ever. How then?" "Glory be to Heaven! your honor, sir, that's aisy—divide again!"

A New Saint.

An Eastern exchange notices a benefit to be given in aid of the "St. Barrabas Hospital." We suppose St. Barnabas is the saint intended, though in these days when whitewashing the bad characters of history is so much in vogue, Barrabas may yet be proved to have been a respectable man, if not a saint. The Bible itself proves him to have been at least as popular with the people as Boss Tweed is with a certain class in New York.

A Precarious Income.

A gentleman from London lately, in making a return of his income to the tax commissioners, wrote on the paper: "For the last three years my income has been somewhat under £150; in future it will be more precarious, as the man is dead whom I borrowed most of the money from."

A Memphis duelling party were driven into a cemetery by a facetious hackman, "so that they might be buried without unnecessary expense."

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices.

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

An Old Landmark.

The Verandah Cigar Store, at the N.E. corner of Kearny and Washington streets, kept by Henry Schmidt, has been famous for the last eleven years for keeping the best Havana cigars, tobacco, choice meerschaum pipes, etc. x

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to F. J. Reilly, Agents. x

FORGOTTEN.

BY W. A. LAW.

Under the trees that afternoon,
Across the meadows and down the lane,
Sloped the sun to the West full soon,
Never a shadow nor cloud of pain;
Do you ever think of it now?

How fresh the breeze from off the sea,
Bending the bluebells before our feet,
Bearing perfume from hill to lea!
Oh! life it seemed never so sweet;
Do you ever think of it now?

What did you say? I cannot tell—
True love is very silent sometimes;
But your words, I remember well,
When we parted there beneath the limes;
Do you ever think of them now?

Only a year ago to-day—
Yes, only a year ago; and yet
The golden light has passed away,
The summer sun has forever set:
Do you ever think of it now?

Dead is the past, and ever more
Dead is the love you whispered that day;
Dead alas! are the hopes I bore,
Dead is my life; yet I only pray
That you may not think of it now.

Very Unpleasant Surgery.

A Georgia girl bit her lover's arm and was shot in the knee by his revolver. His repentant efforts to extract the ball with the aid of the bowie knife, came near being productive of more ill consequences than the injury itself.

Good Bread.

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. For size, weight and quality, STEIN'S loaves are superior to any patent bread that ever bore a flash trade mark. He challenges imitation, and invites a trial at the hands of the public. Leave your orders at STEIN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street. D

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage Stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

How Fine Singers Keep in Voice.

The Freie Deutsche Schulzeitung, of Berlin, publishes the following: Wachtel is very excitable as soon as he puts on his theatrical costume, and sometimes even the merest trifle can then affect him to such a degree that he becomes hoarse on the spot. For this hoarseness of the throat, well known to all to all the most celebrated singers of Europe, the most curious remedies have been employed. Mme. Sontag used to eat regularly, between acts, sardines. Frau Dorns would eat baked veal. Adelina Patti moistens her throat with beer. Fraulein Sax devotes herself to beefsteaks. Frau Kabel ate pears, and M'lle Veglade dried plums. Mme. Garcia drank constantly hot tea, and Fraulein Von Orgeni, a mixture of brandy, water, and sugar, which in tender consideration of her sex we will call by the harmless name of punch. Fraulein Von Caride employed for this purpose a lukewarm extract of malt, and Frau Koester used to eat unleavened wafers. Frau Lucca takes pure Bavarian beer between the scenes. Jenny Lind always drank cold coffee. Herr Ticatscheck smokes; Wachtel drinks selzter water and milk; Nieman, Bavarian beer: Badilla, hard bread crust; Carion, fresh fruits; Mario smokes all the time he is on the stage; and Borghi-Mano cannot wait for the close of the act, but during the scene, when it is any way possible, he disappears for a moment at the side in order to take a pinch of snuff.

"Local Lyrics."

We have received from the author a small book of verses entitled "Local Lyrics," by Sam Booth. It contains "The Legend of Yerba Buena," "The Idyl of Mission Creek," "The Coyote's Lament," and "Celestial Signs." The verses have merit, the rhyme is good and the satire not too subtle for the comprehension of all readers. Sam Booth is ambitions of writing ballads for the people, and he makes a good hand at it. The pamphlet is issued from Bruce's Printing House, 535 Sacramento street.

Anger.

Never get angry. It does no good. Some sins have a seeming compensation or apology for present gratification of some sort, but anger has none. A man feels no better for it. It is really a torment. Another reason for never getting angry is that there is so little that can happen that is worth getting angry about.

The velocipede has found a new use in Spain. In a recent bull fight one of the picadors, being mounted upon one of these vehicles, performed prodigies of valor.

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants." or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Hanke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Elegant Jewelry.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Cheapness and Dispatch

Is the motto of Thomas Catterall, carpenter and builder, 807 Market street, opposite Stockton. All kinds of jobbing done. Offices and stores fitted up a specialty. G

The Reason Why.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 69 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. ECONOMY.

People fondd of the maxim, "Economy is wealth," often make sad mistakes in endeavoring to practice economy. True economy consists in getting the worth of one's money and of every effort of brain and muscle that is made. Many in trying to practice economy are more wasteful than the most prodigal, and do not have the satisfaction which those who spend their money freely enjoy. There was an "economical" old woman who, having only one bundle of wood, made up her mind that she would make it last the whole month. Wishing to have just enough fire to make her pot boil, she broke up one stick; after considerable expenditure of paper and matches she lighted it; it blazed up, burnt out, but the pot did not boil. Sad at heart, the old woman tried another stick, with the same result: still the pot did not boil. So this silly old woman who wished to be economical went on until she burned up her whole bundle of wood, a stick at a time, and still her pot did not boil. Had she taken two sticks she might have made a fire and accomplished her purpose; but she was too "economical" for that. Some people who advertise are a good deal like this old woman; they want to bring their business before the public, but they want to be too economical about it. They put in half a "stick" of matter in some paper of small circulation and no reputation, and wonder it does not make their business brisk. They try another little venture in a paper which will put in a small advertisement "cheap." Still no effect. So they go on frittering away their money to as little purpose as the old woman burned her sticks, when if they had put in an advertisement of such a size as to attract attention in a paper read by everyone (FIGARO, for instance), and followed it up by others, they would soon have got their money back, "made the pot boil and kept it boiling." Some people try to practice economy by buying "cheap" things—cheap clothing, cheap furniture, etc., etc. These people are often terribly fooled. The man who practices the truest economy is he who is willing to give a good price for a good article, to pay fair wages for good work. He who is always "beating down" his workmen is very apt to get beat himself in the long run. Hard bargains are not always the most profitable for him who drives them. There are people who practice economy by stinting themselves and families in the way of amusements. The money spent on a picnic excursion often saves a doctor's bill, and an evening at the theatre affords a little relaxation to the mind, and more work will be done the next day. The best plan is to be liberal, and you will, if you are a man of ordinary intelligence, be able to secure liberal treatment in exchange. Economy—true economy, is simply the exercise of care that nothing of use go to waste. Economy of time consists in employing yourself in that for which you are best suited, not in spending a day in attempting to do something which you could get some one else to do for you for a dollar, and leave you free to earn five. Economy is wealth, but there is so much of the bogus article in use that true economy has fallen into disrepute. Under any circumstances the more economy is kept out of sight the better, and it should be talked about as little as possible.

Stunning Things.

Have you seen the Spring style neckties, scarfs, broche neckerchiefs, and other new goods in the gents' furnishing line, just received at Silberstein's, 506 Kearny street, one door south of California? If you haven't, go and inspect them, for Silberstein always leads the city in styles. G

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

A Pretty Bad Case.

Under the very mild heading of "Singular Accident to a Horse," the Bulletin of Tuesday has the following:

To-day a man in the employment of Mr. Pierson, on the Potrero, got mad at a horse which he could not induce to back into place between the shafts of a buggy. He seized a broom-handle and made a thrust at the animal's head. The horse opened his mouth and the man forced the stick into his throat, when a piece of it broke off. All efforts to remeve the fragment were unavailing till a veterinary surgeon came. He made an incision in the horse's throat and removed a piece of broom-handle about nine inches in length.

If this had happened in England, where the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is a live institution instead of being a tame, milk-and-water affair like that of San Francisco, the brute who caused that "singular accident" would not get off with less than six months' imprisonment with hard labor. We suppose that our particularly active Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will take no steps in the matter.

Disgusted Legislators.

A correspondent at Salem tells a story to the effect that while the Legislature was in session there two years ago, a preacher in one of the churches one Sunday took for his text the commandment "Thou Shalt not Steal." Several of the members of the Legislature who happened to be present, took it as a direct personal insult, and got up and left, severely condemning what they called "political preaching."

For the best Photographs, go to Bradley & Rulofson's. Prices Reduced. Closed Sundays. z

These Lozenges meet the wants of thousands, as there are many that cannot swallow a pill, and with the children it is utterly impossible to get them to take one, even be it "sugar-coated." The Lozenges they cry for; in deliciousness they rival the finest confectionery; they are a vegetable substitute for mercurial preparations, requiring no particular course of diet while using them. They possess a nourishing and nutritious principle, and are the only purgative medicine known that strengthens during the process of purgation. They regulate the various organs of the system, restoring functional harmony and securing the secretion of the proper constituents of each organ. By their action the liver secretes its allotted proportion of bile, the lungs carbon, the skin perspires, the kidneys are vitalized. In Female Complaints they act like a charm.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

This house was thronged last night, the beauty and fashion of the city being well represented in the crowded dress circle. The management, with a desire to present Lotta in all her best pieces, do do not put up any one of them for a run. "Little Nell and the Marchioness," although it would draw for a week longer, must make room to-night for Lotta's original drama which she had written for her, entitled "Heart's-Ease." Much of the action of this piece takes place in California during early times, which will give an additional interest to it with a California audience. To-morrow night Lotta will take her benefit, when the public which loves her will see that it is a bumper.

The Alhambra.

The addition of two such voices as the wonderful baritone of J. G. Russell, and the fine bass of M. Ainsley Scott to the first part is a great improvement, and the singing is admirable throughout. Billy Emerson, J. H. Milburn, Add Ryman, Fayette Welch, the great Heywood, the Reynolds Brothers, all appear in the interlude in a programme of songs dances, and acts, which appears on our first page. As the Emerson Minstrels are not to remain with us always it is as well to enjoy their performance while we can.

California Theatre.

"The Palace of Truth" is a wonderful combination of attraction. The text is clever, the scenery beautiful, and the ballets by M'lles Venturoli and Gaugain and corps de ballet are very popular. As to the Majiltons, they are rightly named "Les Trois Diables," for they seem supernatural. Charles is supernaturally lithe and agile, Frank is supernaturally funny, and Marie is supernaturally pretty. People will go again and again to see the Majiltons and still wonder how the—trois diables it is all done.

Maguire's Opera House.

The opera of "Norma" drew a large house last night. Signora Adelina Speranza received much applause and a shower of bouquets; Signora Luigia Bernardi's fine voice was heard to advantage in the role of Adalgisa, and Signor E. Bianchi sang that of Pollio in his usual excellent manner. Signor Fulvio Rigo, the new basso, was well received, and made a favorable impression both by his singing and acting. The management announce the discontinuance of the season in a card in another column.

Bella Union.

Johnny Tuers is a prime favorite at this house; Ella La Rue is popular in banjo solos, and gains many encores; Miss Marie Zoel looks so pretty and dances so neatly that she is a great favorite, and she also plays the part of the heroine in the drama of "The Fire-Eater" to perfection; Susie Robison and Tommy Barton cause much fun in the duet, "A, B, C;" Carrie Chapman shines in a medley dance, and the whole entertainment is lively and popular.

Mac Evoy's Original Hibernicon.

The popularity of this entertainment given at Platt's Hall under the title of the Original Hibernicon, is immense. The public never weary of the beautiful pictures of Ireland, the songs of Norah, and the funny stories and wonderful dances by Barney the Guide. Matinee on Saturday.

French National Festival.

The Lafayette Guard, with the approbation of the French Central Committee, will give a a grand National Festival for the benefit of the National Subscription for the ransom of France, at Hayes Park on Sunday next. The Guard will be accompanied to the Park by the MacMahon Grenadiers the French Zouaves, and the Philharmonic Society Lafayette No. 2. The exercises will consist of a grand concert in the Gardens, a ball in the Pavilion, and other entertainments. Tickets 50 cents each which can be procured of H. Videau, 809 Montomery street, at the French Savings Bank, at the White House dry goods store, at Payot's book store, and elsewhere.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

A very little girl was learning to read, and part of her lesson ran: "The cat has a rat." She thought for a moment, and then exclaimed: "Cats don't have rats, cats have kittens."

A St. Louis man has had a bully run of luck in the past four months. He was bitten by a mad dog, had a broken leg, lost an eye, had the small-pox and—got married.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 863 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

Go and See Them.

Ladies in want of a new Parasol should go to Jones & Wilkinson's, 302 Third street, corner of Folsom. They have all the new styles and their prices are as usual "on the bed rock." I

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

Not an Entire Success.

It does not do to follow the advice of newspaper recipes always with implicit confidence. There, for instance, was the woman out in Frankfort who read somewhere that the best method of curing drunken husbands was for the wife to take to drinking; and for wives with profane husbands to indulge in a little experimental hard swearing in order to show their lords how very offensive such language is. Well, this woman's husband disgusted her constantly by using horrible profanity, and so she made up her mind to cure him upon homœopathic principles. That very evening, when he came home to supper, he began to curse at the coffee, and swear at the lamp, and swear at the stove, and blaspheme the bread, and to tumble out oaths at his wife and children, and the hired girl, and the dog. As soon as he stopped to take breath, his wife stood up on a chair and began. She poured out a volley of ornamental objurgations, sensational imprecations, coupled with oaths, adjectives, blasphemy, pronouns, profanity, and partioiples, for a quarter of an hour, until she stopped from very exhaustion. The old man sat still, looking at her in profound amazement for a few moments, and when she concluded, he remained for a time in a deep study. She thought she perceived signs of repentance. But presently he got up, put on his hat, and went around to an alderman's office, where he procured a warrant for his wife's arrest upon a charge of blasphemy, and then had the hired girl and the children subpœnaed as witnesses. She was unable to procure bail, so she spent the next two weeks in prison. She now says she thinks that system is a failure.

Romance Boiled Down.

Eloping couple at hotel detected by youth in false side-whiskers; detective takes him aside and hears his painful tale: They loved. The lady had stern parents. Benjamin was forbidden the house. Grief, grief! Love laughs at stern parents. An elopement is 'got up.' He assumes a disguise—a clean shirt and false whiskers. He hies to Newark. Is she true? She is! Oh, joy and things! She joins him on the train. Rapture beneath decorum, like the fast rushing brook covered with ice. They are bound to Cincinnati. There he is to stop while she proceeds to St. Louis, where they both have friends, and where he will soon join her, and where they will be made 'each other's.' She his'n and he her'n. More joy! They were allowed to proceed without the whiskers.

HIS CHOICE.

It ain't so much how you get there,
So as you're there at last.
One can't be squeamish traveling,
If he wants to travel fast.
Life is so short at its longest pull,
So rough in its smoothest part,
It stands a fellow to know the ropes
Before he makes a start.

Now, I got stuck in the first day's march,
And I've staid stuck up to date;
You think I'd better be getting ahead,
Than giving advice—eh, mate?
But there you're wrong, for the man who fails
Has scented the pitfalls out;
And as to my failure, the people say
There isn't a ghost of a doubt.

I've seen a fortune before my eyes,
But mud lay thick between;
And leaving the mud, I left the prize
For those less nice than keen.
Folks turned their backs as they waded through
And groaned as they splashed about,
But changed their tune as they neared the shore
And cheered as they waded out.

What if they hadn't got out? why, then
They'd have sunk in the mire, of course,
And the voice of the world would have changed again,
And croaked till the air was hoarse.
What should I choose, could I live once more
Well, there you've got me, Dick;
For the clean highway is a barren place,
And mud—well, mud will stick.

But if what we miss when we travel here,
We get when we journey there,
I think, were I to live over again,
I'd take the path that's bare.
For when it comes to the settling day,
When kinds and sorts are clubbed,
I think—though here you must judge for yourself—
I'd rather be filled than scrubbed.

Good Bread.

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. Leave your orders at STEIN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street. D

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage Stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years in Sacramento, and ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the successful treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and spend the remainder of his days to quiet-life enjoyment; but the constant applications from suffering everywhere, to come to their relief finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Lock Hospital, spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in this celebrated institution, and then give a few years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for the previous his practice as a SPECIALIST may be found in the cure of all cases brought under his care. The Doctor's motto is "honorable and successful treatment and moderate charges to all."

What is A Repertoire.

An Ohio journalist read in another paper a statement to the effect that "Miss Kellogg has a larger repertoire than any other living prima donna;" and he considered it his duty as a champion of truth to sit down and write an article upon the subject, in which he said: "We do not of course know how Miss Kellogg was dressed when she appeared in other cities, but upon the occasion of her last performance here we are positively certain that her repertoire did not seem to extend so far out as either Nilsson's or Patti's. It may have been that her overskirt was cut too narrow to permit of its being gathered into such a large hump behind, or it may have been that it had been crushed down accidentally; but the fact remains that both of Miss Kellogg's rivals wore repertoires of a much more extravagant size—very much to their discredit, we think."

It is real sad about this man. You will perceive that he cherishes the somewhat melancholy delusion that a repertoire is some kind of a bustle. We have nothing to say upon the subject. It is too painful.

Ungallant.

At Barton, Lincolnshire, England, a dinner was given the other day to twenty old men who worked on the Parish roads, and a local journal supplied a report of the proceedings. When the health of "the ladies of Barton" was proposed, the old fellows exhibited a shocking lack of gallantry by taking no notice of the toast. The vice-chairman, when requested to respond to it, said, "He should do now't of the sort, as he wasn't over and above fond on 'em."

Varying Natures.

There are some natures that are acted upon by circumstances as the Eolian harp is acted upon by the winds—the music of their tempers being constantly varied as they are affected by the rude weather of stormy fortune; or the softer, balmier, and less disturbed atmosphere of joy and gladness.

Do You Know

That with BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS you can cut and make any garment to fit perfectly? Send postage stamp for an illustrated catalogue. H. A. Deming, agent. office of the Howe Sewing Machine, No. 113 Kearny street, between Sutter and Post, San Francisco.

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat someth ng nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Henry Bocken is the most experienced of caterers, and his lunches and dinners cannot be beat. Our best fed lawyers, our most popular physicians, and all epicures patronize the Pioneer Restaurant. R

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Elegant Jewelry.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

The Summer Season.

Gentlemen going on fishing excursions to Calistoga, and for country trips, should go to Geo. B. Davis, Fashionable Tailor, 607 Kearny street, near Osiforn a He makes tourists suits which will wear. I

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Cheapness and Dispatch

Is the motto of Thomas Catterall, carpenter and builder, 807 Market street, opposite Stockton. All kinds of jobbing done. Offices and stores fitted up a specialty. G

The Reason Why.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. A Comfortable Philosophy.

Spiritualism is a decidedly pleasant philosophy. If one could only believe in it all would be well. There would be no moaning "it is sad to die," no "dark river," no fear of the bottomless pit. The Examiner yesterday gave an account of the funeral ceremonies of Henry Chase, the son of Mrs. Chase, spiritualistic medium and wound up with the following interesting particulars which explain the doctrine of spiritualists with regard to the change which other sects call death:

The mother of the deceased, Mrs. Chase, states that since the death of her son she had several interviews with him. While preparing the corpse for burial, he appeared and made the remark that "he did not think he would make such an ugly looking corpse," and several other jocular remarks; also that during the process of dressing him after death he was present in the room and cut up antics, such as jumping around and standing on his hands. When he was alive he was always in good spirits and very jovial in his disposition.

Now, this is rather jolly. If this be true, there is some sense in giving a man a splendid funeral and making his corpse as good-looking as possible. The unpleasant part of the doctrine consists in the idea embodied in an article headed "Hell," which we wrote some time ago, and which we now see going the rounds of the press credited to the Owyhee Avalanche, that paper having "nipped" it and obliterated our ear-marks. Having the positive assertion of Mrs. Chase that her son was actually present in the room while his body was being laid out, and was amused at the fuss made over him, it may be as well to republish what we said before:

There is something plausible after all in the doctrine of the Spiritualists that the real torment of the future state consists not in a fire and brimstone hell, but in still hanging round in spirit form the scenes which one has left, and seeing how things go on after one's death. It must be hell for the spirit of a dead mining speculator to see stock go up, without the power of enchreing somebody out of a thousand. Isn't it hell for a miser to see his savings squandered; for a husband to see his wife, who swore she loved him so fondly, flirt at his funeral with young Smith whom he kicked out of his house; for a smart, business-like spirit to see his late partner miss chance after chance of making a pile; for a mining spirit to see fellows running a drift the wrong way. Well, we shall all know how it is ourselves some day.

Advertising.

Advertising as the means of prosperity is not as well understood as it should be. Nothing can take its place. It is a fact that no one who has advertised liberally and systematically has felt like disputing that it has been the best spent money he put into business. As a horse was never made fat by a single bushel of corn, so a single advertisement is never a perfect test of the benefits of advertising. The man with genuine wares to sell who advertised them in the right way without success would be a curiosity.

Awkward Mistake.

A fair-haired, love-sick youth in Ukiah presented his "girl" with a pair of those new-fangled garters on her birth-day. He thought they were the latest thing in bracelets, and he only discovered his mistake upon requesting her to "try them on." He does not go there any more.

An experienced chap says, when you can't think of what your wife told you to bring home, get hair-pins.

Lamott's Spring Style Dress Hats

Are the ne plus ultra of the season, To be dressed, wear one of his hats. Go to Lamott's, 227 Montgomery street, for all the latest styles, for all classes, both young and old. When at his store, you have the best assortment in the city to choose from. *

FOR FINELY FLAVORED SAUSAGES, HAMS, Bacon, etc., all made of the best grain fed pork, go to R. F. Bunker's Stall, 74 and 75 California Market. Mr. Bunker's club sausages, for flavor and delicacy, equal any ever made east of the Sierras, and he cuts up nothing but first-class meats.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated. *

The Oyster Palace.

Henceforth a dinner, soup, roasts, entrees, etc, of the best the market affords, will be served from 4 till 8. Twelve private rooms for supper parties, etc., have been added to this famous oyster house, and Frank Dumont attends to everything personally. A

Stunning Things.

Have you seen the Spring style neckties, scarfs, broche neckerchiefs, and other new goods in the gents' furnishing line, just received at Silberstein's, 505 Kearny street, one door south of California? If you haven't, go and inspect them, for Silberstein always leads the city in styles. G

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

This Palace is enchanted. Every one
Who enters there is bound to speak the truth—
The simple, unadulterated truth
To every question that is put to him
The most rustic, the most affected truth;
And strange to say, when prevailing the truth,
He's artless that he is driving on
And while he lets innumerable cats
Out of unnumbered bags, he quite believes
That all the while he's tightening the strings
That keep them from a too censorious world."

A Bad Spell.

The Commercial Advertiser has one of the bad spelling correspondents, who writes from Africa in this style:

"Hear we are, on Afriky's burnin's shore, or as the poit wond say—

"On Africk's C beat shere I stand."

We are fur away from sivilisation—from Kongress, and from from faul sitty. Here all is peas. The prime-evil forest is beautiful to B hold. It iz a sweet place. I like the negrows. They are kontented people. They don't want nothing, and the kuntry iz full of them. There iz no Court House, no Amerikus Klub, no Taminy Hall, and no Greely statoot in this place.

Gushing.

The editor of the Eldora (Iowa) Ledger has had an exciting time with a libel suit. When the jury returned a verdict for the defendant he says "our counsel, Gov. Eastman, encircled us in his long arms and screamed forth excitedly: 'You beat him, Bob; glory be to God, you have a verdict. Here the Governor kissed us on both cheeks, after which he sat down and wept like a child." Really, this scene must have been very melo-dramatic and quite "Frenchy."

We Should Think Not!

A grave-stone cutter in Maine, who heard that an acquaintance had lost his wife, hastened to condole with him and to obtain, if possible, an order. The brevet widower, however, repelled him with scorn and indignation, saying that the fellow who had run off with his wife might buy a grave-stone when it was needed; he certainly should not.

Bad Taste.

A woman was arrested in Camden the other day for whipping her husband in the street. And served her right, too. When a woman wants to whip her husband, she should take him by the ear, lead him up two pair of stairs, thrust him into a chamber, and then wallop him in a pleasant and civilized manner, and not make a public exhibition of the affair.

Do You Know

That with BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS you can cut and make any garment to fit perfectly? Send postage stamp for an illustrated catalogue. H. A. Deming, agent, office of the Howe Sewing Machine, No. 113 Kearny street, between Sutter and Post, San Francisco.

For the best Photographs, go to Bradley & Rulofson's. Prices Reduced. Closed Sundays.z

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat someth ng nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Henry Bocken is the most experienced of caterers, and his lunches and dinners cannot be beat. Our best fed lawyers, our most popular physicians, and all epicures patronize the Pioneer Restaurant. E

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Hanks, formerly of the Antelope and Bar Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Elegant Jewelry.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

The Summer Season.

Gentlemen going on fishing excursions to Calistoga, and for country trips, should go to Geo. B. Davis, Fashionable Tailor, 507 Kearny street, near California. He makes tourists suits which will wear. I

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Cheapness and Dispatch

Is the motto of Thomas Catterall, carpenter and builder, 807 Market street, opposite Stockton. All kinds of jobbing done. Offices and stores fitted up a specialty. G

The Reason Why.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. T

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few doors below Webb.

Unpleasant People.

One often meets people whom one despises and dislikes, although there may be nothing actually bad in them. There is the man who sucks in his breath between his teeth after speaking; the man with the continual smile that is not a smile but an offensive exhibition of a fine set of teeth; then there is the man who, after you have said something, gives an unpleasant little cough that may mean something or nothing, and you don't know whether he wishes to insult you or not. There is the man (and woman sometimes) with an expression on his face as if he smelled something unpleasant; when he smiles he looks as if he were suffering from a pain in the stomach, and when he speaks it is in a tone of voice which seems to convey a protest against something or other that has been said. Of course a great many of these unpleasant people owe their unpleasantness not to any innate wickedness of disposition, but rather to indigestion, dyspepsia, and disorganization of the nervous system. Idoneum est ut sit mens sana in corpore sano. It is a most happy thing to have a sound mind in a sound body. If the body is unsound the disposition can scarcely be a pleasant one, and its photographed impression on the countenance is not "pretty." Let us tolerate these unpleasant people, get away from them as soon as possible, but not judge them harshly. They are not happy, but they are not necessarily bad.

Heavenly Visions.

A lady once visited the Roman Catholic Bishop Miner, seeking spiritual counsel, and related as a part of her experience some remarkable visions with which she had been favored. "Oh, Father," exclaimed she, "arn't they heavenly? Isn't a blessed thing to be so privileged?" "Very lovely, very heavenly," replied the old bishop, "and as you say, my dear child, it is a blessed privilege; but don't you think you had better take a little blue pill?"

A Too Honest Critic.

Almaviva, the well-known critic of the London Figaro, has ceased to write for that journal, his out-spoken remarks as to the present condition of the stage having provoked an amount of personal and malignant hostility to which the proprietor of the Figaro has been cowardly enough to succumb, though Almaviva's plucky writing has been the making of his paper.

Sharp.

A young lady, the other day, in the course of a lecture, said: "Get married, young man, and be quick about it, too. Don't wait for the millenium, hoping that the girls will turn to angels, before you trust yourself to one of them. A pretty thing you would be alongside of an angel, wouldn't you?"

"Hostibility."

A kind-hearted but illiterate livery-stable keeper who could not bear to see a horse ill-treated, used to say with perfect sincerity, and as he believed with accuracy: "My hostibility to them as abuses hosses was born unto me, and comes as natural as breathin'."

My Mother Dear.

A girl at Council Bluffs persisting in permitting the attentions of a man against the wishes of her mother, was tarred and feathered by that lady for her unfilial conduct.

New York Dry Goods Store.

813 Stockton street, between Clay and Sacramento, receives new goods daily from New York auctions very cheap. Remember the number.*

Dear Me! How She Paints!

Lamott's Spring Style Dress Hats

Are the ne plus ultra of the season. To be dressed, wear one of his hats. Go to Lamott's, 227 Montgomery street, for all the latest styles, for all classes, both young and old. When at his store, you have the best assortment in the city to choose from. *

FOR FINELY FLAVORED SAUSAGES, HAMS, Bacon, etc., all made of the best grain fed pork, go to R. F. Bunker's Stall, 74 and 75 California Market. Mr. Bunker's club sausages, for flavor and delicacy, equal any ever made east of the Sierras, and he cuts up nothing but first-class meats.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated. *

The Oyster Palace.

Henceforth a dinner, soup, roasts, entrees, etc, of the best the market affords, will be served from 4 till 8. Twelve private rooms for supper parties, etc., have been added to this famous oyster house, and Frank Dumont attends to everything personally. A

Stunning Things.

Have you seen the Spring style necktties, scarfs, broche neckerchiefs, and other new goods in the gents' furnishing line, just received at Silberstein's, 506 Kearny street, one door south of California? If you haven't, go and inspect them, for Silberstein always leads the city in styles. G

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller, news agent on the Southern Pacific Railroad, supplies the passengers with the latest San Francisco dailies and Eastern Illustrated papers at a dime a peice. Ask the boys for the right change. He also furnishes Actresses.

Nym Crinkle says: "Ah, if we could only make actresses as we make plays! Building them over night and pouring them full of champagne when we want comedies, and full of the fine old passionate red wine of tradition when we want tragedy.

Reasonable.

"A weak woman" writes to the Tribune: "I don't want to vote; I am not anxious to get into any one's pulpit; I don't even covet a doctor's degree; but I do want a seat in car or omnibus, especially when I have paid for one."

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Lotta's success at this theatre continues unabated. Last night every seat in the dress circle had been secured in advance, and numbers of ladies had to find seats in the lower part of the house. The performance consisted of Edmund Falconer's three-act drama of "Heart's-Ease," depicting early life in California. In this Lotta plays the part of May Wildrose, the daughter of Mr. Wylde, an English gentleman who has found his way to the mines in California, and who is there prostrated by sickness. May Wildrose is enabled by the kindness of friends to start a store, and we are in the first act introduced to her as the pet of the miners, whom she keeps in good order. Lionel Houghton, a banker's son on a sketching tour, comes to the mines and falls in love with May. Hiram Doolittle, a "Live Yankee," admirably played by Robert Craig, is also in love with May. In this act Lotta performs banjo solos and does some most eccentric acting, and Willie Simms as Jacob Swartz, a Dutch miner, T. E. Jackson as Pat O'Leary, and George Hinckley as Sandy McFarlane, a Scotch miner, cause immense fun. T. E. Jackson has a splendid brogue, and his Irishman is one of the best on the stage at the present time. Two villains, Bill Allen and Tom Dunphy, played respectively by John Woodard and Harry Colton, think that Lionel Houghton has discovered a rich nugget of gold, and lay plans to deprive him of it. In the second act they are about to carry their plan into execution, but are thwarted by May, who saves her lover's life. In this act there are some good scenes between May and Lionel; one in which May becomes jealous of Clara Belcour, a young lady in England whom Lionel's father wishes him to marry, is very well carried out. In the last act we find the wild rose trained and cultivated by art with all its native beauty undiminished. May marries Lionel, Doolittle accepts the situation with the best grace possible, and all ends happily. The duck song and the medley dances by Lotta and Robert Craig fairly brought down the house. Mr. Coggswell played the part of the gentlemanly Lionel Houghton very pleasingly and with good taste; the other parts were well played by Miss Fanny Young, Miss Susie Soule, Mrs. Frank Rea, J. H. McCabe and others. All must remember that to-night the charming Lotta takes her first benefit in California during her present engagement, and expects to see as many of her legion of friends as the house will hold. On this occasion she will make extra efforts to amuse, and will we presume have something to say to her California friends. "Heart's-Ease" will be played on this occasion. At the matinee to-morrow, "Little Nell and the Marchioness" will be presented.

California Theatre.

As we prophesied would be the case, the Majiltons have caused a veritable furore. Every part of the California Theatre was crowded last night, and the rush still continues. "The Palace of Truth" with the added attractions of these marvellous artistes, and the beautiful ballets by M'lles Venturoli and Gangain should and will have an extended run. It will be played at the matinee to-morrow with all the attractive features of Majiltons, magic fountain and ballet.

The Alhambra.

No matter what the attractions elsewhere are there are many who are nowhere so well satisfied as at the Alhambra. They are sure of fun there, and fun is a very pleasant relaxation after the cares of every-day life. Billy Emerson is as full of fun as an egg is full of meat, and is ably seconded by Fayette Welch. Harry Stanwood always has new jokes, Add Ryman is great in comic acts, and J. H. Milburn's finished sketches of character amuse all. The bill which has delighted thousands during the week will be played at the matinee to-morrow.

Bella Union.

The entertainment given at this popular variety theatre is very diversified. It consists of a capital first part of songs, jokes and walk-around; an interlude of banjo solos, ballads, song and dance, clog dance, duets, comic songs, amusing acts and good music. The play of "The Fire-Eater" concludes the evening's amusement.

Mac Evoy's Original Hibernicon.

This great entertainment can remain to delight the public of San Francisco but a short time onger, therefore those who wish to take another glimpse of the Emerald Isle should go at once. There will be a matinee for ladies and children tomorrow when the full programme of songs, dances and comedy, will be given.

Captain Badger's Central Park, Oakland.

Next Sunday there will be no picnic at this delightful pleasure ground and hundreds of families will flock there. There will be a grand balloon ascension under the management of Gruet Buisiay, who has built a balloon 20 feet in height and 34 feet in circumference, and there will be a promenade concert by Kohler's orchestra. There will be no dancing. Persons wishing to enjoy a quiet day in the country can do so at the small expense of 45 cents, which includes admission to the park, fare there and back.

Turn Verein Hall.

To-night the Eclipse Ethiopian Amateurs will give their third entertainment and ball. The Eclipse Amateurs have some talented members and may yet turn out a Billy Emerson or Billy Birch to astonish the world and eclipse all competitors.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashonable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

Lager Bier.

The German words lager bier signify stock beer that has been stored away. The story as told in Germany is an old one, and runs thus: "Very many years ago a shoemaker, near Bamburg, sent his apprentice to get a bottle of Bamburg beer, which was sold at that place; but the boy not knowing this went to the city itself. On returning he met an acquaintance of his, who told him, that when he would come home his boss would whip him for staying so long. The poor boy, who was frightened at this, thought it better not to go home at all, but took his bottle, buried it under a tree and ran away. He went among the soldiers, where he distinguished himself, so that in a short time he became an officer. When ohe day his regiment was quartered in this town the officer thought proper to pay a visit to his old boss, but not before he had got the bottle of beer, which he had buried some years before under the tree. When he entered he said: "Well, sir, here I bring you that bottle of beer you sent me for." The shoemaker not knowing what he meant, was told by the officer all about it. The bottle was then opened, and the beer was found to be of superior quality. When this was known some of the brewers built deep vaults where they put their beer and called it after it had lain there some time, lager, which meant nothing but lying. The officer afterwards married the daughter of the shoemaker, and drank a good deal of lager beer, receiving in that occupation the assistance of his father-in-law.

I MET MY LOVE.

I met my love at morning
When birds began to sing,
And buttercups gave warning
'Twas now the new-born Spring;
And then I cried, "How brightly
Young life would speed along,
With love to guide it lightly
'Mid bloom of flower and song."

I met my love at noontide,
'Twas in a sylvan bower,
And warm the sun, that June-tide,
Lay on each bright-hued flower;
And then I said, "My fairest,
Beneath love's genial light
The brightest things and rarest
Grow still more rare and bright."

I met my love at nightfall,
Beside the lattice pane,
And mute we watched the light fall,
And heard the wint'ry rain;
I sighed, "True love will cheer thee
When morn and noon are past"—
I drew her gently near me,
And won my love at last.

The Grand Opera House.

The Brooklyn Eagle says:

It is reported that Mrs. Colonel Fisk has become the sole proprietor of the Erie Opera House, by purchasing Jay Gould's share therein. If the property was bought with the Erie stockholders' money, it is a matter of slight concern to the public whether the title is held in the name of Fisk or Gould. If law were the "perfection of human wisdom," or anywhere near that clarified condition, the opera house would be awarded to the share owners who have gone without dividends for years.

A newly converted Lawrence reporter thus notices a minstrel troupe: "For those who do not consider it a sign to witness minstrel shows, this entertainment will furnish a pleasant relaxation from the revival meetings."

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SECRET COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital, London, nine years in Sacramento, and ten years in San Francisco. HAS RETIRED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the special treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and spend the remainder of his days to quiet enjoyment; but the constant applications from suffering everywhere, to come to them, finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Look Back, and spend a year within its wards, and introduce himself of all the new methods of treatment of this celebrated institution, and then give a few years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old office, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for the previous his practice as a SPECIALIST was so successful in the cure of all cases brought under his care. The Doctor's motto is "honorable and successful treatment and moderate charges to all."

These Lozenges meet the wants of thousands, as there are many that cannot swallow a pill, and with the children it is utterly impossible to get them to take one, even be it "sugar-coated." The Lozenges they cry for: in deliciousness they rival the finest confectionery; they are a vegetable substitute for mercurial preparations, requiring no particular course of diet while using them. They possess a nourishing and nutritious principle, and are the only purgative medicine known that strengthens during the process of purgation. They regulate the various organs of the system, restoring functional harmony and securing the secretion of the proper constituents of each organ. By their action the liver secretes its allotted proportion of bile, the lungs carbon, the skin perspires, the kidneys are vitalized. In Female Complaints they act like a charm.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—At the matinee to-day Lotta will appear in the very popular play of "Little Nell and the Marchioness." "Heart's ease" was performed last night, when Lotta took her first benefit, to an overflowing house, and the applause which rewarded her acting, songs, dances and banjo solos, proved that the audience were thoroughly well pleased. This play, the first two acts which are laid in California, will be played to-night for the last time; therefore all must seize this last opportunity of witnessing it. "Fire Fly" will be presented on Monday with entire new scenery and full military effects.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—A great variety of songs, dances and amusing acts will be given to-night. Billy Emerson will present some of his most popular songs and dances, and appear in the first part and the screaming act of "Am-u-let," with Add Ryman and J. Robinson; the great Heywood in soprano songs, J. H. Milburn in character sketches, Fayette Welch in funny jokes and acts, Harry Stanwood in banjo solos, the Reynolds Brothers in eccentric dances, and the famous bar-i tone, J. G. Russell, who has made a great hit, in ballads. The usual matinee performance will be given.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—"The Palace of Truth," with its extraordinary attractions of the wonderful Majiltons, illuminated fountain, ballets by M'lles Venturoli and Gaugain, beautiful scenery, and admirable acting by John McCullough, Miss Rose Evans, J. C. Williamson, Owen Marlowe, Miss Minnie Walton, Mrs. Sophie Edwin and others, will be presented at the matinee to-day and again this evening. Some particulars about the Majiltons appear in another column.

BELLA UNION.—A new bill will be presented at this popular variety theatre this evening. Miss Blanche will make her first appearance and dance a highland fling; Miss Minnie Leder will sing ballads; the act of "Japanese Tommy will be performed by Lon McCarthy, Tommy Barton, and Harry Thompson; Miss Susie Robinson will give a comic song; Marie Zoel a clog dance; the farce of "Wanted a Young Lady," will be performed, and Johnny Tuers, Tommy Bree, and others, will appear in "The Goat Island Terror."

MAC EVOY'S ORIGINAL HIBERNICON.—To-day there will be a matinee entertainment. Dan Morris, Miss Marie Mac Evoy, Miss Kate Halpine and others will appear in the petite comedy of "Irish Hearts; or, Love on the Ould Sod." There will be songs, dances and funny stories, and beautiful pictures of scenes in Ireland. The usual evening entertainment will be given.

ITALIAN OPERA.—Signor Fred Biesta, who did his very best to give the public of San Francisco a season of Italian Opera and lost considerable money in the attempt, will be the recipient of a complimentary benefit on Friday evening next at Maguire's Opera House. By correspondence published on our first page it will be seen that professional services have been tendered for the occasion by Signorina Adelina Speranza, Signora Giovanni Bianchi, Miss Mary E, Wadsworth, Miss McKenzie, Mrs. Evans, Signori E. Bianchi, G. Mancusi, D. Speranza, George T. Evans, Fulvie Rigo and others.

CITY GARDENS.—The German Guard Fusiliers festival to-morrow will inaugurate the opening of the City Gardens in splendid style, and doubtless thousands will be present. The Fusiliers will march from Mozart Hall through the principal streets of the city to the Gardens escorted by the San Francisco Fusiliers and San Francisco Schutzen Verin. The exercises in the Gardens will consist of a dress parade and address, instrumental concert by Schmidt and Schlotte's fine band, vocal concerts by the Mannerchor and Teutonia Societies, etc. In the evening the Gardens will be illuminated, and a grand display of fireworks will come off, including a tableau on the lake representing the "Watch on the Rhine," accompanied by vocal and instrumental music. Tickets for the whole entertainment—festival, concerts, ball and firework display in the evening—fifty cents. Competent committees will have charge of the festivities, and perfect order will be maintained.

CAPT. BADGER'S CENTRAL PARK, OAKLAND.—To-morrow there will be no picnic at this delightful pleasure ground and hundreds of families will flock there. There will be a grand balloon ascension under the management of Gruet Buisiay, who has built a balloon 20 feet in height and 24 feet in circumference, and there will be a promenade concert by Kohler's orchestra. There will be no dancing. Persons wishing to enjoy a quiet day in the country can do so at the small expense of 45 cents, which includes admission to the park, fare there and back.

HAYES PARK—FRENCH NATIONAL FESTIVAL.—The Lafayette Guard, with the approbation of the French Central Committee, will give a a grand National Festival for the benefit of the National Subscription for the ransom of France, at Hayes Park to-morrow. The Guard will be accompanied to the Park by the MacMahon Grenadiers the French Zouaves, and the Philharmonic Society Lafayette No. 2. The exercises will consist of a grand concert in the Gardens, a ball in the Pavilion, and other entertainments. Tickets 50 cents each which can be procured of H. Videau, 809 Montomery street, at the French Savings Bank, at the White House dry goods store, at Payot's book store, and elsewhere.

LE FAVRE'S VARIETIES.—Aline Le Favre, who has just returned from a highly successful engagement at Piper's Opera House, Virginia City, has secured a lease of Maguire's Opera House, and will open it on or about the 15th of May, with a first-class variety troupe of performers from the East. James Dowling will be stage manager. No smoking or drinking will be allowed in the house and it is intended that the performances shall be of such a character as to give offence to none.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—The showers have laid the dust, the sun shines brightly and a dash out on the road to the Cliff House is true enjoyment. Captain Foster, the genial host of that famous seaside resort, makes everyone comfortable. His dinners are excellent; his wines and cigars superb.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen

THE CHILD AMERICUS.—Master James Speight, the musical prodigy, known by the name of "the Child Americus," who is universally acknowledged to be the most phenomenal violinist of this or any preceding age, will make his first appearance before a San Francisco audience on Monday, April 29th. He is only four years of age, and plays the violin with the precision of a master. The Boston Saturday Evening Gazette speaking of his performance at the Howard Athenæum, says:

The musical prodigy, Americus, is another marvel. He does not appear to be over four years old, and yet he handles the violin with all the ease and self-possession of an expert. His intonation is notably correct, and if his talent at a tender age may be taken as a promise of proportionate future excellence, the world of art will rejoice in the advent of another genius.

He will be supported by Miss Laura Stevenson and a full concert company.

HOME AGAIN.—Aline Le Favre, the dashing character actress, Johnny Manning, the clever gymnast and general performer, and the talented Miss Maggie Knight, have returned from Virginia City, where they all played most successful engagements at Piper's Opera House. Miss Le Favre brought with her two silver bricks, one presented by the Fire Department, the other by Manager Piper. Miss Maggie Knight also had a silver brick presented her by the Fire Department. The fire liddies of Virginia City are "bricks" themselves, and they often present these tokens of remembrance to favorites.

RYLAND'S CIRCUS—George Ryland the circus manager started out this week for the Summer season in the country with his troupe which has been giving entertainments during the winter at Woodward's Gardens and a number of additional performers. Among them are the famous gymnast and acrobats, Leon Samwells and Ed. Montague, M'lle. Gerretta, Globe performer and rider, and Dave Long the clown; they give their first show at Half Moon Bay.

MISS ELIZA COULDOCK.—Miss Couldock, daughter of C. W. Couldock, died at Salt Lake City, on the 18th. Miss Couldock made her first appearance on the stage, Feb. 7th, 1853, at the Walnut-street Theatre, as Louis, in "The Advocate." She travelled for some years with her father, supporting him in female roles and for the past year was a member of the Salt Lake Theatre company Miss Couldock had talent for the stage, but Nature had not endowed her with that beauty of feature which can make even a poor actress a popular favorite. She was beloved by all who knew her, for the sweetness of her disposition and her loss will be much mourned.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—To-day and Sunday Miss Carrie Moore, the unrivalled lady skater, and Professor Lovett, will exhibit on the velocipede, skates and pedespeeds. Hereafter the use of skates will be free at the evening assemblies—Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. On Sunday Wetterman's band will give a concert of new music.

MR. AND MRS. F. M. BATES.—These artistes are about to leave Sacramento for Salt Lake, where they have a long engagement.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

SAN JOSE.—Proctor's Troupe, including Charles Wheatleigh and Miss Sallie Hinckley, opened at the Opera House on Monday to a good house. On Tuesday, "Arrah-na-Pogue" was played. The Crystal Palace Circus (Ryland's we suppose) is billed for this afternoon and evening.

GRASS VALLEY.—Last Saturday Professor Livingstone gave an entertainment of Ventriloquism and magic at Hamilton Hall. Misses May and Ellen Griffin, of Grass Valley, who have adopted the stage as a profession, are to have a benefit at Hamilton Hall on the 24th.

SACRAMENTO.—To-night Manager Proctor is to be the recipient of a testimonial benefit at the Metropolitan Theatre. Among those who have volunteered are Henry Edwards, Mrs. Judah, and Mrs. C. R. Saunders, of the California Theatre, by kind permission of John McCullough; Charles Wheatleigh, has also volunteered. Mrs. Proctor will make her first appearance in Sacramento, and Charles Vivian will also appear. The performance will consist of "The Dumb Belle," a recitation of "The Seven Ages" by Mr. Proctor, the farce of "Popping the Question," song by Vivian, and the comedy of "A Ball in a China Shop."

LOS ANGELES.—Prof. Van Gulpen's pupils gave a concert at Merced Theatre on the 15th.

PETALUMA.—The Journal and Argus says it has received a letter from Frank Wilton announcing that he intends giving a season of dramatic entertainments commencing April 27th,

SAN BUENAVENTURA.—The New York Circus was billed to perform on the 10th.

MARYSVILLE.—The Amateurs took a benefit on Thursday evening, and presented the comedy of "London Assurance" and an olio of vocal and instrumental music. On Monday evening Charles Wheatleigh, Miss Sallie Hinckley and Proctor's dramatic troupe will commence an engagement of two nights only, and will present "A Victim of Circumstances" and "The Debutante."

STOCKTON.—Proctor's dramatic company, including Charles Wheatleigh and Miss Sallie Hinckley, played on Thursday and Friday evenings, at the Theatre, opening in "A Victim of Circumstances" and "The Debutante."

LINCOLN.—The Marysville Minstrels gave a performance on last Saturday night.

PIOCHE.—The Ely Record of the 14th says:

Miss Josephine is gaining new laurels every evening at the theatre on Meadow Valley street. Full houses greet every appearance of this new favorite troupe. Yesterday afternoon, at the matinee performance, a a very large number of ladies and children were present.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEV.—On Tuesday evening Signor and Signora Gallotti had a benefit at Piper's Opera House, and Amelia Dean's Minstrels closed their season. On Wednesday evening the Americus Concert Company, with the wonderful baby violinist as the star, commenced a series of performances.

CARSON CITY.—The Amelia Dean Female Minstrels performed on Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

PORTLAND, OREGON.—On the 12th, Manager Waldron, of the Oro Fino Theatre tendered a benefit to Columbian Hose Company No 3. "The Streets of New York" was performed to a crowded house. On the 13th, the matinee bill was "The Flying Dutchman" and that in the evening "Jack Long of Texas" and "Taming the Shrew." G. B. Waldron holds out well in Portland.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

In New York, the Parepa-Rose Italian Opera Troupe opened at the Academy on the 1st. "Il Trovatore" was given, with Parepa as Leonora, Adelaide Phillipa as Azucena, Wachtel as Manrico, and Santley as the Count di Luna. The house was as full and stylish as on the palmiest of Nilson nights, and full dress was quite as much the rule. Each of the above singers received several baskets of flowers, and the applause was great. Wachtel was encored in his high C song, "De Quella Pira," three times, and on the first presentation was interrupted by unrestrainable bravos of admiration. Santley's song of "Il Balen" obtained an almost equal reception, and presented throughout a symmetrical, even, and admirable performance. Parepa was in splendid voice as she always is.....Lalla Rookh at the Grand Opera House .....Lina Edwin's Theatre was reopened on the 1st by Henry Greenwall for the spring and summer. With no strong star attraction immediately available, but with a very strong working company, he commenced with the fairy novelty of "Palace of Truth," which recently had a long run in London.....Charles Mathews re-appeared at Wallack's on the 15th, in "Partners for Life," "The Veteran" be shelved after a long run....."Humpty Dumpty" at the Olympic.....At the Theatre Comique the Worrell Sisters, Jenny Benson, with her song-and-dance juvenile, and Martin, the contortionist, have continued.....At Lent's Circus, John Henry Cook, William Dutton, Charles W. Fish and Caroline Rolland the great riders, have astonished the natives .....At Niblo's, "Poll and Partner Joe," referred to elsewhere..... At Booth's, "Plot and Passion" was presented, with Miss Leclercq as Mme. de Fontanges, Nellie Young as Cecile, J. W. Wilson as Fouche, Pateman as Desmarets, Nelson Decker as the Marquis de Levennes, G. Harris as Berthier, Brennan as Jabot, and Rosene as Grisbouille. "The Honeymoon" and "The Wolf in Sheep's Clothing" are in preparation.....At Wood's Museum, Miss Laura Keene in "Hunted Down" and Pauline Markham in "Lurline." Jennie Arnot is playing at this house.....At the St. James Theatre, McEvoy's New Hibernicon opened on the 1st, and, probably, for the summer season, Frank McEvoy, the proprietor, having leased the establishment for three months from the San Francisco Minstrels..... There have been no special novelties since our last at Union Square Theatre, San Francisco Minstrels or Tony Pastor's.

Herr Jean Vogt, the eminent composer and pianist, whose works are so well known in France and Germany, has arrived in this country, and will shortly make his debut in New York, and introduce himself and his compositions in a concert, in which he will have brilliant assistance.

A new comedy, called "Blunders," by Mr. Elmer Ruan Coates, is to be brought out at the Chestnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia.

Miss Lucille Western and Mr. James A. Herne are at the St. James' Theatre, Boston.

Robert McWade is Rip Van Winkling at the Academy of Music, Pittsburgh.

Mr. Joseph Jefferson and his wife are visiting in New Orleans, having just returned from a visit to their plantation on the Teche.

Mr. Feehter does not give his friends in New York any adequate information concerning his return, and it is rumored that Mr. Barnum has an eye—and something more—on the Fourteenth Street Theatre.

Miss Clara Louise Kellogg has been engaged for the opera season at Covent Garden Theatre London, and was to sail from New York last week.

The Vokes Family, comprising Misses Victoria, Rosina and Jessie, and Messrs. Frederick and Rawdon were announced to make their first appearance at the Union Square Theatre, on the 15th inst. The London Times says of their departure to this country, "a loss to the British public, and a gain for our American cousins."

Miss Vienna Demorest has started on a Western concert tour. In the party are James M. Wehli pianist; Wm. McDonald, tenor; and George W Colby musical director.

Mrs. Macready is making preparations for an extended western tour. She will play "Shylock," "Lady Macbeth," and another character soon to be announced.

Edwin Booth will reappear at his own theatre on the 22d inst.

"Our Society" in its notice of the Park Theatre Brooklyn, says:

McCloskey's emotional temperance play, "The Fatal Glass," which, apart from its happy educational tendency, is a very good drama, has occupied the week very profitably. The lucky author has arranged to send it to the provinces, where it will be a great hit. The best performance in the piece was Mr. Gossin's Vernay, which was a well-considered and thoroughly dramatic piece of emotional acting. Mr. Gossin has only to study hard, and forget that his eyes are handsome, to achieve an enviable place among our "leading juveniles."

The Clipper says:

Salaries were not paid for the last week of the season at the St. James' Theatre, under the management of James Steele Mackeye, we are told. Minard Lewis, scenic artist, brought suit in the Marine Court during the week to recover the amount due him. It is reported that the losses during the season amounted to $18,000. Delsarte's system did not prove profitable.

A correspondent writes as follows from Richmond, Va., of the performance of the Berger family shortly to appear in San Francisco:

The Berger Family of Swiss Bell Ringers and Sol Smith Russell, humorist, commenced an engagement of four nights at the Theatre, Richmond, Va., on April 3d. The solo on the cornet by Miss Annie Berger was rendered artistically. The ballads of Miss Nellie Knapp were pleasing. The staff bell solo by Miss Henrietta Berger was excellent, much skill being exhibited in her performance. Sol Smith Russell, in his character songs, impersonations and facial delineations was as humorous as ever. The impersonation of the School Boy is the most laughable and among the best he does.

Miss Jean Hosmer writes from Buffalo, denying the story of a correspondent that she was lecturing in Iowa as the niece of Stokes, the assassin of Fisk. The lecturer was another lady, who had assumed her name or already possessed it.

The National, Cincinnati, reopened on the 8th, with Charley Howard, Chas. Brown, Oscar Willis, Jas. A. Kelly, Emily Rigl, Lisle Riddell, Keegan and Clark, Lou Spencer, Ella Wesner, Turner and Lester, and M'lle Henrietta. Cool Burgess and Harry Bryant came 16th.

Jennie Benson and juvenile, Buffalo, 15th.

Junius Brutus Booth and company, under John T. Ford, in Shakspeare, Charlestown, 8th.

Mrs. F. S. Chanfrau, Brooklyn, 8th, one week.

Florence and Wife, Globe, Boston, April 8th two weeks.

E. A. Sothern, St. Louis, 8th; Cincinnati, 15th New York, 23d to May 1st.

Lingard Troupe will close its season May 25th for Summer, and recommence Sept. 2d. Business quite checkered, thus far.

The New York Mercury says of the performance at Niblo's:

In the days of our grandfathers a stock piece of the minor London theatres was the national drama of "Poll and my Partner Joe." The audiences were easily pleased, and the moist and sour atmosphere was flavored with the fumes of ginger-beer and orange peel. There was a pretty girl named Rose Maybud and a Harry Halyard, her favored lover; there was a Black Brandon, who was a pirate, or a big rascal of some sort; also a fond mariner called Joe Miller, who lavished his regards on both Rose and Harry. There were two Sams, respectively surnamed Snatch'em and Sculler, and there was a Watchful Waxend, a cobbler; Ben Bowse, a heave ho my hearty; a Lieutenant Manly, a Dame Tiller, a Bosun and an Abigail. Virtue was rewarded, vice punished and the curtain fell at one in the morning. This interesting miscellany has been translated to the gilded sphere of ment among these was the song of "His 'art was True to Poll," given with various inflections and an eccentric measure. A peculiarity of this lady is that through all the nonsense she enunciates her face remains solemn. If she simulates a laugh it is with her mouth only, and not her eyes. She was ably seconded by Little Jennie Lee as Harry Halyard, who at the close became an admiral, with a cocked hat of a yard width from tip to tip. She looked like Tom Thumb with a reef let out. Her face is mobile, and she gave a jolly expression to each absurdity uttered.

Mrs. Kate Byron presented her husband, Oliver Doud Byron, with a son and heir on Wednesday, April 3d.

Pauline Markham writes to the Clipper:

NEW YORK, April 6th, 1872.

MR. FRANK QUEEN, EDITOR OF THE CLIPPER.—I, through the medium of your paper, the acknowledged theatrical journal of America, desire to tender the thanks of a thankful woman to yourself, the editors of the Sun, Sunday Dispatch, Evening Telegram, Irish American, and other papers too numerous to mention, for the noble defence of myself against the abuse to which I have recently subjected in the Press of Philadelphia, Pa. I wish to be brief, simple and plain in so doing, and I would state that I cannot imagine what could have given rise to such a scurrilous article, save that, perhaps a man may write what he pleases about a woman who positively refuses suppers and presents, as I have done. I have been sufficiently abused by private individuals through malice, because possibly I did not smile upon them or receive them as friends. I am but a human, free, good-hearted woman. To the public what could I say? Could I, upon my bended knees, show the American people how grateful I am to them for the support and encouragement I have received at their hands, for their indulgent kindness to me when ill, and their hearty applause, which has greeted my efforts to please them, I would gladly bend to them daily. I love America dearly, for during my sojourn here I have never known an American gentleman to insult the name of or abuse a woman. Concerning my professional abilities, I will leave the public to judge of them. Myself and confreres are drawing full houses, and I never seem to miss an encore. The bouquets that I receive are beautiful and I ever take them to my happy home where the air is musical with birds. I never felt more competent to please, or more healthy than at present. So please tender my thanks to the entire press, save the Philadelphia paper, and assure them I hope they may continue as well in health, as happy and contented in mind as theirs, gratefully. PAULINE MARKHAM.

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

The Easter novelties at the London theatres included a drama at the Princess', by Mr. Henry J Byron, entitled "Haunted Houses; or, The Labyrinths of Life," and a play at the Adelphi, by Mr Andrew Halliday, called "Hilda," founded upon Harrison Ainsworth's story of "The Miser's Daughter."

An original poetical masque, entitled "A Legend of the Spring; or, the Victory of the Sunbeam," by Mr. E. L. Blanchard, is in preparation at the Crystal Palace, London.

The company engaged by Mr. Mapleson, for Covent Garden Theatre, is an exceedingly powerful one, including among its principal artistes M'lle Nilsson, Miss Kellogg, M'lle Mirimon, Mme Trebelli Bettini, and M'lle Titiens. At the Drury Lane, Mr. Gye has Mme. Adelina Patti, Mme. Pauline Lucca, M'lle Sessi, Mme. Miolan-Carbalho, M'lle Scalchi, and one of the most complete opera companies ever organized. All the musical talent of Europe and America appears to have been secured for the present London season of Italian opera, which promises to be an unusually brilliant one.

One of the Bombay papers says that the "celebrated Theresa Longworth, alias Mrs. Yelverton alias Lady Avonmore, arrived at Hong Kong a short while ago for the purpose of giving public readings there. She has come from San Francisco after an American tour. From China she will Australia."

Death of McKean Buchanan.

This well-known actor died on the 16th at Denver, Col., of apoplexy. "Old Buck," as he was familiarly called, was the subject of many jocular criticisms, but none can deny that his Sir Harcourt Courtly was a most excellent impersonation. He was born in Philadelphia, Feb. 28, 1823, and was the son of Paymaster Buchanan, of the U. S. Navy, and nephew to Admiral Buchanan, also the great grandson of Gov. McKean. He was educated for the Navy, and served three years as midshipman in the sloop-of-war St. Louis, commanded by Com. Alex J. Dallas. Made his debut on the stage at the St. Charles Theatre, New Orleans, as Hamlet. First appeared in New York, June 10, 1850, as Hamlet, at the Broadway Theatre. He afterwards played an engagement at the Metropolitan, under Henry Willard's management. First appeared in Philadelphia, July 17, 1850, as Othello, at the Walnut Street Theatre. Shortly after he sailed for Europe and played there over six hundred nights. He then made a tour of Australia and California. Reappeared in New York at the Broadway Theatre, Nov. 9, 1857, in "King Lear." Again he sailed for England, and opened March 5, 1859, as Hamlet, at the Standard Theatre, London. Again visited California and Australia, and on April 9, 1864, returned to America with his daughter. Since then he has played in the Western States, in all the towns small and large. Miss Virginia Buchanan is a member of the Denver Theatre company, and was with her father at the time of his death.

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat someth ng nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Henry Bocken is the most experienced of caterers, and his lunches and dinners cannot be beat. Our best fed lawyers, our most popular physicians, and all epicures patronize the Pioneer Restaurant. E

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 327 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winans, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Rushe, formerly of the Antelope and Bar Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well ghted and ventilated.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

THE MAJILTONS.

These wonderful artistes are attracting so much attention at present that the following particulars embodied in a biography of Charles Majilton, recently published in the New York Clipper, will be of interest:

The subject of our sketch was born in London in the year 1839. At a very early age he evinced possession of great powers of mimicry, and at the age of eleven commenced the study of the business which his father intended he should follow—making fac similes of the enamels upon the tomb of William de Valence, Earl of Pembroke, which he accomplished after many months of labor, and won much praise for his success. He wearied of this business, and longing to appear before the public as a performer, commenced the practice of hat-spinning, using an old "wide-awake" and one of his father's canes. After long practice, he determined to try his success upon the stage, and succeeded in getting an opportunity to make his début at the Strand Hall, which then stood upon the present site of the Gaiety Theatre, London, where he met with success and performed for several weeks. Some time after, when "Faust" was produced at the Drury Lane Theatre, with Phelps as Mephistophiles, Mr. Majilton produced a burlesque thereon, entitled "Mephisto; or, Le Chapeau du Diable," in which he made a hit, acting Mephisto. He next appeared at Drury Lane in the pantomime of "Number Nip," and in 1857 accepted an engagement at the Grand Hippodrome, Paris, where he became very popular. Returning to London he played an engagement at the Britannia Theatre, and shortly after with his brother, Frank, and his sister, Miss Mary, left for the Continent, where they appeared together in a grotesque terpsichorean pantomimic act entitled "Les Trois Diables." They played engagements at the Chatelet, Alcazar and Theatres des Varieties in Paris, but the breaking out of the war compelled them to leave when they went to Brussels, and while performing there they were engaged by Messrs. Jarrett & Palmer to appear at Niblo's Garden, in this city, in the "Black Crook," which they did, meeting with unqualified success, since when their career has been recorded in the Clipper. Mr. Majilton has a very tall, lithe figure, an expressive face, and when clad in his performing costume, which consists of a tight-fitting black dress and a wig of long, lowing back hair, he presents a singular appearance. His wonderful contortions and suppleness of body, his graceful movements and excellent dancing, ever command admiration. His pantomime is expressive, and his hat-spinning feats are truly wonderful. To attempt a description of their performance would be futile, but we may say that they are novel and have never been surpassed in this country, nor, as a whole, equaled.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

After a week of bright, amusing and lively performances by Lotta, the management presented last night a little more solid fare in the shape of "The Hunchback," which was very well played with J. H. Vinson as Master Walter, Miss Henrietta Osborne as Julia, a character in which she appears to good advantage; W. J. Corgswell as Sir Thomas Clifford, Miss Fanny Young as Helen, H. Colton as Master Modus. T. E. Jackson as Fathom, and the other characters well filled. To-night Lotta, who has thronged the Metropolitan Theatre for two weeks and never will stop drawing, will appear in E. Falconer's five-act drama of "Fire Fly," dramatized from the novel "Under Two Flags." This piece will be produced under the immediate supervision of J. H. Vinson, with entirely new scenery by Messrs. Burbary and Rogers, great mechanical effects by Messrs. Hinckley and Bishop, calcium lights and colored fires by Mr. Trueworthy, and properties and sets by Messrs. Morrison and Anker. Lotta will appear in new songs, duets and dances, and will be ably supported by Robert Craig and the Metropolitan Theatre Company. The public must see "Fire Fly" while they can. Lotta's new piece, "Rainbow," is already underlined.

The Alhambra.

A capital bill will be presented to-night In the first part Billy Emerson, J. G. Russell, the favorite baritone; S. Holdsworth, M. Ainsley Scott, Fayette Welch, and Harry Norman, will appear in a programme of comic and sentimental songs, jokes and funny stories. In the interlude Miss Fanny Gibson, always a favorite at the Alhambra, will reappear; the two cable Yoricks, Billy Emerson and Add Ryman will appear in "Amulet," assisted by J. Robinson; the ever-popular negro farce of "Les Miserables" will be presented, and a variety of other entertainments will amuse the audience.

California Theatre.

"The Palace of Truth" with its many attractive features, is a great hit and is good for a run of two weeks longer when it must be withdrawn to give place to Miss Carlotta Leclercq's engagement. M'lles Venturoli and Gaugain will appear to-night in new dances; the three wonderful Majiltons, whose equal has never been seen, will astonish and delight the audience with their unique performance.

Bella Union.

Everyone likes to go to the Bella Union once in a while, and every one is pleased. Johnny Tuers is the liveliest of nigs, and causes much fun; the new acts are all capital: Harry Thompson, R. G. Marsh and Carrie Chapman act the farce "Wanted a Young Lady" capitally; Marie Zoel shines in a clog dance; Minnie Loder sings ballads, and a number of others appear in a very attractive programme which may be found on our first page.

Captain Badger's Central Park, Oakland.

Crowds flocked to this beautiful resort yesterday, and all were well pleased. Some amused themselves on the croquet ground, others skating in the Pavilion while Kohler's band discoursed sweet music, others strolled through the shady walks, and all enjoyed themselves. At 3 o'clock, a balloon 21 feet in height, presenting a most gorgeous appearance, was inflated, but unfortunately catching on the verandah in its ascent burst before it had attained any considerable height. Gruet Buisley had another in readiness in anticipation of the possibility of an accident to the first; this was sent up successfully, and sailed away towards the mountains. Altogether, all who visited the Grand Central Park yesterday were well satisfied with the entertainment provided for them.

City Gardens.

The opening of these beautiful suburban grounds for the Summer Season yesterday attracted thousands of persons. The German Guard Fusileers, who held their first festival there, were escorted to the grounds by the San Francisco Fusileers, the San Francisco Shutzen Verein, and delegations from other organizations. The gardens were alive all day with thousands promenading through the shaded walks, listening to the instrumental and vocal concerts. Hundreds of others joined in the mazy—to use a Swivellerism—inspected the military reviews, or were collected in family or social groups around the little tables erected in the numerous shady arbors that the gardens abound in. There were some five and six thousand persons present, and all seemed to enjoy the beauty of the day and their surroundings with unalloyed pleasure. In the evening the gardens were beautifully illuminated and the festivities were continued until quite a late hour. The opening of the City Gardens was a decided success.

A Dramatic Company Wanted.

The management of the Metropolitan Theatre advertise in an adjoining column that they wish to engage a full dramatic company.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at Fashions in Hair-Dressing.

In noticing the hair-dresses at a recent party in Paris, a correspondent writes that "One handsome person entered with her hair piled so high and in such disorder, that she brought to our mind the negresses in the mountains in Cuba, who carry purse, needles, pins, thimble, scissors and Jack-knife stuffed in their wool. Another had her hair so tightly drawn over a cushion that she seemed to be in imminent danger of falling over backward. What will the next fashion be I wonder? One gentleman had his hair cut across his forehead like the princes of old."

A Phenomenon.

They have a phenomenon in Beverly. He is an old man who has reached the age of 105 years, and yet, strange to say, he doesn't remember Washington. He has none of his own hair; he couldn't saw a cord of wood to save the balance of his life. He has always drunk as much whisky as he wanted to, and takes kindly to tobacco. He can't read without specs, and he finds it impossible either to walk 50 miles in one day, to hoe his own corn, to kill his own hogs, or to remember voting for Thomas Jefferson.

Kind Creatures.

A young woman delegate in the recent Ohio convention of woman suffrage, plumply said: "For my own part, I love men, individually and collectively, better than women; and so, I am sure, does every one of my sex, if they, like me, would utter their real sentiments. I am more anxious for man's elevation and improvement than woman's, and so is every true woman." That's the reason she wants to vote.

Delicate Compliment.

Last time President Grant visited his native town he was serenaded by a band, the somewhat uneducated leader of which played selections from Tanhauser because he thought that was the German for Tanyard and would recall recollections of Grant's younger days.

Accommodating.

The Richmond Enquirer kindly suppresses names of criminals, when requested, as follows: The grand jury met yesterday, and made one indictment—the name of the party (Mr. Lohman) we have been requested to withold for the present."

Tobacco Substitute.

The Great Falls Journal hears of one of the gentlemen of that town who gave up tobacco on New Year's Day, chewed gum for two weeks, candy for a month, and now fights the world, the flesh and the the devil with a stick of licorice and a quill toothpick.

Good Little Boy!

In an Episcopal Sunday School the other day, the teacher asked a bright little boy: "Jimmie, what good thing, what great pleasure are you willing to give up during the Lenten season?" Jimmie meditated about ten seconds and responded; "I think I'll give up going to Sunday School."

Very Fine!

An exchange says:

Laura Keene, in her new paper, the Fine Arts, repudiates the whole woman's rights business.

Oh yes, she shows it by plunging into the publishing business. Soon she'll write to right woman and gain woman's rights.

An exchange says there was once a lady who kissed a cow. Pshaw! that's nothing. There are lots of young ladies round here who kiss calves.

Loving wife at Brighton: "The horrid surf makes me keep my mouth shut." Sarcastic husband: "Take some of it home with you."

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

Didn't Want to Come.

In a little village in Virginia there lived a family named Ransom. They were not pious people—rather on the reprobate order, in fact—and they never went to church. Once, however, during a revival, the family were prevailed upon to attend preaching. When they made their reluctant and tardy appearance the services had begun, and they had scarcely taken their seats when the preacher gave out the first hymn, reading it somewhat thus: "Return, ye ransom' sinners, home." "All right!" cried the head of the Ransoms, getting up in a rage, and clapping his hat on his head. "Come along old woman and gals, we'll go home fast enough, and everybody in this old church knows we didn't want to come."

Too Mild.

Somebody sensibly says:

When a man is made up wholly of the dove, without the least grain of the serpent in his composition, he becomes ridiculous in many circumstances of life, and very often discredits his best actions. I am glad there is something that I hate; for otherwise one is in danger of falling into the habit of literally finding all things good in their place, and that is destructive of all true feeling.

These Lozenges meet the wants of thousands, as there are many that cannot swallow a pill, and with the children it is utterly impossible to get them to take one, even be it "sugar-coated." The Lozenges they cry for; in deliciousness they rival the finest confectionery; they are a vegetable substitute for mercurial preparations, requiring no particular course of diet while using them. They possess a nourishing and nutritious principle, and are the only purgative medicine known that strengthens during the process of purgation. They regulate the various organs of the system, restoring functional harmony and securing the secretion of the proper constituents of each organ. By their action the liver secretes its allotted proportion of bile, the lungs carbon, the skin perspires, the kidneys are vitalized. In Female Complaints they act like a charm.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

A very large and fashionable audience assembled last night to enjoy the drama of "Fire Fly" and follow the varied fortunes of the heroine, played in a spirited manner by the bewitching Lotta. The play was put on the stage in a manner which did infinite credit to the liberality of the management and the skill and experience of J. H. Vivian, under whose immediate supervision it was produced. Lotta's new songs and dances received enthusiastic applause. Robert Craig as Rake Harold's Own Man, was particularly good, giving an even and well-sustained representation of that original character; James M. Hardie, whom the public were glad to welcome back to the boards of the Metropolitan Theatre, played Harold Cecil finely; Miss Henrietta Osborne as Venetia, Princess of Carona, looked beautiful and acted well. The other parts were well played by Harry Colton, Samuel Piercy, W. J Cogswell, and others. Some of the scenery painted for this play is very fine, and reflects great credit on Messrs. Burbury and Rogers. The military spectacles were well arranged and the final scene of the execution and death of Fire Fly was thrilling in the extreme. As this play can be retained on the boards but a few nights those who wish to see it should not delay doing so.

The Alhambra.

The new bill at the Alhambra Theatre is full of fun and good music. J. G. Russell, the baritone, is a great favorite. Eyman's sketch of "Man and Wife," in which he, Miss Fanny Gibson and Fayette Welch appear, is very amusing; Billy Emerson is great in his new burlesque songs and dances, and the fun is not allowed to flag for a minute.

California Theatre.

"Les Trois Diables," as represented by the Majiltons, have achieved the most wonderful success and the rush to see them continues undiminished. M'lles Venturoli and Gaugain appear in pleasing dances, and beautiful scenery, fine acting, and the prismatic fountain, make "The Palace of Truth" the most attractive play presented for some time.

Bella Union.

Johnny Tuers, Lon McCarthy and Mat Kelly are a lively trio in the first part. Tommy Barton's comic vocalisms are always encored, and a variety of farces, dances, ballads and acts make up a thoroughly enjoyable entertainment.

Pacific Hall.

A grand vocal and instrumental concert under the patronage of the Committee of the National Subscription for the Ransom of France will be given at Pacific Hall on Thursday evening, April 25th. A chorus of lady and gentlemen amateurs and the Philharmonic Society Lafayette No. 2, will assist. The following artists have kindly volunteered: Miss Mary E. Wadsworth, Miss Annie McKenzie, Miss Helen Dingeon, Senora Tojetti, Signor Mancusi, Mons. Bonnet, —— Lichtenberg, the young violinist, Theophile Planel, the young violinist and pianist, recently from Paris, Miss and Master Tonaillon, pianist and violinist; L. T. Planel, director, Geo. Reiter, accompanyist.

Steuben Guard.

The Steuben Guard, Company E, Second Regiment N. G. C., Captain C. Wochatz commanding, will have a picnic excursion to Belmont Park on Sunday next. Tickets can be bought at the San Jose Depot and at 107 Montgomery street.

The National Cadets.

The First Annual Picnic and Excursion of the National Cadets, Capt John Lynch, commanding, will take place at Laurel Grove, San Rafael, on Sunday next. There will be dancing and other amusements.

Jackson Dragoons.

The Jackson Dragoons will hold their ninth annual picnic on Sunday next at the City Gardens. There will be a great variety of amusements—shooting for prizes, running, jumping, and other sports and a ball in the Pavilion. Tickets are placed at 50 cents.

May Festival.

The May Festival, concert and ball of the Saunders Conclave Order of Heptasophs, will take place at the City Gardens on May 4th.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentleman only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

The Reason Why.

A Quiet Street.

A man whose business keeps him up late at night, and who therefore wishes to sleep late in the morning, will often make the mistake of getting lodgings in a "quiet street." He looks at the street, it seems quiet, it has no thoroughfare, no railroad cars, no loaded drays profane its silence. It leads nowhere, being blocked at the end by a house built in the middle of it. Decidedly a quiet street. After his night's labors the tired writer goes home say at 2 or 3 in the morning and retires to his room. He has been asleep about two hours when he is awakened by the rumbling of heavy vehicles rolling down the quiet street with the noise of thunder. What can it mean? What can teame be doing at 5 o'clock in the morning on a street which leads nowhere? The miserable wretch finds that all the teamsters for miles round have their stables in his quiet street. He manages to get to sleep again, but in about two hours more he is awakened by a noise which sounds like Bedlam broken loose. He gets up, goes to the window and sees that the street is swarming with dear dirty little children. Surely there cannot be three hundred children living in the quiet street. No, but as it is no thoroughfare all the children in the neighborhood are sent there to play because there is no danger of their being run over. There they go trooping down the street, striking the railing with sticks, beating tin cans, yelling like a pack of demons. Happy, happy children! How sweet are the sports of youth! How hard-hearted must be the man who cannot sympathize with the merry games of children at seven o'clock in the morning, when he is trying to sleep after writing all night. Miserable misanthrope! Cold-hearted cynic! Bless the dear little children, let them enjoy themselves. We move from that quiet street and take a room at the top of some big caravansarie of an hotel on one of the busiest thoroughfares. A "quiet street" is to him who seeks quiet, a mockery, a delusion, and moreover a snare.

St. Patrick's Day Argument.

"Why is the wolf on the flag?"

"Because St. Patrick was suckled by a wolf, don't you know?"

"No! that was Romulus."

"All a mistake, my dear fellow; it was Patrick, and his folks were called Partricians, same as ourselves, and they ruled the city, same as we do."

"But that was in ancient Rome—"

"Of course they were Romans, same as ourselves."

"Well! but you mistake; the Patricians were the governing families—"

"Just so; and aren't we the governing families, and pretty big ones too?"

"Now youre all wrong; the patricians had the riches and the rule, and the people got up tribunes—"

"Did ye ever hear the like? The people got up tribunes! as if every mother's son of us did not know that Horace Greeley got up the Tribune! Its ashamed ye ought to be!"

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bonton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. A Tasteless Purgative.

BLUE EYES.

BY J. B. BRADFORD.

At noonday in the crowed street
I walked, with absent mind and far—
Unnoting aught, till suddenly
A face flashed by me like a star.
A moment seen—then the swift throng
Closed jealously about their prize,
And all the memory left to me
Was this—she had blue eyes.

A woman's eyes, you say? Not so.
They were too shy, too full of Spring;
And in their timid depths I saw
A girl-soul's April blossoming.
I missed the face—but what of that?
I saw the face's dearest part;
And still, though lost to me, I keep
Their color in my heart.

Her hand's touch and her voice's tone
Are things that I may never know,—
Albeit I think the one is soft,
The other musical and low.
And shall we meet again? The hope
Flames for a moment and then dies,
And only this remains to me—
I know she had blue eyes.

Getting Through.

Stuart once asked a painter who had met with a painter's difficulties, "how he got on in the world?" "Oh," said the other, "so, so! hard work—but I shall get through."

"Did you ever hear of anybody that did not?" was the rejoinder.

Wanted.

An Irish contemporary has the following:

Wanted in any part of Ireland, a station-master who is not courteous and attentive; an audience which is not large and fashionable; a barrister who is not persuasive and eloquent; a judge who is not learned and distinguished; a manufacturer who is not liberal and enterprising; a policeman who is not active and efficient; a doctor who is not humane and skillful; an undertaker who does not please his customers; an entertainment that is not amusing and instructive; a book which should not be on the table of every household; but, above all, a man of any weight, size, or color, who is not ready to perish on the altar of his country.

The Spice of Life.

Life, said Sidney Smith, is but a middling affair; yet surely there are times when it rises some degrees higher than this. Much more depends on our wisdom and self-control than upon the richness of our circumstances. We never enjoy fully what we get easily and what we get often. Variety is a great help, even when we descend to such low levels as eating and drinking. You enjoyed your mutton chop very much to-day, because you had been dining three days before on cold meat; try a veal cutlet to-morrow. Do not have the same guests stopping too long at one time in your house. You love them and respect them very much, but a change of society is good for both them and you. After you have been reading the Duke of Argyle's Reign of Law, or any book of that deep kind, take up one of Trollope's novels, or write a letter to the gentleman or lady you are engaged to, or else go out and see after your flowers in the garden.

Didn't Like It.

Old Jones, who lately married a girl of seventeen, didn't like it at all when he found in the programme of music for the evening "Wedding March from Semiramide, arranged for two horns."

Rather Good, if Rather Severe.

The Boston Advertiser says of a novice's appearance, there is "no occasion for him to search through the billiantly bound lexicon of his juvenescence to find the world "fail."

A little girl, sent out to hunt eggs, came back unsuccessfully, complaining that lots of hens were standing around doing nothing.

Go and See Them.

Ladies in want of a new Parasol should go to Jones & Wilkinson's, 302 Third street, corner of Folsom. They have all the new styles and their prices are as usual "on the bed rock." I

For the best Photographs, go to Bradley & Rulofson's. Prices Reduced. Closed Sundays. z

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat someth ng nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Henry Bocken is the most experienced of caterers, and his lunches and dinners cannot be beat. Our best fed lawyers, our most popular physicians, and all epicures patronize the Pioneer Restaurant. B

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 537 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Haake, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Elegant Jewelry.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

The Summer Season.

Gentlemen going on fishing excursions to Calistoga, and for country trips, should go to Geo. B. Davis, Fashionable Tailor, 507 Kearny street, near California. He makes tourists suits which will wear. I

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in Newspaper Ethics.

The Bulletin last week had a long editorial under the above title, the gist of which was the Bulletin never allowed any editorial puffing in its columns. We presume this statement was intended to be taken cum grano salis. The Bulletin meant that it did not as a rule puff anything smaller than a corporation; that puffs in its columns were not to be bought by champagne lunches. We wonder whether it considers the advertisement which appeared in its columns on the following day as strictly in accordance with "Newspaper Ethics." This style of thing:

The old man, when he handed in this statement, looked like General Grant after the fall of Richmond—stouter than the stoutest, and exultant from final success. We were surprised with the sanguine expression of his countenance, his agility of movement, and the resolute purpose with which he alluded to his case.

To the Editor of the Bulletin:—Feeling the felicity expressed by Mr. Owens in his statement published in the papers from having been cured, etc., etc.

We wonder whether this is not "a cheat and a fraud," as the Bulletin calls any advertisement purporting to be the individual expression of the editor. Newspaper ethics forsooth! This means with the Bulletin doesn't puff anything unless an extra price is paid.

It's Nice to Marry a Russian.

The ladies in Russia are very anxious to marry, because they have no liberty before marriage. They are kept constantly under the paternal eye, until given up to their husbands, and then they take their own course. Almost as soon as a girl is born in the better rank of society her parents begin to prepare the dowry she must have when she goes to her husband. She must furnish everything for an outfit in life, even to a dozen shirts for her coming husband. Jack Rapid when he read the above declared his intention of going to Russia as soon as he could get a chance to work his passage. If that bonus of a dozen new shirts were offered in this country we think the matrimonial lottery would become more popular and more young men would take chances in it.

A little girl, who had great kindness of heart for all the animal creation, saw a hen preparing to gather her chickens under her sheltering wings, and shouted, earnestly: 'Oh, don't sit down on these chickens, you great ugly rooster!"

Eating as a Fine Art.

Some one, advocating good dinners, says that eating is a pursuit to which many years of existence are devoted, it is worth while giving attention to it, so that one can dine delicately and well, and convert a vulgar necessity into one of the fine arts.

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started The Bivalve oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became the fashionable oyster house of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. Spreen is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. The Bivalve is famous for oysters in every style. A

Lamott's Spring Style Dress Hats

Are the ne plus ultra of the season. To be dressed, wear one of his hats. Go to Lamott's, 227 Montgomery street, for all the latest styles, for all classes, both young and old. When at his store, you have the best assortment in the city to choose from. ♦

For Finely Flavored Sausages, Hams, Bacon, etc., all made of the best grain fed pork, go to R. F. Bunker's Stall, 74 and 75 California Market. Mr. Bunker's club sausages, for flavor and delicacy, equal any ever made east of the Sierras, and he cuts up nothing but first-class meats.

Stunning Things.

Have you seen the Spring style neckties, scarfs, broche neckerchiefs, and other new goods in the gents' furnishing line, just received at Silberstein's, 506 Kearny street, one door south of California? If you haven't, go and inspect them, for Silberstein always leads the city in styles. G

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg-nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

In Two Chapters.

Chapter I. She stood beside the altar, upon her head a wreath of orange buds, upon her back the richest kind of duds; her lover stood beside her with white kid gloves and clean dickey—the last was 21 years old, the first was 17—The parson's job was over, every one has kissed the bride, and wished the young folks happiness, and danced, and laughed, and cried. The last kiss has been given, the last word has been said, and the happy pair had simmered down and sought the marriage bed....Chapter II. She stood beside the washtub, with her red hands in the suds; and at her slipshod feet there lay a pile of dirty duds; her husband stood beside her, the crossest man alive—the last was 29 years old, the first was 25. The heavy wash was over, the clothes hung out to dry, and Tom had stuck his finger in the dirty baby's eye; Tom had been spanked, and supper made upon a crust of bread; and the bride and bridegroom went grumbling to their bed.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Lotta will appear again this evening as the dashing Fire Fly. Her songs and duets with Robert Craig in this piece are particularly taking and delight the audience. The public must remember that Lotta is with us but for a short time and that her engagement is fast drawing to a close. The present opportunity may, moreover, be the very last they will have of seeing her, as she may any day take the whim into her pretty head that she is rich enough and will retire. "Fire Fly" will be played to-night for the last time. Tomorrow evening by particular request "Little Nell" will be reproduced.

The Alhambra.

Billy Emerson, Fayette Welch, J. G. Russell, Add Ryman, Miss Fanny Gibson, and other bright stars forming the constellation known as "The Great Emerson Minstrels" will appear in a varied programme comprising "Les Miserables," by Billy Emerson, Ainsley Scott, and others; "The Last Sensation," by Fayette Welch, and Add Ryman's sketch of "Man and Wife."

California Theatre.

Crowds flock nightly to see the beautiful scenic play of "The Palace of Truth," admire the dancing of the very artistic M'lle Venturoli, and the graceful and pretty M'lle Gaugain, and marvel at the weird and fantastic performance of the marvellous Majiltons. As the rush to see "The Palace of Truth" continues, it is better to secure seats in advance.

Bella Union.

After a first part composed of the popular ballads of the day, comic songs, rich jokes, and the liviest of walk-arpunds, Minnie Loder will sing a ballad, Mr. Ferdinan will appear in a clog dance, Susie Robinson in comic song, Johnny Tuers in song and dance, Marie Zoel in a clog dance, Tommy Barton in comicalities, and others in varied specialties of song, farce and dance. The screaming farce entited "The Goat Island Terror" will conclude the evening's fun.

Mac Evoy's Original Hibernicon.

This very attractive entertainment cannot remain very much longer, therefore all who have not seen it should visit Platt's Hall at once, and those who wish to take another glance at Ireland should go again. Good music, vivid descriptions amusing stories, songs and dances make the evening pass away pleasantly.

New America.

Mr. H. Dopson will open a new place of amusement under the above title, at the corner of Sutter and Kearny streets, on Saturday evening, with a good company adapted to the variety business. Mr. Dopson has had experience as manager, and will doubtless cater so as to deserve and win his share of the public patronage.

A Traveled Showman.

Many of our readers will remember Jack Hudson, who was engaged as showman at Gilbert's Museum, over the present Metropolitan Market, on Market street, some eight years ago, and who left this city for South America in 1865. "Jack" who was always an enterpriesing, driving man, turned up at Valparaiso about six years since, as manager of a small circus troupe, and from thence commenced his travels. He showed in all the cities of Chili and Peru, strengthing and enlarging his company as he traveled, passed into Ecuador, showed at Quito, "above the clouds," and in all the towns of Ecuador and Columbia. We learn these facts from "Jack Hudson's Journal," a very creditable little programme paper printed in English, at Barranquilla, Columbia, and circulated as programme for "The Great North and South American Circus, John M. Hudson Proprietor," exhibiting there in the latter part of March last. The company consists of thirteen performers, list of seventeen trained horses and mules. The proprietor announces his intention of visiting California during the summer or fall of the present year.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Two actresses in Providence claim to be cousins of Charles Dickens.

Theatrical Costumes.

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody.

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding they can find no better place than at J. A. Lumber's, 707 Market street, near Third San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. x

The Reason Why.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. T

Forward Girls.

In the Ukraine the women are said to court more generally than the men. Says a writer who describes their manners: "When a young woman falls in love with a man, she is not in the least ashamed to go to his father's house and reveal her passion in the most tender and pathetic manner, and to pronounce the most submissive obedience if he will accept her as a wife. Should the insensible man pretend any excuse, she tells him she is resolved never to go out of the house till he gives his consent, and accordingly taking up her lodgings, remains there; if he still obstinately refuses her, his case becomes distressing; the church is generally on her side, and to turn her out would provoke her kindred to revenge her honor; so that he has no method left but to betake himself to flight till she is otherwise disposed of."

A Funny Seizure.

A few weeks since, as an outbound train on the Roundout and Oswego Railroad stopped at Shokan, the collector of the town of Olive was on hand, with a posse of men and chain to attach the train and prevent it from proceeding any furthur. The chain was passed around the back end of the rear car but before it could be fastened to anything substantial the engineer of the locomotive was made aware of how matters stood, and he threw the throttle wide open, and started the train with a jump. The effect on the collector's posse, who had hold of the chain was similar that of the Indians experienced who attempted to capture a train on the Plains with larists several years since.

Absent Minded.

A forgetful young woman in Oregon the other night aroused the inmates of a hotel, to which her bridal trip had led, on account of finding a man in her room. The trifling circumstance of her marriage that morning had quite escaped her memory, and it was not until summary justice was about to be visited on the offender that she happened to recollect it.

Surer than Stocks.

The New York Mail says the blue fox fur will be the fashionable fur next winter. As most of the blue fox skins come from Alaska there is a chance for somebody to make a big corner in blue fox between this and fall.

The next Agitation.

New York clubs are beginnig to be agitated as to the propriety of admitting lady members. What say the Bohemians?

Alleck Austin's Motto.

Never bemoan your lot, if the taxes are paid on it.

Aristotle informs us that there is a foolish corner even in the brain of the sage.

An asylum for Presbyterian widows has been established in Philadelphia.

Hope, Me., suggestive name, has chosen a lady supervisor of schools.

An old saying is that whether a man marries or not, he is sure to regret it.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well ghted and ventilated.

Dr. Barlow J. Smith

Gives free lectures (to Gentlemen only) every Friday evening, commencing at 7½, at his Hygeian Hall, 637 California st., and examines patients phrenologically as to health. The best and cheapest place in California for a sick person to get well.

An Old Landmark.

The Verandah Cigar Store, at the N.E. corner of Kearny and Washington streets, kept by Henry Schmidt, has been famous for the last eleven years for keeping the best Havana cigars, tobacco, choice meerschaum pipes, etc.

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 635 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. Hug & Schmidt, Successors to F. J. Reilly, Agents.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage.

Best Quality of Dogskin

Good Advice, Free of Charge.

Do you want a good and well-fitting shirt, a good flannel and merino underwear? For everything in the line of gents' furnishing goods, go to the PIONEER SHIRT MANUFACTORY, 327 KEARNY STREET, BETWEEN PINE AND BUSH. Shirts ready-made in every style, and made to order.

A Tasteless Purgative.

Dr. Leon Brockman's Lozenges, sold by druggists everywhere. See advertisement under the Alhambra Theatre Programme.

JOHNNY AND HIS DOG.

Johnny had a little dog,
With hair as black as jet,
And every where that Johnny went,
That purp went too, you bet.

He followed him to school one day,
That happened to be near,
But when teacher booted him.
He walked off on his ear.

Returning home he met a cow,
And at the cow did fly;
She tossed him up five hundred feet,
And how is that for high?

The poor beast ne'er came down again,
And John was left a mourner;
For the purp was left on the steeple top,
Of the little church 'round the corner.

[illegible] darling's fate,
A word he scarcely said,
But toddled home and weeping cried,
"Now put me in my little bed!"

Such is Fame.

Mrs. O'Leary, of Chicago, declares that even at this day she is allowed no rest from interviewers in connection with that cow.

Bayonets are driven but bullets are lead.

SAN FRANCISCO STALL.—Nos. 60 and 61 California Market, sell fine meats at cash less than any other place in the city.

Good Bread.

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. For size, weight and quality, STEIN'S loaves are superior to any patent bread that ever bore a flash trade mark. He challenges imitation, and invites a trial at the hands of the public. Leave your orders at STEIN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street.

A Bohemian Club in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Manager McCloskey, of the Park Theatre, Brooklyn, having heard of our Bohemian club in San Francisco sends us an extended account of the inauguration of a kindred institution in Brooklyn, under the title of the "Faust Club." The Eagle says:—

A new era has been started by the organization of the Faust Club. The objects had in view by the gentleman who have worked so much purpose for the establishment of this organization have already been stated at length in the Eagle. Briefly, however, they may be summed up in the word "culture." The club is professional in character, and must, by the terms of its constitution, remain under professional control. Under its roof the journalists, actors, musicians, artists, lawyers and physicians of the city will hereafter, in their leisure hours assemble to cultivate a more intimate acquaintance, and in the relaxation of an art home, assist to improve and refine each others' minds.

The club has its rooms at 181 Remsen street, and there on the 10th they had a formal opening very much like that of the San Francisco Bohemian Club. The painters contributed pictures, and a number of musical artists contributed to the enjoyment of those present. An opening address was delivered by Thomas Kinsella, the President of the Club. The festivities were kept up until 7 A.M. which shows there are not so many owls in the Faust Club as in our Bohemian Club.

Come Down Father.

Some one has paraphrased the song "Dear Father, Come Home," as follows: Oh, father, dear father, come down with the stamps, my dressmaker's bill is unpaid—she said she would send it right home from the shop as soon as the flounces were made. My new dress from——is now in the hall, the boy will not leave without pay—I've nothing to sport with—can't go to the ball, so please send the shop boy away! Come down! Come down! Oh, hear the sweet voice of thy child, who cries in her room all alone; oh, who could resist her most pitiful tears? So, father, with stamps you'll come down. Oh, father, dear father, come down with the stamps, my curls are not fit to be seen—the hair-dresser said she would not do them unless I could pay him fifteen—he only wanted twenty to give a new set, and take the old hair in exchange—besides, pa, my waterfall's awfully rough, and so my back hair will look strange. Come down! come down! come down! Please, father, for Britain come down!

Six of the foreign diplomats at Washington are married to American wives.

Go and See Them.

Ladies in want of a new Parasol should go to Jones & Wilkinson's, 302 Third street, corner of Folsom. They have all the new styles and their prices are as usual "on the bed rock." I

For the best Photographs, go to Bradley & Rulofson's. Prices Reduced. Closed Sundays. z

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat someth ng nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Henry Bocken is the most experienced of caterers, and his lunches and dinners cannot be beat. Our best fed lawyers, our most popular physicians, and all epicures patronize the Pioneer Restaurant. E

The Oyster Famine.

In time of famine, farmers have to eat their seed wheat. During the oyster famine caused by the snow blockade, nearly all the oyster dealers were forced to sell their "plants," or half grown Eastern oysters. Plump luscious full grown Eastern oysters could all through the famine, and can still be obtained at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, No. 337 Bush street, above the Alhambra, where S. Winant, one of the pioneers in the oyster business, and Charley Hanke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster Saloons, know how to keep an oyster house if anyone does.

Elegant Jewelry.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

The Summer Season.

Gentlemen going on fishing excursions to Calistoga, and for country trips, should go to Geo. B. Davis, Fashionable Tailor, 507 Kearny street, near California He makes tourists suits which will wear. I

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in Hoodlums at Home and Abroad.

In the Police Court yesterday, a youngster, yet in his teens, was fined $30 for uttering vugar language in one of the public gardens on Sunday, and Judge Louderback told him that in consideration of his age and of the fact that this was his first offence a severer penalty was not pronounced. Now let us turn from the morning's Police Court news to the telegraphic reports of the doings in Congress. The Goat Island bill is before the House. Our Representative Sargent arises in support of the granting of Goat Island to the Railroad Company and "claimed the people of California were almost unanimous in favor of the bill," and said "that no one, excepting the dirty scoundrel who edited the Alta California, had ever dared to impeach his motives." After a farther display of blackguardism, Representative Sargent gracefully took his seat, and our other Representative, the Hon. Mr. Coghlan, arose to advocate the bill, with the following brilliantly eloquent remarks:

He called the Alta California a paper which could be bought cheaper, and do dirtier work than any paper in the United States. The crowd that had burned himself and colleagues in effigy in San Francisco, could be hired to burn the Savior for $13 for having preached the Sermon on the Mount, and the Alta could be hired for $14 to applaud the deed.

And then the self-satisfied Coghlan sat down with all the dignity of an ancient Roman senator. Lift up your heads, oh, ye hoodlums! for though Judge Louderback crush you here, still your spirit and element lives and speaks unchecked, in your California Representatives in the highest body in the land.

Opposition Cartoons.

There is a Total Abstinence Society, it appears in France, as it displays near the wine shops pictures of the human stomach as burned by absinthe. The wine shops also have their cartoons exhibiting the hideous state of the stomachs of teetotalers—more dreadful in an artistic point of view.

Learning to Lay.

Walter, a five-year old, was surprised at breakfast by the presence of a diminuative egg, served for his special delectation. He thus accounted for the egg's smallness: "Mamma, I think the chicken was learning to lay."

A Stiff-necked Wife.

"I am afraid," said a lady to her husband, "that I am going to have a stiff neck." "not at all improbable, my dear," replied the spouse, "I have seen strong symptoms of it ever since we were married."

A child was born in a London theatre during a performance recently.

"The Bivalve."

Seven years ago W. Spreen started THE BIVALVE oyster saloon and chop house, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny street, and under his management it speedily became THE FASHIONABLE OYSTER HOUSE of San Francisco. It has undergone several changes of proprietors since then, but now W. SPREEN is sole proprietor. The private rooms up stairs are the best furnished and most comfortable in the city for supper and wedding parties. THE BIVALVE is famous for oysters in every style. A

Lamott's Spring Style Dress Hats

Are the ne plus ultra of the season, To be dressed, wear one of his hats. Go to Lamott's, 227 Montgomery street, for all the latest styles, for all classes, both young and old. When at his store, you have the best assortment in the city to choose from.

FOR FINELY FLAVORED SAUSAGES, HAMS, Bacon, etc., all made of the best grain fed pork, go to R. F. Bunker's Stall, 74 and 75 California Market. Mr. Bunker's club sausages, for flavor and delicacy, equal any ever made east of the Sierras, and he cuts up nothing but first-class meats.

Stunning Things.

Have you seen the Spring style neckties, scarfs, broche neckerchiefs, and other new goods in the gents' furnishing line, just received at Silberstein's, 506 Kearny street, one door south of California? If you haven't, go and inspect them, for Silberstein always leads the city in styles. G

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bons, his worthy successor. U

Logical.

A schoolmaster who asked a pupil of what the surface of the earth consists, and was promptly answered, "land and water," varied the question slightly, that the fact might be impressed on the boy's mind, and asked: "What, then, do land and water make?" to which came came the immediate response, "mud."

STOP GULPING DOWN PILLS

Greatest Medical Triumph ever Achieved

BROCKMAN'S TASTELESS PURGATIVE LOZENGES.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR PILLS, CASTOR OIL, SALTS AND Purgatives in general, and unparalleled in efficacy for Costiveness, Nervous and Sick Headache, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Diseases of the Kidneys, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Asthma, Fever and Ague, and all diseases dependent on an impure condition of the blood.

These Lozenges meet the wants of thousands, as there are many that cannot swallow a pill, and with the children it is utterly impossible to get them to take one, even be it "sugar-coated." The Lozenges they cry for; in deliciousness they rival the finest confectionery; they are a vegetable substitute for mercurial preparations, requiring no particular course of diet while using them. They possess a nourishing and nutritious principle, and are the only purgative medicine known that strengthens during the process of purgation. They regulate the various organs of the system, restoring functional harmony and securing the secretion of the proper constituents of each organ. By their action the liver secretes its allotted proportion of bile, the lungs carbon, the skin perspires, the kidneys are vitalized. In Female Complaints they act like a charm.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night by very general request "Little Nell and the Marchioness," in which Lotta appears at her best, and Robert Craig is a great success as Dick Swiveller, will be reproduced This play was running to thronged houses when it was withdrawn to make way for "Heart's-ease," and those who missed seeing it then will be glad that another opportunity of doing so is afforded them.

The Alhambra.

In the first part the fine voices of J. G. Russell, the baritone, M. Ainsley Scott, the basso, and the tenors S. Holdsworth and Harry Norman are heard to good advantage, and Billy Emerson causes great fun by his jokes and stories. The interlude is composed of screaming acts, in which Add Ryman appears to the best advantage; songs and dances by Billy Emerson; ballads by Miss Fanny Gibson and other entertainments The sketch of "Man and Wife" concludes the performance.

California Theatre.

All scenic pieces hitherto produced at this theatre are entirely overshadowed by the "Palace of Truth." Its success is not to be wondered at when the variety of the attractions crowded into it is considered: the prismatic fountain, the ballets by M'lles Venturoli and Gaugain, and last but chief of all the wonderful performances of the Majiltons—the lithe and agile Charles, the comical Frank and the beautiful and graceful Marie.

Bella Union.

There will be great attractions at this popular variety theatre to-night. In addition to a capital programme of songs, dances, walk-around, negro acts, etc., H. Sinclair, the popular comedian, will make his first appearance to-night in the character of Taraxicum Twitters, in which he has achieved great success. There is always something new and attractive at the Bella Union Theatre, and the consequence is everyone goes there.

Pacific Hall.

A grand instrumental and vocal concert under the patronage of the committee of the National Subscription for the Ransom of France will take place this evening. Miss Mary F. Wadsworth, Miss Annie McKenzie, Miss Helen Dingeon, Signora Tojetti, Signor E. Mancusi, Mons. Bonnet, Master Lichtenberg, Theopile Planel, and Miss and Master Tousilion, have volunteered for the occasion. L. T. Planel will be director, and Geo. Reiter, accompanyist A fine programme will be presented by these popular artistes, and Pacific Hall will be thronged with the fashion of the city. All will enjoy themselves the more from the reflection that every note of music snaps a link in the cruel chains which bind poor France.

Mac Evoy's Original Hibernicon.

This very attractive entertainment cannot remain very much longer, therefore all who have not seen it should visit Platt's Hall at once, and those who wish to take another glance at Ireland should go again. Good music, vivid descriptions amusing stories, songs and dances make the evening pass away pleasantly.

Steuben Guard.

The Steuben Guard, Company E, Second Regiment N. G. C., Captain C. Wochatz commanding will have a picnic excursion to Belmont Park on Sunday next. Tickets can be bought at the San Jose Depot and at 107 Montgomery street.

The National Cadets.

The First Annual Picnic and Excursion of the National Cadets, Capt John Lynch, commanding, will take place at Laurel Grove, San Rafael, on Sunday next. There will be dancing and other amusements.

Jackson Dragoons.

The Jackson Dragoons will hold their ninth annual picnic on Sunday next at the City Gardens. There will be a great variety of amusements—shooting for prizes, running, jumping, and other sports and a ball in the Pavilion. Tickets are placed at 50 cents.

The Zavistowski Sisters.

The Zavistowski Sisters—Christine, Emmeline and Alice—arrived on the Nebraska, last night, from Australia, where they have been playing a successful engagement during the past year.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates

The Cosy Resort.

Mr. F. F. Jones (formerly assistant treasurer of the California Theatre) and Mr. C. A. Schroder, "dispensers of good things," at 330 Bush street, below Kearny, solicit a call from their friends and the public generally. None but the finest brands of liquors and cigars served. Private club and social rooms annexed. Y

Exit "The Town Crier."

Since the departure of A. Bierce, who did so much to bring the department in the News Letter known as "The Town Crier" into notice, the News Letter has been insufferably stupid. Bierce was blackguardly sometimes, but it was in such a clever manner that the public tolerated him. Now the News Letter is nothing but ghastly smut; coarse, brutal, stupid blackguardism and vulgar billingsgate. The proprietor seems to have got a pack of idiots about him, who write for the sake of seeing themselves in print. The sooner he dismisses his "voluntary contributors" and pays men of brains like Bierce to write for him, the better it will be for the News Letter. As it is managed at present it has fallen beneath contempt. It used to be clever, if never respectable.

Goat Island.

The Alta of yesterday had a long notice of a "Goat Island Pamphlet," and immediately underneath, the following:

Some of the poorest families in the city are able to keep goats. They say the latter thrives on a board fence, while old hoop-skirts and broken pop bottles are luxurious viands that afford nourishment for many days.

If that does not make some of the editor's of foreign papers believe that Goat Island is of consequence to San Francisco as a place for raising goats, we shall be surprised It is a fact that last Winter the people of San Francisco eat a good many goats, sheep being scarce, but now we have returned to our mutton.

What Could You Expect?

A lady promised to give her maid $25 as a marriage portion. The girl got married to a man of low stature, and her mistress, on seeing him was surprised and said, "Well, Mary, what a little husband you have got!" "La!" exclaimed the girl, "what could you expect for $25."

Paternal Sympathy.

A married lady lately complained that her husband ill-used her. Her father, hearing it, boxed her ears. "Tell him," said the father, "that if he beats my daughter, I will beat his wife." Rather a pleasant prospect for that lady.

"Ma," quoth a little girl, who was making a vain effort to be a grand pianist after three weeks' tuition, "I am tired of Miss Thump. Won't you send me to the Musical Cemetery where the Joneses and the Stiverses go?"

Hes ven would be hell for many christians if they thought some of their neighbors on earth were to be there.

One of those things no fellow can find out. A good husband after 11 P. M.

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

The Reason Why.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

A Tasteless Purgative.

THE OLD STORY.

When visions of her face come o'er me,
Of her sweet face so far away,
I say what lovers said before me,
What lovers will forever say:
That flowers bloom sweeter for her being,
That birds sing sweeter for her seeing,
That grass is greener, skies more blue,
That all things take a richer hue.
Lovers have said these things before;
Lovers will say them evermore.

O, sweet young love, that in all ages,
Bears ever one eternal form!
With lasting youth your oldest pages
Glow ever, ever bright and warm.
O, dear old story, ever young!
Poets have painted, artists sung.
Sure nought in life is half so sweet;
Death cannot make you incomplete.
Lovers have said these before;
Lovers will cry them evermore.

Sensation.

The Victoria Colonist is one of the most sensational sheets that visits our sanctum. Just now the excitement is a "wagon tire bill," whatever that may be, that is up before the local Legislature, and over this bill the Colonist editor works himself up into conniption fits. On the defeat of this bill depends all the future of British Columbia. Truly our English neighbors have a crisis on their hands, and if it will help them in the hour of trial, we will send up a shout—"Down with the wagon tire bill!"

A Relief.

As a stout old lady in New York got out of a crowded omnibus in front of the Astor House, the other day, she exclaimed, "Well, this is a relief, anyhow." To which the driver, eyeing her ample proportions, replied, "So the 'osses think, mum."

Supper Parties.

A man eats breakfast because he is hungry; too often he hurries over his dinner, but supper he enjoys. All enjoy a supper at the BRYANT, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny. There they find the cosiest little private rooms up-stairs, the finest oysters and the best of everything. W. Spreen started the BRYANT seven years ago, and it is to-day the most popular oyster house in San Francisco.

And success to my white publishing the truth.

As I write white lies unpunishable cats
Out of unashamed rats, "a polite believer
That all the white lies" glistening the stripes
That keep them from a too censorious world."

Necessity of Sleep.

Henry Ward Beecher says: There are thousands of busy people who die every year for want of sleep. Sleeplessness becomes a disease, and is the precursor of insanity. We speak of sleep as the image of death, and our waking hours the image of life. Sleep is not like death, for it is the period in which the waste of the system ceases, or is reduced to its minimum. Sleep repairs the waste which waking hours have made. It rebuilds the system. The night is the repair shop of the body. Every part of the system is silently overhauled, and all the organs, tissues, and substances are replanished. Waking consumes and exhausts, sleep replaces and repairs. A man who would be a good worker must be a good sleeper. A man has as much force in him as he had provided for in sleep. The quality of mental activity depends upon the quality of sleep. Men need, on an average, eight hours of sleep a day. A lymphatic temperament may require nine; a nervous temperament six or seven. A lymphatic man is sluggish, moves and sleeps slowly. But a nervous man acts quickly in everything. He does more in an hour than a sluggish man in two hours; and so in his sleep. Every man must sleep according to his temperament—but eight hours is the average. Whoever by work, pleasure, sorrow, or any other cause, is regularly diminishing his sleep, is destroying his life. A man may hold out for a time, but the crash will come and he will die.

A Reflection.

During a recent performance of the Lydia Thompson troupe at Savannah, the fair Lydia was presented with a bale of cotton—probably by an admirer who believes that the southern staple enters largely into the composition of burlesque beauties. The fair Lydia might have exclaimed, with Master Walter: "Reflect'st thou on my shape?"

Procrastination.

Our friend Felix Farniente claims that procrastination is the soul of business, and proves it logically thus: He says you will own that procrastination is the thief of time, that is you gain time by procrastinating; time is money; money is the soul of business, therefore procrastination is the soul of business. Q. E. D.

A Personal Advertisement.

Here is a distracting advertisement from the agony column of the London Times:

AS FAR LAST RIDE TOGETHER, THEN (A walk twenty minutes not less) straight west I love father's b inds. Name time or hours. Lol fields plowed for smalts. Booval boot first.—NEGNAMEN.

One hearty laugh is better than a bucket full of tears.

The Palace of Truth.

Why is an oyster like an inmate of the Palace of Truth?—Because it cannot tell a lie. Another: Why do so many of the audience after visiting the California Theatre, flock after the performance to the Pacific Oyster House, 329 Bush street, just below Montgomery?—Because Charley Hanke has the finest, fattest, richest Eastern oysters, and gets up the best suppers imaginable.

Go and See Them.

Ladies in want of a new Parasol should go to Jones & Wilkinson's, 302 Third street, corner of Folsom. They have all the new styles and their prices are as usual "on the bed rock." I

For the best Photographs, go to Bradley & Rulofson's. Prices Reduced. Closed Sundays. z

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat something nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Henry Bocken is the most experienced of caterers, and his lunches and dinners cannot be beat. Our best fed lawyers, our most popular physicians, and all epicures patronize the Pioneer Restaurant. B

Elegant Jewelry.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

The Summer Season.

Gentlemen going on fishing excursions to Calistoga, and for country trips, should go to Geo. B. Davis, Fashionable Tailor, 507 Kearny street, near California. He makes tourists suits which will wear. I

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in Music Pounding.

I don't like your chopped music, any way.

Florence Nightengale says that the music you pour out is good for sick folks and the music you pound out isn't. Not that exactly, but something like it. I have been to hear some music pounding. It was a young woman, with as many white muslin flounces around her as the planet Saturn has rings that did it. She gave the music stool a whirl or two, and fluffed down on it like a whirl of soap-suds in a hand basin. Then she pushed up her cuffs as if she was going to fight for the champion belt. Then she worked her wrists and her hands to limber them, and spread out her fingers until they looked as if they would pretty much cover the key board, from the growling end to the little squeaky one. Then those two hands of hers made a jump at the keys as if they were a couple of tigers coming down upon a flock of black and white sheep, and the piano gave a great howl as if its tail had been trod upon. Dead stop—so still you could hear your hair growing. Then another jump and another howl, as if the piano had two tails and you had trod on 'em both at once, and then a grand clatter and scramble and stirring of jumps, up and down, back and forward, one hand over the other, like a string of rats and mice more than anything I call music. I like to hear a woman sing, and like to hear a fiddle sing, but these noises they hammer out of their wood and ivory anvils—don't talk to me, I know the difference between a bullfrog and a woodthrush.—O. W. Holmes.

A Kitchen Professor.

The Poughkeepsie Stage sensibly says: "The head cook in one of the Boston hotels gets a salary of $4,500. President Raymond gets a salary we presume of $4,000 or less. One caters to the fleshly appetites, the other to the intellectual, but the cook gets the most money and does the least work. Are the times out of joint, or is the case of the cook an exceptional one? We cannot go back on the cook, for if he gives the guest good food, nicely cooked, he is not only a benefactor, but he makes healthy brain work possible through good digestion. We stand by the cook." The Stage is right. Some philosophers have even located the soul in the stomach. The heart we know is only a cartilage without any feeling; all generous impulses come from the stomach. How important then is the kitchen professor who has its well being in his hands.

Uncertain.

John Stuart Mill and Sismondi both insist upon the necessity that every married pair shall bring two children into the world, and no more, to make good their places therein. This is well enough in theory, but as the second child may turn out to be twins, or even triplets, the thing is practically a fraud.

Something to Live For.

America's great thinker, Emerson, says: "Life is hardey respectable if it has no generous task, no duties or affections that constitute a necessity for existing. Every man's task is his life-preserver."

FOR FINELY FLAVORED SAUSAGES, HAMS, Bacon, etc., all made of the best grain fed pork, go to R. F. Bunker's Stall, 74 and 75 California Market. Mr. Bunker's club sausages, for flavor and delicacy, equal any ever made east of the Sierras, and he cuts up nothing but first-class meats.

Stunning Things.

Have you seen the Spring style neckties, scarfs, broche neckerchiefs, and other new goods in the gents' furnishing line, just received at Silberstein's, 506 Kearny street, one door south of California? If you haven't, go and inspect them, for Silberstein always leads the city in styles. O

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

Necessity is the Mother, etc.

A French chemist has succeeded in making a very good article of artificial milk that will keep in any part of the world. Think how much happier we would all be if we could have a "good article" of milk, even though it were artificial, than to be forced to use the watery compound sold for milk in this city. We hail that innovation as a blessing, and would canonize the inventor if we had the power to do so. The only pure milk that ever comes to this place comes in the South Sea Island cocoanuts, and even that is wa'ery.

These Lozenges meet the wants of thousands, as there are many that cannot swallow a pill, and with the children it is utterly impossible to get them to take one, even be it "sugar-coated." The Lozenge they cry for; in deliciousness they rival the finest confectionery; they are a vegetable substitute for mercurial preparations, requiring no particular course of diet while using them. They possess a nourishing and nutritious principle, and are the only purgative medicine known that strengthens during the process of purgation. They regulate the various organs of the system, restoring functional harmony and securing the secretion of the proper constituents of each organ. By their action the liver secretes its allotted proportion of bile, the lungs carbon, the skin perspires, the kidneys are vitalized. In Female Complaints they act like a charm.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—The performance at the matinee to-day will consist of the military drama of "Firefly," with Lotta as the heroic young vivandiere. In the evening "Little Nell and the Marchioness" will be played, and all will wish to see Lotta in this, one of her best pieces. To-morrow evening "The Daughter of the Regiment" will be played, and the evening's entertainment will conclude with "The Widow's Victim," in which Robert Craig will give his very clever imitations of actors, and of the late Charles Dickens. On Monday Lotta will appear in her great character of Topsy in "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—This afternoon this theatre will be crowded with ladies and children, for a matinee at the Alhambra is the height of enjoyment. Again in the evening a crowd will flock to listen to the jokes of Billy Emerson and Fayette Welch; enjoy the sing'ng of J. G. Russell, S. Holdsworth and others, and laugh at Add Ryman's farcical burnt cork sketches. The programme on our first page promises a rich treat, and the promise will be more than fulfilled. On Monday, Sam Rickey, who has been gaining laurels in the East, will make his first appearance.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—The last matinee performance but one of the very attractive scenic piece entitled "The Palace of Truth" will be given to-day, and there will be such a throng of ladies and children as is seldom seen. It will be presented again this evening with all the attractions of the prismatic fountain, M'lles Venturoli and Gaugain in beautiful ballets, and the Majiltons in their bewildering performance, the like of which was never seen. On Monday, May 6th, Carlotta Leclercq will commence her engagement.

BELLA UNION.—A great bill has been prepared for Saturday night. After a first part full of fun, pleasing ballads and duets and choruses: Minnie Loder will sing a popular ballad, Carrie Chapman, "My Father Sould Charcoal," Johnny Tuers will appear in song and dance, Marie Zoel in a clog dance; Tommy Barton in comic songs, Clara Starr in song and dance, Minnie Fillmore, Fanny Garretson and Susie Robinson in ballads, and Mat Kelly, Tommy Bree, Johnny Tuers, H. Sinclair, Harry Thompson, and others in amusing acts, after this the great legendary play of "The Bottle Imp" will be produced with a strong cast, new music by Zimmer, new scenery by McFarland, and properties by Knowlton and Bell.

NEW AMERICAN THEATRE.—A new place of amusement under the above title, will be opened this evening at the Southeast corner of Sutter and Kearny street. A full variety company will appear in a good programme of songs, dances and acts. Henry Dopson, the proprietor, has had long experience in the business, and will do his best to cater to the public amusement.

CAPT. BADGER'S CENTRAL PARK, OAKLAND.—This beautiful pleasure garden which is fast becoming a very popular resort, will to-morrow be the scene of a large and fashionable assemblage, Sedgewick Post, No. 1, of the Grand Army of the Republic, holding their picnic there. This organization comprizes a large number of our best citizens, and their friends are legion. The proceeds of the picnic will go to the fund for assisting widows and orphans and comrades in distress. This fact will add the pleasure of a good deed to a day of thorough enjoyment for those who attend the picnic.

MAC EVOY'S ORIGINAL HIBERNICON.—This entertainment, which has drawn crowded houses for the past three weeks will give another representation to-night, therefore those who wish to enjoy an evening in Ireland, and hear something about her kings, her bards and historians, and be amused by a lively comedy, should go this afternoon or evening.

MANAGER JOHN PIPER.—John Piper, proprietor of Piper's Opera House, Virginia City, is again in town in search of talent. He has secured the Milburn Combination, which performed with such success in Stockton, to open on May 6th They will be followed by the troupe now performing at the California Theatre, including M'lles Venturoli and Gaugain, and the Majiltons, and the "Palace of Truth" will be produced with due scenic effect. Lotta will be the next attraction. The Virginia City people will have no cause to complain of lack of amusement.

TESTIMONIAL TO MRS. LEACH.—On Monday evening, May 6th, a testimonial concert will be given at Platt's Hall for the benefit of Mrs. Georgiana Stewart Leach, the popular vocalist, who was a few months ago struck with paralysis and has been helpless ever since. There has scarcely been a charitable benefit for the last 15 years for which Mrs. Leach has not volunteered her services, and the proposed testimonial will cheer her in her sufferings by proving that her efforts are not forgotten.

PICNIC OF THE STEUBEN GUARD.—The Steuben Guard, Company E., Second Regiment, N. G., Captain Wochartz commanding, will hold their annual picnic at Belmont to-morrow. A large crowd of merry makers will accompany the soldiers and have a day of enjoyment in the country at the small expense of a dollar.

CITY GARDENS.—The Jackson Dragoons will hold their ninth annual picnic to-morrow at the City Garnens, which have undergone extensive improvements and are now a most pleasant resort. There will be shooting for prizes, running, jumping and a variety of other amusements including a ball in the Pavilion. Fifty cents admits to all the entertainments.

MISS ANNA MEHLIG.—The first of a series of concerts to be given by Miss Anna Mehlig, the world-renown, pianiste, will take place at Mercantile Library Hall on Thursday evening, May 2d Charles Fritsch the successful manager of German theatricals in this city, has charge of Miss Mehlig's business, and Oscar Weil will be musical director of the concerts.

THE NATIONAL CADETS.—This body of young soldiers, under the command of John Lynch will have a jolly time to-morrow at Laurel Grove, San Leandro, where they will hold their first annual picnic. Particulars are given in another column.

MISS ALICE MAY.—The latest prima donna of William Lyster's opera troupe in Australia has been Miss Alice May, and her success has been remarkable. This rising artiste will shortly pay a visit to California.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—The rain has laid the dust beautifully and the Cliff House road is in splendid condition. It will be alive with teams to-morrow on their way to Captain Foster's famous hostelry where there is "good entertainment for man and beast."

UNION HALL.—This splendid hall has been remodeled and adorned in a manner which makes it present a most attractive appearance. The acoustics have been improved to fit it for monster concerts, and a large sum of money has been expended on improving it in every way. The walls have been frescoed and emblazoned with scrolls on which appear the names of those who have attained fame in music, art and song. It will be opened on Wednesday next with a May Day Festival. A grand concert will be given by an orchestra of thirty pieces, with Geo. T. Evans as conductor. A novelty in the programme will be the performance, for the first time in California of Haydn's brilliant musical eccentricity entitled "Abschieds," which he wrote on a proposal being made to him to lessen the orchestra of which he was conductor. The director asked Haydn if he couldn't get on with two violins less. "Oh yes," said Haydn. "And perhaps the horns might be reduced." "Certainly," assented Haydn. After the economical director had finished his proposed curtailments of the orchestra, Haydn wrote "Abschieds" to show the effect of his economy. In this composition the full orchestra commences, and one by one ceases playing until a solitary man is left. It is gratifying to know that this piece of musical satire had the desired effect and Haydn was allowed henceforth to engage as many men as he saw fit for his orchestra. Beside this there will be a horn solo by Schlotte, the overture to William Tell, and other selections. After the concert there will be a dance, Ballenberg's full orchestra having been engaged for the occasion and Prof. O. H. Lunt being master of the ceremonies. The refreshment department will be under the charge of Miley & Perrin, and sherberts, pistache, ices, etc., will be provided. Altogether the festival promises to be a pleasant and fashionable affair.

THE AMERICUS OPERATIC COMPANY.—On Monday evening Master James Speight, the baby violinist, known as "the child Americus," the musical marvel of the 19th Century will make his first appearance before a San Francisco audience at Pacific Hall. The Eastern press are loud in their praises of the wonderful performances of this natural genius, and he will probably create as great a sensation here and be as successful as he has in o her cities. The performance of the child Americus will be only one feature in an excellent programme. Mrs. Charles Coriell will sing "Il Bacio," Mr. J. H. Stout will render "Mollie Darling, Miss L. A. Stevenson will sing a morceau from "Faust," Chas. Vivian, the popular character artiste, will present new sketches and songs, and a variety of other pleasing performances will be given, all of which are particularized in the programme on our first page.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

MAY FESTIVAL.—The Saunders Conclave Order of Heptasophs will hold a May Festival on Saturday, May 4th, at the City Gardens. There will be the ceremonial of crowning a May Queen, dancing and other amusements.

LEW RATTAER.—This old and favorite California minstrel arrives from New York to night.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

SALT LAKE.—On the 16th, James M. Hardie, appeared as Hamlet to a capital house and made a success; on the following evening J. W. Dunne had a benefit. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Bates were to appear on or about the 22d.

CENTRAL CITY, Col.—Add Weaver, Nellie Whitney and others are at the Alhambra.

VIRGINIA, Nev.—The season of performances by the minstrel company at Piper's Opera House close to-night with a benefit to Charley Vincent.

OROVILLE.—Professeor Mansfeldt, of Marrysville, is to give a concert this evening assisted by Richard Vanke, Ed. Wright, E. A. Belcher and others.

PORTLAND, O.—Miss Minnie Pixley had a benefit on the 19th tendered her by Manager Waldron, 'The Octoroon" was played. On the following evening "Under the Gaslight" was produced. G. B. Waldron was announced to have a farewell benefit on the 23d. Wm. Barry was to have a benefit on the 26th.

RENO.—Miss Josephine is the star at the new theatre, and the only one whose name we have ever heard of. Maggie Brewer and Ella La Rue are underlined. "Gifts" are distributed among the audience, which looks as if business had to be forced.

OAKLAND.—Yesterday the Odd Fellows of Oakland, Alameda and Brooklyn celebrated their Fifty-third Anniversary by a picnic at Captain Badger's Grand Central Park. There was a very large attendance, and all enjoyed themselves thoroughly roaming about the beautiful grounds or dancing in the spacious pavilion.....To-morrow Sedgwick Post No. 1 of the Grand Army of the Republic will hold their picnic in these beautiful grounds It will be one of the most fashionable out-door parties of the season.....Mac Evoy's Hibernicon will be exhibited at Market Hall on the evenings of May 6th, 7th and 8th.....The Great Crystal Palace Circus will exhibit on Tuesday next.

STOCKTON.—The Great Milburn Combination, consisting of J. H. Milburn, Miss L. Milburn, the great Heywood, and the Reynolds Brothers, appeared at the theatre on Monday and Tuesday evenings and gave general satisfaction.

SAN JOSE.—A concert is announced to be given at the Opera House on Monday by Signora Bernardi, Signor Catalino, (the silver-voiced tenor) and Signor F. Rigo, basso. The Mercury says:

We understand that Brohaska has made arrangements with Manager Bert, of the Metropolitan Theatre, for one night at the Opera House of Lotta, the firefly, and the talented stock company.

VALLEJO.—The wonderful baby violinist, Americus and concert company including Charles Vivian, are to appear at Farragut Theatre this evening.

SNELLING.—The last entertainment the Snellings people had was Edwards' Panorama of the Great Rebellion exhibited last week.

LOS ANGELES.—The German Turn Verein gave a dramatic performance last Sunday.

SACRAMENTO.—Proctor had a splendid benefit on Saturday night. He made a little speech, in which he thanked the public for their past patronage and stated that he was not discouraged, but hoped to return to Sacramento again next Fall with more novelties.

PETALUMA.—The Petaluma Dramatic and Minstrel troupe is the name of a society organized recently. These amateurs propose to give a performance at the Petaluma Theatre in the course of a few weeks.

GRASS VALLEY.—The Forrestelle troupe comprising Miss Lulu Somers and others, appeared a Hamilton Hall last Saturday. Forrestelle caused quite a sensation by her wonderful feats. Misses May and Ella Griffin had a benefit on Wednesday when the Ellerton Dramatic Troupe and several amateur volunteers presented the play of "Ten nights in a Barroom."

MARYSVILLE.—Charles Wheatleigh. Miss Sallie Hinckley and Proctor's dramatic troupe appeared on Monday evening in "A Victim of Circumstances" and "The Debutante," and on the following evening in "On the Jury" and "A Model of a Wife."

WOODLAND.—Mrs. Marble and Mr. A. H. Havell, assisted by other musicians, will give a grand concert at Central Hall, on Wednesday evening next.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

In New York, "Lalla Rookh" was still running at the Grand Opera House....."Article 47" at the Fifth Avenue.....Boucicault's comedy, "How She Loves Him," was produced at Wallack's on the 17th.....Miss Carlotta Leclercq closed her engagement at Booth's on the 20th, and on the 22d Edwin Booth made his reappearance in Richard. .....Bryant's Opera House, which is located on Twenty-third street, just beyond the Sixth avenue, and contiguous to Booth's Theatre, is advertised for rent during the summer months, while Bryant's Minstrels are traveling.....W. E. Bandmann and Miss Veneta opened at the Stadt Theatre in this city, on the 8th, for a short season of German dramatics ....."Poll and Partner Joe" wound up their accounts at Niblo's on the 20th, and Mrs. Wood left for Boston....."Gold," a new drama written by Miss Jean Burnside and R. G. Morris, was produced for the first time on any stage at the Broadway—formerly the Globe—Theatre, on the 8th, and on that occasion Miss Burnside made her debut as a professional actress, in the character of Grace Blessington. The drama, though possessing some good features, is very sketchy, and it is apparent that it is the work of novices. Miss Burnside did not make a success. .....At the Theatre Comique, the Worrell Sisters in burlesque, and Miss Ella Wesner. The new drama of "Chicago," still in preparation..... At Union Square Theatre the Vokes Family from the London Music Halls, made their first appearance on the 22d. The Herald says:

The debut of the Vokes Family was one of the greatest among our minor theatrical sensations for some time past. Heralded by the most enthusiastic accounts of their talents, they proved to be even more amusing than had been reported. The house was crammed to overflowing, and from the outset was in a continuous roar of ecstatic laughter. The piece was a well-written sketch, entitled the "Belles of the Kitchen," depicting the merry-making of a household of servants in the absence of their employers. To eclipse a former party in a neighboring kitchen they determine to get up some amateur theatricals, including comedy, tragedy, opera and a ballet, and a dress rehearsal is at once begun. All the wonderfully versatile powers of the Vokes family thus find a congenial field. Mr. Fred. Vokes capered and sung and struck tragic attitudes and tied his legs in running knots; and the other Vokeses assisted him to the best of their ability, which even with the least of them is of a very high stand of excellence. Of course the whole performance is only a high form of buffoonery, but it is buffoonery instinct with intelligence and living humor, not the miserable horse play and routine fun with which we are so sadly often fooled. Nothing seems forced, and the naturalness and ease of the drollery give it a freshness and vivacity singularly pleasing. It was, indeed, only necessary to watch the delighted enthusiasm of the audience to see that we had at last struck something very far above the ordinary plane of common stage business. The house was time and again carried away by an uncontrollable burst of enthusiasm, nor did the interest ever drag for a moment. The success of the Vokes family is assured beyond all doubt, and they will certainly make a brilliant and lengthened run.

It is very probable that the Vokes family will play an engagement in San Francisco before returning to Eng'and

The New York Mercury says:

Sheridan and Mack, song and dance, have been engaged by Colonel Brown for the Alhambra, San Francisco, and start 20th.

Sheridan and Mack were great favorites when here before, and will receive a hearty welcome when they return.

Miss Emma Howson, vocalist and actress, has had written for her a drama in three acts, with incidental musical features, which are essential to the development of the plot, in which she purposes acting throughout the country during brief engagements in the summer and fall seasons.

Lawrence Barrett will arrive here about the 28th of May. Edwin Booth presented him with a magnificent suit of brazen armor as a souvenir of their many happy meetings on the field of Philippi. The New Orleans papers praise the Cassius highly which he has given at his own Theatre with great success.

E. A. Sothern, Cincinnati, 15th; New York, 23d to May 11th.

Robert McWade, St. James, Boston, 15th.

Buffalo, 8th, Ada Gray opened in "Camille." Was thought to play well, but to be altogether too stout for the consumptive heroine. Marietta Ravel followed on the 9th, in the "French Spy" and specialties, to good business. Mrs. Bowers expected 15th.

Frank Mayo, Rochester, 8th, for week.

Dominick Murray, Capitol, Albany, 16th, 1 week,

Mrs. John Wood and associates, Boston Theatre 22d, for a season; thence Chestnut, Philadelphia.

Nathan Australian Troupe, Grand Rapids, Mich. 15th, 16th, and 17th. The company consists of E. C. Melville, stage-manager; C. Vincent, business manager; La Petite Marion, Misses Julia and Selina Nathan, Edward and Louis Nathan, and Wm C. Dudley, juveniles.

Purdy, Scott, and Fostelle's Minstrels, accoording to our Keokuk correspondent, exploded at Kansas City recently. Fostelle, female impersonator, was to join the Keokuk Athenæum, 8th.

At Shelby's, Buffalo, 8th, Ella Wesner, one week.

Yeddo Japanese, Baltimore, 15th.

The Clipper says: Mrs. F. S. Chanfrau has been compelled by severe illness to forego several engagements, including that at the California Theatre, San Francisco. She will be Mr. McCullough's first star next season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Booth made their first appearance Charleston, S. C., at the Academy, on April 8th, appearing in "Hamlet" to one of the largest audiences of the season. They were finely supported by L. R. Shewell and a well selected company, playing four nights to good business. The company appeared in Savannah on the 15th.

Miss Charlotte Cushman was to commence an engagement at the Chestnut-street Theatre, Philadelphia, on the 22d, in "Henry VIII," playing Katherine; E. L. Davenport as Henry, and C. W. Couldock as Wolsey.

The Utica Daily Bee says the "Black Crook" has been exhibited in that city, and nobody is hurt; not a bone broken; nothing struck dumb but that sickly, prudish mock modesty which always inhabits the minds of impure hearts.

William Castle, the tenor, at the close of the present operatic season, will accompany Parepa-Rosa to Europe, where he expects to remain one year, during which time he will visit Italy and very probably visit there.

Mr. and Mr. W. J. Florence are playing "Eileen Oge" at the Globe Theatre, Boston.

Mrs. Bowers and Caroline Richings-Bernard are still in Pittsburgh.

"Humpty Dumpty" Fox will visit Boston during the summer.

E. T. Stetson is at the Griswold Opera House, Troy, N. Y.

The Mathews Family are at Trimble's Varieties, Pittsburgh.

Aimee is at the Academy of Music, Chicago.

Theatrical Costumes.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

Good Bread.

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. For size, weight and quality, STEIN'S loaves are superior to any patent bread that ever bore a flash trade mark. He challenges imitation, and invites a trial at the hands of the public. Leave your orders at STEIN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street. D

DR. J. H. JOSSELYN

CAN BE FOUND ONLY AT NO. 24 GEARY street, near the junction of Market and Kearny streets, where he will be happy to meet his old Patrons and such of the public as may need his valuable services. The Doctor is the most experienced physician now on the Pacific coast in the treatment of Long Standing and Chronic Complaints. The remedies he uses are entirely vegetable, and of his own discovery; they are unknown to any other physician.

To Females the Doctor would say that the last three years have added greatly to his knowledge of diseases and irregularities incident to their sex.

In all consultations the utmost privacy will be observed.

Dr. Josselyn is prepared to make special contracts to cure for a stated price, the cure to be warranted or no charges to be made for services. Prices moderate. Office hours from 9 A.M., to 8 P.M. Persons residing at a dastance or those who may have objections to a personal interview can consult the Doctor by letter. Always describe the symptoms thoroughly and be careful to direc

NEW INVENTION.—J. Spaulding & Co's new sweeping machine, for sweeping carpets after being beaten by the beating machine, is a new California invention. It gives the carpets a brilliancy that has not ever before been obtained in the annals of carpet beating, nor can it be obtained by any other process. It takes all lint and fine dust from the face of the carpet, leaving it as clean and brilliant as new, without any injury to the fabric. It can be seen in operation at 353 Tehama street bet Fourth and Fifth street's any day. Call and see it and satisfy yourself before sending your carpets elsewhere to be cleaned.

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

The Reason Why.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. Y

Dr. Barlow J. Smith

The Palace of Truth.

Why is an oyster like an inmate of the Palace of Truth?—Because it cannot tell a lie. Another: Why do so many of the audience after visiting the California Theatre, flock after the performance to the Pacific Oyster House, 329 Bush street, just below Montgomery?—Because Charley Hanke has the finest, fattest, richest Eastern oysters, and gets up the best suppers imaginable.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

The Summer Season.

Gentlemen going on fishing excursions to Calistoga, and for country trips, should go to Geo. B. Davis, Fashionable Tailor, 507 Kearny street, near California. He makes tourists suits which will wear. I

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Cerville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office, 616 Sacramento street.

Death of an Old Manager.

N. B. Clarke, a veteran actor and stage manager, died in New York, at his residence, at half-past two o'clock on the morning of April 13th, in the sixty-fourth year of his age. Although he had been confined to his house for some time, his health improved so much that he was enabled to visit the Bowery Theatre, where he was engaged as stage manager, on Monday, April 8th, which was the last time he was out. Mr. Clarke's real name was Nathaniel H. Belden; he was the eldest son of the late Rev. William Belden, and born in Connecticut in 1808. His parents were Methodists and strict observers of that faith, and Mr. Belden was educated for the ministry, but when about twenty years of age, he evinced a fondness for dramatic representations, and concluded to adopt the stage as a profession. He made his debut in Philadelphia, Pa., when about twenty years of age. He was for several seasons the favorite leading man at Ludlow & Smith's theatre, in New Orleans, La. Having achieved success in the provinces, he resolved to try his fortunes in the metropolis, and made his debut at the Bowery Theatre, on Sept. 3d, 1848, on the occasion of Miss Julia Turnbull's farewell benefit, acting Quasimodo in "Esmeralda." Being favorably received, he remained during that season, playing the leading business. Some time afterwards he became stage manager of the Bowery Theatre, and held that position for several years, and when the New Bowery was opened he was engaged there in a like position, and after that edifice was destroyed by fire, Dec. 18th, 1866, he returned to the Old Bowery as stage manager, which position he held at the time of his death. He leaves a wife and family and a large circle of friends to mourn his demise. His funeral was announced to take place at the "Little Church Around the Corner," on Twenty-ninth street near Fifth avenue, on Tuesday, April 16th.

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. Lamott's Spring Style Dress Hats

Are the ne plus ultra of the season, To be dressed, wear one of his hats. Go to Lamott's, 227 Montgomery street, for all the latest styles, for all classes, both young and old. When at his store, you have the best assortment in the city to choose from.

FOR FINELY FLAVORED SAUSAGES, HAMS, Bacon, etc., all made of the best grain fed pork, go to R. F. Bunker's Stall, 74 and 75 California Market. Mr. Bunker's club sausages, for flavor and delicacy, equal any ever made east of the Sierras, and he cuts up nothing but first-class meats.

Stunning Things.

Have you seen the Spring style neckties, scarfs, broche neckerchiefs, and other new goods in the gents' furnishing line, just received at Silberstein's, 506 Kearny street, one door south of California? If you haven't, go and inspect them, for Silberstein always leads the city in styles. G

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 2½ Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

THE SPLENDID AND COMMODIOUS Steamer CONTRA COSTA has been engaged for this occasion; also, BLYTHE'S MAGNIFICENT BRASS BAND of 24 pieces. The Cadets have erected a splendid Dancing Platform 125x75 feet, for those pleasure seekers who like to trip the fantastic toe upon the boards of a delightful country platform. The scenery is magnificent to the eye; the hills look green and fresh after the rains of the past winter; the air is clear and refreshing. The splendid city of San Rafael has improved wonderfully. It shows the appearance of one of our most prosperous and delightful inland towns on the Pacific slope. It is just ten minutes walk from the Picnic Grounds to the city of San Rafael. The boat leaves San Francisco at nine o'clock A. M., sharp, and returns at six o'clock P.M.

Tickets, for Round Trip.....$1 00

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night Lotta will appear in her great character of Topsy in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and will play it to the life. She will be supported by Robert Craig and the full strength of the Metropolitan Theatre company. On Friday Lotta will take her farewell benefit and make her last appearance but one.

The Alhambra.

In addition to the splendid company including Billy Emerson, Fayette Welch, J. G. Russell, Add Ryman, and others, who delighted crowded houses last week, three old California favorites, just returned from the East, will make their appearance to-night. They are Sheridan and Mack, the neatest and most artistic of character performers, and Sam Rickey, the eccentric Ethiopian comedian. These will present to-night acts entirely new to a California audience, and will cause a sensation. The full programme appears on our first page.

California Theatre.

This week is the last of "The Palace of Truth," M'lle Venturoli, M'lle Gonzalo, the prismatic fountain, and the indescribable, unapproachable and delightful Majiltons. These wierd artists will appear this evening in a piece of diablerie in which they will perform more wonderful feats than ever.

Bella Union.

The legendary, romantic, spectacular drama of "The Bottle Imp," with new scenery, mechanical and supernatural effects, was produced with great success on Saturday night, and drew another large house last night. It will be played until further notice in conjunction with a brilliant first part and sparkling interlude.

The New American Theatre.

This place of amusement was opened on Saturday night to an immense audience, and was thronged again last night. The names of the company engaged appear on our first page.

Pacific Hall.

The Americus Opera ic Concert Company will give their first entertainment this evening. So wide-spread is the fame of the baby violinist, Master James Speight, known as the child Americus that there will be a rush to hear him. In addition to this juvenile star, the popular Vivian will appear in his latest character sketches, Miss Laura A. Stevenson in operatic selection, Mrs. Galton in ballads and duets with Mr. Galton, J. H. Stout in ballads, Mrs. Charles Coriell in "Il Bacio," and Mr. Charles Coriell in a musical satire. The full programme appears on our first page.

Miss Anna Mehlig's Concerts.

Lovers of music must remember that the first concert of the famous pianiste, Miss Anna Mehlig, will take place at Mercantile Library Hall on Thursday evening, May 2d. The box-sheet will be open on Wednesday.

St. Andrew's Society Picnic.

The St. Andrew's Society will hold their annual picnic this season at Laurel Grove, San Rafael, on Saturday next. The excursion arrangements are in the hands of a competent committee, and Scottish games and other extra attractions will take place on the grounds.

Benefit of Signor Fred Biesta.

On Friday evening, the complimentary benefit tendered to Signor Fred Biesta, impressario of the late Italian opera season, will take place at Maguire's Opera House. "Lucrezia Borgia" will be performed with Signorina Adelina Speranza as Lucrezia, and Miss Anne McKenzie as Maffio Orsini.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Good Rules for All.

Profane swearing is abominable. Vulgar language disgusting. Inquisitiveness is offensive. Tattling is mean. Telling lies is contemptible. Slandering is devilish. Ignorance is disgraceful. Avoid all vices and aim at usefulness. This is the road in which to become respectable. Walk in it. Never be ashamed of honest labor. Pride is a curse—a hateful vice. Never act the hypocrite. Keep good company. Speak the truth at all times. Never be discouraged, but persevere, and mountains will become molehills.

Theatrical Costumes.

FECHTER DRAMATIC NEWS.

London dates are to March 20th. Fechter was to close at the Adelphi on the 30th after repeating "Ruy Blas" during his entire twenty nights' engagement. April 1st was to be produced an adaptation of Harrison Ainsworth's novel, "The Miller's Daughter," which under the title of "Hilda," was to be presented with new scenery and striking effects illustrative of London in the last century.....The Princess's was to reopen on April 1st with Byron's "Haunted Houses" in which J. Clarke, who has been engaged specially, was to make his reappearance in London....The Holborn Theatre was to reopen on the 30th with a new comedietta by Arthur Sketchly called "Only a Governess," and a new opera bouffe by Offenbach....The Alhambra was to produce a new Oriental ballet, in six tableaux, called "Nana Sahib." The Siamese Dragon Troupe were also to appear....Alfred Copeland, many years harpist of Christy's, died of consumption on the 22d....The orchestra of Drury-lane entertained their musical director, W. C. Levy, to dinner on the 21d....Cremorne Gardens were to reopen April 1st. They were deprived of their dancing license, but proposed giving promenade concerts, parlor skating, and to exhibit three large oil painting of Paris, as it was, Paris in flames, and Paris as it is....Miss Glyn was announced to return immediately to London, with a view to giving Shakesperian representations and readings. Miss Glyn's engagements are in America in the Autumn.... M'lle Tietjens was announced to sing at Gilmore's Monster Jubilee at Boston....The Surrey Theatre and all the scenery and effects were to be sold at auction in May, unless previously bought.

... John Hullah has been appointed Musical Inspector of the United Kingdom by the Common Council on Education.

Messrs. Meilhac and Halevy have read to the actors of the Gymnase their comedy "La Veuve," which will be brought out as soon as Alex. Dumas "La Princess Georges" is withdrawn, which will be soon.

Opera Comique was revived for the reppearance of Mme. Miolan-Carvalho M'lle Battu, and the first appearance of Mons. Bouley in the opera of "Les Voces de Figaro."

Offenbach is leading the orchestra of the Carl Theatre, which is playing his "Boule de Neige."

Although a handsome monument has been placed over Rossini's remains, it seems certain his body is to be removed from Pere la Chaise to Santa Croce.

Jenny Lind's daughter has a voice that promises to equal, if not to excel, her mother's. She is 17 years old.

The comic drama which Charles Reade and Anthony Trollope are preparing for the Gaiety Theatre London, is founded on the latter's novel of "Ralph, the Heir." One of the principal characters is Mr. Neefit, a fashionable tailor, and this part Mr. Toole will play.

Judas Iscariot Vindicated.

W. W. Story, the sculptor, has written a poem giving a strong argument to show that Judas Iscariot was not a traitor, but was really the most faithful apostle of Christ. A Boston paper, in commenting on it, says that "we have lost so many great rascals by the re-writting of history, that we can not afford to part with Judas Iscariot." However much we may commend the efforts of W. W. Story in this direction, we feel sure that that the character of the Apostle in question will never be fully vindicated until a San Francisco litterateur finishes his translation of the Gospel according to St. Judas Iscariot from the original Greek—a work on which he has been engaged for some years.

The Dolly Vardens.

A desperate husband, who has been brought to the verge of insanity by the "Dolly Vardens," thus frantically remarked to his wife: "It is a dress with sunflowers and cabbages and pumpkins worked all over it and a lot of snakes squirming around for a background. Why, it is enough to give a man delirium tremens to look at it. Whoever saw such a pattern? It's a flash wall paper run mad. You look exactly like some Japanese tea sign."

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices. •

Lamott's Spring Style Dress Hats

Are the ne plus ultra of the season, To be dressed, wear one of his hats. Go to Lamott's, 227 Montgomery street, for all the latest styles, for all classes, both young and old. When at his store, you have the best assortment in the city to choose from. •

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller, news agent on the Southern Pacific Railroad, supplies the passengers with the latest San Francisco dailies and Eastern illustrated papers at a dime a peice. Ask the boys for the right change. He also furnishes FIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains at San Francisco rates—free of charge. •

Beauty Adorned by Art.

Taste and first-class workmanship in photography, at the People's Art Gallery, 34 Third street. Y

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

The Reason Why.

Other merchants wonder why A. Kline, 60 Third street, does such a rushing business. That his place is full of ladies from morning to night is not to be wondered at, for he always keeps the latest styles of goods, sells at small profits, and ladies know from experience that they can buy their fancy goods and trimmings at Kline's cheaper than anywhere else. Y

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive in to the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage Stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

Good Bread.

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. For size, weight and quality, STERN'S loaves are superior to any patent bread that ever bore a flash trade mark. He challenges imitation, and invites a trial at the hands of the public. Leave your orders at STERN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street. D

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

There is quite a rush just at present to "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, (the second hat store below Kearny), where have been received an immense number of the new Summer style of hats, which are being sold at remarkably low prices. A fashionable "tile" finishes off a well-dressed man admirably. It can be obtained at "THE" HAT STORE. •

MONDAY..... .....APRIL 29, 1872

A Small Bore.

A literary gentleman out in Iowa, having conceived an idea of starting a newspaper, applied to a classical acquaintance for advice concerning the most important preliminary, a title. His friend, after mature deliberation, is said to have suggested the "Augur" as indicative of the power of divination which characterizes successful journalism. Hugely pleased with this hint, the editor of the future departed to set up his introductory article; but it is supposed, on modestly reflecting that the proportions of his enterprize scarcely warranted so high-sounding an appellation, adopted what he deemed a diminuative thereof; at all events it appeared and is called the Gimlet.

A New Reading.

In former days, when the cook-book was included in the educational course for young ladies, they were taught this rule: "First catch your hare, then dress it." In the enlightened present cookery does not shine, but the rule, with slight alterations, is presented by an Alabama paper: "First buy your hair, then dress it, young ladies."

No More Trails.

Victoria! The authoritative mandate has at last been promulgated, and trailing dresses on the street are declared vulgar, while those that just touch are not the thing at all. All the Spring costumes sent over from Paris are made short enough to clear the ground. Take a reef in your skirts, mademoiselles.

At it Again.

Charles Reade is to sue for libel some of of the English papers that criticised his last play. He tried that in the United States a few years since and did not realize a fortune, receiving six cents damage for the injuries the writers had done him.

Shocking Libel.

An Eastern paper says:

The Palace of Truth.

Why is an oyster like an inmate of the Palace of Truth?—Because it cannot tell a lie. Another: Why do so many of the audience after visiting the California Theatre, flock after the performance to the Pacific Oyster House, 329 Bush street, just below Montgomery?—Because Charley Hiake has the finest, fattest, richest Eastern oysters, and gets up the best suppers imaginable.

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat someth ng nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Carville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the LETTER FROM AUSTRALIA.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT]

MELBOURNE, March 5th, 1872.

DEAR FIGARO:—Our postal arrangements with the Pacific Coast are so uncertain now, that it is almost an impossibility to hazard an opinion as to when you will receive this communication Since my last many matters of great moment have taken place in our small community. First and foremost a difference of opinion between

MR. GEORGE McCOPPIN AND THE GOVERNOR.

The former gentleman has for years been raising funds for the formation of a Dramatic and Musical Association, and Alms House for decayed professionals, and having considered that the time had arrived when he might safely launch the project amongst other persons higher in office in the colony, the Hon. Secretary of the Association applied to His Excellency Viscount Canterbury for a subscription to the fund. The request met with a point blank refusal. Taking into consideration the munificent liberality of Her Majesty, who subscribes to two hundred societies in the old country, Mr. Coppin the master, of the college took occasion to administer a well merited rebuke to the recipient of £10,000 per year of the colony's money and bitterly inveigh against the characteristic meanness of "My Lord of Canterbury," and in plain words states that His Excellency always comes to places of amusement as a "dead head," never launching a stiver to the management even on Command nights. This open speaking raised the ire of the entire "snob-ocracy" of the colony, and Mr. Coppin was vehemently attacked for his pains. He is, however, as popular as ever, and will in the remembrance of the colonists, outlive a thousand Canterburys. And not only amongst the amusement loving portion of the community is Mr. Coppin held in high estimation, but the mercantile body has lately shown a very high appreciation of his character by electing him a Director of the Commercial Bank by a majority of some 400 votes over Mr. Peter Davis, an independant gentleman, who was formerly Mayor of Melbourne. Mr. Coppin is still the sole lessee of

THE THEATRE ROYAL,

Where Miss Erastone, a young lady of considerable but unmatured talent, has just closed a starring engagement. Mr. Falconer's "Innisfallen" and Mr. Craven's "Philomel" were the last plays in which she appeared. Her last performance was on Friday evening, when she appeared before a large audience. On the following evening, Saturday, March 24,

MR. JAMES CARDEN

Who has just arrived from San Francisco, made his first appearance in Australia as the hero in a dramatic version of Alfred Tennyson's delightful poem of

"ENOCH ARDEN."

This new actor received a most cordial welcome, and during the many phases of a very arduous character, displayed talents of the highest order and was repeatedly called before the curtain. In my next letter I trust to be able to chronicle the continued success of this gentleman, who is already hailed as a welcome addition to our dramatic circle.

THE FUTURE OF THE THEATRE ROYAL.

It is stated that at the close of McCoppin's lease the theatre is to be entirely rebuilt, the vestibule done away with, and the auditorium brought nearer to the main (Bourke) street. It is also asserted that Mr. Barry Sullivan will then become the lessee and manager, and will bring a few new artistes with him from England.

THE OPERA.

The Agatha States Troupe having given a series of concerts at the Melbourne Town Hall in conjunction with Mr. William Saurin Lyster, commenced a short season of operas at the Princess Theatre on the 17th ultimo. Mme. States has established herself a great favorite here, and is well supported by Signora Orlandini and Miss Lucy Chambers. Signor Cecchi, the tenor, is about the worst we have had here, and in some operas has to give way to Armes Beaumont.

THE ENGLISH OPERA COMPANY,

Consisting of Miss Alice May, a charming cantatrice, Miss Georgia Hodson and Messrs. Beaumont, T. Rainford, J. E. Kitts, G. A. Johnson and Charles Lascelles, with G. B. Allen as conductor, has been filling a splendid season in that "Garden of the South," Tasmania, and are now giving English opera on the Italian off nights. Mr. Lyster in conjunction with Messrs. Hennings and Stewart proposes to give on Easter Monday, with every embellishment possible, Offenbach's operatic extravaganza of

"ORPHEE AUX ENFERS,"

In which the entire strength of the English opera company and several dramatic artists will appear.

ST. GEORGE'S HALL,

With Enderby Jackson's variety company, including Harry Rickards, Miss Lizzie Watson, Miss Carrie Rickards and Mr. Ramsden, have been for some weeks past filling the hall to overflowing. Mr. Rickards is possessed of comic talent of the highest order, and so suits his songs to his audience as to "ne'er o'ertop the modesty of nature." Each character he stamps with an individuality essentially its own. Mrs. Rickards is as true an artist in every sense of the word. Miss Watson is an immense favorite; her songs are also sung with with a finish that meets with universal approbation. Mr. Jackson is to be complimented on his plucky speculation in introducing this clever company to the Australian Colonies.

MR. G. H. ROGERS.

It is with sincere pain and regret that I have to chronicle the death of this gentleman at the early age of fifty-four. He was without exception one of the most talented artists we have ever had in this colony. As the "old man" of the company he was without a rival, and elicited from Charles Mathews the highest encomiums for the able support he received from him during his performances in the colony. The deceased gentleman, who had been suffering for some time, died in the early part of last month at his residence in Fitzroy. He was buried in the Melbourne Cemetery, and was followed to his grave by a large number of the most influential of our citizens.

MR. JOHN DUNN,

Having seceded from the Royal company, is organizing a troupe for a dramatic tour in Adelaide, and will shortly open at the Theatre Royal in that city.

MR. GLADSTANE

Is at present in Tasmania. After a short stay in Launceston she crossed the island and is now with an excellent company performing at the Theatre Royal, Hobarton.

THE ZAVISTOWSKI SISTERS,

With Miss Harriet Grainger, were at latest dates appearing at the Auckland Theatre to good business. It is said they will shortly leave there for California. CALL BOY.

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

False Motions.

It is not always those who seem most busy who accomplish the most work. This was illustrated the other day in a very forcible manner. The foreman of one of our large newspaper offices was showing a gentleman who knew nothing about the printing business over the establishment. In the composing room he watched with wonder and admiration the thousands of little bits of metal passing with a steady click, click, like the noise of a piece of machinery, into the polished sticks which the compositors held in their hands. The foreman asked him to point out the man whom he considered the fastest compositor. The gentleman answered, "That is easily done. That tall young fellow over there seems to set twice as much as anyone in the rooms. His hands fly about so fast that I can scarcely follow his motions." "Wrong," said the foreman; "our fastest compositor is that quiet looking young man by the side of the one you have pointed out." "He seems very slow and deliberate," said the visitor; "his hands do not move nearly so fast as those of his neighbor. It cannot be possible that he sets more type." "It is true," replied the foreman. "The secret is that he picks up a type every time he goes for it. The other man makes what we call 'false motions;' his hand goes twice to the case for a type, and though he seems to be doing a great deal of work, his stick fills slowly in comparison with that of his deliberate neighbor, who never hurries, uses just the amount of action sufficient to accomplish his purpose, and does not set one muscle in motion unnecessarily." Half, more than half, of the energy used in the world is expended in "false motions." Men dash about in a great hurry as if they had all the business of the city on their shoulders and at the end of the day find that they have accomplished about one hour's solid work. Get your eye well on an object, think a little and then go for it. One shot for which a steady aim is taken will accomplish more than a volley of random shots. Take things easily; as the song says, "It's always best to take things in a quiet sort of way." The amount of strength expended in "false motions" would be enough to place everyone in the world beyond the reach of want could it be utilized.

Keep cool, don't fume and fret and bother yourself, but think how a thing is to be done and then do it. Avoid "false motions;" let every move you make mean something, and be an advance towards the end you seek.

Ruinous Extravagance.

Mrs. Sarah Newcomb recently ruined a handsome bed-post by dashing out the brains of her husband with it. No wonder men do not feel as if they could get married when women are so extravagant.

"Were you ever baptized?" inquired an earnest minister of a green candidate. "No, sir! never only once, and then I fell in!"

STOP GULPING DOWN PILLS

BROCKMAN'S TASTELESS PURGATIVE LOZENGES.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR PILLS, CASTOR OIL, SALTS AND Purgatives in general, and unparalleled in efficacy for Costiveness, Nervous and Sick Headache, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Diseases of the Kidneys, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Asthma, Fever and Ague, and all diseases dependent on an impure condition of the blood.

These Lozenges meet the wants of thousands, as there are many that cannot swallow a pill, and with the children it is utterly impossible to get them to take one, even be it "sugar-coated." The Lozenges they cry for; in deliciousness they rival the finest confectionery; they are a vegetable substitute for mercurial preparations, requiring no particular course of diet while using them. They possess a nourishing and nutritious principle, and are the only purgative medicine known that strengthens during the process of purgation. They regulate the various organs of the system, restoring functional harmony and securing the secretion of the proper constituents of each organ. By their action the liver secretes its allotted proportion of bile, the lungs carbon, the skin perspires, the kidneys are vitalized. In Female Complaints they act like a charm.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. Price, 50 cents per box.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The Metropolitan Theatre was thronged last night every seat being occupied, and many persons standing in the aisles. Lotta's Topsy was a most characteristic performance, brim full of fun and mischief. Several introduced songs and dances were performed in splendid style, fairly bringing down the house. Robert Craig as Gumption Cute, Miss Henrietta Osborne as Eliza, John Woodard as Uncle Tom and J. M. Hardie as George Harris, played their parts capitally, and little Lulu Wilson represented Eva with charming feeling "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be played again to night. As this is the last opportunity the California public will have of seeing Lotta—for some years at least—her engagement at the Metropolitan will close with a succession of thronged houses.

The Alhambra.

As a matter of course the Alhambra Theatre was crowded last night. Sheridan and Mack received a hearty welcome back, and after performing three of their best acts including the ever popular "Little Fraud," were encored and sang "Good Bye Fritz." Sam Rickey convulsed the audience with laughter, in the character of Owen Connelly the hilarious Irishman, in his sketch of "Bad Whiskey," and was ably supported by Sheridan as Jane the much wronged wife. The bill throughout was a capital one, Billy Emerson presenting some of his best specialties, and appearing with M. Ainsley Scott and Miss Fanny Gibson in "Dat's my Sister;" S. H. Holdsworth singing a descriptive song "Wrecked at Sea" in fine style, and Add Ryman and all the others keeping the fun alive from the time the curtain rose until it fell.

California Theatre.

This theatre was crowded last night. "The Palace of Truth" was presented with new features: Mlles Venturoli and Gaugain appeared in a new ballet and executed new steps. Mlle Venturoli gained much applause for her very artistic shadow dance. The Majiltons performed a new piece of diabliere in which they caused considerable amusement with a piano, and the lovely Marie Majilton made rapid appearances and disappearances through phantom traps. All should see the Majiltons in their new acts, and all should see the "Palace of Truth" once more.

Bella Union.

Johnny Tuers shines in the first part and interlude with a bright constellation of stars in song and dance and comedy. "The Bottle Imp," is a great success and is received nightly with great applause. R. G. Marsh as the Imp is diabolically impressive; Miss Carrie Chapman makes a good German student; Harry Thompson does some good acting as Nicolo; Marie Zoel is pretty, interesting and loving as Marcella, and H. Sinclair as Willibald causes much fun and keeps the audience constantly laughing.

The New American Theatre.

Quite a number of popular favorites are engaged at this place of amusement and appear in a varied programme of songs, dances and acts. There is any amount of fun in the performance, and crowded houses are the rule.

Pacific Hall.

There never was a more genial audience than that assembled in Pacific Hall last night. Instead of being impatient for the appearance of the star of the evening, the baby violinist, American, they applauded and encored everyone, and showed they were thoroughly well pleased with the performance as a whole. Mrs. Charles Coriell's attractive appearance, pleasing voice, and powers of execution displayed in "Il Bacio," gained an encore; J. H. Stout was similarly honored after singing "Mollie Darling," and Miss L. A. Stevenson, who used a voice of considerable power with good discretion and was remarkably successful in her mezzo voce passages, had every reason to be satisfied with the appreciation of her efforts evinced by the audience; Mr. Charles Coriell sang a serio-comic song with the somewhat lugubrious title of "America's Increase of Crime," and in response to an encore sang a comic song. Mrs. Galton, who accompanied all the vocalists on the piano most skillfully, sang "Kathleen Mavourneen" sweetly and was of course encored; After this came Master James Speight, "the child American." Master Speight is a perfect musical marvel, he certainly is not much more than four years old and handles the bow with the firmness and vigor of an old professor of the violin. Taste, expression, feeling and brilliancy of execution, characterise the playing of this young prodigy, and he perfectly electrified the audience. The child is a genius, a lusus naturæ, and bids fair to revive recollections of Paganini. Shut your eyes and forget that it is a baby that is playing and you must still accord the performer talent of a high order. The child American is a denied sensation and those who miss hearing him will lose a rich treat. The remaindar of the programme comprised character songs by Vivian, ballads and duets, all of which were well received, and the audience dispersed well satisfied with their evening's entertainment and astonished at what they had heard.

Mac Evoy's Original Hibernicon.

This exhibition will be open during the present week only. Those who have not seen it should pay a visit to Platt's Hall.

Picnic of the Heptasophs.

The order of Heptasophs will hold their picnic next Saturday at the City Gardens, and have extended an invitation to children attending school to be present. Tickets for them can be obtained free on application to J. M. De Pass, 45 Exchange Building, corner of Washington and Montgomery streets.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates

Washing Returned in One Day

And we never disappoint, at the What Cheer Laundry.

[FOR FIGARO.

TO LOTTA.

You captivating little sprite,
Who charms us all both day and night,
And takes our senses from us quite,
With prankisome ways,
Just take away your witching self
Before you take our all of pelf,
And leave us on the lowest shelf
Of pauper days.

The sheeny sparkle of your eyes
Excites our love without surprise;
One sees the like in star-lit skies
On balmy nights.
Your sylphide form and roguish face,
And action full of ease and grace,
Proclaim you of Thalia's race,
Full of delights.

Now hie thee straight from Frisco's strand,
And get thee to some other land
That is not made of golden sand,
But comm n clay;
Or old, or young, you "foodle" 'em,
And capture the "catoodleum,"
You fascinating little "Hoodleum"—
Please go away.

We cannot tolerate the strain
On heart and body, cash and brain,
Sore taxed and racked, but racked in vain
To gain your smiles.
With wit and beauty, grace and arts,
Pray go elsewhere and play your parts,
But don't betray our honest hearts
With winsome wiles.

Longer you shall not, sweet "Fire-Fly,"
Laugh at us and "cock your eye,"
While crowing "How is that for high?"
You cunning puss.
"Detective" sharpness is in vain,
So passage take on earliest train,
And if you dare come back again,
We'll "raise a muss."

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage Stand; Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

Good Bread.

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. For size, weight and quality, STEIN'S loaves are superior to any patent bread that ever bore a flash trade mark. He challenges imitation, and invites a trial at the hands of the public. Leave your orders at STEIN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street. D

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Shaber's, 707 Market street, near Third San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

Go and See Them.

Ladies in want of a new Parasol should go to Jones & Wilkinson's, 802 Third street, corner of Folsom. They have all the new styles and their prices are as usual "on the bed rock."

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

The Cosy Resort.

Mr. F. F. Jones (formerly assistant treasurer of the California Theatre) and Mr. C. A. Schroder, "dispensers of good things," at 330 Bush street, below Kearny, solicit a call from their friends and the public generally. None but the finest brands of liquors and cigars served. Private club and social rooms annexed. Y

A Scandalous Play.

The Washington Critic of the 16th say:

In "Black Friday," shortly to be produced at Niblo's, New York, Mr. McKee Rankin will impersonate Stokes; Miss Plessy Mordaunt, Mrs. Josie Mansfield; Mr. J. Collier, James Fisk; and Mr. Harry Pearson, Boss Tweed. There is something very scandalous in placing such a piece before the public, and we trust that New York has got sufficient decency to hiss it from the stage.

A Big Blast over Two Fish.

The old saying that "the noisiest braggarts are those who have the least to brag about," was illustrated in New York by an itinerant fish dealer, who blew such tremendous blasts on his tin horn as to attract much notice. The fellow had just two small porgies left in his cart.

Throws off Poems.

A World correspondent thinks Miss Buchanan, of the Evening Post, is a great journalist. Among her qualifications are the ability to "work like lightning and seldom revising her manuscript in the least." She also "throws off a poem now and then for a magazine." How easy!

Artificial Teeth the Best.

The people of Clarence, Iowa, have just found out that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and are getting their old teeth pulled out, replacing them non-aching sets. Others should profit by their example.

A Juvenile Philosopher.

A Hartford three-year-old consoled his mother, watching by the death-bed of his little sister, by remarking, "Mamma, don't cry! If Nellie wants to die, let her die."

A new style of watch is in the shape of a beetle, thickly incrusted with precious stones. One side of the wing opens with a sprins and discloses a watch dial, and the other side has a small place for a miniature.

A popular writer has given forth the following conundrum: "What's in a dress?" Very often there's little in a dress but cotton.

Best Quality of Dogskin

An Old Landmark.

The Verandah Cigar Store, at the N.E. corner of Kearny and Washington streets, kept by Henry Schmidt, has been famous for the last eleven years for keeping the best Havana cigars, tobacco, choice meerschaum pipes, etc. E

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hue & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. Hue & Schmidt, successors to F. J. Reilly, Agents. E

500 Pairs of Socks,

At all prices, at the What Cheer Laundry.

The Palace of Truth.

Why is an oyster like an inmate of the Palace of Truth?—Because it cannot tell a lie. Another: Why do so many of the audience after visiting the California Theatre, flock after the performance to the Pacific Oyster House, 329 Bush street, just below Montgomery?—Because Charley Hake has the finest, fattest, richest Eastern oysters, and gets up the best suppers imaginable.

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat someth ng nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Henry Bocken is the most experienced of caterers, and his lunches and dinners cannot be beat. Our best fed lawyers, our most popular physicians, and all epicures patronize the Pioneer Restaurant. B

Elegant Jewelry.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

The Summer Season.

Gentlemen going on fishing excursions to Calistoga, and for country trips, should go to Geo. B. Davis, Fashionable Tailor, 607 Kearny street, near California. He makes tourists suits which will wear. I

Oyster Trade.

A Railroad Owned by the People.

It is a common complaint that the poor are becoming poorer and the rich richer, every day. This is to some extent the fault of the poor man. In many cases he has not an idea with regard to the investment of his savings beyond depositing them in a savings' bank, which grants him a small interest and gives his money to the rich man to use. Sometimes the poor man, impatient at the slow rate at which his money increases, becomes desperate enough to speculate in stocks about which he knows nothing. In such a case as this he loses all and curses his luck. A great chance will shortly be offered the poor man to invest his savings and get good interest for them.

Why should he not take stock in the new railroad that is to be built and have his share in the profits? Will he do so? We fear not. He will foolishly say that "it's the rich men's business to build railroads, and he doesn't want to have anything to do with it." He hates and envies Stanford and the other railroad lords, and thinks it very hard that they should have so much while he has so little. He does not reflect that he, and men of small means like him, by refusing to take any part in public enterprises are the ones who make these men rich. Let the stock of the new railroad, which all confess must be built, be divided into shares of small value in order to give the poor man a chance of sharing in the profits of the enterprise. We don't say he will buy them; he will buy wildcat mining stock, lottery tickets or Cocos Island Treasure shares, but it is doubtful whether he will invest in a legitimate enterprise which promises a sure return. Nevertheless try him, give him a chance. If he will not avail himself of it when offered then let him no longer complain that the rich man can get a larger interest on his wealth than he can on his small, laboriously acquired savings.

Willie Edouin.

The Washington Critic of the 29th, speaking of the performance of the Lydia Thompson Troupe at the New National Theatre, says: "It might seem invidious to particularize any one of the company where all were so good; but we cannot but mention the Varney of Mr. Edouin as a specimen of burlesque acting of rare excellence. He exhibits talents which, if cultivated, cannot fail to place him in an enviable position in his profession."

Unjust.

The Chicago Tribune says of the stringent law recently enacted by the Legislature of Illinois; "It's a nice law, this new temperance statute. You can get drunk, larrup your wife and knock smithereens out of the furniture, and then make the man who sold you the virus pay all the damage." It is very mean after one has had so much true enjoyment to make another man pay for it.

Spring Paragraphs.

A heartless Chicago scribe says:

Soon the combined mower and reaper will commence to reap a harvest of fingers and toes, and shooters of Spring ducks will blow down their guns to see if they are loaded. For these and all other mercies may we paragraphists be truly grateful.

TO GAS CONSUMERS!

THE SAN FRANCISCO

GAS COMPANY.

INTENDING TO FURNISH Gas at the LOWEST RATES, respectfully requests a continuance of the patronage of the public.

The document lately circulated by another Company, authorizing it to put in supply pipes, was signed by many under the mistaken idea that it is an agreement binding both parties. This not being the case, no advantage is to be derived by consumers from permitting the inconveniences caused by laying and connecting new service pipes.

These Lozenges meet the wants of thousands, as there are many that cannot swallow a pill, and with the children it is utterly impossible to get them to take one, even be it "sugar-coated." The Lozenges they cry for; in deliciousness they rival the finest confectionery; they are a vegetable substitute for mercurial preparations, requiring no particular course of diet while using them. They possess a nourishing and nutritious principle, and are the only purgative medicine known that strengthens during the process of purgation. They regulate the various organs of the system, restoring functional harmony and securing the secretion of the proper constituents of each organ. By their action the liver secretes its allotted proportion of bile, the lungs carbon, the skin perspires, the kidneys are vitalized. In Female Complaints they act like a charm.

WEDNESDAY.....MAY 1, 1872

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

The Alhambra.

The addition of the favorite character performers, Sheridan and Mack, and the eccentric Ethiopian actor, Sam Rickey, to the already strong company at this house, has had the effect of increasing the rush to such an extent that those who desire to get in must go early. Billy Emerson in amusing acts and specialties of song and dance; Fayette Welch in funny stories and comic songs, and others in songs and a variety of entertainments, will all appear to-night.

California Theatre.

A very few nights remain in which the public of San Francisco can escape from the false world outside and spend an hour in "The Palace of Truth." This play will be presented to-night with all the attractions of new ballets by Millie Venturoli and Gaugain and the new features of the wonderful Majiltons. On Friday evening the fascinating Miss Marie Majilton will take her benefit.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Lotta has caused a veritable furore by her impersonation of Topsy, and is the jolliest little nig that ever capered on a plantation. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be presented once more, and then Lotta will appear in the very dissimilar character of Sam Willoughby in "The Ticket-of-Leave Man." Lotta takes her farewell benefit on Friday, when she will really bid farewell to the good people of San Francisco for a long time, as she intends to have a long rest after the close of her present engagement.

Bella Union.

"The Bottle Imp" with its fine scenery and diabolic effects, is quite a success. It is preceded by capital first part and interlude in which Johnny Thiers, Tommy Barton, Miss Susie Robinson, Fanny Garretson, Marie Zoel, and many others appear in an attractive melange of songs, dances, and burnt cork farces.

Pacific Hall.

The musicians of San Francisco are unanimous in pronouncing the performance of the baby violinist Americus truly artistic and genuine. Though a child, Americus is an artist, and need not rely on his tender age for appreciation from those who know anything about music. Those who don't, like the critic of the Call, will make some such absurd blunder as saying he plays with "little expression," for fear of endorsing a prodigy whose playing may be for all they know about it nothing but pretty tricks. With the aid of the other members of the combination, Miss Laura A. Stevenson, the Great Vivian, Mrs. Galton, J. H. Stout and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coriell, a very pleasing evening's entertainment is given. There will be a matinee to-day, when the children should be taken to hear the baby violinist who effects such honor on the rising generation.

Union Hall

This splendid and spacious hall has just been remodeled and adorned in a manner which makes it present a most attractive appearance. The acoustics have been improved to fit it for monster concerts, and a large sum of money has been expended on improving it in every way. The walls have been frescoed and emblazoned with scrolls on which appear the names of those who have attained fame in music, art and song. It will be re opened this evening with a May-Day Festival. A grand concert will be given by an orchestra of thirty pieces, with Geo. F. Evans as conductor. A novelty in the programme will be the performance, for the first time in California of Haydn's brilliant musical eccentricity entitled "Abschieds," which he wrote on a proposal being made to him to lessen the orchestra of which he was conductor. The director asked Haydn if he couldn't get on with two violins less. "Oh yes," said Haydn. "And perhaps the horns might be reduced?" "Certainly," assented Haydn. After the economical director had finished his proposed curtailments of the orchestra, Haydn wrote "Abschieds" to show the effect of his economy. In this composition the full orchestra commences, and one by one ceases playing until a solitary man is left. It is gratifying to know that this piece of musical satire had the desired effect and Haydn was allowed henceforth to engage as many men as he saw fit for his orchestra. Beside this there will be a horn solo by Schiotte, the overture to "William Tell," and other selections. After the concert there will be a dance, Ballenberg's full orchestra having been engaged for the occasion and Prof. O. H. Lunt being master of the ceremonies. The refreshment department will be under the charge of Miley & Perne, and sherbets, pistache, ices, etc., will be provided. Altogether the festival promises to be a pleasant and fashionable affair.

The New American Theatre.

Those who drop in for an hour or so at this place of amusement will find plenty of entertainment, a good programme of songs, dances and acts being presented by the artists named on our first page.

St. Andrew's Society Picnic.

The St. Andrew's Society will hold their annual picnic this season at Laurel Grove, San Rafael, on Saturday next. The excursion arrangements are in the hands of a competent committee, and Scottish games and other extra attractions will take place on the grounds.

Captain Badger's Grand Central Park.

These beautiful grounds, on the other side of the bay, are in great demand for picnics. They are to let for the purpose on most liberal terms. The Grand Army of the Republic will get from their picnic held last Sunday, as we are informed by the Secretary, nearly $700.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 809 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates.

Go and See Them.

Ladies in want of a new Parasol should go to Jones & Wilkinson's, 302 Third street, corner of Folsom. They have all the new styles and their prices are as usual "on the bed rock."

OUR OWN.

If I had known in the morning
How weary all the day
The words unkind would trouble my mind
That I said when you went away,
I had been more careful, darling,
Nor given you needless pain;
But we vex our own with look and tone
We might never take back again.

For though in the quiet evening
You may give me the kiss of peace,
Yet it might well be that never for me
The pain of the heart should cease!
How many go forth at morning
Who never come home at night!
And hearts have broken for harsh words spoken,
That sorrow can ne'er set right.

We have careful thought for the stranger,
And smiles for the sometimes guest;
But oft for our own the bitter tone,
Though we love our own the best,
Ah! brow with the shade of scorn,
'Twere a cruel fate, were the night too late
To undo the work of morn!

No Home.

A lady was attracted one Sunday evening by a little boy on the street. He was a bright little fellow, but was rather shabbily dressed, and had an appearance of being better acquainted with the shades than the light of this world. "Where is your home, my little son?" she asked. "I hain't got no home," he answered. "Got no home?" she repeated, the tears standing in her eyes. "No, marm," said he, equally affected; "I board." The sweet, sad face of the lady suddenly disappeared beneath the gossamer film of her vail.

Bore it Well.

Charles Fox once received a severe lecture about his extravagance from his father, who concluded by saying he wondered his son could enjoy a moment's repose, when he considered the immense sums he owed. "Dear me, sir," replied Charles; "you shouldn't wonder at that; but rather how my creditors can."

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage.

Good Bread.

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. For size, weight and quality, STEIN'S loaves are superior to any patent bread that ever bore a flash trade mark. He challenges imitation, and invites a trial at the hands of the public. Leave your orders at STEIN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street.

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

The Cosy Resort.

Mr. F. F. Jones (formerly assistant treasurer of the California Theatre) and Mr. C. A. Schroder, "dispensers of good things," at 330 Bush street, below Kearny, solicit a call from their friends and the public generally. None but the finest brands of liquors and cigars served. Private club and social rooms annexed.

It is Perfectly Astonishing

DR. J. H. JOSSELYN

CAN BE FOUND ONLY AT NO. 24 GEARY street, near the junction of Market and Kearny streets, where he will be happy to meet his old Patrons and such of the public as may need his valuable services. The Doctor is the most experienced physician now on the Pacific coast in the treatment of Long Standing and Chronic Complaints. The remedies he uses are entirely vegetable, and of his own discovery; they are unknown to any other physician.

To Females the Doctor would say that the last three years have added greatly to his knowledge of diseases and irregularities incident to their sex.

In all consultations the utmost privacy will be observed.

Dr. Josselyn is prepared to make special contracts to cure for a stated price, the cure to be warranted or no charges to be made for services. Prices moderate. Office hours from 9 A.M., to 8 P.M. Comforting.

There is more than one way of "talking on the subject of religion," and a better way evidently, than the old English lady had found whose husband lay wasting under a lingering disease. The rector expressed a hope that she sometimes spoke to him of the future. "I do, indeed, sir. Often and often I wakes him in the night, and says, 'John, you little thinks of the torments as is preparing for you.'"

Too Particular Altogether.

A lady writer says if women were as particular in choosing a virtuous husband as men are in selecting a virtuous wife, a moral reformation would soon begin, which would be something more than froth and foam. We fear if the women put into force the recommendation of this lady, the incomes of some of our fashionable ministers will sensibly diminish, and the sale of bridal trousseaus will cease entirely.

Not Good at Names.

A Boston girl being asked if she had not once been engaged to "a party by the name of" Jackson, who was at the time a Harvard student, languidly replied, "I remember the circumstance perfectly, but I am not certain about the name."

An Irish paper concludes a biography of Robespiere with the following sentence:

This extraordinary man left no children except his brother, who was killed at the same time.

The best thing that can happen to a woman is to attract the love of a man; the best thing for a man is to love a woman. All the female men in the world cannot alter the laws of nature.

A lady describing an ill-tempered man, says: "He never smiles but he feels ashamed of it."

A pound of energy with an ounce of talent will achieve greater results than a pound of talent and an ounce of energy.

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. The Palace of Truth.

Why is an oyster like an inmate of the Palace of Truth?—Because it cannot tell a lie. Another: Why do so many of the audience after visiting the California Theatre, flock after the performance to the Pacific Oyster House, 329 Bush street, just below Montgomery?—Because Charley Haake has the finest, fattest, richest Eastern oysters, and gets up the best suppers imaginable.

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat something nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Henry Bocken is the most experienced of caterers, and his lunches and dinners cannot be beat. Our best fed lawyers, our most popular physicians, and all epicures patronize the Pioneer Restaurant. R

Elegant Jewelry.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

The Summer Season.

Gentlemen going on fishing excursions to Calistoga, and for country trips, should go to Geo. B. Davis, Fashionable Tailor, 507 Kearny street, near California. He makes tourists suits which will wear. I

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

"Nagging."

Not a very pretty word but a very expressive one is "nagging." There is no other word in the English language which so well describes a certain annoyance from which so many suffer. There are women who have really no other fault save that of "nagging," but this is sufficient to obscure, if not to hide from sight altogether, all the good qualities they possess. The nagging woman will always find something to get out of temper at. Go to see her and she will welcome you with, "So you've found your way here at last have you? I might have been dead for all you cared." When her husband brings her home a new bonnet instead of looking pleased and thanking him for it she will say, "A pretty price you must have paid for it, you had better have given me the money and I would'nt have been swindled." If the children make a noise while playing, she nags at them until she makes them cry and then bemoans her hard lot, and says, "No woman ever had such ill-tempered young ones as I have." (The nagging woman always calls her children "young ones.") She has not the slightest consideration for the feelings of others if they do not act exactly as she wishes them she nags at them until for the sake of a quiet life they gives in. There is no satisfying her, no means of making her contented and happy. On fine days the sun annoys her; on rainy days she is miserable because she cannot get out. The husband of a nagging woman must needs be a paragon or he would take to drink in sheer desperation. She is one of those women of whom it is often said, "she is enough to provoke a saint." This unhappy temperament is often the result of disease; the digestive or other vital organs are in an unhealthy condition, and it is in consequence of this that the mind is in in a continual state of irritation. Knowing this, the intimate friends of the nagging woman make allowances for her and half that she says with them passes for nothing; they know that she "does'nt mean any harm," and put up with her. Those who need not associate with her give her a wide berth and flee from the nasal whine of her complaining voice, as from an affliction, to be shunned by all possible means.

Fighting the Tiger.

One of the latest sensation stories commences with the casual remark: "Did you ever, gentle reader, have a tussle with a full-grown Bengal tiger?" We did, and if the king had turned, as we betted it would, we would have come out $35 ahead.

Very Pleasant.

A Missouri woman recently eloped, leaving the following note to comfort the heart of the husband: "Dear William—Good bye. Do not mourn for the children, for none of them are yours."

Supper Parties.

A man eats breakfast because he is hungry; too often he hurries over his dinner, but supper he enjoys. All enjoy a supper at the BIVALVE, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny. There they find the cosiest little private rooms up-stairs, the finest oysters and the best of everything. W. Spreen started the Bivalve seven years ago, and it is to-day the most popular oyster house in San Francisco.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well ghted and ventilated. •

THE SAN FRANCISCO

GAS COMPANY.

INTENDING TO FURNISH Gas at the LOWEST RATES, respectfully requests a continuance of the patronage of the public.

The document lately circulated by another Company, authorizing it to put in supply pipes, was signed by many under the mistaken idea that it is an agreement binding both parties. These Lozenges meet the wants of thousands, as there are many that cannot swallow a pill, and with the children it is utterly impossible to get them to take one, even be it "sugar-coated." The Lozenges they cry for; in deliciousness they rival the finest confectionery; they are a vegetable substitute for mercurial preparations, requiring no particular course of diet while using them. They possess a nourishing and nutritious principle, and are the only purgative medicine known that strengthens during the process of purgation. They regulate the various organs of the system, restoring functional harmony and securing the secretion of the proper constituents of each organ. By their action the liver secretes its allotted proportion of bile, the lungs carbon, the skin perspires, the kidneys are vitalized. In Female Complaints they act like a charm.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The engagement of the charming little protean actress, Lotta, is fast drawing to a close. To-night she will appear, for one night only, in the character of the British boodlum, as represented by "Samuel Willoughby, Esq." who nearly broke his grandmother's heart but reformed at last. "The Ticket-of-Leave Man" will be presented with a capital cast throughout: J. M. Hardie as Bob Brierly, Miss Henrietta Osborne as May Edwards, R. Craig as Melter Moss, W. J. Coggswell as Hawkshaw, and H. Colton as Jem Dalton. To-morrow night Lotta will take her farewell benefit and appear as Paul in "The Pet of the Petticoats," and as Nan the Good-for-Nothing.

California Theatre.

"The Palace of Truth" will be performed for a very few evenings more. A more attractive piece has never been presented in San Francisco. M'lles Venturoli and Gangain appear to great advantage in the new ballets, and the new and original divertissement presented by the Majiltons is a complete success. To-morrow night the fascinating Marie Majilton will take her farewell benefit when members of the Olympic Club, the child Americans, and other volunteers will appear.

The Alhambra.

Sheridan and Mack are immense favorites at this house; Sam Rickey has made a most decided hit in the screaming farce of 'Bad Whiskey;" Billy Emerson presents some of his most popular acts, and is encored again and again; J. G. Russell the baritone, M. Ainsley Scott and the pleasing tenors S. H. Holdsworth and Harry Norman, give general satisfaction by their vocal efforts, and Fayette Welch amuses all by his unctuous humor.

Bella Union.

The attractions at this popular variety theatre are so numerous that everyone who pays it a visit is well pleased. Johnny Tuers, Susie Robinson, Harry Sinclair, Clara Starr, Tommy Barton, Marie Zoel, and a host of others will appear in a varied programme concluding with the spectacular play of "The Bottle Imp."

The New American Theatre.

There is always something to amuse at this place whenever one drops in, and as 25 cents is not a very large price of admission, there is always a good audience to enjoy a well-arranged programme of songs, dances and burnt-cork farces.

Mercantile Library Hall.

When an artiste of established reputation comes here the San Francisco public have too much amour propre to neglect to fill the house, therefore we may safely prophesy that Mercantile Library Hall will be thronged to-night when Miss Anna Mehlig, one of the greatest of living pianistes, will give her first concert. She will play "The Faust Waltze," by Liszt, and Weber's "Concertstuck." The string quartette of the Musical Institute and Mrs. Marriner will assist.

Union Hall.

There was a large and fashionable attendance last night on the occasion of the re-opening of Union Hall after an extensive improvement and ornamentation. It presented a brilliant appearance and should be the scene of many a fashionable gathering in the future. An orchestra comprising many of the best musical artistes in San Francisco, gave a delightful concert under the directorship of Prof. George T. Evans. Haydn's "Abschield" is a charming composition, and we hope to hear it again before long. The whole programme was excellently well performed, and a pleasant dance in which many of our San Francisco belle participated, wound up the evening's amusement.

City Gardens.

The following picnics and Festivals will come off at these beautiful Gardens during the month of May. On Saturday, the Saunders Conclave of Heptasophs will hold their May Festival and crowning of the May Queen. On Sunday, the 5th, an instrumental concert and skating exhibition by Callie Curtis assisted by Cyrus True and a number of amateurs. On Saturday, the 11th, picnic of the Improved Order of Red Men, by all the tribes located in this city. On Sunday, the 12th, picnic of the Fenian Brotherhood. Sunday, the 19th, picnic and military festival of the Washington Zouaves. Sunday, the 25th, picnic of the Farian and Occidental Conclaves of Heptasophs. This is really a fine month's amusement offered by the new and enterprising management of this resort.

Benefit of Signor Biesta.

In consequence of the withdrawal of Signorina Speranza, "Il Trovatore" will be performed at Maguire's Opera House to-morrow evening instead of "Lucrzia Borgia." Miss Annie McKenzie will appear in the leading role.

St. Andrew's Society Picnic.

The St. Andrew's Society will hold their annual picnic this season at Laurel Grove, San Rafael, on Saturday next. The excursion arrangements are in the hands of a competent committee, and Scottish games and other extra attractions will take place on the grounds.

Miss Carlotta Leclercq.

This talented actress, who is to commence an engagement at the California Theatre on Monday evening, will arrive to-night.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management and is very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Capt. Badger's Grand Central Park, Oakland.

Sunday, May 5th, exhibition by Miss Carrie Moore and Prof. Lovett on one-wheeled skates, velocipede and fancy skating. Kohler's Grand Band in attendance. Admission, 25 cents; children, 10 cents. B

Go and See Them.

Ladies in want of a new Parasol should go to Jones & Wilkinson's, 302 Third street, corner of Folsom. They have all the new styles and their prices are as usual "on the bed rock."

Remarkable Coincidences.

Here is another singular coincidence. An Orange county, N. Y, man cut off his forefinger with an ax recently: "What makes this accident a curious one," says the local paper, "is that his father met with precisely the same accident when about the same age." It is wonderful how accidents run in some families—how they are hereditary, as it were. We once knew a man who knocked his head against a door, and that man's son was ever after afflicted with trouble of the head. He was continually running it against some other boy's fist, and the amount of court plaster which was used on his scalp, the number of keys which were put down his back to stop the flow of blood from his nose, and the quantities of oysters which were applied to his eyes to reduce the swelling, were appalling to contemplate. We also knew another family in which accidents were hereditary, A lady gave birth to a female child when she was fifteen years seven months and nine days' old, and that female child was afflicted in the same way at the same age—the only difference of account in this singular coincidence being that the child this time was a boy, so that the accident can't very well be repeated.

Reading vs.

A wag was requested by an old lady to read a newspaper for her. He took it up and read as follows: "Last night, yesterday morning, about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, before breakfast, a hungry boy about 40 years old, bought a big custard for a levy, and threw it through a brick wall nine feet thick, and jumped over it, broke his right ankle off above his left knee, and fell into a dry mill-pond and was drowned. About 40 years after that, on the same day, an old cat had nine turkey gobblers; a high wind blew Yankee Doodle on a frying pan, and killed a sow and two dead pigs at Boston, where a deaf and dumb man was talking to his Aunt Peter.', Whereupon the old lady, taking a long breath, exclaimed, "Du tell!"

A woman in Manchester, England, has been arrested for chloroforming woman, and, while they are in an insensible condition, cutting off and stealing their hair.

The fashion of throwing an old slipper after the carriage of a newly-married couple is supposed to mean that the chances of matrimony are very slippery.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

Good Bread.

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. For size, weight and quality, STEIN'S loaves are superior to any patent bread that ever bore a flash trade mark. He challenges imitation, and invites a trial at the hands of the public. Leave your orders at STEIN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street. D

RECIPROCITY.

I would not kiss the sweetest lip
Unless it kissed me too;
As well go from the rosebud sip
The morning's clear cold dew;
Nor clasp a hand, though soft and warm,
Unless it pressed my own;
I'd rather love the perfect form
Carved out of Parian stone.

I will not worship eyes tho' bright
And beautiful they be,
Unless they bend their loving light
On me—and only me;
I would not love a form that heaven
Itself had stamped divine,
If I but dreamed that love was given
To other hearts than mine.

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

DR. J. H. JOSSELYN

CAN BE FOUND ONLY AT NO. 24 GEARY street, near the junction of Market and Kearny streets, where he will be happy to meet his old Patrons and such of the public as may need his valuable services. The Doctor is the most experienced physician now on the Pacific coast in the treatment of Long Standing and Chronic Complaints. The remedies he uses are entirely vegetable, and of his own discovery; they are unknown to any other physician.

To Females the Doctor would say that the last three years have added greatly to his knowledge of diseases and irregularities incident to their sex.

In all consultations the utmost privacy will be observed.

Dr. Josselyn is prepared to make special contracts to cure for a stated price, the cure to be warranted or no charges to be made for services. Prices moderate. Office hours from 9 A.M., to 5 P.M. Persons residing at a distance or those who may have objections to a personal interview can consult the Doctor by letter. Always describe the symptoms thoroughly and be careful to direct

A Great Exhibition.

A concert is not sure to draw the ladies; even a ball in hot weather will sometimes fail to draw the dear creatures. Davidson & Co. opened an exhibition yesterday which could not fail to secure a large attendance of the belles of fashion: two large showrooms fitted up in the most gorgeous style and opened under the name of "The White House Art Gallery," for the exhibition of the most costly and beautiful "pomps and vanities" in the shape of ladies' apparel ever seen on the Pacific. Here are to found the latest Dolly Varden suits, and other Spring and Summer suits and walking costumes from the great establishments of Worth, Pingat, and other masters of the dress-making art in Paris. The White House Art Gallery will be the most popular exhibition in town for many weeks.

"The People's Railroad."

FIGARO is not a heavy commercial paper, but it's endeavor is when any matter of real importance comes up, not to follow but to lead. On Tuesday we had an article entitled "A Railroad for the People," in which we had the double distilled essence of a leading editorial. On the following day, the Bulletin took our concentrated wisdom, and diluting it with platitudes and inconsequential "talk," reproduced it under the title of "The People's Railroad." We only want to show that FIGARO is a little ahead of it's big contemporaries in this matter, and that they have to follow in its wake. They could not follow a safer leader.

One of Michigan University's students whose bump of chemical knowledge had been set down as 7X by a phrenological professor, in a recent examination declared that the formula for sulphuric acid was S. T.—1860—X.

The Wyoming Journal publishes the following in its advertising rates: "Fees for marriage notices as high as the ecstacy and liberality of the bridegroom may prompt."

A blushing beauty says that among other "sports of the ring" may be included weddings.

The young ladies of a Connecticut town object to being called "Great Plain Girls."

The Palace of Truth.

Why is an oyster like an inmate of the Palace of Truth?—Because it cannot tell a lie. Another: Why do so many of the audience after visiting the California Theatre, flock after the performance to the Pacific Oyster House, 329 Bush street, just below Montgomery?—Because Charley Hanke has the finest, fattest, richest Eastern oysters, and gets up the best suppers imaginable.

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat someth ng nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Henry Bocken is the most experienced of caterers, and his lunches and dinners cannot be beat. Our best fed lawyers, our most popular physicians, and all epicures patronize the Pioneer Restaurant. H

Elegant Jewelry.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. O

Gossip About Kisses.

Some writer, we know not who, has well described the "vulgarization" of kisses by characterizing it as "profanation." This is emphatically an age of kissing. Everybody kisses everybody. Since the anti-fastidious days when the old woman saluted her cow, such a time of promiscuous and inordinate lip service was never known. The sign and seal of a "strange intelligence" has become a hissing and a bye word; the plaything of witlings; the tool of satyrs; the lost jewel of the elect.

A kiss should be one of the holiest demonstrations of the soul; it should have a voiceless eloquence— an electric reserve. It has no such thing. It pops a good morning, it sputters a good evening; it whizzes and fizzles on the right hand, on the left hand, here, there, and everywhere; at last, marked, cornered, and set upon, we set our teeth and abide the shock as best we can. It is high-handed sacrilege, and we enter our protest.

A kiss is no more an unconsidered trifle to be rudely filched—torn warm and beating from its resting place, and frittered from mouth to mouth, than is the purest prayer we offer—which God still keeps inviolate. If we would preserve the gift a sweet and holy token— beautiful and sanctified to the beloved—we must use it wisely and with a noble cheerfulness.

Public kissing, however, madly and at random, prevails extensively. The malady grows and is becoming epidemic and chronic. Zenobia's kiss is the long and silent throb of her inmost soul—unexpressed and inexpressible, save to those divinely akin; but if she chances to be one of an indiscriminate circle, as each member drops off she must bend her head to the puppet performance—the kiss all round—which would be most appropriately accompanied by the elegant air of "Pop goes the Weasel." Penelope herself is obliged to look sharply to the dew on her lips, or ten to one it will be spirited away on some graceless moustache.

Very Profane.

An Arkansas landlord thus profanely advertises his hotel in the local papers:

And Joseph wept aloud, and he said unto his brethren. "I am Joseph; doth my father yet live?" And his brethren answered him: "You bet; the old man is doing bully, for he boards at the Cosmopolitan."

The Alta's earthquake sharp is inquiring about the "Great Electrical Fugitive." We think he went through this way, the other morning, pursued by an exasperated Chinaman with a wash-bill.—Oakland News.

Man and wife in Russia always own their property separately, and instances of wives suing their husbands for debt are by no means uncommon.

In Maroa, Illinois, the bridegroom does the fainting and takes the kissing at the weddings, while the bride whispers, "Lean on me, dearest."

An ingenious Chicago lady has made $17,000 by personating the "forlorn maiden," "lone widow," "wife of a sick husband," etc., successively.

Supper Parties.

A man eats breakfast because he is hungry; too often he hurries over his dinner, but supper he enjoys. All enjoy a supper at the BIVALVE, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny. There they find the cosiest little private rooms up-stairs, the finest oysters and the best of everything. W. Spreen started the BIVALVE seven years ago, and it is to-day the most popular oyster house in San Francisco.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well ghted and ventilated.

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bons, his worthy successor. U

Looking for a Reduction of Wages.

EDITOR FIGARO:—Tuesday's Chronicle has the following item:—

Printers are very scarce in San Francisco. Fifty more compositors could find employment.

Now, the Chronicle people are perfectly well aware of the fact that instead of "fifty more compositors" being wanted in this city, printers here would be materially benefited if we had fifty compositors less. If the Chronicle is short of compositors, there are plenty of good workmen here who are ready and willing to go to work without importing them; all the proprietors will have to do is to walk along Clay street, and I will guarantee that they can get twenty compositors in an hour. TYPO.

Ungallant Old Boys.

At Barton, Lincolnshire, England, a dinner was given the other day to twenty of the old men who worked on the parish roads, and a local journal supplied a report of the proceedings. When the health of "The Ladies of Barton" was proposed, the old fellows exhibited a shocking want of gallantry, taking no notice of the toast. The vice-chairman, when requested to respond to it, said he "should do nowt o' the sort, as he wasn't over and above fond on 'em." William Hewson and Thomas Potts likewise declined to do honor to the fair sex. At length the youngest of them, a mere boy, only sixty-nine, acknowledged the toast.

That Frog.

That frog has turned up again. This time it is in Vermont. And he wasn't in a rock An old tree was being hacked to pieces, when out jumped the frog as lively as a horse-car flea. The teller of the story says that he must have been a prisoner for at least 50 years. The frog has done good service in his time, and many a paragraphist has thanked heaven for the man who first invented him.

FIGARO

Published every day, except Sunday, by

J. P. BOGARDUS

—AT—

532 Merchant St. and 535 Washington St.

Below Montgomery Block

FRIDAY..... MAY 3, 1872

Extra Edition of "Figaro" for the Interior.

The motto of FIGARO is, as we suppose our readers are aware, "Here, there, and everywhere." Our San Francisco business men will take notice that we shall next week publish an extra edition of 25,000 FIGAROS for circulation in San Jose, Stockton, Marysville and Sacramento, and to be used as the programme of the entertainments given by Lotta and the Metropolitan Theatre company in the theatres of those cities. As our space for advertisements is very limited, those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity of bringing their business before the inhabitants of the above-named cities in a manner which cannot fail to attract attention will see the advisability of sending in their advertisements either to-day or to-morrow.

Master Bob's Composition.

A dog is a long square beast with a tail on one end and a head on the other, and on each of his corners has a leg, of which the two on the front is as straight as anything, and the two back is like three lengths of a rail fence. His bark isn't outside of him, like a tree's, but comes from the inside, and he wears his hair cut close unless he's a Newfoundlan' or a poodle, which has long woolly hair like a mutton sheep. He don't take his liquor like father does, but makes a teaspoon out of his tongue and dips it up. Some dogs bite and let go, and some dogs hold as tight as a steel trap. Our Bose is a dog, and Jake says he's been batted at both ends; the bat on his fore end knocked his nose up, and the bat on his hind end drove his tail in. Some people say if you go at a dog backwards he won't bite you, but that depends, maybe, whether he goes at you backwards too.

Economical Furniture.

Three dozen flour barrels, twelve old boxes, one gross of old tacks and a piece of furniture chintz will furnish a house in a beautiful manner, when combined by some one who reads Harper's Bazar.

One Hundred Prizes,

Including a valuable Gold Watch, will be distributed to the first 1000 persons entering the City Gardens Saturday at the Heptasoph's Festival. d

Best Quality of Dogskin

Driving gloves, at $2 per pair, at the What Cheer Laundry.

An Old Landmark.

The Verandah Cigar Store, at the N.E. corner of Kearny and Washington streets, kept by Henry Schmidt, has been famous for the last eleven years for keeping the best Havana cigars, tobacco, choice meerschaum pipes, etc. E

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 635 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to F. J. Reilly, Agents. M

500 Pairs of Socks,

At all prices, at the What Cheer Laundry.

The Palace of Truth.

Why is an oyster like an inmate of the Palace of Truth?—Because it cannot tell a lie. Another: Why do so many of the audience after visiting the California Theatre, flock after the performance to the Pacific Oyster House, 329 Bush street, just below Montgomery?—Because Charley Hanke has the finest, fattest, richest Eastern oysters, and gets up the best suppers imaginable.

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat something nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Henry Bocken is the most experienced of caterers, and his lunches and dinners cannot be beat. Our best fed lawyers, our most popular physicians, and all epicures patronize the Pioneer Restaurant. E

Elegant Jewelry.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Oyster Trade.

"Don't Worry."

In this hot weather the above is particularly good advice. Fatalism is especially adapted to a hot climate, and it is for this reason, we suppose, that so many of those living in a hot climate are fatalists. Worrying is a bad habit to get into. Another good maxim for the hot weather: Che sara sara—what will be will be. People who worry create half their own troubles. If everything is going smoothly with them, they worry themselves by wondering "how long it will last." Women worry the most because they have in many cases not enough to occupy their minds, and they worry for want of something better to do. If the baby is sleeping they say, "I know he'll wake up presently and cry." They are great hands at meeting trouble half-way. If they are invited to a picnic, instead of enjoying the anticipation they worry themselves, "wonder if it will rain; it always does if I want to go anywhere," etc. This is very stupid. There really is so little in this life worth worrying about, if people only knew it. Some people when trouble comes to them are as cool as cucumbers; they don't worry, but just let the trouble pass by, and it seems to go so much the quicker for being treated with indifference. There are a good many people worrying themselves to death just at the present time about the fall in stocks. Let them take heart. This is not the very last chance they will have to make a raise. At any rate, it is useless crying over spilled milk. Their money is gone, and the more they worry about it the worse they will feel. Don't worry. Meet Fortune's frowns with a smile, and the jade will treat you better.

A Natural Feeling.

Olive Logan commenced one of her lectures at Newark, recently, with the remark, "Whenever I see a pretty girl, I want to clasp her in my arms." "So do we," shouted the boys in the gallery.—For a moment Olive was nonplussed, but recovering her self-possession, she replied, "Well, boys, I don't blame you."

A Pleasant Prospect.

"Martha, my dear," said a loving husband to his spouse, who was several years his junior, "what do you say to moving to the far West?" "Oh, I'm delighted with the idea! You recollect when Mr. Morgan moved out there he was as poor as we are and in three years he died, leaving his widow worth $ 100,000,"

Supper Parties.

A man eats breakfast because he is hungry: too often he hurries over his dinner, but supper he enjoys. All enjoy a supper at the BIVALVE, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny. There they find the coolest little private rooms up-stairs, the finest oysters and the best of everything. W. Spreen started the BIVALVE seven years ago, and it is to-day the most popular oyster house in San Francisco.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well ghted and ventilated.

A Word to Parents.

The Grass Valley Union offers the following hints to parents, which have a local application in this city:

Parents should know the range and acts of their children. A very young boy by associating with older boys can be easily cultivated into a hoodlum, and a hoodlum will never do honor to his parents or be of service to his country. We regret to see much promise of a heavy crop of hoodlums in this place. Boys commit lawless acts of which no one likes to particularly complain. We enter now in behalf of society and in behalf of the coming men of this town a general complaint to parents. Where are your boys when school is out, and oftentimes when school is not out? Are they going around among blackguards and learning to be blackguards? It is well enough for parents to be posted in such matters, and it is a high duty of parents to ascertain the associates and haunts of the boys. It is better that a millstone be tied around the necks of some boys we know of in this town, and that they be cast into the deepest part of the sea than they continue their present habits and practices. Penitentiary walls will have to be enlarged and the gallows will have to be kept busy if the present style of growing and training the boys is to continue. The grown up people are very responsible for such a state of affairs, and parents must have more control and care of their offspring if sorrow and bitterness of woe is to be avoided in a very near future.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

To-night Miss Marie Msjilton who has bewitched the male portion of the public of San Francisco by her beauty, both of form and feature, as well as her talent in her profession, will take a benefit and certainly have a bumper. In addition to the many attractions already crowded into "The Palace of Truth" there will be a performance by members of the Olympic Club and the wonderful little genius "Americus" will appear with his violin. To-morrow, the last "Palace of Truth" matinee will be given, and after Saturday this beautiful play will be withdrawn.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Lotta delighted a very large audience last night by her performance of the character of Sam Willoughby in the "Ticket-of-Leave Man," she made jolly boy and sang several songs in a style all her own. Miss Henrietta Osborne made a good May Edwards, Robert Craig was excellent as Melter Moss, J. M. Hardie made a fine manly Bob Brierly and the play passed off well. To-night Lotta, the pet of the public, will take her farewell benefit and appear as Paul in "The Pet of the Petticoats" and afterwards as Nan the Good-for-Nothing. A capital bill, and one which will certainly draw a crowded house. To-morrow the last Lotta matinee will be given.

The Alhambra.

The great Emerson Minstrels will appear to-night in all their glory. Billy Emerson will present some of his coolest jokes, Sherrdan and Mack will appear in their best acts, Sam Rickey will show the terrible effects of drinking "Bad Whiskey," S. H. Holdsworth will sing a descriptive ballad, Fayette Welch will tell some of his funniest stories and altogether a capital entertainment will be given. There will be a matinee to-morrow when the full programme will be performed.

Maguire's Opera House.

To-night a performance will be given at Maguire's Opera House, which will probably be the last of Italian Opera for some time. "Il Trovatore" will be presented for the benefit of Signor Fred Biesta, the plucky but unfortunate impresario of the late season. Miss Annie McKenzie will appear in the role of Leonora, Signor E. Bianchi as Manrico, Signor G. Mancusi as Conti di Luna, and the other roles will be well filled. We hope the house will be likewise and that Signor Biesta will be reimbursed the money he has laid out.

Bella Union.

There is not a more perfectly ventilated theatre than the Bella Union to be found anywhere, and all can keep cool and enjoy a capital entertainment by going there. The programme comprises burlesque dances by Johnny Tuers, comicalities by Tommy Barton, the farce of "Brown's Chickens," a neat and artisctic clog dance by Marie Zoel, ballads by Minnie Fillmore, "He Would be an Actor," by Harry Sinclair, H. Thompson, and Johnny Tuers, and the play of "The Bottle Imp," which has made quite a hit, with Marsh as the Imp.

The New American Theatre.

Quite a number of popular favorites are congregated at this place of amusement. A lively and varied entertainment consisting of songs, dances, witticisms, Ethiopian acts, and burlesques is given each evening. There will be a new programme to-morrow night.

Mercantile Library Hall.

A very large and fashionable audience was present at Library Hall last night, when Miss Anna Mehlig, the world-renowned pianiste, gave her first concert. First there was an octett adagio and allegro from Schubert, well played by an admirably arranged orchestra consisting of Messrs. Louis Schmidt, E. David, A. Friedberg, A. Hildebrand, Gustav Hinrichs, E. Schlotte and J. Mundwyller, under the direction of Oscar Weil. Mrs. Marriner sang a romanza from "Roberto" in an style which drew forth enthusiastic applause, and then Miss Mehlig came forward, her face beaming with pleasure as the hearty welcoming applause accorded to a new comer fell on her ear. Without any flourish, without any of those little tricks with the gloves, but with simple grace Miss Mehlig took her seat at the piano. The first piece was a concert paraphrase on Valse from "Faust," by Liszt. It did not take many minutes to convince the audience that an artiste of the highest order was before them, though the composition chosen did not show Miss Mehlig's wonderful powers to as good advantage as those which she played subsequently—a nocturne in F sharp, by Chopin, and the Polka de la Reine, by Raff. Certainly there were few in the house last night who had ever listened to such an artiste as Miss Mehlig, and those who had formerly applauded the charlatan tricks and musical inanities of a "professor," sat abashed in the presence of genius. Miss Mehlig's delicacy of touch is wonderful, and her power of blending the notes of that not over-accomodating instrument, the pianoforte, perfectly surprising. Miss Mehlig seems to grasp a handful of notes, bind them together and present them—a rich bouquet, a mass of musical color, to the delighted hearers. No one who has not heard Miss Anna Mehlig, can have any idea of what can be done with a piano. There are thousands of pianos in this city which are instruments of torture to educated ears. All who have suffered from the tam tam ti tum of these outraged instruments, will think better of them after learning what they may do when performed on by such an artiste as Miss Anna Mehlig.

Ellsworth Rifles Picnic.

The Ellsworth Rifles will hold their tenth annual excursion to Vallejo and Mare Island on Sunday, May 5th. In addition to other amusements, there will be a base-ball match for the junior championship, between the Crescents (the present champions) and the Empires.

City Gardens.

The May Day Festival of Saunders Conclave Order of Heptasophs or S. W. M., which is to take place at the City Gardens to-morrow, promises to be a splendid affair. Over four hundred school children will take part in the festivities. Tickets are only fifty cents. One hundred prizes will be distributed among the first 1000 people who a[illegible], one being a valuable watch. There will be a grand illumination and fine concert at night.

St. Andrew's Society Picnic.

The St. Andrew's Society will hold their annual picnic this season at Laurel Grove, San Rafael, to-morrow. The excursion arrangements are in the hands of a competent committee, and Scottish games and other extra attractions will take place on the grounds.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

De Lacy vs. Crabtree.

The suit of Charles DeLacy vs. Mrs. Crabtree for $[illegible] payment for a play entitled "Either," written by DeLacy for Lotta, came up for trial in the Justice's Court this morning. DeLacy was non-suited. Mrs. Crabtree being a married woman and not liable. The play has been returned. Lotta has dozens of plays written for her in every city, but few ever pass the first reading.

THE PAVILION SKATING RINK.—That the rage for skating has not died out, as many prophesied it would, is proved by the large and fashionable attendance at the Pavilion Skating Rink on Stockton street, every evening. Miss Carrie Moore is regularly engaged here. The Pavilion is under new and better management a[illegible] is very popular.

Luxuries for the Aged.

The Alms House has since James Keating was appointed Superintendent, been without any exception the best managed public institution in the State. While he has availed himself of the limited means at his command to reduce the expenses to a minimum, the comforts o the inmates have been cared for in every wa and nothing has been left undone which could increase them. Superintendent Keating, some little time ago discovered that frogs were plentiful in the neighborhood, and with that true economy which utilizes everything, set to work to utilize the frogs. A frog supper at the Poodle Dog will cost not less than $2,50, therefore it must be confessed that frogs are a luxury—too great a luxury for paupers, the cold-hearted cynic will say. Nevertheless among the luxuries supplied the aged paupers at the Alms House, many of whom have seen better days and remember the time when they could spend their five and ten dollars at the Poodle Dog, are frogs artistically prepared by a good cook—for Superintendent Keating is too true an economist to employ any but a good cook. Happy inmates of the Alms House to have a man care for you who has brains, energy, and good taste.

Silly Custom of Treating.

A novel temperance pledge is that which originated in the New York stock exchange the other day. It is addressed to "sensibly practical temperance people," and runs as follows:

We, the undersigned, deprecating the growing evil of intemperance, and believing that it is in a great degree induced by a mistaken idea of sociability and politeness, therefore, with a view of mitigating this evil in a practical way, do hereby pledge ourselves to pay only for the liquors that we ourselves drink, and to abstain from drinking any liquors which others pay for.

"Ah, parson, I wish I could take my gold with me," said a dying deacon to his pastor. "It might melt," was the consoling reply.

An Alabama hen has laid severel black eggs, causing great consternation. They say it is the sign of a coming negro war.

SONG.

My thoughts are gentle waves that run
Ever to thee, their golden shore;
Soft glowing airs that, with the sun,
Fondle thy beauty o'er and o'er;
Glad mounting larks to whom is given
All their sweet joy to thee, their heaven.

My hopes are violets that steal
To sweet life round thy blooming spring
Swallows, that o'er thee playful wheel,
And trap thy May with happy wing;
Motes that dance in thy sun, and bless
Their hours with thee and happiness.

My songs are bees that to the rose
Of thy dear beauty murmuring cling;
Where'er thy May of gladness glows,
They hovering boom on happy wing;
Thy flush of sweets how can they see
Nor murmur joy and love to thee?

My dreams are loving stars of June,
Hung o'er thee, their world, by night
My life is one warm Summer's noon
That clasps thee in its throbbing light;
All my glad moments can but be
Moths, lured by thy sweet light to thee.

Acknowledge the Corn.

A Paris chiropodist begins an advertisment as follows: "All the world had corns: the fairest, boldest, best; Romeo doubtless had corne; Juliet had probably; and you, ladies and gentleman, need not blush to expose your feet to the operator."

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

Good Bread.

The public is coming to the conclusion that new discoveries in bread-making are anything but improvements, even should the loaves be stamped with all the letters of the alphabet, and are going back again to the baking establishments that have stood the test of years to purchase their staff of life. For size, weight and quality, STERN'S loaves are superior to any patent bread that ever bore a flash trade mark. He challenges imitation, and invites a trial at the hands of the public. Leave your orders at STERN'S Bakery, 238 Fifth street. D

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF [illegible] COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lockwood, London, nine years in Sacramento, and ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of life to professional practice, and the treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and spend the remainder of his days to quiet enjoyment; but the constant applications of suffering everywhere, to come to the front finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Lockwood, and spend a year within its wards, and inform himself of all the new methods of treatment in this celebrated institution, and then give a few years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for previous his practice as a SPECIALIST is unsurpassed in the cure of all cases brought under his care. These Lozenges meet the wants of thousands, as there are many that cannot swallow a pill, and with the children it is utterly impossible to get them to take one, even be it "sugar-coated." The Lozenges they cry for; in deliciousness they rival the finest confectionery; they are a vegetable substitute for mercurial preparations, requiring no particular course of diet while using them. They possess a nourishing and nutritious principle, and are the only purgative medicine known that strengthens during the process of purgation. They regulate the various organs of the system, restoring functional harmony and securing the secretion of the proper constituents of each organ. By their action the liver secretes its allotted proportion of bile, the lungs carbon, the skin perspires, the kidneys are vitalized. In Female Complaints they act like a charm.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE. — A splendid house greeted Lotta on the occasion of her benefit last night. Both as Paul, in the "Pet of the Petticoats" and Nan the Good-for-Nothing she received much applause, and the audience were delighted with the entertainment. At the matinee to-day, Lotta will appear as Topsy in "Uncle Tom's Cabin;" to-night she will make her last appearance and bid farewell to as many of her friends as the Metropolitan Theatre will hold. The bill which proved such a success last night will be repeated. The management have arranged a great entertainment for to-morrow evening. The very popular comedian Robert Craig will make his last appearance and play the character of O'Brien in the "Irish Emigrant." In addition to this American, the baby violinist, who is really the musical marvel of the nineteenth century, will make his appearance and play a variety of selections. On Monday the Zavistowski Sisters will appear in "Ixion."

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—A thoroughly enjoyable entertainment will be given at the matinee to-day, and again this evening. In the first part there will be beautiful singing by J. G. Russell, baritone, the two tenors, S. Holdsworth and Harry Norman, and the fine basso, M. Ainsley Scott, and any amount of fun by Billy Emerson and Fayette Welch. In the interlude Sheridan and Mack will appear in their best specialties, Sam Rickey in "Bad Whiskey," Billy Emerson in the act "Dat's my Sister," with Miss Gibson and M. Ainsley Scott and in songs and dances. In order to get a seat it is necessary to go early.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE. — The California Theatre was thronged last night when Miss Marie Majilton, the most fascinating of petits diables took her benefit. The performance went off brilliantly, and Americus, the baby violinist, caused a perfect furore by his wonderful performance. The last matinee performance of "The Palace of Truth" will take place to day, and to-night this beautiful spectacular play with all its attractions of prismatic fountain, ballets by the artistic M'lle Venturoli, and the lovely and graceful M'le Marie Gaugain, and extraordinary feats of the Majiltons will be presented for the last time. On Monday evening Miss Carlotta Leclercq, one of the most charming and talented actresses on the stage, will make her first appearance before a California audience as Rosalind in "As You Like It," which will be produced in superb style and with some additions to the company. Walter Leman, John Wilson, Edward Plympton, and Mrs. Owen Marlowe.

BELLA UNION.—A great bill has been prepared for the amusement of the Saturday night visitors of this popular variety theatre. Good music, pleasing ballads, screaming farces, artistic dances, character acts, and an amusing play, make up an entertainment hard to beat. Among other attractions announced on our first page will be noticed the first appearance of J. H. Larkin and Miss Carrie Armstrong, and the first appearance of Miss Ida Fisk, and the production of the new farce of "The Bibb's."

NEW AMERICAN THEATRE. —The attractions offered at this place of amusement, as announced in the programme, are pleasing vocalists, star actors and pretty girls in a great melange of acts, music and terpsichorean performances.

ANNA MEHLIG'S SECOND CONCERT.—The second concert of the really great pianiste, Miss Anna Mehlig, will take place at Pacific Hall on Tuesday evening. Miss Helen C. Dingeon, C. W. Dungan, Louis Schmidt, E. David, A. Friedeberg and A. Hildebrand will assist. Oscar Weil is musical director. All who attended the first concert will wish to be present at this.

CITY GARDENS —To-morrow there will be a grand entertainment at these beautiful gardens and Callie Curtis, assisted by Cyrus True, will give a skating exhibition. Those wishing to escape from the heat and dust of the city can spend the afternoon very pleasantly among the trees and flowers in these gardens. Callie Curtis will exhibit his new patent skates on stilts, to show their superiority over all others. Amateurs are invited to inspect them, and see what he can do on them.

MAC EVOY'S ORIGINAL HIBERNICON.—This entertainment, which has drawn crowded houses for the past four weeks will give their last representation to-night, therefore those who wish to enjoy an evening in Ireland, and hear something a bout her kings, her bards and historians, and be amused by a lively comedy, should go this afternoon or evening.

UNION HALL.—The French ladies of San Francisco will hold a grand National Fair, for the benefit of the French Ransom Fund, at Union Hall, commencing on Monday and lasting six days. There will be promenade concerts, tableaux vivants, military drill, theatrical exhibitions, operatic performances, and all sorts of amusements. Every one knows how well the French manage these affairs, and Union Hall during the coming week will doubtless be the fashionable resort par excellence.

CAPT. BADGER'S CENTRAL PARK, OAKLAND. Thousands will go across the bay tomorrow, and all should visit these delightful gardens, where they will find beautiful shade trees, an immense Pavilion, and all sorts of amusements. Carrie Moore and Professor Lovett will give an exhibition of skating and velocipede riding in the Pavilion. Kohler's band will be in attendance, and there are plenty of skates for all. Fifty cents covers fare there and back and admission to the Park.

LEO HUDSON.—Leo Hudson the equestrian actress who has been having quite a long rest in California, left yesterday for the East, taking with her, her beautiful mare Black Bess. Miss Hudson is accompanied by Miss Eva West, a young actress who has played with her through the country. She will perform at St. Louis, Louisville, and Pittsburgh and go thence to Baltimore.

MISS LAURA STEVENSON.—This lady, better known in the theatrical profession as Miss Laura Honey, has withdrawn from the American combination in order to recruit after her long travelling season. It is probable that she will shortly reappear on the dramatic stage. We have read favorable notices of her acting in the Boston, New York and Canadian papers, written when she appeared in her own dramatization of "Christie Johnstone,"

OUT OF THE EAST.—Johnny Manning will leave on Monday for the East to engage talent for Aline Le Favre's Varieties —Maguire's Opera House—which will be opened on or about the 1st of June.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—The rain has laid the dust beautifully and the Cliff House road is in splendid condition. It will be alive with teams to-morrow on their way to Captain Foster's famous hostelry where there is "good entertainment for man and beast."

LOTTA'S ENGAGEMENT AT THE METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—The engagement of the most popular of juvenile artistes, Lotta, at the Metropolitan Theatre, commenced on April 8th, when she appeared in the protean play of "The Little Detective" to an overflowing house. This play was presented every evening during the week and at the matinee on Saturday to thronged houses. On Monday "Little Nell and the Marchioness," was presented and played for three nights, the attendance when it was withdrawn being as large as the first night. "Heartsease" was then presented and drew large houses. And on Monday, the 22d, the military Drama of "Fire-Fly" was produced and played for three nights, when by very general request "Little Nell" was revived, and on the following night, Friday, "The Little Detective" was played. "Little Nell" was played once more on Saturday evening. On Monday, the 27th, Lotta appeared in her great character of Topsy in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and repeated it to immense houses on the two following nights. On Thursday evening she appeared for one night only in the character of Sam Willoughby in the "Ticket-of-Leave Man." On Friday evening she took her farewell benefit, appearing as Paul in "The Pet of the Petticoats," and as Nan the Good-for-Nothing," receiving a perfect ovation. Lotta's share of the profits of the engagement will not fall short of $12 000. She has received most efficient support from Robert Craig, Miss Henrietta Osborne, J. M. Hardie, John Woodard, Miss Maggie Moore, and the other members of the Metropolitan Theatre company. Every play has been placed on the stage in most excellent style under the immediate supervision of the experienced stage manager, J. H. Vinson; and the management have been preparing in their expenditures. Altogether Lotta's engagement at the Metropolitan Theatre, San Francisco, may be placed among dramatic chronicles as one of the most brilliant on record. It closes to-night with the same bill, which gave such general satisfaction last night. From here Lotta will go to San Jose, where she will play on the 6th and 7th, appearing in "The Little Detective" and "Little Nell;" thence to Stockton for the 8th and 9th, in the same plays; afterwards to Marysville for the 10th and 11th, and opening in Sacramento on the 13th for one week only. This season among her California friends finished, Lotta will take a rest of fifteen months, during which time she will make a tour of the continent of Europe.

MAGUIRE'S OPERA HOUSE.—A splendid house was present last night, on the occasion of the benefit of Signor Biesta, impressario of the late opera season. The benefit was given for the pupose of enabling Signor Biesta to get out of difficulties in which his attempt at management had involved him. The first act went off very pleasantly, but after that came a crisis. "Abscheid" was played in dumb motion by the orchestra. First a violin walked off, then a horn followed, then a flageolet, and at last the audience were horrified by seeing the noble bass viol, on which their last hope idepended, follow the others. They could not make it out, and sat gazing at one another with a puzzled expression of countenance. The drop-scene vibrated and the gentlemanly Monsieur Charles stepped forth. He made a little speech, as follows: "Ladies and Gentlemen—The principals in the opera are here ready and willing to give you the entertainment you have come to hear, but the orchestra—the orchestra! You see how it is. They have gone. They have not been paid and they will not play. What shall we do?" Here some enthusiastic individuals, wishing to encourage M. Charles, cried "Go on! Go on" "It is impossible," sighed the tenor; "it is impossible. An orchestra is necessary for an opera," and sadly he retired behind the curtain. What did the audience? Hoot, yell, smash benches? This they would have done had they been an Italian audience, a French audience, or a British audience, but no, they were mild-mannered San Franciscans who cared not over much for a dollar, and retired quietly past the closed box office. Who is to blame for this state of things we cannot quite make out; some say that the tickets were sold on credit, and Signor Biesta had not received the money. One thing is certain neither orchestra, chorus, minor attaches, printers nor newspaper proprietors were paid. The dismissal of the audience was one of the most disgraceful affairs that has ever been known in the annals of opera in San Francisco. Signor Biesta was ambitious and was also unfortunate in falling into bad hands. One thing is certain, the benefit was a success; an immense house was present, but with the exception of the valiant stage carpenter, George Nichols, who visited the management in company with his agent after the performance and got his money, no one as far as we have heard drew a dollar from the treasury, and no money was returned at the box office. The public can draw their own conclusions.

MISS MEHLIG'S FIRST CONCERT. — This world-renowned pianiste gave her first concert in San Francisco at Mercantile Library Hall, on Thursday evening, to an audience composed of the elite of the city. We reproduce the following description of her style of playing from yesterday's issue:

Without any flourish, without any of those little tricks with the gloves, but with simple grace Miss Mehlig took her seat at the piano. The first piece was a concert paraphrase on Valse from "Faust," by Liszt. It did not take many minutes to convince the audience that an artiste of the highest order was before them, though the composition chosen did not show Miss Mehlig's wonderful powers to as good advantage as those which she played subsequently—a nocturne in F sharp, by Chopin, and the Polka de la Reine, by Raff. Certainly there were few in the house last night who had ever listened to such an artiste as Miss Mehlig, and those who had formerly applauded the charlatan tricks and musical insanities of a "professor," sat abashed in the presence of genius. Miss Mehlig's delicacy of touch is wonderful, and her power of blending the notes of that not over-accomodating instrument, the pianoforte, perfectly surprising. Miss Mehlig seems to grasp a handful of notes, bind them together and present them—a rich bouquet, a mass of musical color, to the delighted hearers. No one who has not heard Miss Anna Mehlig, can have any idea of what can be done with a piano. There are thousands of pianos in this city which are instruments of torture to educated ears. All who have suffered from the dum tum dum tum of these outraged instruments, will think better of them after hearing what they may do when performed on by such an artiste as Miss Anna Mehlig.

THE ZAVISTOWSKI SISTERS. — These very popular burlesque actresses, who have just arrived from a highly successful engagement in the Australasian Colonies, will open at the Metropolitan Theatre on Monday in the favorite extravaganza of "Ixion," which will be produced in gorgeous style. On this occasion Miss Henrietta Grainger, comedienne and vocalist, will make her first appearance in California, and the popular comedian, W. O. Crosbie, will make his first appearance in San Francisco. The Zavistowskis are immense favorites with the San Francisco public, and will doubtless play a brilliant engagement.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.— One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

RETURNED.—The following members of the variety profession returned from a very successful engagement in Portland, Oregon, Victoria, V. I., and towns on Puget Sound. Jake Wallace, J. H. Larkin, Charley Nickerson, Miss Carrie Armstrong, and Miss Ida Fisk.

PIERPONT THAYER.—This popular young actor will fill in the Summer vacation by giving a series of readings in towns in the interior. He will be assisted by M'lle Louise Mozart, a pleasing vocalist. The first entertainment will be given at Redwood City, and on Wednesday night another will be given at San Jose,

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

A man eats breakfast because he is hungry; too often he hurries over his dinner, but supper he enjoys. All enjoy a supper at the BIVALVE, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny. There they find the coolest little private rooms up-stairs, the finest oysters and the best of everything. W. Spreen started the BIVALVE seven years ago, and it is to-day the most popular oyster house in San Francisco.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well ghted and ventilated. e

The Palace of Truth.

Why is an oyster like an inmate of the Palace of Truth?—Because it cannot tell a lie. Another: Why do so many of the audience after visiting the California Theatre, flock after the performance to the Pacific Oyster House, 329 Bush street, just below Montgomery?—Because Charley Hanke has the finest, fattest, richest Eastern oysters, and gets up the best suppers imaginable.

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat something nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Henry Bocken is the most experienced of caterers, and his lunches and dinners cannot be beat. Our best fed lawyers, our most popular physicians, and all epicures patronize the Pioneer Restaurant. B

Elegant Jewelry.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Oyster Trade.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

New Orleans, 15th. Academy of Music. "Black Crook," to big biz, for a second week. St. Charles Jananscheck and troupe, with J. B. Studley, newly arrived, as principal support. Stock of St. Charles left 15th for Montreal. Varieties, "Streets of New York," with Lawrence Barrett as Badger, for benefit of Loraine Rodgers. Piece continued for a few nights longer to fair biz. At Stuart Robson's late benefit the receipts were $1,603. French Opera House continued open, with a constant change of programme.

Maggie Mitchell opened at Boston Theatre, 29th and thence to California.

Lingard Troupe, Minneapolis, Minn., May 3d and 4th, will close its travels May 25th for Summer, and recommence Sept. 2d.

D. C. La Rue, late proprietor of La Rue's Minstrels, was arrested in Washington recently for carrying on a "gift enterprise without a license. He was charged with putting up packages of candy purporting to contain one, two, and three dollars, which were sold for fifty cents each. Admitted to bail in $2,000.

Harry Wall obtained from a Sheriff's jury $300 damages and costs against Tony Pastor for permitting "When the Band Begins to Play" to be sung in his theatre, without permission of the former, who claimed to have composed the song conjointly with a Mr. G. W. Hunt, and to have copyrighted it. Miss Annie Adams testified to the popularity of the song, and was urged to sing it in court that the jurors might judge of its merits. She was on the point of complying, when the Sheriff interposed.

At the Howard, Boston, 15th, Olivia Rand, in the burlesque of "Endymion;" Moe Brothers, parlor-skaters, and Gus Williams, the celebrated Dutch Comique, were the novelties. H. C. Burdick and Hart and Bleodgood are still there.

Annie Hindle joins "Black Crook" at New Orleans, as a variety speciality, for three weeks, and reopens at Memphis May 13.

Walter Bray, J. M. Ward, and Lizzie Warren-Memphis 15th; also the Misses De Varnay and Thompson.

Augustin Daly publishes a card, in which he announces that he has secured the lease of the Grand Opera House, and will open the season in September next, with Sardou and Offenbach's fairy comic opera of "King Carotte," adapted to the American stage by himself. It is to be produced at the Grand Opera House exactly as it is done in Paris, the dresses, scenery and accessories being duplicated by the original artizans expressly for Mr. Daly.

As an illustration of the progress of classical taste in the small Eastern towns, we may mention that at a concert given last week in the Opera House at Poughkepsie, the principal numbers on the programme were string quartets of Haydn, Beethoven and Mendelssohn. Miss Lazar sang, "I know that my Redeemer liveth," and two or three other pieces. We try that kind of thing in San Francisco sometimes, but the audiences are very select.

The young, pretty, and popular Miss Ada Harland has been profitably preparing pupils for the stage of late. She advertises herself as having time for a few more, and will also superintend amateur performances. She has bought an adaptation of "Mignon," and copyrighted it under the title of "Wild Honey."

John E. Owens, Savannah, 25th, three nights; Charleston, 20th.

W. E. Bandmann, with a troupe, is announced at Minneapolis for two weeks from May 20th.

Joe Emmett, Buffalo, May 6th; one week.

Charlotte Thompson, after a long absence from the stage, opened at the Varieties, New Orleans, 24th as Fanny Ten Eyck in "Divorce."

Aimee and bouffers, Cincinnati, 22d, one week

An operatic combination, consisting of Emma Howson, John Clark, Eugene Clark, F. L. Dillon, and John M. Loretz, were to produce Loretz's new opera of "The Pearl of Bagdad," 28th 29th at the Brooklyn Opera House.

There is a story that Barnum may buy Fechter's interest in the Fourteenth-street Theatre. It is also said that Fechter may not return to this country. He is very variable in his determinations.

The Dramatic News says:

The ill-advised attempt at resuscitating the fallen fortunes of the Globe Theatre has met with the usual failure and a loss of over $5,000 on the port of the management. Will not some charitably disposed person fence in this house?

The Bowery Theatre has been giving "The Beautiful Shoe-Binder of Lynn," "New York Burglars," "Brian O'Linn," "Black-Eyed Susan" and "Jack Sheppard—a sufficiently varied week's entertainment.

The San Francisco Minstrels commenced a travelling tour on the first of May.

At Tony Pastor's the new faces were the St Felix Parisienne Infant Ballet Troupe.

The popular burlesque of "Ixion; or the Man at the Wheel," was revived at Wood's Museum on the 29th, with a very strong cast, including Pauline Markham, Lisa Weber, Belle Howitt, A. P. Sheldon and Rollin Howard.

Some account of it will appear on Monday. Crowded out to-day.

Miss Kate Santley, who personated Stalacta in "Black Crook," at Niblo's Garden, has left for Europe.

A New York paper says:—

We hope Mr. Edwin Booth does not contemplate retiring from the direction of Booth's Theatre—a house which he has consecrated to the highest forms of dramatic art, and has so ably and judiciously managed—but we notice that his present engagement, which commences to-night announced as his "farewell engagement."

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

THIS IS THE LATEST AND MOST PRACTICAL SEWING Machine before the public. Its simplicity is its great merit. Combining advantages of the intricate and complicated double-thread machines with the simplicity, ease of operation and lightness of running of the single-thread Toys, it has also the greater advantage of economy and durability, and is comprehended by the most inexperienced in a few minutes; others take weeks or months to understand.

☞ IT IS THE ONLY SEWING MACHINE WITH STRAIGHT NEEDLE, MAKING THE "ELASTIC LOCK-STITCH" DIRECT FROM TWO SPOOLS, WITHOUT SHUTTLE OR BOBBIN.

The MANHATTAN is sold on easy monthly payments. Don't fail to examine it before you purchase any other.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night the ever-popular Zavistowski Sisters will make their first appearance since their return from the Australasian colonies. "Ixion," the burlesque of all burlesques, will be produced with Emeline as Ixion, Alice as Mercury, and Christine as Jupiter. Miss Henrietta Grainger will make her first appearance in California on this occasion as Venus, W. C Crosbie will make his first appearance in San Francisco, as Minerva, natty little Maggie Moore as Ganymede, W. Simms as Cupid, and altogether "Ixion" will be presented by a very clever burlesque company. It will be preceded by the petite comedy of "Who Speaks First," in which Miss Henrietta Osborne, J. M. Hardie, Maggie Moore, and others will appear.

The Alhambra.

This week is announced as the last but one of the Great Emerson Minstrels and during the remainder of the engagement they will do their best to make the public miss them when they leave. In the first part the ever-popular burlesque of "Il Trovatore" with the original operatic airs will be given as a finale. In the second part Sheridan and Mack will appear in some of their best character acts; Add Ryman in a stump speech; Sam Rickey will appear in "Bad Whisky;" Billy Emerson in songs and dances, and also in the screaming ebony farce of "Pompey's Patients." Next Monday "a farcical, spectacular Jew'd Esprit" entitled "Rothschild is Coming" will be produced. Simons and Slocum's great Minstrel Troupe are underlined to appear in two weeks.

California Theatre.

This evening Miss Carlotta Leclercq, who has been pronounced by the press and public of the the large cities in the East one of the most delightful actresses who have ever trod the stage, will make her first appearance before a California audience and receive their verdict. Miss Leclercq has chosen for her initial effort the character of Rosalind in "As You Like it," in which she will be supported as follows: John McCullough as Orlando, Henry Edwards as Jaques, Fred Lyster, for this occasion only, in consequence of the unexpected detention of John Wilson, as the banished Duke, Walter Leman as Adam, W. E. Mestayer as Oliver, E. Pipmpton as Sylvius, R. Cox as Charles the Wrestler, J. C. Williamson as Touchstone, Miss Minnie Walton as Phœbe, Mrs. Saunders as Audrey, and Mrs Owen Marlowe as Celia. As Miss Leclercq will read the epilogue of the play, it is to be hoped that the unmannerly portion of the public of San Francisco, who sometimes go to the theatre and discover themselves by beginning to go out before the play is ended, will on this occasion keep their seats until the entertainment is over.

Bella Union.

A splendid bill was presented on Saturday night, given again last night and will be performed to-night. Miss Carrie Armstrong, the jolliest of little Dutcher girls, and J. H. Larkin, the eccentric Dutch comedian, received a tremendous welcome back from their travels, and Miss Ida Fisk received a similar mark of public appreciation. J. Tuers and Harry Sinclair appeared in the amusing act of "Gouty and Lively Jim:" Susie Robinson and Tommy Barton in the duet of "Mr. and Mrs. Scribbs," Minnie Fillmore in a highland fling; Marie Zoel in song and dance, and a number of others in a melange of ballads, dances and acts, concluding with the very amusing farce of "The Bibbses," in which H. Sinclair was capital as Barnaby Bibbs.

The New American Theatre.

The company, consisting of balladists, ethiopian comedians, character actors and corps de ballet, at this place of amusement give an entertainment which appears to suit the popular taste exactly. A new programme with many popular features will be presented this evening.

Union Hall.

This evening the grand national fair held by the French ladies of San Francisco will commence, and last six days. There will be a great variety of amusements, beautiful tableaux vivants, concerts, dramatic exhibitions, games, surprises, etc. The hall has been renovated, and looks beautiful The fairest ladies of La Belle France resident among us, will personally superintend everything and Union Hall will be the most delightful resort imaginable for the next six days. The Philharmonic Society aided by a number of professional musicians will give a concert of choice music every evening. The restaurant and refreshment stands will be under the charge of a committee of ladies. There will be no extortion: any offerings are expected to be free gifts from willing hands outstretched to help France in her dark days.

City Gardens.

The next great festival to take place at these gardens will be the celebration of the 60th anniversary of the Improved Order of Red Men, a day and evening commoration of Tammany's Day to take place on Saturday next. On the following Sunday, May 12th, the grand picnic and festival of the Fenian Brotherhood will take place. There will be all sorts of amusements contests for prizes, and Callie Curtis, the champion skater will give an exhibition in the New Skating Rink assisted by Cyrus True.

Platt's Hall.

The testimonial concert for the benefit of Mrs. Leach will take place this evening at Platt's Hall. A fine programme will be performed and a very large and fashionable attendance is expected. All who have listened to the sweet voice of Mrs. Leach will be glad to join in this tribute to her in the hour of misfortune.

Grand Billiard Contest.

To-morrow evening a grand billiard contest for the silver cue, four hundred dollars and the championship of the Pacific Coast:—California, Oregon, Nevada— will take place between J. F. B. McCleery, the present champion, and M. Anthony Kraker. The game will be 1,500 points up, on a carom table 10 feet by 5 feet 2 inches. A great deal of interest is felt in this match and there will be a large assemblage to witness the game.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Theatrical Costumes.

For the best Masquerade or Theatrical Costumes everyone goes to Mrs. S. F. Paulin's, professional costumer for the theatres, 803 Montgomery street, N. W. corner of Jackson. Fancy, Historical, and Classical costumes made to order at lowest rates

Dear Me! How She Paints!

N. B.—Use DICKEY'S famous CREME DE LIS, and they can't see it. H

One Hour at Rehearsal with Nilsson.

"Oh, she's the greatest woman ever come to this countree."

"Yes, she is a very fine actress."

"Do you know she plays de feedle?"

"No! Does she?"

"Oh! why she used to play the feedle about the streets: yes"—and Mons. Strakosch crossed his legs and gazed steadfastly at M'lle Nilsson.

It was Thursday night and the fair Swede was rehearsing the part of Ophelia in the opera of "Hamlet."

The Academy looked gloomy enough. A conservatory is a dull place without flowers and so is a theatre without gaelight, and pretty women and diamonds, and all that sort of thing. The place looked like a big tomb, and the galleries of the "gods" were as dark as pitch; the seats in the balcony and boxes covered with brown Holland, and the orchestra illuminated by extemporaneous jets. Scattered here and there through the orchestra and circle were a few friends of the performers and management.

On the stage, a beautiful scene of a river with reeds and flowers on the rear bank, and in the distance a castle and forest. The "wings" were full of scene-shifters and chorus singers, looking frowsy and rough in red flannel shirts, with matted hair, unbuttoned vests and dirty boots. Nearer the footlights are four of the dancers that formerly shook their legs in "The Black Crook." They are dressed in stage attire, with less tulle underskirts than usual (because they cost so much to wash), and there is Van Hamme, the dancer, in a suit of blue linen, attending his pretty wife. It is the last scene in Hamlet, and the maid Ophelia near her death.

M'lle Nilsson wore a short walking dress of scarlet silk and black overskirt, while her head was enveloped in a shroud. She looked a very ordinary little woman, but exhibited great vivacity and a thorough knowledge of her part, and of the orchestra's part as well.

She stands close to the leader, Maretzek, who is excited, and wears a high hat and a thick overcoat.

Now all is ready. The soft swell of the heard. Nilsson, in a careless, easy way, trills a few notes, rushes forward, and, like a startled gazelle, gazes into the deserted galleries. But the spell is broken by the fiddlers; they are "out," and her fair face changes. She stamps her foot, and casts a look of terrible scorn at the second fiddle.

Maretzek rises in his seat, points at the man with the trombone, and says: "D—n scooch museek!"

Now they commence again, and Nilsson sings and beats time with the back of one hand upon the palm of the other, now conducting the bass and continuously exciting the leader. Nilsson scolds him, and he in turn scolds the man nearest to him, and so it works all round. The opera is near its close, and part of the orchestra is sent upon the stage. Then low, sweet strains, as if from some distant land, reach the ear. Ophelia leaves them to wander on toward the river. She parts the rushes, reclines, and in a few moments, floating out upon the waters like the Christian martyr, is the body of the mad and lovely Ophelia.

It was beautiful; but when we went to make a closer examination, we found that only a "supe" upon an old sofa had been drawn across the stage.

Dead-Heads.

Chas. B. Hart, editor of the Germantown Advertiser, had lately a vigorous editorial on "The Free List," and concluded as follows: "There is not in all creation any class of men more systematically preyed upon, imposed upon and robbed of legitimate business by 'beats,' 'dead-heads,' and the 'free list,' than the editors and publishers. As a rule editors are ready and willing to give aid and encouragement to every object or movement that can in any way benefit humanity, but it is not fair to ask or expect them to take more interest in your schemes than you take yourself. If you are not willing to spend ten dollars for a good cause, don't ask an editor to devote ten dollars' worth of space to it gratis. If you think his paper has to be run anyhow, and your puff don't make any difference, just start a paper and run it on that plan, and if the debit side of your account at the end of the year does not exceed the credit side, it will be because your system was known to be bad and you couldn't get credit."

A "Wheeler and Wilson" Sewing Machine manufactured every minute. The Company's factory covers fourteen acres, employing 2,000 persons. Over 800,000 now in use; 100,000 more of "Wheeler & Wilson's" sold for family use than of any other make. The "new draw feed," a recent improvement, makes it almost silent, and it moves so regularly, evenly and squarely that a child can run it. It has less than one-half the machinery of any other machine making the lock-stitch. W. M. Stoddard, Agent, 427 Montgomery street, San Francisco.

Mr. Hartz only remains a few weeks longer in this city; so those wishing to procure those entertaining novelties had better see and get them at once. Send for a catalogue. D

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

The Post Office.

After going to the Post Office for your letters, go to the great repository of White & Bauer, pioneer newsdealers, for your papers. All the Eastern and European newspapers and periodicals can be found there. JUST OPPOSITE THE POST OFFICE, Washington street. B

The Palace of Truth.

Why is an oyster like an inmate of the Palace of Truth?—Because it cannot tell a lie. Another: Why do so many of the audience after visiting the California Theatre, flock after the performance to the Pacific Oyster House, 329 Bush street, just below Montgomery?—Because Charley Haake has the finest, fattest, richest Eastern oysters, and gets up the best suppers imaginable.

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat something nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Henry Bocken is the most experienced of caterers, and his lunches and dinners cannot be beat. Our best fed lawyers, our most popular physicians, and all epicures patronize the Pioneer Restaurant. B

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF CHRONIC COMPLAINTS, formerly of London, nine years in Sacramento, ten years in San Francisco. HAS RETIRED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the special treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, has determined to retire from his professional labors, the remainder of his days to quiet enjoyment; but the constant application of many sufferers everywhere, to come to San Francisco, finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, London, and spend a year within its wards, and for the benefit of all the new methods of treatment of this celebrated institution, and then give the remaining years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where, from previous his practice as a SPECIALIST in the cure of all cases brought under his notice. The Doctor's motto is "honorable and successful" treatment and moderate charges to all.

Very Funny.

Did you ever see a woman throw a stone at a hen? It is one of the most ludicrous scenes in every day life. We recently observed the process. The predatory fowl had invaded the precincts of the flower-bed, and was industriously pecking and scratching, for the nutritious seed or the early worm blissfully unconscious of impending danger. The lady now appears upon the scene with a broom. This she drops and picks up a rocky fragment of the Silurian age, and then makes her first mistake—they all do it—of seizing the projectile with the wrong hand. Than, with malice aforethough, she makes the further blunder of swinging her arm perpendicularly instead of horizontally—thereupon the stone flies into the air, describing an irregular elliptical curve, and strikes the surface of the earth as far from the hen as the thrower stood at the time, in a course due west from the same, the hen then bearing by the compass north-north-east by half east. At the second attempt the stone narrowly missed the head of the thrower herself, who seeing that any further attempt at the kind would be suicidal, did what she might have done at first, started after the hen with an old and familiar weapon. The moral of which is: Stick to the broomstick.

A Touch of Nature.

It was a touching sight, and one well calculated to reassure a feeble faith in human kind, to see an inebriated South Bend, Ind. constable led tenderly home by a forgiving prisoner whom he had just arrested.

"The Escaped Nun."

A SHOWMAN'S TRICKS—THE NEW BARNUM'S MANAGEMENT OF EDITH O'GORMAN.

(Griswold's (The Fat Contributor) Milwaukee letter to the Cincinnati Times.)

I met Phillips here, the famous lecture impressario of Cincinnati. He has the escaped Nun" on his hands at present. With the O'Gorman he has swept through New England and Middle States, and is now on his way to California. The escaped nun is a big card, and there are few carding machines equal to Phillips. And of all the nuns who have escaped as this nun has Nun.

On a fortunate day for her, Phillips, who was looking for some novelty in the lecture line, came across her. He saw at once what the business was capable of, and he was not slew to make a bargain with her. The first thing he did was to have her mobbed. (An escaped nun is of no account until she has been mobbed.) It was a little severe on Edith and the boss mobber whom Phillips had hired for the occasion, getting a little drunk, nearly broke Phillip's head in the melee, in a conscious, yet confused zeal to earn his money.

Phillips has a rude wood cut on his small bill representing the mob, which he cut himself with a jack knife while recovering from the effects of the dray pin. The cut—I allude to the picture, not the cut in the scalp—shows the mob pouring a perfect volley in the escaped nun's face, while a shower of brickbats is flying toward her over a distant steeple. The nun smiles sweetly upon her assailants, while Phillips is seen in the background egging the mob. I may remark incidentally that it is the first time Phillips ever allowed himself to be kept in the background, but this, you see, was business.

Whenever business lags, Phillips has her mobbed again. He carries a quantity of assorted brickbats with him, so as to be able to get up a mob on the shortest notice. He had some imitation brickbats, made of red flannel, stuffed with cotton batting, which he hurls at her himself in well simulated rage, regardless of consequences to her chignon.

At one place where he had arranged to have her mobbed, the mob he had hired disappointed him. Not one of them came, so he had to mob her alone. He says she has to be mobbed regularly, if she has to mob herself.

His small bills are a curiosity in show literature. "She was stoned at Erie, Penn!" "Tickets for sale at the book store!" "Nearly assasinated by a pistol shot in New Jersey!" "Get your seats early, and avoid the crowd!" "The carriage was considerably damaged!" "Copies of her photographs for sale at the hall!"

Phillips considers that he has struck the right trail at last, and is on the high road to fortune. The escaped nun business knocks every other show he has had anything to do with. He would probably advise a brother showman in search of a like novelty, in the words of Hamlet, "To a nunnery go, go, and quickly too, farewell."

This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from hi own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

A Timely Present.

These Lozenges meet the wants of thousands, as there are many that cannot swallow a pill, and with the children it is utterly impossible to get them to take one, even be it "sugar-coated." The Lozenges they cry for; in deliciousness they rival the finest confectionery; they are a vegetable substitute for mercurial preparations, requiring no particular course of diet while using them. They possess a nourishing and nutritious principle, and are the only purgative medicine known that strengthens during the process of purgation. They regulate the various organs of the system, restoring functional harmony and securing the secretion of the proper constituents of each organ. By their action the liver secretes its allotted proportion of bile, the lungs carbon, the skin perspires, the kidneys are vitalized. In Female Complaints they act like a charm.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

The Alhambra.

The new bill at this very popular theatre is a decided hit. M. Ainsley Scott's version of "Il Trovatore" was beautifully rendered last night by Miss Fanny Gibson, M. Ainsley Scott, S. Holdeworth, Billy Emerson and Fayette Welch, the original airs being given with good effect, and the fun of the burlesque being well carried out. Sheridan and Mack appear in their most taking acts; Add Ryman's stump speech causes much amusement; Billy Emerson does his level best to keep the fun alive; Sam Rickey's "Bad Whisky" is the funniest act presented for some time past, and the act of "Pompey's Patients," in which Billy Emerson and others appear, winds up this feast of mirth and minstrelsy.

Metropolitan Theatre.

A capital house greeted the Zavistowski Sisters last night, when they made their re-appearance in the sparkling burlesque of "Ixion." Each one of them was encored in everything—songs, dances, all had to be repeated. Miss Emeline brought out her new comic song, "In Awfully Good Form," and Miss Alice's "Love Among the Roses" drew the same enthusiastic applause it always has. Miss Christine as the imperial Jove was very effective. W. C. Crosbie is a capital burlesque actor, and filled the role of Minerva in a manner which left nothing to be desired; he is a most valuable addition to the company. Miss Grainger, who made her first appearance in California on this occasion, taking the part of Venus, is a good vocalist, has a very sweet voice, and sings with much expression; her grace and fine figure make her a pleasing representative of Venus in the burlesque. Miss Maggie Moore as Ganymede was brimfull of life and spirits, and gained her full share of the applause. W. Simms was very amusing as Cupid, and George Hinckley made a most warlike Mars, delivering his speeches with due emphasis and expression. The piece has been "renovated, redecorated and upholstered" with local allusions and new songs and nursery rhymes which were all well received. "Ixion" is as good as new, and should have a new and long lease of public popularity. It will be repeated to-night and until further notice.

California Theatre.

A large audience, composed of our best citizens, representing the brains, taste and education of the city, assembled in the California Theatre last night when Shakspeare's beautiful comedy of "As You like It" was produced, and Miss Carlotta Leclercq made her first appearance in California. We think Miss Leclercq was a little nervous when she made her appearance and perhaps the storm of applause which greeted her, instead of reassuring still more disconcerted her. At all events in the first scene in which she appeared she failed to show the self-possession of the practised actress, and could not be said to "at once take the audience by storm." In each successive scene Miss Leclercq steadily advanced in public favor as she with consummate art developed the character of Rosalind, the bashful girl, confused and awkward, transformed by the overpowering influence of first love, growing bolder and proud at last in the consciousness that she is loved as truly as she loves. The playful badinage of Rosalind was uttered with exquisitely good taste, never becoming rude or violating the proprieties, as it might had the character of Rosalind been in the hands of a less skilfull interpreter. Miss Leclercq will, we prophesy, steadily grow in favor with that portion of the public capable of appreciating true dramatic art. John McCullough made an admirable Orlando, reading the part in a manner which left little to be desired. Mrs. Owen Marlowe, albeit she rattled off some of her speeches rather too fast to be pleasing to the ear, afforded Miss Leclercq efficient support as Celia. Walter Leman as the faithful old Adam was very good, playing the part in a manner that gained the sympathy of the audience for the trusty servitor. Henry Edwards made a capital Jaques, and read "The Seven Ages of Man" splendidly. Fred Lyster who had to take the part of the Banished Duke, in consequence of the non-arrival of John Wilson, acquitted himself well; R. Cox was so good in the character of Charles the Wrestler, that he got a pleasant little breeze of applause. Eben Plympton, who made his first appearance at the California Theatre on this occasion, is a very neat actor with a pleasant voice and good accentuation. W. A. Mestayer filled the part of Oliver well; J. O. Williamson as Touchstone delivered the sharp speeches of that worthy with good effect, making every point tell; Miss Minnie Walton was the prettiest of shepherdesses as Phebe, and Mrs. C. B. Saunders wonderfully comical as the rustic Audrey; Edmund Leathes, who makes the most of every opportunity afforded him, did a good bit of acting in the character of Le Beau, and dressed it beautifully; Stephen Leach played the part of Corin excellently, and to his efforts was due in great measure the excellence of the choruses. In these the fine voices banished from the chorus of the latest opera seasons were heard to good advantage. "Under the Greenwood Tree," "Blow, blow thou Winter Wind," solo by John Maguire, and "What shall he have who Killed the Deer?" were all beautifully sung, and were all encored. The scene representing the Forest of Arden is a wonderful piece of realism, with its set trees and the stage covered with ferns and undergrowth. Altogether the production of "As You Like It" at the California Theatre last night may be chronicled as a great success, and the debut of Miss Carlotta Leclercq before a California audience as eminently satisfactory. "As You Like It" will be played throughout the week.

Bella Union.

The company at this theatre is a very strong one, comprising as it does Johnny Tuers, Carrie Armstrong and J. H. Larkin, Harry Sinclair, and about a score of other popular favorites, who appear in a rich and varied programme of songs, dances, sets, farces, ballads and duets. J. H. Larkin and Carrie Armstrong receive a double encore nightly for their Dutch act of "Yacob unt Lowesa," and the farce of "The Bibbses," in which Harry Sinclair, Harry Thompson, Minnie Loder Minnie Fillmore, Marie Zoel and others appear, causes great fun.

American Theatre.

Fun is the characteristic of the entertainment offered at this place of amusement, but pretty dances, sweet ballads and rousing choruses are also popular features. There is something new every night and the audiences are always well pleased. A great array of artists appears in the programme on our first page.

Lotta.

Lotta appeared at Brohaska's Opera House, San Jose, last night to an immense house, and hundreds were turned away from the doors. She gives one more performance to-night. We shall issue extra editions of FIGARO every day, to accompany Lotta throughout the State, for public distribution, and to be read as theatre programmes.

Union Hall—French Fair.

As we were sure would be the case, Union Hall was last night the scene of a brilliantly fashionable gathering. The fair for the benefit of the French Ransom Fund, opened most auspiciously, the hall being thronged from 8 o'clock in the evening until past 11. Beautifully arranged groupings of flags, floral decorations, and emb'azoned scrolls bearing the names of the great men of France, and of that country so willing to help France in her hour of distress as their cordial co-operation last night proved. It would be impossible in our brief space to describe one tithe of the attractions at Union Hall. The programme of tableaux vivants was excellently carried out, and the music was capital. The receipts were nearly $3,000. There will be a change in the programme of entertainments this evening, and every evening there will be something new. Midst music, flowers, lovely women and general revelry, the fetters which now bind the limbs of beautiful France, are falling off. May she soon be entirely free.

The San Francisco Circus and Roman Hippodrome.

A new constellation of arenic talent under the above title will open in this city on Monday next. The principal artists will consist of the well-known Berger Family, ten performers, acrobats, gymnasts, equestrians, pantomimists, etc., all first-class performers in their line, who have been playing in New York for months past. With this and other talent at his command, Mr. John Wilson the director of the company, promises the citizens of San Francisco a short season of rare and unequalled excellence. Mr. Wilson went quietly to the East several weeks ago to engage a new company, which will doubtless fully sustain the veteran manager's reputation for judgment and good management in catering to the public of California. The full programme of attractions will soon appear in FIGARO.

Miss Anna Mehlig's Second Concert.

The second concert of Miss Anna Mehlig, the renowned pianiste, will take place this evening at Pacific Hall, when she will be assisted by Miss Helen C. Dingeon, Ernst Schlott, F. Buch and A. Hildebrand. George T. Evans is musical director. The box sheet is rapidly filling up, and there will undoubtedly be a large and fashionable audience. It may be as well to inform those who are ignorant of the fact, that we have never had a visit before from any performer on the piano forte worthy of being compared to Miss Anna Meblig, and may never hear her equal.

Grand Billiard Contest.

This evening the grand billiard contest for the silver cue, four hundred dollars and the championship of the Pacific Coast:—California, Oregon, Nevada— will take place between J. F. B. McCleery, the present champion, and M. Anthony Kraker. The game will be 1,500 points up, on a carom table 10 feet by 5 feet 2 inches. A great deal of interest is felt in this match and there will be a large assemblage to witness the game.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

"Bill," said one apprentice to another, "I don't like a boss as is allers round his shop interfering with his own business."

Supper Parties.

A man eats breakfast because he is hungry; too often he hurries over his dinner, but supper he enjoys. All enjoy a supper at the BIVALVE, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny. There they find the cosiest little private rooms up-stairs, the finest oysters and the best of everything. W. Spreen started the BIVALVE seven years ago, and it is to-day the most popular oyster house in San Francisco.

The Magician, is still at his quarters, 140 Montgomery street, where he has for sale large quantities of all kinds of conjuring tricks. Prices varying from 75 cents and upwards. No house is completely furnished without a set of magical illusions, provided by Hartz. All the tricks are readily performed, and purchasers receive ample instruction, printed and verbal, so that there is not the least difficulty in performing them. Mr. Hartz only remains a few weeks longer in this city; so those wishing to procure those entertaining novelties had better see and get them at once. Send for a catalogue. D

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage Stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

The Post Office.

After going to the Post Office for your letters, go to the great repository of White & Bauer, pioneer newsdealers, for your papers. All the Eastern and European newspapers and periodicals can be found there. JUST OPPOSITE THE POST OFFICE, Washington street. B

The Palace of Truth.

Why is an oyster like an inmate of the Palace of Truth?—Because it cannot tell a lie. Another: Why do so many of the audience after visiting the California Theatre, flock after the performance to the Pacific Oyster House, 329 Bush street, just below Montgomery?—Because Charley Haake has the finest, fattest, richest Eastern oysters, and gets up the best suppers imaginable.

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat something nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Henry Bocken is the most experienced of caterers, and his lunches and dinners cannot be beat. Our best fed lawyers, our most popular physicians, and all epicures patronize the Pioneer Restaurant. R

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

A Respectable Trade.

Not long since says the Springfield, Ill., Journal, a sleepy member of the lower Legislature requested a fellow member to wake him when a certain bill involving the interests of lumbermen came up. This agreed upon, the sleepy member was soon in the happy land of dreams. It so happened that that a certain bill upon perjury and theft came up that day. So, when the latter bill was fairly under way, the sleepy member was aroused. He, rubbing his eyes, arose and addressed the Speaker: "Mr. Speaker, I wish to say a few words upon this bill, for the fact is, the most of the people up our way make their living by this trade." It is needless to add that his remarks were appreciated and highly applauded.

The Vitality of a Grizzly.

We chanced to be out at the City Gardens on Friday last, when the large grizzly, so long on the grounds, was shot, as the easiest way of killing him, and were fully impressed with the wonderful vitality of the bear tribe. Mr. Stevens, the proprietor, has determined to keep no animals on the grounds, and had sold the bear, as he stood in the cage, to Jake Wray, the butcher, who armed with a large-sized army revolver, fired a shot square in the bear's forehead. A snort of surprise on the bear's part, and a five minutes' unconcerned walk around the cage was the only perceptible effect. Another shot was fired with similar result. The bear neither became weak nor angry, so Mr. Stevens took the pistol, and watching his opportunity he planted a ball directly over the bear's eye which brought the huge beast to the floor in an instant, the blood spurting in a stream from his wound. It was a satisfaction to all present to see that poor brute died easy, without a groan or a pang of pain. The moral of the affair is that we don't want any bear hunts on our hands. An animal that can walk around unconcernedly with two bullets planted squarely in his brain, at close range, we are satisfied to let alone, when it comes to hunting him in his savage state.

The Alta's Occupation Gone.

The Alta is becoming terse, vigorous and bold. The News Letter is now the silly paper par excellence of San Francisco. The drivel in the "Town Crier" surpasses in idiocy the worst jokes that ever appeared in the Alta. The sooner the proprietor of the News Letter discharges his gang of amateurs and puts on some professional writers the better it will be for him.

A Risky Venture.

An exchange says:

A young lady of Buffalo is about to sail for Russia to fulfill a marriage engagement with Mr. Levy, the famous cornet player. She will be accompanied by her mother.

We'll bet two and a half the mother has to bring that Buffalo girl back and "lay" for Levy to commence suit against him for breach of promise when he comes back to the United States.

Rather Unkind.

Our friend Bibbs was married the other day to a very quiet, not to say stupid girl with a face like a doll's. Some one remarking to Muffington that Bibbs had been on the lookout for a wife for some time and had now "wooed and won," Muffington said "Yes, a wooden one, that's just what she is."

Those Sociable Britishers.

Two Englishman traveled three days together in a stage-coach without exchanging a word. On the fourth day one of them ventured to remark that it was a fine morning. "And who said it wasn't?" was the curt reply.

An Indiana man has caused the arrest of his grandmother, who attacked him in a most cowardly and outrageous manner.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Liedesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. U

The Dolly Varden.

This is one of the newest descriptions of a Dolly Varden:

The starboard sleeve bore a yellow hop-vine in full leaf, on a red ground, with numbers of gray birds, badly mutilated by the seams, flying hither and yon in wild dismay at the approach of a green and black hunter. Calvary Mission infant was depicted on the back, the making up of the garment scattering truant scholars up and down the sides and on the skirt, while a country poultry fair and a group of American hunting dogs, badly demoralized by the gathers, gave the front a remarkable appearance. The left sleeve had on it the alphabet in five different languages.

Really Now.

If you wish to be entirely mislead as to what is going on at the theatres read the notices in the Bulletin, Alta and Call. If you want to know what is going on read FIGARO, the only journal of amusements. The Alta says:—

The new burlesque, "Rothschild is Coming," brought out last evening, was very amusing, and promises to form an attraction for some time.

This burlesque is announced to be produced next Monday for the first time.

Desperate Maidens.

Getting married for a joke may turn out to be very serious business. Two young gentlemen in Northern Iowa yielded to the solicitations of the same number of jocose maidens, the other day, and went through the forms of matrimony. They found themselves in a horrible condition when the guilful creatures produced licenses and certificates of marriage, and held them to the bargain that they thought was only for fun.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The Zavistowski Sisters find their popularity with our public not in the least diminished by their absence for a few months. "Ixion" whenever presented here, has proved a most popular burlesque, but the "Ixion" now being played at the Metropolitan Theatre, is the most popular of all the versions. All the local points are well selected, the nursery rhymes are intensely amusing and the actors are all so well up in their parts that the fun is fast and furious. As the engagement of the sisters is but a short one, all should visit the Metropolitan Theatre before it ends.

The Alhambra.

"Pompey's Patients" which forms the afterpiece at this theatre, is one of the most amusing bits of extravagance ever produced. Billy Emerson is immense as the much troubled Pompey, who is nearly driven crazy by his insane patients and Sam Rickey as the delicate Freshet, who is so afraid of getting wet, is wonderfully amusing. Previous to this, there is a first part of good singing, and interlude in which Add Ryman, Sheridan and Mack and others appear. "Sad Whiskey" is still kept on the bill, and is received with roars of laughter every night.

California Theatre.

Another good house last night witnessed Miss Carlotta Leclercq's delightfully natural and artistic impersonation of Rosalind, than which none of Shakspeare's heroines are more difficult to justly portray. There is but one opinion concerning Miss Carlotta Leclercq, that is that she is an artiste who in her line can scarcely be excelled. "As You Like It" is put on the stage in such an admirable manner and the music is so charming that it should attract crowded houses throughout the week.

Bella Union.

Any number of amusing acts will be presented to-night by Johnny Tuers, Lon McCarty, Mat Kelly, Harry Thompson, Harry Sinclair and E. G. Marsh, a company in themselves. Carrie Armstrong and J. H. Larkin will appear in Dutch acts. Tommy Bree in ballads in the first part, Carrie Chapman in a fancy dance, and others in various specialties. The farce of "The Bibbses" concludes the entertainment.

American Theatre.

Among the many old favorites engaged at this place of amusement, are Harry Howard, the popular banjoist; Jimmy Murphy and Chris Matthews song and dance artists; Claude Stuart and Maggie Kelley, Miss Eva Silva, the popular balladist; Rose Durand and others, whose names appear on our first page.

Miss Anna Mehlig's Second Concert.

The second concert given by Miss Anna Mehlig, which took place at Pacific Hall last night was no less successful than the first, both in point of attendance and as a musical performance. The fair artiste delighted all by her wonderful mastery of the instrument and most good naturedly responded to encores. Miss Helen O. Dingeon sang beautifully, and the instrumental portion of the concert under the direction of George T. Evans was of a high order of merit. The next concert will take place at Pacific Hall on Saturday at 2 o'clock. A fine programme will be performed comprising selections from Bach, Haydn, Schubert, Mendelssohn, and other great masters.

Union Hall—French Fair.

The attendance at Union Hall last night appeared to be fully as large if not larger than on the first night. The beautiful demoiselles and buxom matrons at the various stands, did a rushing business under the influence of their smiles, and with the thought that the money was to go for the ransom of France, none could refuse to purchase some trifle. The music by Mr. Planel and his son was very fine, and the entertainment given delighted all. There will be many regrets when the Fair closes, so the best way will be to see as much as possible of it while it lasts. At present Union Hall is the fashionable resort of San Francisco, where one is sure to meet everyone worth knowing.

The Billiard Match.

The lovers of the noble game of billiards assembled last night in Platt's Hall to see the match between F. B. McCleery and M. Anthony Kraker, which was won by the latter. The following is the summary:

Match game for the championship of the Pacific Coast, the silver cue and $100, between J. F. B. McCleery, champion, and M. Anthony Kraker: American four-ball carom game, push shot and croth barred; won by Kraker in 38 innings by 746 points. Duration of game, two hours and forty-five minutes. Kraker's average, (38 46: McCleery's average, 20.11. Largest run, 150, made by McCleery.

M. Anthony Kraker is now the champion and has to defend the silver cue.

George Constable.

There is no doubt of the death of George Constable, formerly clown with several California circus companies. On Saturday, April 20th, we published a letter from him dated April 9th, on board Steamer Oceanus, bound for St. Louis. The Oceanus exploded her boilers and was set on fire just before daybreak on the 11th. After the explosion, and while the steamer was burning, Constable was seen assisting his wife in the water to a sort of raft made of floating timbers, and some slight hopes were entertained that they had escaped death. Their bodies have since been found in the river. George Constable was, previous to joining the circus profession, a compositor in the office of the Call and other newspapers. His untimely end will be regretted both by his fellow-craftsmen and the members of the profession to which he belonged when it took place. His wife was better known as Cecelia Romelli, one of the Romelli Sisters, who have been performing in the trapeze business throughout the country. The Romellis came out here with the Gaiete Troupe, that played an engagement at Maguire's Opera House last year, and joined Lee's Circus on their way to the East. Constable, who was the clown, married Cecilia during the engagement, and continued with Lee during his Winter trip in Texas.

Destruction of Niblo's Garden.

By telegraph we have the intelligence that Niblo's Garden Theatre, New York, was burned on th. This theatre was built some thirty years ago, and has been noted of late for the production of spectacular plays. It is to be rebuilt immediately at a cost of $100,000.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

"Black Friday" at Niblo's.

At Niblo's on the 22d of April, "Black Friday" was produced, the New York Herald says of it:

There had been fears that the piece would be the occasion of a general disturbance, owing to its notorious connection with the life and death of the late Prince of Erie; but these proved, happily, unfounded, and, with the exception of a festive howl of "police" occasionally, set up by one of the strangers from the Quaker City, and a feeble attempt at hissing at the fall of the curtain on the final tableau, the play was permitted to peace fully succumb to its inevitable fate of a natural death. It was indeed too utterly bad to provoke any feeling stronger than that extreme degree of disgust which finds its most fitting expression in the silence of contempt. The causes of its failure are painfully plain. It consists simply of a few detached leaves from the career of James Fisk, Jr., with here and there a daring admixture of romance, such, for example, as a suggestion that Stokes committed forgery as well as murder. No doubt its author would claim that the deviations from the known story of the chieftain of the Erie Ring, and the adoption of aliases, have lifted the whole piece into the realm of fiction. But this is the perfection of special pleading. Rob King is in personal appearance and manners a wilfully accurate copy of Fisk, and every now and then expressions and phrases are put in his mouth which are historic utterances of the Prince of Erie; and so, though they are revived with scarcely marked success, Dash Hoffman may at once be recognized as Stokes, and Violet Spearheart as a certain other notorious actor in that sad drama of real life which ended the other day in the cemetery of a quiet little village in Vermont. But the exciting materials thus seized by the playwright have been so clumsily handled that they have utterly lost their natural coloring of dramatic interest. He has therefore outraged decency without even the weak excuse of having produced a sensation. "Black Friday" is indeed simply an inanimate panorama of certain melancholy passages in the lives of men and women who have attained unenviable notoriety, not a drama instinct with that subtle reality a sense of which it is the province of art to create by displaying secret springs of thought and conduct. We need say no more to show that it must, from the nature of things, be a failure, and it would be an absurdity to criticise the performance at further length. The parts are too bad to make good playing even possible, but most of the actors did their best to make them endurable.

On the following day Charles R. Thorne who played Dash Hoffman, withdrew from the company, sending the management the following note:

MESSRS. JARRETT & PALMER:—I decline to personate on your stage (or any other) any character the representation of which will imperil a fellow-creature's life.
C. R. THORNE, jr.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices. *

The Yachting Season.

The yachting season is now at hand, and if pleasure-seekers desire a treat they will take a trip on the schooner yacht Zoe Williams, which lies near the Yachting Club House on Long Bridge. No extra charge on Sunday. Y

Supper Parties.

A man eats breakfast because he is hungry; too often he hurries over his dinner, but supper he enjoys. All enjoy a supper at the BIVALVE, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny. There they find the coziest little private rooms up-stairs, the finest oysters and the best of everything. W. Spreen started the BIVALVE seven years ago, and it is to-day the most popular oyster house in San Francisco.

A "Wheeler and Wilson" Sewing Machine manufactured every minute. The Company's factory covers fourteen acres, employing 2,000 persons. Over 600,000 now in use; 100,000 more of "Wheeler & Wilson's" sold for family use than of any other make. The "new draw feed," a recent improvement, makes it almost silent, and it moves so regularly, evenly and squarely that a child can run it. It has less than one-half the machinery of any other machine making the lock-stich. W. M. Stoddard, Agent, 427 Montgomery street, San Francisco. F

More of It.

The heavy lumber and wool dailies treat the theatres with studied contempt and neglect, and when they notice a performance generally make some absurd blunder about it. Yesterday we said:

If you wish to be entirely mislead as to what is going on at the theatres read the notices in the Bulletin, Alta and Call. If you want to know what is going on read FIGARO, the only journal of amusements. The Alta says:—

"The new burlesque, "Rothschild is Coming," brought out last evening, was very amusing, and promises to form an attraction for some time."

This burlesque is announced to be produced next Monday for the first time.

In spite of this out came the Bulletin in the evening with as big a whopper as the Alta:

The new burlesque of "Rothschild is Coming" was produced at this theatre in good style last night and gave general satisfaction. It is mirth-provoking to a remarkable degree.

This is "mirth-provoking to a remarkable degree." When the burlesque is performed (next Monday) neither of these papers will probably say a word about it.

Education in Missouri.

They are great on education in Missouri. Debating societies are the great educational agents. The following is a literal copy of questions brought before one of these institutions:"

"Is dansin morellie rong? Is the reading of fictious works commendible? Is it necessary that femailes should receive thurry edicashun? Oort femails to take part in pollytix? Dus dress constitute the moral part of wimmin?"

Gratitude and Grief.

Indiana papers tell of a broken-hearted widower, who has erected a pine slab over the new-made grave of his wife, and has presented a costly piano to a young lady who "has been very kind to him in his great affliction."

Mr. Hartz,

The Magician, is still at his quarters, 140 Montgomery street, where he has for sale large quantities of all kinds of conjuring tricks. Prices varying from 75 cents and upwards. No house is completely furnished without a set of magical illusions, provided by Hartz. All the tricks are readily performed, and purchasers receive ample instruction, printed and verbal, so that there is not the least difficulty in performing them. Mr. Hartz only remains a few weeks longer in this city; so those wishing to procure those entertaining novelties had better see and get them at once. Send for a catalogue. D

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

New York Dry Goods Store,

313 Stockton street, between Clay and Sacramento, receives new goods daily from New York auctions very cheap. Remember the number.*

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat someth ng nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Henry Bocken is the most experienced of caterers, and his lunches and dinners cannot be beat. Our best fed lawyers, our most popular physicians, and all epicures patronize the Pioneer Restaurant. B

The Palace of Truth.

Why is an oyster like an inmate of the Palace of Truth?—Because it cannot tell a lie. Another: Why do so many of the audience after visiting the California Theatre, flock after the performance to the Pacific Oyster House, 329 Bush street, just below Montgomery?—Because Charley Haake has the finest, fattest, richest Eastern oysters, and gets up the best suppers imaginable.

Beauty vs. Brains.

Under the above title the Boston Courier has the following in its London Table Talk:

We are again having a good deal of lamentation with respect to the drama, but no one has hinted at what is the real cause of the gangrene, namely: the substitution of female legs and thighs for masculine intellect and taste. We do not require artists now-a-days. All we want is pretty girls. A milliner's assistant at Notting-hill is possessed of some amount of good looks, and, of—well, nothing else. Forthwith she is installed in handsome lodgings by her gentlemen "friend." A manager, to his shame allows her to appear upon his boards, and the company, to their shame, consent to act with the lady. A ballet-girl appears at one of the West-end Theatres, in a costume at once cool and primitive; she attracts the attention of a nobleman; he becomes her friend; and the result is, that, after a short time, she becomes manageress of a fashionable house. These events and others like them, have taken place, and will continue to take place, unless something is done to check the evil. The required end can be obtained by managers preferring to consult their reputation rather than their pockets, and by bona-fide actors and actresses refusing to perform with those who do not possess the slightest capability for acting.

Hint to Grumblers.

"What a noisy world this is!" croaked an old frog as he squatted on the margin of the pool.

"Do you hear those geese, how they scream and hiss? What do they do it for?"

"Oh, just to amuse themselves," answered a little field-mouse.

"Presently we shall have the owls hooting. What is that for?"

"It's the music they like the best," said the mouse.

"And those grasshoppers—they can't go home without grinding and chirping. Why do they do that?"

"Oh, they're so happy, they can't help it." said the mouse.

"You'll find excuses for all. I believe you don't understand music, so you like the hideous noises."

"Well, my friend, to be honest with you," said the mouse, "I don't greatly admire any of them; but they are all sweet in my ears compared with the constant creaking of a frog."

Selling a Father's Skull.

Mr. L. R. Shewell, the well known actor, who is traveling in the South with Junius Brutus Booth, writes as follows to the Baltimore Sunday Bulletin, from Petersburg, Va.: "During the recent tour of Junius Brutus Booth through the South an incident occurred so full of grim humor that it is worthy of relation. Those who are familiar with the tragedy of "Hamlet" are aware that it is one of the plays in which the curt forbidding pronunciamento of the treasurer, "Free List Suspended," is a nullity, from the fact that two dead-heads at least must be admitted before the fall of the curtain on the last act, viz., the skulls thrown up by the grave-digger, provocative of Hamlet's mortuary reflections. The property man of the Grand Opera, Baltimore, therefore duly furnished his chest with the craniums which have done service for years at the Holliday and Grand Opera, but by some inadvertance they were left behind at Norfolk, and when required at Petersburg were not missed until about two o'clock in the afternoon, too late to send a requisition for them to Norfolk. In the midst of the consternation, occasioned by this mishap, an American citizen of African descent suggested that a graveyard was in process of demolition, in which he had some interest, inasmuch as the ashes of his revered grandpa, who had "gone where all good darkies go," reposed there, and at once volunteered to procure the old gentleman's cocoa-nut, and also that one of of his cemeterial friends. The proposition was accepted, and in due time Sambo reappeared with the two skulls, but declined surrendering the precious relics until rewarded by the magnificent sum of fifty cents, remarking, indignantly, that he could not be expected to part with the bones of his ancestor for nothing. His demand was acceded to, his proud Ashantee blood had asserted itself, and a pass to the gallery enabled him to witness the transformation of an old darkie's skull into that of Yorick's, the king's jester, through the baptism of Hamlet's tears and the magic of Shakspeare's muse. This rather beats Charles Surface, for he only sold the portraits of his ancestors, whilst Cuffee would sell them body, bones and all.'

A Neighborly Notice.

There are or were two papers published in Woodland, that beautiful town which now boasts a fire deparment, a hospital, a number of alms-houses, a cathedral, a new theatre, and an immense number of other public institutions, all the result of Messrs. Aronson & Dietz's grand gift enterprise. One of these papers is called the Yolo Democrat, the other the Yolo Mail. The latter not making its appearance last week. The Democrat in order to smooth the matter over and relieve the the anxiety of its subscribers, gave it the following neighborly notice:

The Yolo Mail did not appear as usual this week. The causes, as near as we could learn are—general impecuniosity; the editor on an office hunting expedition; the jour poisoned while scouring the woods for something with which to sustain his life; and the devil himself willing to go ahead and do the dirty work so far as he could, but found that it was more than one poor devil could do to get out such a paper.

SPRING.

The prettiest time of all the year
Is the gay and smiling Spring;
When the sun is bright and the sky is clear,
And the fruits are blossoming.

When the flow'ret leaves of every dye,
In their ripe and blushing bloom,
Blend each breeze that passes by
With a soft and sweet perfume.

When every hill has a diadem
Of moss and verdant green,
And life is hung on every stem
And nature's smile is seen.

The loveliest song is sung in Spring,
When the birds in their plumage fair,
Carolling on their sunny wing
Enliven all the air.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

The Alhambra.

It must be remembered that the present week is the last but two of the Great Emerson Minstrels. They will appear in a splendid programme to-night. Sheridan and Mack in their best acts, Add Ryman in an amusing stump speech with fresh local hits, Billy Emerson in his original songs and dances, and two of the most amusing acts ever seen on any stage—"Bad Whisky," and "Pompey's Patients," will, with songs, dances and funny stories, form the entertainment.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Night after night a delighted audience applauds the sprightly songs of the fascinating Emeline Zavistowski, and applauded to the echo the fairy-like Alice as she appears in attractive songs and dances. Christine appears as Jupiter, robbed of all his terrors and the jolliest of deities. Miss Henrietta Grainger is a great favorite; W. O. Crosbie has firmly established himself in the good graces of the San Francisco public, and Miss Maggie Moore does not allow her lustre to be dimmed by the stars, but sparkles with a brilliance which makes her an important feature in the burlesque. The local hits take well with the audience and all the show business is good. There will be a matinee on Saturday, when "Ixion" will delight a crowded house of ladies and children. The charming Miss Alice Zavistowski will be the recipient of a benefit to-morrow evening.

California Theatre.

In order that the public may see the talented actress, Miss Carlotta Leclercq, in as many characters as possible during her short engagement, "As You Like It" has been withdrawn (to be revived again we hope) and "Lady of Lyons" will be presented this evening. In the character of Pauline Miss Leclercq is said to stand almost without a rival. As the California Theatre will probably be thronged it will be as well to secure seats in advance.

Bella Union.

The new act of "Gouty and Lively Jim" by Johnny Tuers and Harry Sinclair, causes great amusement; Carrie Armstrong and J. H. Larkin gain two and three encores nightly for their Dutch acts; Marie Zoel is much applauded for her song and dance, and the ballads by Fanny Garretson, Minnie Fillmore, Minnie Loder and Ida Fisk are pleasing and popular. The farce of the "Bibbses," which closes the evening's entertainment, is lively and full of fun.

American Theatre.

There is a strong combination of popular favorites in the variety business at this house. Chris Mathews, Eva Silva, Claude and Maggie, Carrie Willis, Harry Howard, Jimmy Murphy, and others will appear in a diversified and attractive programme. Harry Devoe, the new song and dance man from Chicago, who made his appearance last evening, made quite a hit, and was encored three times.

Union Hall—French Fair.

The Fair at present being held in Union Hall for the benefit of the Fund for the Ransom of France attracts all the fashionable people in town. This is as it should be. The votaries of fashion should do all they can to assist France, the leader of the fashions, once more to resume her place as the tyrant of nations. Union Hall is thronged nightly with the most beautiful girls in the city, attraction enough of themselves to make all the gentlemen go. A fine programme will be presented this evening.

Fenian Brotherhood Picnic.

The picnic and Festival of the Fenian Brotherhood will come off Sunday next at the City Gardens, and there, amidst beautiful trees, flowers and grassy lawns, the sons of Ireland will hold high carnival. The programme of sports of the day appears on our first page.

Red Men's Picnic.

The picnic and festival of the Red Men will take place on Saturday next at the City Gardens. There will be fine music, dancing, and interesting ceremonies which will doubtless attract a large crowd.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

New System of Telegraphy.

An old gentleman of slightly irritable temper, calling out from his bedroom for some hot water, was unanswered. Seizing a small bureau, he shoved it before him to the head of the stairs and sent it whirling, end over end, to the hall below. The crash was loud enough to bring out mother, daughter, and all the servants. The head of the family was seated at the top of the stairs, elbows on knees, chin resting on his hands.

"Oh, father! what is the matter?" asked the frightened daughter.

"Matter!" replied the old man; "why, here I've been callin' and callin' for nigh half an hour, and I've telegraphed for yer—that's all."

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices. •

The Yachting Season.

The yachting season is now at hand, and if pleasure-seekers desire a treat they will take a trip on the schooner yacht Zoe Williams, which lies near the Yachting Club House on Long Bridge. No extra charge on Sunday. r

MY DARLING.

She goes at the single silver chime,
Dark and soft are her eyes and hair;
She carries away my heart and eyes,
And leaves me her kiss at the foot of the stairs.

Her white firm arms are around my neck,
Her heart and her lips, and her eyes kiss mine;
Kissing me, words she will not speak,
Kisses as sunshine mixed with wine.

She passes away up the head hall stair
Into the shadow—out of the light,
With the last "good night," for the night is coming,
When we nevermore shall say "good night."

Now and Then.

Prussian families must be very ancient and keep very correct genealogical records. Here is the town of Steudal, in Prussian Saxony, conferring its freedom upon Prince Bismarck. The act is apropos, too, of the Prince's present position on the educational bill which he has just carried. Five hundred years ago the prince's family were banished from Steudal because the head of the house founded a school without placing it under the control of the ecclesiastical authorities. The Court, in returning thanks for the honor conferred, may appropriately quote the classical motto, "The mills of gods grind slowly, but they do grind."

Camplimentary.

A sentimental young lady lost a curly poodle, on which she set great value, and which she fed with her own hands. Not long after the poodle had departed this transitory life, Fridolina was seen to contemplate with great pensiveness the countenance of a bewhiskered and beringleted young man. "Fridolina, my dear," said her maiden aunt, a very proper old lady, "Don't look so at young Frizzly; he'll think you are in love with him." "I can't help it Aunt Sophia," replied Fridolina, with tears in her lovely eyes, "his expression is so like that of my poor little Moppets."

What's in an "A?"

Perhaps it has not been noticed generally that nearly all the names of the twenty-seven steamers comprising the Cunard line end with "a," as in Parthia, Siberia, Hecla Samaria, etc. The last two boats, the Bothnia and Scythia—have also the inevitable "a" accompaniment. Inasmuch as a single accident has not happened to this line of steamers during the past twenty-five years of its existence, perhaps the company (composed of three men only) think there is luck in this commercial use of the first letter of the alphabet.

Many ladies when walking, are angry if they are gazed at and sadly disappointed if they are not.

At Forsyth, some person twice destroyed the church organ—not favoring the innovation.

"Dolly Varden," explains a young woman in St. Louis, "was a character in Thackery's play of "The Terrible Temptation."

A fashionable "tile" finishes off a well-dressed man admirably. It can be obtained at "THE" HAT STORE. •

All the tricks are readily performed, and purchasers receive ample instruction, printed and verbal, so that there is not the least difficulty in performing them. Mr. Hartz only remains a few weeks longer in this city; so those wishing to procure those entertaining novelties had better see and get them at once. Send for a catalogue. D

Why is an oyster like an tomato of the Palace of Truth?—Because it cannot tell a lie. Another: Why do so many of the audience after visiting the California Theatre, flock after the performance to the Pacific Oyster House, 329 Bush street, just below Montgomery?—Because Charley Blake has the finest, fattest, richest Eastern oysters, and gets up the best suppers imaginable.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF COMPLAINTS, formerly of London, seven years in Sacramento, and ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETURNED TO PRACTICE. After devoting the greater part of his life to professional practice, and the treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, which led to retire from his profession, the remainder of his days to quietment; but the constant applications of suffering everywhere, to come to the city finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Look-out, spend a year within its wards, and introduce himself of all the new methods of treatment of this celebrated institution, and then give a few years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where for previous his practice as a SPECIALIST in the cure of all cases brought under The Doctor's motto is "honorable and reasonable treatment and moderate charges to all."

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

The Alhambra.

It must be remembered that the present week is the last but two of the Great Emerson Minstrels. They will appear in a splendid programme to-night. Sheridan and Mack in their best acts, Add Ryman in an amusing stump speech with fresh local hits, Billy Emerson in his original songs and dances, and two of the most amusing acts ever seen on any stage—"Bad Whisky," and "Pompey's Patients," will, with songs, dances and funny stories, form the entertainment.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Night after night a delighted audience applauds the sprightly songs of the fascinating Emeline Zavistowski, and applauded to the echo the fairy-like Alice as she appears in attractive songs and dances. Christine appears as Jupiter, robbed of all his terrors and the jolliest of deities. Miss Henrietta Grainger is a great favorite; W. C. Crosbie has firmly established himself in the good graces of the San Francisco public, and Miss Maggie Moore does not allow her lustre to be dimmed by the stars, but sparkles with a brilliance which makes her an important feature in the burlesque. The local hits take well with the audience and all the new business is good. There will be a matinee on Saturday, when "Ixion" will delight a crowded house of ladies and children. The charming Miss Alice Zavistowski will be the recipient of a benefit to-morrow evening.

California Theatre.

In order that the public may see the talented actress, Miss Carlotta Leclercq, in as many characters as possible during her short engagement, "As You Like It" has been withdrawn (to be revived again we hope) and "Lady of Lyons" will be presented this evening. In the character of Pauline Miss Leclercq is said to stand almost without a rival. As the California Theatre will probably be thronged it will be as well to secure seats in advance.

Bella Union.

The new act of "Gouty and Lively Jim" by Johnny Tuers and Harry Sinclair, causes great amusement; Carrie Armstrong and J. H. Larkin gain two and three encores nightly for their Dutch acts; Marie Zoel is much applauded for her song and dance, and the ballads by Fanny Garretson, Minnie Fillmore, Minnie Loder and Ida Fisk are pleasing and popular. The farce of the "Bibbses," which closes the evening's entertainment, is lively and full of fun.

American Theatre.

There is a strong combination of popular favorites in the variety business at this house. Chris Mathews, Eva Silva, Claude and Maggie, Carrie Willis, Harry Howard, Jimmy Murphy, and others will appear in a diversified and attractive programme. Harry Devoe, the new song and dance man from Chicago, who made his appearance last evening, made quite a hit, and was encored three times.

Union Hall—French Fair.

The Fair at present being held in Union Hall for the benefit of the Fund for the Ransom of France attracts all the fashionable people in town. This is as it should be. The votaries of fashion should do all they can to assist France, the leader of the fashions, once more to resume her place as the Tryest of nations. Union Hall is thronged nightly with the most beautiful girls in the city, attraction enough of themselves to make all the gentlemen go. A fine programme will be presented this evening.

Fenian Brotherhood Picnic.

The picnic and Festival of the Fenian Brotherhood will come off Sunday next at the City Gardens, and there, amidst beautiful trees, flowers and grassy lawns, the sons of Ireland will hold high carnival. The programme of sports of the day appears on our first page.

Red Men's Picnic.

The picnic and festival of the Red Men will take place on Saturday next at the City Gardens. There will be fine music, dancing, and interesting ceremonies which will doubtless attract a large crowd.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

New System of Telegraphy.

An old gentleman of slightly irritable temper, calling out from his bedroom for some hot water, was unanswered. Seizing a small bureau, he shoved it before him to the head of the stairs and sent it whirling, end over end, to the hall below. The crash was loud enough to bring out mother, daughter, and all the servants. The head of the family was seated at the top of the stairs, elbows on knees, chin resting on his hands.

"Oh, father! what is the matter?" asked the frightened daughter.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage Stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

The Yachting Season.

The yachting season is now at hand, and if pleasure-seekers desire a treat they will take a trip on the schooner yacht Zoe Williams, which lies near the Yachting Club House on Long Bridge. No extra charge on Sunday. Y

MY DARLING.

She goes at the single silver chime,
Dark and soft are her eyes and hair;
She carries away my heart and eyes,
And leaves me her kiss at the foot of the stairs.

Her white firm arms are around my neck,
Her heart and her lips, and her eyes kiss mine;
Kissing me, words she will not speak,
Kisses as sunshine mixed with wine.

She passes away up the head hall stair
Into the shrdow—out of the light,
With the last "good night," for the night is coming,
When we nevermore shall say "good night."

Now and Then.

Prussian families must be very ancient and keep very correct genealogical records. Here is the town of Steudal, in Prussian Saxony, conferring its freedom upon Prince Bismarck. The act is apropos, too, of the Prince's present position on the educational bill which he has just carried. Five hundred years ago the prince's family were banished faom Steudal because the head of the house founded a school without placing it under the control of the ecclesiastical authorities. The Court, in returning thanks for the honor conferred, may appropriately quote the classical motto, "The mills of gods grind slowly, but they do grind."

Camplimentary.

A sentimental young lady lost a curly poodle, on which she set great value, and which she fed with her own hands. Not long after the poodle had departed this transitory life, Fridolina was seen to contemplate with great pensiveness the countenance of a bewhiskered and beringleted young man. "Fridolina, my dear," said her maiden aunt, a very proper old lady, "Don't look so at young Frizzly; he'll think you are in love with him." "I can't help it Aunt Sophia," replied Fridolina, with tears in her lovely eyes, "his expression is so like that of my poor little Moppets."

What's in an "A?"

Perhaps it has not been noticed generally that nearly all the names of the twenty-seven steamers comprising the Cunard line end with "a," as in Parthia, Siberia, Hecla Samaria, etc. The last two boats, the Bothnia and Scythia—have also the inevitable "a" accompaniment. Inasmuch as a single accident has not happened to this line of steamers during the past twenty-five years of its existence, perhaps the company (composed of three men only) think there is luck in this commercial use of the first letter of the alphabet.

Many ladies when walking, are angry if they are gazed at and sadly disappointed if they are not.

At Forsyth, some person twice destroyed the church organ—not favoring the innovation.

"Dolly Varden," explains a young woman in St. Louis, "was a character in Thackery's play of "The Terrible Temptation."

New York Dry Goods Store.

813 Stockton street, between Clay and Sacramento, receives new goods daily from New York auctions very cheap. Remember the number.*

The Latest Styles, The latest "Tiles."

McDowell, Show Card Writer,

Ready made and made to order, No. 25 Geary street, near Kearny. D

Supper Parties.

A man eats breakfast because he is hungry; too often he hurries over his dinner, but supper he enjoys. All enjoy a supper at the BIVALVE, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny. There they find the cosiest little private rooms up-stairs, the finest oysters and the best of everything. W. Spreen started the BIVALVE seven years ago, and it is to-day the most popular oyster house in San Francisco.

If You Want

Your Blankets and Flannels well washed, and not spoiled, send them to the What Cheer Laundry. *

A "Wheeler and Wilson" Sewing Machine manufactured every minute. The Company's factory covers fourteen acres, employing 2,000 persons. Over 600,000 now in use; 100,000 more of "Wheeler & Wilson's" sold for family use than of any other make. The "new draw feed," a recent improvement, makes it almost silent, and it moves so regularly, evenly and squarely that a child can run it. It has less than one-half the machinery of any other machine making the lock-stitch. W. M. Stoddard, Agent, 427 Montgomery street, San Francisco. F

Mr. Hartz,

The Magician, is still at his quarters, 140 Montgomery street, where he has for sale large quantities of all kinds of conjuring tricks. Prices varying from 75 cents and upwards. No house is completely furnished without a set of magical illusions, provided by Hartz. All the tricks are readily performed, and purchasers receive ample instruction, printed and verbal, so that there is not the least difficulty in performing them. Mr. Hartz only remains a few weeks longer in this city; so those wishing to procure those entertaining novelties had better see and get them at once. Send for a catalogue. D

The Post Office.

After going to the Post Office for your letters, go to the great repository of White & Bauer, pioneer newsdealers, for your papers. All the Eastern and European newspapers and periodicals can be found there. JUST OPPOSITE THE POST OFFICE, Washington street. B

"Something Nice."

"Haven't got much appetite, but could eat someth ng nice?" Then you should go at 12 o'clock to the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, established in 1849. Henry Bocken is the most experienced of caterers, and his lunches and dinners cannot be beat. Our best fed lawyers, our most popular physicians, and all epicures patronize the Pioneer Restaurant. R

DR. CHAS. H. TOZER
N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF COMPLAINTS, formerly of London, nine years in Sacramento, and ten years in San Francisco, HAS RETIRED TO PRACTICE. After devoting 40 years of his life to professional practice, and the treatment of those CHRONIC DISEASES which it is here needless to name, he determined to retire from his profession, and spend the remainder of his days to quiet enjoyment; but the constant applications of suffering everywhere, to come to the relief, finally determined him to visit once more the scenes of his early triumphs, Lock Hospital, and spend a year within its wards, and in the relief of all the new methods of treatment and the celebrated medication, and then spend the remaining years of his life to the alleviation of suffering humanity. He is again located at his old residence, corner Jackson and Kearny streets, where he will be happy to see his numerous friends and former patients, as well as all others who may require his professional services. The Doctor's practice as a SPECIALIST is confined to the cure of all cases brought on by Impure Connection, and the Doctor's motto is "Honorable and Reasonable" in the treatment and moderate charges to all.

Stale News.

Charles Dudley Warner, in the May number of Scribner's, says: "The daily news is a necessity. I cannot get along without my morning paper. The other morning I took it up, and was absorbed in the telegraphic columns for an hour nearly. I thoroughly enjoyed the feeling of immediate contact with the world of yesterday; until I read among the minor items that Patrick Donahue, of the city of New York, had died of a sunstroke. If he had frozen to death I should have enjoyed that: but to die of sunstroke in February seemed inappropriate, and I turned to the date of the paper. When I found it was printed in July, I need not say that I lost all interest in it, though why the trivialties and crimes and accidents relating to people I never knew, were not as good six months after date as twelve hours, I cannot say."

Scriptural Knowledge.

A clerical gentleman, in examining a Sunday-school, asked the class before him if any of them could tell him anything about the Apostle Peter. A little girl raised her hand much to the gratification of the examiner. "Come up here, my good little girl," said he; "I am glad you remember your Bible lessons so well. Now, tell the other boys and girls what you know of St. Peter." The little girl was very willing, and commenced: "Peter, Peter, punkin'-eater, had a wife and couldn't keep her; he put her in a——" But before she could get to "punkin'-shell" the school was in a roar.

"Hentail," and "Cocktail."

"Aw!" exclaimed an English Cockney to a western traveler in England, speaking of the law of primogenituae, "ave you hentail in Amewica?" "Hentail!" said the American, looking at his interrogator with curiosity, "No sir. We have cocktail in America, and a very popular drink it is."

Answered.

"What are you digging there for?" asked asked a loiterer of three men who were digging a trench in the street. "Money, zur," the answer came. The man watched the operation until the joke got through to the roots of his hair, and then moved on.

A wag, observing on the door of a house the name of two physicians, remarked that it put him in mind of a double barrelled gun—if one missed the other would be sure to kill.

Unwifely Conduct.

The Mr. Jones, of Trenton, who went to a masked ball and arranged an elopement with a lady in a domino, and called a carriage and fled with her to Lambertville, where she unmasked and revealed the fact that she was Mrs. Jones—that Jones has since been living in seclusion, and whiling away the leaden hours practicing with all the different kinds of hair restoratives and adjusting courtplaster in diagrams resembling a ground plan of Boston upon his face. He says he told Mrs. Jones that he was only in fun. He explained to her that he meant nothing by it. He confided to her the fact that he knew it was his own wife all the time. Asked her as a friend to desist from disheveling his hair and reducing him to baldness. But she would not behave, and she would insist upon working right downward to his bare scalp. He says he cannot understand it,—a woman who promises to love, honor, and obey him, too.

American Artists.

The Saturday Review says of American artists: "As a habit, they attack every conceivable subject with an enterprise approaching audacity; they cover canvases which for size, seem to be in proportion to their own vast continent; they deal as largely in marble as stone masons. And yet a certain off-hand, untutored genius may be granted them. American art, which doubtless will enjoy an honorable future, has hitherto suffered from ignorance in its professors and patrons alike. An expenditure of money ill-judged and lavish beyond all precedent in the history of patronage has done much to bring the fine arts of America down to the standard of wholesale manufactures."

A Conductor's Perfidy.

Under the above heading the Chicago Reporter has the following:

A beautiful young; lady of this city, who has allowed the tendrils of her heart to twine fondly around a strapping, great horse car conductor on the Madison-street railroad line, had her affectionate nature crushed by the discovery that he was taking fare from her and dead-heading another girl who lives on the same street. She did not eat pickles and pine away, but wrote him a note, which read: "You wont to nock down enuff stamps to give me a paisley shawl and a dolly vardin before Sunday, or I will put an awning over that girl's eye the next time that I meet her in county. AMBW.

Unnecessary.

The Bulletin says:

Two men engaged in a combat this forenoon on the corner of Leidesdorff and Sacramento streets, and one, gaining advantage of the other, gouged one of his eyes completely out. The injured man was taken to a neighboring drug store, and the attendant pronounced his eye fatally injured.

If the eye was "gouged completely out," it was only necessary to take the eye to the drug store to have an opinion passed upon it as to whether it was fatally injured or not

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Novel Movement in the Sewing-Machine Business—Regular Auction Trade Sale.

A new feature in the sewing-machine trade, of great importance to purchasers, both wholesale and retail, was inaugurated yesterday and is continued to-day, by the Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine Company. The balance of exchange machines, taken in part payment for their own machines by that company and left on their hands from the business of the last two or three months, is to be closed out at auction, without reserve. It was formerly practicable to dispose of all the exchange machines at private sale; but their number has lately been accumulating so rapidly on the Wilcox & Gibbs Company's hands as to lead to the present and future clearing-out sales. As upwards of 1,200 machines are offered—mostly of the best two thread varieties, such as Howe, Singer, Wheeler & Wilson, Grover & Baker, &c—and the sale is peremtory, the prices realized yesterday were such as must have been far from satisfactory to the sellers and proportionately charming to the buyers. Very fair lots, as above described, were going all day at from $5 to $10, though all the machines were sold as good and in good order, and the attendance of buyers from the trade in this and other cities large. From the moderate proportion of ladies and other private purchasers present, it would seem not to have been generally understood that single machines would have been sold to those not in the trade. Such, however, is the case, it being the desire of the Wilcox & Gibbs' Company to make the sale a popular one, for their own advantage. Every lot is first put up with the privilege to the successful bidder of choosing one or more machines from it, after which the balance of the lot is put up again and sold without reserve. Thus it will be seen that there is no reason why any one desiring a lock stich or two-thread machine of any make whatever, should not now obtain one nearly as good as new, at perhaps one-tenth or one-seventh of the manufacturer's price. Many persons yesterday secured valuable machines in fee simple, for less than the amount of a first instalment on a regular purchase. The more general knowledge of this fact will probably render the bidding more animated to-day than yesterday, and prices higher.

With regard to the future sales, we do not learn whether the natural policy of seeking to obtain better returns by offeringthese exchange machines in smaller masses at more frequent intervals will prevail, or whether the policy will be to make a great occasion for the trade all over the country by a heavy quarterly clearing-out sale. It would seem as if the interest of all parties would be better promoted on the whole by having sales one-third as large as the present once a month. It is certainly to be a great boon to the laboring classes to have these valuable working machines thus brought within the means of all, and they will of course lay their plans with reference to the regular sales whenever the periods of them shall have been announced. Of course it will be understood that no Wilcox & Gibbs' machines can be obtained at such sales, as they are hardly ever given up in exchange for machines of any other make, and are therefore always scarce in the second-hand market.—New York Standard, April 18. Pacific Coast Agency of Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine Company, 113 Post street, San Francisco. if

California Theatre.

Last night Lord Lytton's "Lady of Lyons," remodeled by the author expressly for Miss Carlotta Leclercq, was produced. The alterations from the original are slight but very effective. Here and there a speech is shortened and sometimes the action is changed. Pauline has been attempted many times in San Francisco but never has the character been played as it was last night by Miss Carlotta Leclercq. Her wonderfully expressive countenance was a perfect study as it appeared while she was listening to Claude's description of the Palace at the Lake of Como, and so hushed was the house during that beautiful scene that the silence seemed strange and gave a better idea of that often-mentioned, but seldom realized condition of an audience when it is described as "spell-bound" than is often experienced. As the drop scene fell the spell was broken and thunders of applause broke forth in response to which the great actress came out and bowed her thanks. In the scene in the third act in which Pauline discovers the deceit which has been practised upon her, Miss Leclercq was grand; the passions of hate, fear, pride, disdain, rage, and love, were each successively depicted on her countenance as on a mirror. It was a wonderful performance. We cannot give an idea of Miss Leclercq's impersonation of Pauline, suffice it to say the character has never been fully interpreted by any but her, and those who have never seen her have never seen Pauline. John McCullough has played Claude Melnotte so often that all know his conception of the character by heart, the same may be said of Henry Edwards' Col. Dumas, which can scarcely be surpassed; John Wilson gave a powerful impersonation of the villainous Beausemant, and Edmund Leathes afforded a pleasing relief in the character of the frivolous Glavis. "The Lady of Lyons" will be played again this evening and at the matinee to-morrow.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night Miss Alice Zavistowski, whose popularity with the public is attested by the rounds of applause which greets her on making her appearance, will take her benefit. The attractive burlesque of "Pygmalion" will be presented, with Miss Alice as the sculptor, and Miss Emeline as the statue. To-morrow there will be a matinee when "Ixion" will be performed for the last time.

The Alhambra.

The programme presented at this house gives general satisfaction. All are delighted with M. Ainsley Scott's version of "Il Trovatore," enjoy the character sketches of Sheridan and Mack laugh heartily at Billy Emerson's funny sayings and songs, derive much instruction from Add Ryman's stump speech, and are thoroughly amused by the farces of "Pompey's Patients," and "Red Whisky," in both of which Sam Rickey appears. This capital bill will be performed at the matinee to-morrow.

Bella Union.

Miss Carrie Armsarong and J. H. Larkin are great favorites in Dutch acts; Johnny Tuers is a whole team in himself; Harry Sinclair is capital in farce and comic acts; "Bad Dickey" by Tuers, Sinclair, and Larkin, causes much amusement. The farce of "The Bibbess," winds up an entertainment of songs, dances and acts.

American Theatre.

Harry Devoe, the song and dance artiste and comedian from Chicago, has made quite a hit, and receives much applause and many encores nightly. Claude Stewart and Maggie Kelly are great favorites, and a crowd of popular artistes whose names may be seen on our first page, appear nightly in a varied and attractive performance.

Pacific Hall.

To-morrow Miss Anna Mehlig will give a pianoforte recital, commencing at 2 o'clock. The gifted pianiste will on this occasion play selections from the works of Weber, Bach, Haydn, Schubert Mendelssohn, Beethoven, Schumann, Chopin and Liszt. The box-sheet is filling so rapidly that a large and fashionable attendance is certain. We are glad that Miss Mehlig has no cause to complain of a lack of appreciation of her talent in this city, each concert she has given having crowded the hall.

Union Hall—French Fair.

Judging from the success which attended the French Fair, it might remain open another week, and attract large crowds every evening. But it must close to-morrow night, and the fashion and beauty of San Francisco will miss their favorite resort. To-night, there will be a number of pleasant surprises, and any amount of amusement. To-morrow afternoon, the great Tombola will be drawn, and hundreds of beatiful and valuable prizes distributed. In the evening, the grand calico ball will take place. San Francisco's amusement at Union Hall this week will lessen poor France's load of debt by $15,000. A good work well done.

San Francisco Circus and Hippodrome.

On Monday evening, the season of 1872 will be inaugurated by the San Francisco Circus and Hippodrome, which will open on Jackson street lot. This company comprises the great Mathews Family, consisting of ten brilliant stars of the arena, a corps of talented equestrians acrobats, gymnasts and clowns, and a great stud of trained horses and ponies. The pavilion will be arranged in such a manner that the comfort of all visitors will be secured. There will be an immense rush to the Circus on Monday evening.

Red Men's Picnic.

The sixtieth anniversary of the Improved Order of Red Men, will be celebrated to-morrow at the City Gardens. There will be races, all sorts of games and interesting ceremonies. Every child entering the gardens will receive a check, entitling it to a share in the distribution of several hundred gifts, among which is a valuable watch. Admission to the gardens and ceremonies will be only 50 cents.

Capt. Badger's Grand Central Park, Oakland.

The Nurserymen of Alameda County, will hold their annual picnic on these beautiful grounds on Sunday. The railroad fare with return tickets on Sundays is but 25 cents. Admission to the grounds 25 cents, children half price.

Placer Reunion.

A picnic will be held to-morrow at Fassking's Garden, Alameda, by former residents of Placer county. These gatherings recall recollections of the early days of California and are very pleasant.

A Philosophical Lover.

A love-smitten gentleman, after conversing awhile with his dulcinea on the interesting subject of matrimony, concluded at last with a declaration and put the very emphatic question of "Will you have me?" "I am sorry to disappoint you," replied the lady, "and hope my refusal will not give you pain, but I must answer—no." "Well, well, that will do, madam," said her philosophical lover, "and now suppose we change the subject."

Quaker Love-making.

A Quaker lately popped the question to a fair Quakeress as follows: "Hum! yea and verily, Penelope, the spirit urgeth and moveth me wonderfully to beseech thee to cleave unto me, flesh of my flesh and bone of my bone." "Hum! truly, Obadiah, thou hast wisely said. Inasmuch as it is written that it is not good for man to be alone, lo! I will sojourn with thee."

Ettiquet for the Ballroom.

When you find a newspaper on a ballroom floor it is not always proper to pick it up and wonder where it came from and ask unnecessary questions concerning the peculiarity of the folds. A young man did that not long since, and he couldn't get another girl to dance with him during the evening Accidents will happen in such a bustling throng of people as are generally congregated upon a ballroom floor.

Thoughtful Woman.

A Peoria man is very angry with his wife. He bought an india rubber air bed. She didn't believe it was healthy to sleep on a mattrass that was not ventilated, and so, during his absence for a day or two, punched about fifty holes in it. The husband has lost his faith in woman's ingenuity.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experiences, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

Supper Parties.

A man eats breakfast because he is hungry; too often he hurries over his dinner, but supper he enjoys. All enjoy a supper at the BIVALVE, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny. There they find the coolest little private rooms up-stairs, the finest oysters and the best of everything. W. Spreen started the BIVALVE seven years ogo, and it is to-day the most popular oyster house in San Francisco.

The Palace of Truth.

Why is an oyster like an inmate of the Palace of Truth?—Because it cannot tell a lie. Another: Why do so many of the audience after visiting the California Theatre, flock after the performance to the Pacific Oyster House, 329 Bush street, just below Montgomery?—Because Charley Haake has the finest, fattest, richest Eastern oysters, and gets up the best suppers imaginable.

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller, news agent on the Southern Pacific Railroad, supplies the passengers with the latest San Francisco dailies and Eastern Illustrated papers at a dime apiece. Ask the boys for the right change. He also furnishes FIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains at San Francisco rates—free of charge.
